Rei/silevryer Says He Way Orio Cree

MEMPRIS Trans. (AP) — Arthur Hones for each in court yesterday that he may have to withdraw as Jumes Ran' Ray's law-

"Serious difficulties have arisen between the said my clight on the best way to benefic this defense." Ray's chief counsel said without clabatetian.

Hanes, former Sirmingham, Ala., mayor, was retained by Ray before Bay was extracited from England and beloin Memphis in the serving of Dr. Martia Luther King Jr.

Hanes was in court pesterday for a hearing in which a commit-

Hanes was in court yesterday for a hearing in which a committee of lawyers recommended that he and two newsmen and a private defective be held in contempt of court on grounds they violated 'an order prohibiting prepalled news statements in connection with the May case.

The hearing was contained un-

Hay charge with the assissingled of larging demands of from 4, is seened to 50 on trial Nov. 12. He was arrested oriminati Court Jusice W. Preston Buttle appeared the committee rees in mended that Hanen; Reafro, Rays, a privatelinvestigator retained by Hanes, and reporters Charles admundson of the Computered Appealand Roy Hamatea of the Press-Scimitar be cited.

Armistead Clay, alterney for the two reperiers, told Suttle the hearing pitted the constitutional guarantees of free speech and a free press serious the guarantees of a fair trial.

He argued the newsmen were not guilty under the 1st and 14th amendments to the Constitution.

APPROVED FOR RELEASE 1994 CIA HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM

201-6532792

News Victorions Charged to Four On Ray Trial

MENTPHIS, Team (AP)-Two newspaperment a Layer and a private detective have been ordered to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for visiting a ban on cut-of-courtroom facus statements in the case of James Earl ton Buttle, whos is scheduled to their Ray's trial on charges of hilling Dr. Marcin Linher King Jr., issued the shaw cause or-ders yesterday.

ders yesterday.

Battle ordered the feur men, including Ray's chef defease councel, Arthur 2, Hanes Sc., of Birchingham, Ala, to appear before him Sept. 27.

In addition to Races, these city of were Renied T. Hays, a private "detective working for Hanes, and Charles Edinandson of the Memphis Commercial Appeal and Roy Eurolises of the Memphis Press-Stimian.

Battle took action after receivatempats eress sommar.

Battle took action after receiving a "position for commun" by a committee of seven atterneys be named to manior what is being preparted accountable Ray, east. Tay is scheduled to go on trial Nov. 12.

A 1968 psychiatric report out of the fortress-like on accused assassin James Earl Ray describes here as a man 'was sought he's because he feared he might some day get into "serious difficulties."

Ray underwent entendie mental tests in 1005 after his second unsuccessful atfempt to escape from the Missouri State Prison, who, a he was service 20 years for armed robbery.

The psychiatrist who studied Ray, Dr. Henry V. Guhlman Jr., said Ray felt this escape attempt was the result of unoue anxiety and tension with the need to actually do something "about it.

"He is fearful that this might lead into more seri-ous difficulties," Gublman said of the man accord of shooting the Nev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on April 4 in Memphis.

In a report to the Mis-souri Board of Probation and Parole, Guhiman de-scribed Ray as an "absessive, compulsive personality," beset by averpowering fears of barm.

He said Ray felt-that potential danger could be warded off only by soing through certain "ritualistic" acts. "These various fears confront him from time to time and in a typical obsessive compulsive way, he feels that he must do certain things" to save himself from harm, Guidman said.

"For instance, he de-scribes a feering of fear that can be alleviated if he takes a glass of water he is drinking and sets it on the table and moves it back and forth several times.

The report implied that Ray was driven by these unnamed fears to try to break prison at Jefferson City, Mo. Ray finally escaped April 23, 1967, on his third try, by maint in a box on the back an outbound bakery truck. In the report, prepared four months before Ray's successful excape, Guhlman sum his "basic problem re-volves around what appears to be an increasingly severe obsessive compulsive trend,"

Cine 1967 Layman's Dictionary of Psychlatry de-tians obsessive compulsive as behavior "marked by rituatom and by preoccupation with a single idea or desire.")

Gublman noted that Ray had requested an examination by an independent paychistrist, and Guidman rec-orangeded approval of this, saging he was "in seed of psychiatric help."

Guidman reported "no evidence of delusions, haliucinations or paranold ideas," but noted "a rather deep underlying obsessive compulsive personality trend which he has really never discussed atalength with any-

"This is not psychotic in nature, but severely neu-He expressed strong doubts that Ray was parole material at that time.

Crisman called his subject an Cristeresting and rather complicated individ-ual." He said hay used such technical terms as "solar plexus, tachycardia and in-tracental" in describing his when we commented that these were rather large words (Ray) reported that he had been reading up in medical literature. Guhlman said.

WP SEP 19 1968

G 16 Thursday, Sept. 10, 1048 TILE WASHINGTON POST

Ray on way to jail cell in Memphis July 18,

THE WASHINGTON POST 16 AUG 1953

5110 ps 150

Ray Book

MEMPHIS — The man charged with murder in the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has contracted with an author to write his blog-

an author to write his blog-raphy.

James Earl Ray, awaiting trial, on Nov. 12 has hired William Bradford Hule of Hartselle, Ala, who arrived here Wednesday with Arthur J. Hanes, the Birmingham attorney who will defend Ray.

Hule said he also has a contract with Hanes for material to be used in the Ray story. He said Ray has given him 10,000 hand-written words with which to start the book.

the book.

201-0832732

APPROVED FOR RELEASE 1994 CIA HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM

小腿!

REPORTING

The Price of James Earl Ray

William Bradford Hule boasts of "one distinction. I guess INe paid more monev to more murderers than any reporter in history." Freelancer Huie has other distinctions as well, but it is true that he uses money, lavishly if necessary, to get his story. Nobody was ever convicted for the murder of 14year-old Emmett Till in Mississippi in 1955, but Huie paid enough to get a complete account of the crime for Look magazine. Three years ago, Huie disclosed the facts in the case of the murder of the three civil rights workers in Neshoba County, Miss, After a few midnight meetings with greedy Ku Klux Klan informers, he reconstructed the event for the New York Herald Tribune.

Once again, Huie has shown that money in the right hands pays off. Under the cautious eye of Attorney Arthur Hanes, James Earl Ray, the accused killer of Martin Luther King Jr., is telling his life story to Huie. In exchange, Huie is financing Ray's defense. So far, Huie has not been permitted to see Ray, but he has received some 20,000 handwritten words, which he is exhaustively checking out. Ray may or may not be involved, but Huie has become convinced that a conspiracy led to the murder. Huie plans to publish one article before Ray's trial next November, then follow up with a book. "People don't like this way of operating," says Huic, "I don't like it much either. But I don't know any other way to get the truth."

Capricious Execution, Besides money. Huie makes use of a fierce persistence and an equally intense passion for the underdog. He is an aggressive, blunt-spoken reporter who makes it clear that no one is going to put anything over on him. When he does business with the sordid characters who sell him stories, he tells them: "One damn lie and the whole deal is off." And few facts in Huie's exposés have ever been disproyed.

It took five years of digging, but he finally unearthed the details in the case of the only U.S. serviceman executed for desertion in World War II. His book, The Execution of Private Slovik, was a fascinating account of how the military capriciously singled out this private, among thousands of deserters, to serve as an example. Then they thought better of it and hushed up the whole af-fair. Equally compelling was The Hi-roshima Pilot, in which Huie demolished the myth that B-29 Commander Claude Eatherly remorsefully turned to a life of crime after dropping the atom bomb on Hiroshuna, Fatherly, Huie showed, had not even flown in the mission over Hiroshima, and his guilt feelings developed years later under the encouragement of ban-the-bomb propagandists.

In recent years, Huie has been preoccupied with civil rights. As an eighthgeneration Southerner, he feels an obligation toward Negroes, and he wants to be proud of his home region. After many years of traveling, he now lives where he was born, in Hartselle, a town of 8,000 in north central Alahama, "There is a decency about people here," he says. He was happy with the racial progress that was being made in Alabama until George Wallace became Governor. "I suppose the reason I keep involved is that I resent Wallace's effort to turn back the clock."

HUIE (RIGHT) & RAY'S ATTORNEY Passian, persistence and self-defense.

To flaunt that attitude in Alabama is asking for trouble, so Huie takes precautions. He and his wife Ruth live in a house that is designed for self-defense. Every room has an outside exit, Spotlights have been placed on the roof, on the patio, on the lawn. Many of them can be turned on at Huic's bedside. "There are no shadows around this house at night," he says. The house is also equipped with three Remington riot guns, one for the use of guests, Huie, a crack shot, also has a riot gun fastened to the front seat of his car. try to be prudent, remembering how Medgar Evers was murdered," he says, referring to the Mississippi civil rights leader who was shot in the back while returning home one night.

After Huie denounced Wallace on a lecture tour in 1964, the Governor went on television to tongue-lash the writer, Getting the message, racists made abusive phone calls. For four nights, a pro-sion of cars drove slowly around his acck while Hule stood by the window with his riot gim, in July, when a cross was burned on his lawn, he wired Governor Albert Brewer, pointing out that since Wallace is given state protection, his enemies should have it too, Brewer agreed to give him what he wanted, and now the local police provide trequent patrolling.

Huse knows that the Ray assignment is a possibly dangerous one. He hopes it will be his last. He would prefer to write nevels now that at 57, he feels time is growing short. He has already written five, most recently, The Klansman, a powerful portrait of a Southern sheriff who is pulled one way by the Klan, the other way by his better instincts; the Klan wins, Hule also hopes that movies will be made of some of his civil rights books, "One of the great tragedies is that we've never had realistic films about race hatred in the U.S.," be says. At the moment, a small studio is making preparations to film Huie's book about the Neshoha murders, Three Lives for Mississippl. Before the film could be made, however, Huie once again had to go through the distasteful experience of shelling out money to scrutty Klansmen, who then signed releases for portrayal rights. He is confident that the result will be worth it. "If films like this are done with the imagination of Bonnie and Clyde, you can really move people,"

TIME, SEPTEMBER 13, 1968

201-0532 732

AUG 7

Come with me along a winding trail that, unfortunately, ends in the curve of a question mark.

When Dr. Martin Luther King was assassinated, I was in Puerto Vallarta, Mex., where I have many compadres. Among them are Mexican artist Manuel Lape, his wife, Laura, and her sister, Susana Quieroz, who manages the Hotel Tropicana.

On the day I was leaving, we had a farewell luncheon and, naturally, our conversation dealt with the trogedy in Nemphis and with the rustor, then current, that the killer had fied to the nearby town of Mazatlan—a rumor fed by the sudden appearance of a Mexican Coast Guard cutter that anchored in the bay and whose sailors, armed with rifles, were patrolling the beaches.

I recall somebody's saying, "Puerto Valianta is the least likely place for a wanted man to hide out in Menico. The American colony here is very clannish. They'd notice a stranger immediately and find out all about him."

That theory seems fronteal now. You see, Eric Galt was in Puerto Vallarta.

I learned recently that some three weeks after I left, a couple of FBI agents visited the town. At the Ria liotal, they showed a sketch of the wanted man and asked if he had stayed there. The manager remem-hered the man and volunteered the information that he had been as guest in the hotel.

He gave the agents a registration.

card, signed "Eric S. Gait."
Then, the FBI men went to the Tropicana Hotel and asked Susana if she would look through her records and find Galt's registration. They said they knew he had stayed there. She checked and confirmed that he had. Only, this time, he had regis-tered as "Eric Galt" with no middle

I obtained duplicates of the regis-tration slips from both hotels. They show that the man representing himself as Galt had checked into the Rio on Oct. 19, 1997, and later moved to the Tropicana, where he stayed until Nov. 13.

He claimed U.S. nationality and had listed his residence as: 2008 Astel "Cropicana" Pinelo Billiele, Tilliere, Mikito.

 	E	بخر	۾ بيو	-زر
tagatting	الدورية في	ا_ارج	yu na	Lier
Ebricitia	2600	را روز است	200	مرب	,
Elicate of	الريسينة		TARE C
eas) Scharly	. ان ح ن
	110 A161	. 7	 	ر دران	.([]
_	න ථ	ر کی ۔	1.0		13
, ,	214	HATURE	(FIRMA).

CHOP 100 COY

Highland Avenue, Birmingham, Ala. This, as we now know, is the ad-dress of the boarding-house where James Earl Ray, allas Galt, had rented a room until early October last year.

Employes of both hotels have vague recollections of the man, whom they describe as "quiet," but they distinctly remember his car a 1966 white Mustang.

Now, I find myself asking a lot of puzzling questions.

o Why did Ray-Gait, the man accused of plotting Martin Luther ling's murder, leave Birmingham and go to Mexico six months before

· And why did an escaped convict on the lam drive a white Mustang, a car that might have attracted attention in Puerto Vallarta? Was it just bungling, or part of a carefully. planned conspiracy?

o Was this really Ray-Galt, or some other man acting as a decoy? The answers, of necessity, would just be conjecture. But, in Friday's column, I'll explore them.

201-0832732

APPROVED FOR RELEASE 1994 CIA HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM

I land a maria

TRIALS

A Very Important Prisoner

With the wrapped-in-cotton care nocmally accorded to precious art works. James Earl Ray was flown to Memphis last week to stand trial for the murder of Martin Luther King.

A bulletproof vest hung over his plaid shirt and his legs were encased in armored trousering when he was led, handcuffed, from a 61-ton armored van into Shelby County Jull at dawn. A score of deputies with riot guns formed a defensive perimeter. Ray was hustled to an air-conditioned cell on the jail's third floor. Heavy steel plates block cell windows. Closed-circuit television cameras monitor all movements. Prison trusties who ran elevators have been replaced by sheriff's officers.

The Straight Word. Such massive protection is more than justified. There is widespread speculation that King's is widespread speculation that Kings death was plotted by conspirators who are still free. "He won't finish that trial." a "Memphis underworldling warned last week, "He's not going to get on that witness chair—and that's the straight word."

Although it will probably be morther

Although it will probably be months until he faces trial before Memphis Judge W. Preston Battle, a tough, independent-minded jurist, Ray seemed alriest in a hurry to return to the U.S. Abundaning his effort to appeal a Brit-on extribution order that seemed coolined to failure anyway, he was spir-tical by night from grimy Wandsworth whom to Lakenheath Air Base 76 miles from London for his nonstop flight to Memphis.

The secret move left his attorney, Arthur V. Hanes, furning. He had wanted ther V. Hanes, tuming, He had wanted to go along, said Hanes, because F.B.I. agents aboard the U.S. Air Force jet might question Ray (the F.B.I. said that the four agents escorting Ray had not spoken to him). "The case against this bey is full of holes," sneered Hanes, and I've got a few bombshells that we're going to drop into those holes." lust what they were, Hanes would notor could not-say,

RAY ARRIVING AT MEMPHIS JAIL In a hurry to get home.

211-0532432