also recalled that while the SARATOGA was stationed in Jacksonville, Fla., WILLIS owned and drove an older model, approximately 1960, Pontiac, blue and white in color. According to Lieutenant UNDERWOOD, WILLIS is an excellent sailor with a fine record which contains no derogatory information.

The exact location of WILLIS at the present time is unknown as there is no forwarding address other than the USS SARATOGA, FPO, New York City, N.Y.

NIS has been requested to advise FBI Philadelphia of the return of WILLIS from a leave status or of any information indicating the present location of WILLIS.

FROM : SA JAMES L. O'CONNOR

SUBJECT: MURKIN

Mrs. PATRICIA BANK, 607 W. Upsal St., Philadelphia, Pa., telephone Vi 3-1575, telephonically advised on the afternoon on 4-18-68 as follows:

She and her husband had been discussing the KING Assassination and the name of the alleged assassin, ERIC STARVO GALT. She and her husband noted that in a number of novels written by author, DONALD HAMILTON, the names of "ERIC" and "STARVO" appear but she was unable to name the novels in which the names appears. She noted that in a ~~couple~~ couple of the novels the name of one of the main characters was ERIC who was a secret agent in the plots of the novels. She noted that the main hero of most of the novels is named MATT HELM. She thought it a coincidence that the names of "ERIC" and "STARVO" appeared in a couple of the novels written by HAMILTON and that the assassin used the name of ERIC STARVO GALT.

She listed some of the novels written by HAMILTON as follows:

The Shadowers, The Removers, The Silencers, The Wrecking Crew, The Ambushers, The Death of a Citizen, The Night Walkers, The Devastaters, and ~~the~~ Murderers Row.

She had no ~~relevant~~ pertinent information relative to the photo appearing in the newspapers or anyone fitting the description of the one using the name of GALT.

Above information furnished for the file.

DATE: 4/18/68

On 4/15/68, Mr. LEON SARITAS, Owner of Saritas Cleaners, 519 Davisville Road, Willow Grove, Pa., was interviewed at his place of business by SA JOHN D. STOCKTON, JR.

Mr. SARITAS advised that he does utilize a Thermo-seal Marking Machine to tabulate laundered shirts and other garments which are washed. He stated, however, that his machine is a six-digit machine and the color code is changed every 20 orders. They have ten different colors that are utilized on the machine and during the course of one day they may run through these colors several times depending on the volume on a given day. Mr. SARITAS stated that he does not use the code 02B-6. He stated that he uses a number code and the first digit is a number and made an example on the machine, 53-K-8. He furnished an example of the style of marking conducted by the machine. Mr. SARITAS stated that in his opinion, the B would possibly stand for the customer and that of the five digits utilized the first two would be load and day number of the week.
