This is the case involving the murder of Martin Luther King, Jr.

At approximately one p. m., April 29, 1968, on referral from the tour room, Mr. Robert D. Locksley was interviewed by Special Agents Edward J. McDonough and Frank J. Hudson of the Civil Rights Section. Mr. Locksley had indicated to the tour room that he had information regarding the subject James Earl Ray. Bureau files contain no pertinent information identifiable with Locksley.

Mr. Locksley advised that he rents rooms in his home at 1310 S Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Mr. Locksley is a Negro. He stated that from October 1, 1967 through December 1, 1967, he rented a room to a Reo V. Rae, or Rea, a white person. Rae or Rea paid for his monthly room rent at the rate of $50 per month on October 1, 1967 and November 1, 1967, and vacated the room on December 1, 1967. According to Mr. Locksley, he paid for his rent in cash in ten and twenty dollar bills. Mr. Locksley advised that Rae or Rea apparently worked for the Federal government in some agency and departed daily at 8:30 a.m., returning at about 5:30 or 6 p.m. Rae did not have a car and appeared to walk to work from his residence.

Mr. Locksley described Rae as being white male, 5' 8" tall, 180 pounds, brown hair (normal haircut), and brown eyes. Mr. Locksley specifically stated that the individual he knew as Rae did not have blue eyes. Mr. Locksley noted that Rae received mail from Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Kansas City, Missouri, and he, Locksley, had the impression that Rae had a wife and family. Rae reportedly also had a checking account at one of the Rigg's Banks, which was opened in October, 1967.

A check of the District of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland suburban directory did not contain a listing of any individual by the name of Reo V. Rae or Rea.

Mr. Locksley reaffirmed on several occasions in the interview that he saw his tenant Rae or Rea daily during the period of his tenancy.

It is noted that we had definitely established subject Ray's presence in Birmingham, Alabama, Mexico, and California during the period from October 1, 1967, through December 1, 1967.

ACTION:

Since it appears that Reo V. Rae or Rea is not identical with subject, no further action need be taken.

For information.
