WILLIE DAVIS was contacted at his home in the Crossroads Community, advised of the identity of the interviewing Agent and the nature of the investigation.

DAVIS advised he had placed two telephone calls to Texas on the telephone in the home of ROSIE HILL, of the Crossroads Community. Both of the calls were to HENRIETTA SIMMONS, a Negro female at telephone HA 1-9773 in Dallas, Texas. DAVIS advised he did make one of the calls before Christmas, 1967, and the other after Christmas. He cannot recall the exact date for the first call, but the middle of December, 1967, would be close to the time he made the call. DAVIS advised that both of these calls were outgoing and he has never received an incoming call on ROSIE HILL's telephone. DAVIS further advised he has never received nor has he made a call to anyone in Houston, Texas, or the surrounding area.

DAVIS observed photographs of JAMES EARL RAY displayed to him and he advised that RAY is totally unfamiliar to him.

ROSIE HILL was contacted at her home in the Crossroads Community and was advised of the identity of the interviewing Agent and the nature of the investigation.

She advised the telephone number 777-3588 was the telephone at her residence and she had this same number during the month of December, 1967. HILL advised she had never received a call from or made a call to Houston, Texas, and she can be sure of this statement for the entire time she has had a phone in her home and, particularly, during the month of December, 1967. She stated she did know of some people living in the vicinity of Texas, but these are generally relatives of friends of hers and she would not know their addresses, telephone numbers and she would never talk to them on the telephone.

HILL stated the only possibility she could think of that might explain a call to her number is that she allowed a neighbor to make two calls on her telephone some months ago. It is possible that these calls were placed to Houston, Texas, but the calls were outgoing calls and the neighbor has never received an incoming call on her telephone. The neighbor is WILLIE DAVIS and he may have made one of the calls in December, 1967, but the second call was definitely made this year. After DAVIS made his calls, he asked the operator for the cost and he then paid her for the calls. The first call was about $1.90 and the second call was about $1.60.

ROSIE HILL observed photographs of JAMES EARL RAY displayed to her and she advised she has never seen this individual before and he is positively unknown to her.
