THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Aide of Dr. King Promises Drive to Help Save Re

By ROY REED

Special to The New York Times

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28follower of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. promised today to organize nonviolent street demonstrations, if necessary, to try to save the life of the white man accused of Dr. ing's murder.

The Rev. James L. Bevell a ong-time associate of Dr. King in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, called +a news conference here today to announce the steps he would take in defense of James Earl Ray, a former convict who faces trial in the assassination last April 4.

Mr. Bevel visited Ray and his attorney last week in Memphis and tried unsuccessfully to enter the case as Ray's codefender. Judge W. Preston Battle ruled that he could not represent Ray because he had no lawyer's license

Mr. Bevel said he would try to get a license and would appeal Judge Battle's ruling to a higher court. Failing there, he said. "I will seek justice in the streets by organizing a movement to that end."

In Atlanta, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, reversed an earlier statement and said he didi not believe Mr. Bevel had evidence of Ray's innocence. He said he was embarrassed by his aide's statemnts.

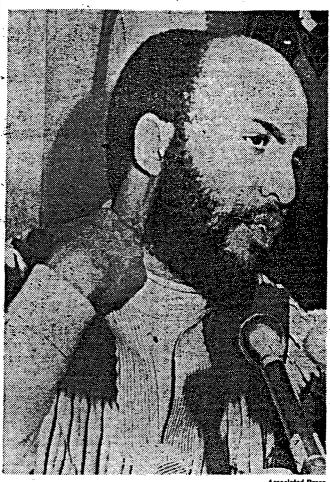

"James Bevel does not have James Bever does not have the war in Vietnam.

speak for the S.C.I.C. or its board of directors, Mr. Aberthat he had evidence of Ray's hathy told reporters. "Mr. innocence, but he firmly refused to divulge it. He said his Bevel is the head of a depart by denote the evidence was "a combination of the soid nearly and the soid many told reporters."

But he has changed beyond that His voice is softer and his eyes are gentler. He speaks with more patience. Instead of action."

blind them that they permit the death." He said he meant by this feeding and educating poor circumstances of the murder has room a beard and he has Negroes in America and halting from conversations with Ne trade his Alabama overalls the war in Vietnam.

The Rev. James L. Bevel at his news conference yesterday

"That's the state's job," he

action."

He added in a private interpolate that he had no idea told reporters, "I am calling on the people of America to not let their bitterness and hate so blind them that they are the people of the said, persuaded him even chasing away white friends is more thoroughly that Ray was many black militants have done in recent years, he still surrounds himself with white as well as black workers.

College: America to not let their bitterness and hate so blind them that they are the people of the said, persuaded him even chasing away white friends is more thoroughly that Ray was many black militants have done in recent years, he still surrounds himself with white as well as black workers. ment within the conference, the evidence was "a combination of he said, persuaded him even chasing away white friends is department of nonviolent direct lacts."

more thoroughly that Ray was many black militants have done referring_to Ray's crimit. record.

He said he had found the Negroes of Memphis eager to "burn" someone for the crime and the whites, in their collective guilt, willing to convict Ray "just to get it over with." So, he said, Ray belongs to no one and has no defenders.

Mr. Bevel seems interested in turning the Ray trial into a vehicle for furthering Dr. King's cause of nonviolence, or at least in keeping it from becoming an throat to nonviolence through the taking of still another life.

It is not clear how important Ray's guilt or innocence is to Mr. Bevel, but he has given the impression to friends that preserving the nonviolent principle is most important.

During his years with Dr.
King in the Southern dvil rights movement, Mr. Bevel seemed less committed to the doctrine of nonviolence than any of the men at Dr. King's side.

Temper With a Sharp Tongue He was high tempered and sharp tongued in those days, striding up and down the dirt streets exhorting whites to get right and Negroes to get strong.

He seemed always on the verge of striking back when the segregationist firebrands made their violent attacks. Reporters had the impression that only the constant restraining hand of Dr. King kept him in check.

He has changed. He no longer He said he had recreated the brightly colored skullcap, he covers his baldish head with a

He said he believed that Ray deeply by the death of Dr. King. blind them that they permit the State of Tennessee, or any solid the state's job," he State of Tennessee, or any solid the state's job," he State of Tennessee, or any solid the interest is in saving an innocent man, he said.

Mr. Bevel was in Memphis at the time of the shooting. He said ne had been standing in a spirators who actually killed said he had been standing in a spirators who actually killed said he had been standing in a spirators who actually killed said he had been standing in a spirators who actually killed said the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said to the spirators who actually killed said to the said