MRS. BARBARA GALLEGOS Box 65, Olathe, Colorado phone number 323-5210 telephonically contacted sa Bonald L. Siefers on 4/7/68 and furnished the following information:

She flew from Denver, Colorado to Pueblo, Colorado on 4/5/68 via Frontier Flight 583 which left Denver at 6:35pm. Prior to flight and while waiting at airport Denver she had a conversation with a white male who gave his name as Richard Kents. She advised Kents indicated he had been flying all day and that he had started from Nashville, Tenn. traveled to St Louis and then got a flight from St Louis to Denver, Colorado, and was now going to Colorado Springs, Colorado where he was to meet a buddy and then they were going skiing. KENTS indicated they were going skiing at Monte Vista and then said was going skiing at Vale. Colorado.

Mrs. Gallegos advised since the man said he had come from Tenn. she mentioned the killing of Rev Dr. King and what a terrible thing it was. This man then said he had been kere there which she took to mean Memphis akat so she asked him if he had seen anything or if there had been any rioting,. This man then replied he had been in Nashville so hadnt seen anything.

This man indicated he was actually from San Francisco and she noted he did not have any accent southern or otherwise. She advised this man was a white male about 25 years of age, black hair, a little taller than average she estimated around six feet, average build, and was wearing a business suit. She advised she did notice however that he had real fat fingers on his hands.

Mrs. Gallegos advised she could reall nothing further about this man and he never mentioned who his buddy wasin olorado Springs, Colorado where he departed from the flight.

Mrs. Gallegos advised that she observed a rough drawing of the assassin of Dr. King and felt this man she had talked with might possibly fit the description of the drawing.

County Judges Join In Sympathy Letter

Denver's 11 county judges joined millions around the world Friday in extending their sympathy and condolences to the widow and family of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A letter to Mrs. King was sent over the signatures of Presiding Judge William H. Burnett and Judges Gilbert A. Alexander, William Conley, Dan D. Diamond, John J. Dunn, Samuel M. Kirbens, Wallace McCamant, George A. Manerbino, John F. Sanchez, L. Paul Weadick, and Zita L. Weinshienk.

TEXT OF LETTER

The text of the letter:

"It seems to us not enough that we, as judges of one of the courts of the land, share your and America's grief, indeed, the grief of the world community, in the loss of your beloved husband."

"We are impelled to let you now by this means that Dring commanded, and his nemory shall continue to command, the ultimate in respect m us because of his unalterable devotion to the principles of 'universal justice for all' and the 'brotherhood of man,' and the fulfillment of both through peaceful means.

"World history will find it difficult, if indeed it can, to produce another, save Christ, himself, who exemplified so manifestly all of the principles of Christian doctrine and Christian living that we would were mirrored in ourselves, as did Martin Luther King Jr.

"It is our profound belief that, had he lived, he well may have led the world out of the darkness of conflict into the aura of eternal peace under God.

"Please accept this all too inadequate expression of our collective compassion for you and your family."

Denverites Urged To Continue Calm

By FRED BAKER Denver Post Staff Writer

leaders appealed Friday for residents to maintain the calm that has prevailed in Denver, and announced plans for three memorials for the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The silent memorial marches were scheduled for Saturday, and Sunday was designated as a day of official mourning for Colorado by Acting Gov. Mark Hogan. In a joint statement, Hogan and Mayor Tom Currigan announced special memorial services for 2 p.m. Sunday on the steps of the Denver City and County Building.

The officials spoke Friday after a day State and municipal officials and civic marked by several incidents of fighting between Negro and white youths, minor disturbances in five stores and three fire bombings.

No serious casualties were reported to police, who said Friday night was "if anything, quieter than the usual Friday night."

Rumors Rampant

Rumors of pending trouble were so prevalent, however, that Mayor Currigan set up a special information center, to be manned 24 hours a day, where citizens can call for accurate reports. The telephone number of the information center is 297-2721.

A march from Fuller Park, E. 28th Ave. and Gilpin St., to Skyland Park, E. 33rd Ave. and Holly St., was scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday by the Black-Brown Unity Council. The organization, formed Thursday night after King's death, was described as a coalition of Negro and Spanish-surnamed residents of Denver.

Another march from Loretto Heights College to Cinderella City in Englewood was scheduled for noon. This march will be sponsored by the Core City Ministries, an inter-denominational coalition of religious groups.

Bishop Is Speaker

Bishop R. Marvin Stuart, Denver area bishop for the Methodist Church, was scheduled to address the marchers at Cinderella City.

Hogan denied a rumor that the Colorado National Guard had been called to duty. "At this time there is no necessity or calling out the guard, as some rumors have it," Hogan said, "or of closing down stores or enforcing a curfew."

Metro College Memorial For Dr. King Is Symbol

By MICHAEL HOWARD Rocky Mountain News Writer It was not the kind of memorial service where your dress was important.

There were no barriers to those clad in blue jeans and sandals, turtle necks and short-sleeved sport shirts. The openness of the service to any and all, regardless of race or appearance, was symbolic of Dr. Martin Luther King, the man the students had come to hear eulogized.

Even the rumble and shaking of the vendg machines that are fed nickels and quarters by hungry students at lunch hour went unripticed as the soft, steady voice of the Rev. Acen Phillips quieted the packed student lounge at Metropolitan State College with the words, "It is a difficult time for us all."

Said Rev. Mr. Phillips: "Dr. King represented the soul of all America. He believed there was something unique about this country.

And for that cause, said the pastor of Mt. Gilead Baptist Church, Dr. King gave his life.

Drawing an analogy between Moses and Dr. King, who was murdered Thursday in Memphis, Tenn., Rev. Mr. Phillips called the apostle of non-violence "the greatest leader of his generation.

To the Negro, he was Moses," said Rev. Phillips.

In his 10-minute eulogy, Rev. Phillips urged Americans, black and white, to band together.

'Let's not give up on America, for it is our land. It is not the white man's country. Our blood has been shed, too," Rev. Mr. Phillips told the several hundred persons present for the service.

Rev. Mr. Phillips made a strong plea for keeping the civil rights struggle non-violent, claiming the Negro "has more to lose in rioting than the white man."

Echoing Dr. King's challenge, "I dare you to march in love," Rev. Mr. Phillips suggested, "Let's love people enough so that they love us in return.

The minister noted that Dr. King's death had caused flags to be flown at half staff for a Negro for the first time in American history. He added, "Le."s show constructive mourning."

Throughout his eulogy Rev. Mr. Phillips made repeated references to "America's precious possibilities," and in closing said, "Let's make America our home.
"We must walk together and not get weary."

Prior to Rev. Mr. Phillips' address, I Kenneth Phillips, president of Metropolitan State College, announced that all classes at the college including those in the evening, would be suspended until Monday morning.

City, State Memorial Service Is Set

By MICHAEL ROUNDS and WILLIAM MARVEL Rocky Mountain News Writers

Rocky Mountain News Writers
City and state officials scheduled a passive memorial service Sunday for
Dr. Martin Luther King and urged citizens to use reason and restraint following the assassination of the civil rights leader.

Mayor Currigan and Acting Gov. Mark Hogan met with civic leaders amid scattered disturbances and rumors that Denver was in for real trouble.

Currigan said a memorial program is set for 2 p.m. Sunday on the steps of the City-County Bldg. Bannock st. will be roped off between W. Colfax and W. 14th aves.

Hogan declared Sunday an official day of mourning for Colorado. He already had ordered state flags flown at half-staff.

The mayor met with Hogan, acting for Gov. Love who is in Nassau, and with members of City Council and community leaders for two and a half hours Friday afternoon to discuss Denver's reaction to Dr. King's tragic death

Armbands Handed Out

During the meeting, black armbands were handed out to those present.

Afterward, the mayor issued a public appeal to Denver parents "to please give attention to the whereabouts of your youngsters particularly during these rather tense emotional times."

The mayor also asked citizens to refrain from repeating rumors "unless you know they are confirmed."

Currigan said he would staff his office around the clock until further notice and urged Denver residents to call with rumors instead of passing them along to neighbors. The number at the office is 297-2721.

Police Chief George L. Seaton also issued a public appeal for "anyone having any information on anything that might happen" to call the police department or mayor's office.

Seaton called King's murder "a real tragedy."

Hogan announced the formation of a Martin Luther King Memorial Fund also sponsored by the Religious Council to carry on Dr. King's ideals and work.

Money collected by the fund will go to Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Confedence and to "programs of action in the spirit of Dr. King's dedication," Hogan said.

Donations should be sent to the Denve U.S. National Bank. The lieutenant governor squelched reports that the Colorado National Guard had been put of an alert status.

"I don't anticipate calling them out at this time and I hope this is the last I hear of that rumor," Hogan said.

Currigan described Friday's meeting as "sober, open and concerned." Many leaders of Denver's Negro community were present including the Rev. M. C. Williams, of the East Denver Ministerial Alliance and pastor of New Hope Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Williams described Sunday's memorial service as "representing the kind of philosophy and spirit Martin Luther King lived and died for."

Other, militant leaders of the Negro conmunity had maintained contact with City Hall since late Thursday, a spokesman for Currigan's office said.

City officials have been maintaining "lines of communication" with militant Negro leaders, the spokesman said, through the Core City Ministry and through Denver's Model Cities Program.

Patrol Division Chief Stan Cayou ordered the entire 559-man uniformed patrol division, plus the 37-man communications section, to "Condition 2" to meet any situation.

Condition 2 means all leaves and days off are canceled and officers work 12 hour shifts with 12 hours off. Police use Condition 1 only for all-out emergencies with all men on duty 24 hours.

Police Issued Weapons

Also called into action were the 31-man special services unit and the 100-man traffic and detective bureaus. The K-9 Corps was summoned to duty at noon—seven hours early.

Police were issued shotguns, rifles, riot batons and helmets to deal with whatever might happen. Chief George Seaton has banned the helmets and riot sticks as part of the normal police equipment.

"We're on ready alert at least until Wednesday," Cayou said.

Thursday night three firebombs were thrown through windows at Annunciation Elementary School, 3705 Humboldt st. Damage was slight.

Another bomb was tossed at Annunciation High School Friday morning. It did little damage other than breaking a window.

Six Denver secondary schools with predominantly Negro enrollments closed Frider shortly after convening the day's classes. The action followed requests by Negro adults or dsmissal in reverence to Dr. King. Closed yere East and Manual Highs, and Morey, Cole, Gove and Smiley Junior Highs. "Martin and I were friends," said Irving Andrews, Denver attorney and past chairman of the Colorado-Wyoming NAACP. "I'm shocked, stunned, dismayed.

/U. S. Mourns Death of Good, Brave Many

N THE history of the world's injustice, there are few spectacles more deserving of anger and of tears than the striking down of a man of peace and goodness by forces of violence and hate.

Martin Luther King Jr. had encountered these outrages in the lives of Jesus and of Gandhi. He could not have been unaware that his own life, which he patterned after theirs, was destined to end in the same kind of tragedy.

King belongs among the great men our people have produced during 360 years on this continent. The injustices he fought against all his life were greater than those that stirred the American Revolution, and he fought with as much zeal and courage as any of the American patriots.

His weapons were the power of nonviolence and the moral force which strikes shame into the hearts of oppressors. He brought the Gandhian techniques of passive resistance to a downtrodden and disheartened minority, which might otherwise have fought — and might yet fight — in a far more vengeful spirit.

King lived in a turbulent age amid tempests and tides and currents that sometimes threatened to engulf him. But, though he sanctioned civil disobedience, he was never shaken from the principle of nonviolence.

He kept his head and held to his course, even when some of his people turned from his leadership to follow the banner of violence and destruction. He fought with all his strength to keep the rage of the Negro within channels that were decent and moral and hopeful.

To his people, he brought a new sense of pride and of purpose, a new strength and courage, and a new understanding of the efficiety of moral force in combating injustice.

carry of moral force in combating injustice.
"The spiritual power that the Negro can radiate to the world," King once wrote, "comes from love, understanding, good will and notviolence. It may even be possible for the Negro, through adherence to nonviolence, so to challenge the nations of the world that they will seriously seek an end to war and destruction. . . .

"Today the choice is no longer between violence and nonviolence. It is either nonviolence or nonexistence. The Negro may be God's appeal to this age — an age drifting rapidly to its doom. The eternal appeal takes the form of a warning: 'All who take the sword will perish by the sword.'"

KING himself has now perished by the sword, even though he spurned it all his life. He was almost certainly a victim of the "white racism" which a presidential commission found recently to be imbedded in the fabric of American society.

It is not clear at this stage how many bigots were involved in the assassination of King. But the source of their bigotry is clear enough. Unless we can work far harder to purge this evil from our country, King will not be the last to perish by the sword.

He was a good, brave man who deserved to be loved and deserves now to be mourned by the whole nation. What he would want most of all is to have us understand his message and the meaning of his life.

In his spirit, we expect the Negroes of America to continue the struggle for equal rights, equal opportunity and equal justice with unrelenting vigor and determination.

We hope that whites in America, in his spirit, will give their support to the just aims of Negroes instead of opposing them or ignoring them.

And we hope both races, in the spirit of Martin Luther King, will work together with good will and nonviolence to right an ancient wrong and bury a senseless hate.
