Re: FOIA Case No. 55407

Dear Mr. Greenewald:

This responds to your November 18, 2020, Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request addressed to the FOIA Office, National Institutes of Health (NIH). Department of Health and Human Services' (HHS) policy calls for the fullest possible disclosure provided by the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §552, consistent with the protections contained therein. The implementing HHS Regulations establish the criteria pursuant to which the FOIA is administered, see 45 C.F.R. Part 5. Copies of the FOIA and the HHS FOIA Regulations are located at: http://www.nih.gov/icd/od/foia/efoia.htm and http://www.nih.gov/icd/od/foia/cfr45.htm.

You requested all emails sent to/from Dr. Anthony Fauci contains the following keyword: Trump. Date range for record search: 1/1/2020 to 11/18/2020.

NIH searched their files and found 2,260 pages of responsive records. The information being withheld is protected from release pursuant to Exemptions 4, 5, and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(4), (b)(5) and (b)(6), and sections (d), (e) and (f) of the HHS FOIA Regulations, 45 CFR Part 5. Exemption 4 protects from disclosure trade secrets and commercial or financial information that is privileged and confidential. Exemption 5 permits the withholding of internal government records which are pre-decisional and contain staff advice, opinion, recommendations, as well as Presidential communication privileges. This exemption is intended to preserve free and candid internal dialogue leading to decision-making. Exemption 6 exempts from disclosure records the release of which would cause a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

If you are not satisfied with the processing and handling of this request, you may contact the OD FOIA Public Liaison and/or the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS):

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

Dear Mr. Fouci,

I can not say enough about my gratitude toward you. You have been the voice or reason in these times, and you deserve accolades for it. There is not enough this country can offer to thank you for your intelligence and voice. So first, thank you!!!

On another more pressing note. Please please do not stop directing the American public. My son has had pneumonia two times since I have been hired at a daycare (which he also attends with me). This has been less than a year. My job is now opening and I am having to send my kids to their grandparents to protect them. I can not risk my two children's lives. Both of my parents are dying of heart failure. Between them and my son I am terrified as well as many other Americans. Right now we need you, your wisdom and guidance. Please do not back down from Trump. We need you. Just please! Save us! Save my boy and so many lives that are unnecessarily put at risk for greed! We love you and appreciate you! Please stand up to this craziness and protect us!
Love,

Subject: LANCET HYDROXYCHLOROQUINE PUBLICATION: WE OBSERVED INACCURATE CONCLUSIONS DUE TO MISINTERPRETATION OF DATA WITH FATAL SAMPLING ERROR(S)
Attachments: LANCET STUDY Chrloroquine-Hydroxychloroquine DATA ANALYSIS-RECOOMDATIONS EmaniVE et al.pdf, statistical analysis-Lancet Hydrox data EmaniVE at al.pdf

Dear Dr. Fauci,

We are healthcare clinicians, researchers, and leaders from Central California. As such, some of the patients that we care for regularly take Hydroxychloroquine as part of their treatment plans for chronic conditions such as SLE and RA. Our patients have come to us with concerns regarding the safety of this medication in their therapies. For patient advocacy reasons, we took it upon ourselves to review the data in the study "Hydroxychloroquine or chloroquine with or without a macrolide for treatment of COVID-19: a multinational registry analysis" carefully to find out whether we had to change our clinical approach for non-COVID 19 patients who are using these medications. Upon careful review of the publication, we were surprised to find misinterpretation of data with fatal sample error(s) in the sampling methods that lead to erroneous findings. With these findings in mind, we strongly disagree with the conclusions reached by this publication regarding the dangers of these medications. The following is our interpretation of the data available to us from the publication:

> There is an association of increased mortality with lower chances of in-hospital survival in patients with multiple comorbidities. In patients, disease severity requiring Mechanical Ventilation is associated with lower chances of in-hospital survival and is the highest predictor of in-hospital mortality. We did not observe any decrease with in-hospital survival when Hydroxychloroquine or Chloroquine is used alone or when used with Macrolides. There was a larger association of De-novo ventricular arrhythmia among Non-survivors than Survivors. The published data is inaccurate and insufficient due to fatal sampling error(s), and we are unable to ascertain if there is any increased or decreased association between the Hydroxychloroquine or Chloroquine when used alone or with Macrolides and the occurrence of ventricular arrhythmias.

Attached in this document is a complete review and analysis of those findings as well as our suggestions to the authors accompanied by a copy of an independent statistical analysis.

Since the publication of this study, several organizations including the WHO made many public policy decisions that have had a profound impact on the health and well-being of individuals worldwide based on its findings. As such, we expect the data driving such policy to be highly accurate and as of now, we do not believe that the data used in this study fulfills that condition.

We have already communicated all the details of our findings and suggestions to Dr. Mehra (the principle author of the publication) and Lancet editorial board. We have requested them to promptly take remedial actions to address the errors we found and to release the data to the public domain which we requested under our suggestions.

Since this is a public policy matter of the utmost importance, please review our findings and kindly take our suggestions into consideration.

Thank you

Subject: Dr. Levitt's COVID Update for 31 May 2020/ U.S. Needs a Presidential Address Tonight and National Day of Mourning on Monday

Dear All,

Below are short takes on Gov. Cuomo's briefing today and the articles I have read online or in journals today:

Gov. Cuomo reported that hospitalizations continue downward in NY; COVID admissions are also down to 191 patients yesterday; NY deaths due to COVID were down to 56 persons yesterday. Most of those deaths were in hospital, not in Nursing Homes.
The governor addressed the protests/riots of last night. He stated that racism is endemic and institutional in the U.S. It has been since the Nation was formed. But we have made giant steps in our history before, and we need to do so again. Cuomo has an action plan: no local prosecutors to investigate deaths by police; single national standard for 'excessive force by police'; release of disciplinary records of charged police officers to public; same funding per student for all schools across the country.
NYT has a column today about Black life in the U.S. which states another fact: No One is Coming to Save Blacks. See:
https://www.nytimes.com/2018/01/12/opinion/trump-shithole-countries-haiti-el-salvador-african-countries-immigration-racism.html
Some Whites will help Blacks to gain equality, but no one other than Blacks are going to Save Blacks. That's the way it is for all minorities in the U.S. and throughout the world. This is a tragic fact throughout History.
NYT Book Review has a review of Lawrence Wright's novel about a fictional coronavirus called *'The End of October'. See:
https://www.nytimes.com/2020/05/01/books/review/lawrence-wright-end-of-october.html
Lawrence Wright wrote 'The Looming Towers' about AQ and 9/11 and showed the flaws in our intelligence community at that time and how AQ operated at that time. He was correct in his assessment as the 9/11 Commission Report confirmed in lawyer language. His latest novel 'merely extends trends I see in the world to certain logical conclusions' (Lawrence Wright).
Nature has a book review on 'Economics in the Age of COVID-19' by Gans. See:
https://www.nature.com/articles/d41586-020-01487-2?WT.ec_id=NATURE-20200528&utm_source=nature_etoc&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=20200528&sap-outbound-id=E906EAA2764E0A797A31C5A6C9F83A4751F07A52
This is the first book published about economics in the COVID age. Both the author and the reviewer state that the book is the beginning of the conversation. We still are in the pandemic; we don't know when a vaccine will be available to everyone; we don't know if the CoV will become a seasonal viral infection that requires a 'new recipe vaccine' each winter. But the book is something to build on.

Farm Journal's PORK reports that farm workers have CoV positive rate of only 1%. See: https://www.porkbusiness.com/article/fewer-1-farm-workers-have-confirmed-covid-19-cases So the risk of infection to our food is small. One thought that CDC might follow up on is: Is this low CoV positive rate due to distancing in the fields or is it similar to milkmaid's 'cowpox' where milkmaids did not contract smallpox in the early days of infectious disease because of their exposure to cowpox in cattle. Remember that there are multiple strains of coronavirus that infect animals.

Tonight I hope that law enforcement is organized and prepared to confront the criminals who are defaming Mr. George Floyd's memory. The looters and arsonists are just criminals, who are looking to benefit from this tragic killing. They set the stage for a reduction in our civil liberties with curfews, a military presence on our streets, and a further reduction in jobs available for the 40 million now unemployed in the U.S as more small businesses are burned. These criminals give terrorists an opportunity to strike the Homeland as Intelligence and Law Enforcement's attention is diverted to stop riots.

I worry about the President's safety and the public's safety near the WH. The protestors and Metro Police/Secret Service are separated by only 25 yards and one more barrier, and darkness has fallen. I wish the President would speak to the Nation tonight and make Monday a National Day of Mourning to give everyone a 'time-out'.

Be safe. Wear a Mask. Stay Inside Tonight.

RGL, M.D.

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

Make American roads the world's safest. The federal government must lead the way in making our streets and highways safer. Under President Biden, the U.S. Department of Transportation will work with cities around the country to build "complete streets,"

Additionally, Biden will work to further support community colleges that have articulation agreements with Registered Apprenticeship Programs. This, in conjunction with promoting Project Labor and Community Workforce Agreements, will ensure that infrastructure investments are paired with public and private investments in Pre-Apprenticeship training and other recruitment strategies that support the Registered Apprenticeship system, promote meaningful construction careers, and will ensure that the benefits of these investments are broadly shared.

Invest the trillion for that, there will be no more unemployment, and we make the components/pieces in America.

At the same time, he'll also make sure that the U.S. maintains the world's safest aviation system, working with the FAA to fully implement its NextGen technology system, to improve safety, modernize our airspace, and reduce delays and cancellations. Dear President Trump and Vice-President Pence,

The American Association of Critical-Care Nurses (AACN) represents the nation's 500,000 critical care nurses, many of whom are now serving on the frontlines of the COVID-19 pandemic. Because of this, we were surprised and dismayed to find that Vice-President Mike Pence's announcement on new members of the White House Coronavirus Task Force did not include a representative with nursing expertise. Nurses' perspectives on this pandemic are unique and essential to informing decisions made by federal leaders.

A successful response to this pandemic requires leveraging all pertinent expertise. We are at the patient's side every hour of every day, monitoring their complete physiologic status, analyzing complex data, administering lifesaving medications, collaborating with other healthcare team members, translating information to families and providing end-of-life presence when those families cannot visit due to strict isolation requirements. The public has gained new insight regarding the role of nurses in the delivery of health care. Federal leaders should similarly recognize the importance of nurses' unique expertise and impact on patient care and well-being.

As states reopen, this country will continue to rely on nurses to treat patients with COVID-19. We are the largest group of health care professionals in the nation and it represents a major gap in perspective to fail to include this group in planning for the future. Our organization stands ready to provide you with recommendations for nurse leaders who would provide invaluable assistance to the work of the Taskforce. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

"It flies in the face of 25 years of judicial precedent, that has been federal precedent in almost every circuit court," said Kate Klonick, a professor at St. John's University School of Law in New York. "It's not the role of the president to interpret federal law."

The order was "a very, very clear piece of political theater,"

Political censorship by tech companies (bad)

Executive branch manipulation of free speech (not good).

Excutive branch enforcing regulations through FCC.

The FCC is not for social media regulations.

The whole idea is really about cyber law.

Do we have free speech rights on the internet? Are those constitutionally guaranteed.

If you use a third party website to post text images opinions etc you implicity consent to their editorial authority.

Plus a company doesn't have to give you free speech rights.

People should be able to post free speech on the internet in accordance with first amendment jurisprudence [no threats etc...]

But in no way could executive branch regulation supersede judicially guaranteed rights, just that right doesn't apply to using other people's software/websites.

The right is the people can post to their own website in accordance first amendment principles and without coercive censorship from any governmental body, agency or official.

Subject: BROOKSIDE REHABILIATION WEBSTER (WILKIE & BAKER GIVE A PASS) VETERANS APPROVED AND LIVING THERE
Attachments: StateCovidTest.pdf, VA CWM CNH List Nursing Homes.docx, VA-NursingHomes.pdf

Dear Director Robert Wilkie, VA
Governor Charlie Baker, Massachusetts
Dr. Monica Bharel, MD Commissioner of Health
Mr. Fransciso Urena, Veterans Affairs Commonwealth of Massachusetts
AG Maura Healey, Esquire Massachusetts
Mr. Mark Pearlstein, Esquire (Investigator)
Senator Elizabeth Warren, Massachusetts

I am writing regarding your statements Governor Baker and Director Wilkie, saying you were going to monitor and clean up the VA Long Term Facilities which also include BROOKSIDE REHABILITATON AND NURSING, WEBSTER, MA. I have enclosed the latest Nursing Facilities Baseline Testing which is done by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health COVID under the Director Dr. Monica Bharel. As you know I have reported Dr. Dain and this Facility that lead to the death of (b) (6)

But today's report really shows me that all we are getting is all Talk and No Action. I have attached the report released today and on Page 28 the following is noted and even footnoted about BROOKSIDE on NURSING FACILITY BASELINE TESTING. Please note this is just baseline and look at the records. Also attached is the List of VA Licensed Nursing Homes showing Brookside and guidelines for quality.

So this speaks volume as if the Staff was not tested and you proclaimed Governor Baker that Covid 19 in all the long term facilities were passed on to the patients from outside sources such as the Staff, Visitors, etc. Then how come both you and Director Wilkie allow this in a VA Licensed Facility that is housing Veterans of all ages especially Elderly ones.

You promised to stop this and Brookside does not even do the health requirement and still operate Governor Baker and your Investigator Mark Pearlstein does nothing to stop this. So are the Veterans of Massachusetts just being used as Guinea Pigs, like the Bat Woman of Wuhan does with her experiments.

Both Director Wilkie & Governor Baker promised to end this and you still 3 months later do nothing to stop this. As you let Dr. Dain of Brookside run this House of Horrors and get big money from the Veterans Administration to endanger Veterans.

Dr. Bharel Commissioner also bears responsibility for no enforcement or shutting down this facility for all the violations.

Memorial Day for Veterans Families this year was very hard and the VA and Commonwealth not doing their job to protect them is pitiful.

Sincerely

Subject: Reckless Endangerrment & Wrongful Death of Veteran (b) (6)

Dear Mr. Francisco Urena, Secretary of Veteran Services Massachusetts

I am writing this email as you are working with Governor Baker of Massachusetts and Dr. Bharel, Commissioner of Health and yet these VA Approved Nursing Homes which are also Licensed under the Commonwealth of Massachusetts allow this to happen. As you are a Veteran and served in the Marines and the cry is Semper Fi, and allow your fellow Elder Veterans to be subjected to this abuse and death. What has happened to (b) (6), was worse than waterboarding and any other tactic used.

As you can see Governor Baker is fully aware of this, but I see he is taking a blind eye since the Private Owned Nursing Homes are filling his warchest in the tunes of $50,000 plus and growing. The Reckless Endagerment and Wrongful Death happened under his watch along with Dr. Bharel, Commissioner which both have all the emails, records and all and see this Illegal Use of Topamax which was prosecuted by the DOJ and AG of Massachusetts. There is a settlement agreement stating this drug is not to be used for anything but Epilepsy.

The parties in full knowledge of this are Director Robert Wilkie, VA, Governor Charlie Baker, Massachusetts and Dr. Bharel, Commissioner of Health Massachusetts and yet did nothing to stop this and in fact Dr. Dain is allowed to practice as he is handling Veterans in several Nursing Homes in Massachusetts and Profiting on the Veterans and their families. I feel you need to stop this and sit down with Governor Baker and quit playing political games. We do not need excuses but action to stop this. Even putting a Investigation so what is that going to do with every day we risking Veterans Lifes, all its doing is enriching a Lawyer who has not even brought one person to jail.

Since you were born in (b) (6), I would expect you to do like "Big Poppi" of the Red Sox who is from your home country and step in and put some actions and stop this. I was begging Dr. Bharel and she did zero. No wonder all the Veterans families are upset and going to file lawsuits and Governor Baker trying to pass laws, but the people will prevail as these are wrongful deaths and reckless endangerments and the blood will eventually be blamed on him and the administration and no one else. As you know in the Military deaths are still accountable and you cannot hide from it.

Thus I feel you should step in and enforce this DOJ Agreement and take away Dr. Dains license as this is not Medical its Criminal.

Looking forward to meeting with you.

Sincerely

(b) (6)

Subject: Reckless Endangerment & Wrongful Death of Veteran (b) (6)

Dear Attorney General Maura Healey, Massachusetts

Enclosed is (b) (6) Wrongful Death done to a Veteran under a DOJ Criminal Order that was handled by your Office saying that J&J and any Medical Doctors will not Prescribe Topamax for Off Label Use and only for the FDA approved use of Epilepsy. There was a settlement and rules set that it would not happen and should be reported to your Commissioner of Health Dr. Bharel which I did the first time I found out. Also Governor Baker has copies on everything on this and he is aware of this.

Dr. Peter Dain of Brookside Rehabilitation should be prosecuted for Criminal Charges along with Dr. Paul Stoffles of Johnson & Johnson (Janssen Division) who was notified by us and did nothing to stop this nor prevent this Reckless Behavior which lead to (b) (6) i having a grueling death.

Governor Baker states during this Covid 19 he could not see his parents, I understand the pain but he will be able to speak to them on the Telephone and Internet, while our Family just buried (b) (6) and will never speak nor see him again.

Our holidays from Thanksgiving till now were seeing him suffer and get worse with no help from Johnson & Johnson, and I even asked Dr. Bharel for help as the FDA told me to approach her. I can show you the emails.

Please look at the pictures of (b) (6) on Memorial Day and then open Christmas, you will be shocked to see what this drug and Dr. Dain reckless behavior for fun and profit did.

I would not wish this on any person never mind a Veteran who served our country.

Sincerely

(b) (6)

Subject: Reckless Endangerment & Wrongful Death of Veteran (b) (6)

Dear Dr. Anthony Fauci, Director of NIH
Dr. Jerome Adams, Surgeon General of US:

I am writing you regarding Non FDA Drugs prescribed and used by Dr. Dain of Brookside Rehabilitation Facility located in Webster, Massachusetts without family knowledge or approval . This rehab/long term center is a Licensed, VA Approved Facility and under the Direction of the Veterans Affair and Director Robert Wilkie of the VA. On a daily, consistent basis during this pandemic, I have heard you stress during your press conferences that a NON FDA Approved Drug has to be tested with significant results indicating its benefit for usage other than what disease/illness it was intended for, and then maybe approved by the FDA and said Agencies. It is proven fact that both Dr. Dain, MD of Springfield, MA and Dr. Paul Stoffles, Vice Chairman of Johnson & Johnson are practicing this Reckless Endangerment which lead to the Wrongful Death of (b) (6) , WWII Army Veteran with the Drug TOPAMAX.

It is documented knowledge that the DOJ prosecuted J&J and with the legal settlement agreed to by all parties that TOPAMAX will solely be used for patients with epilepsy and this was approved and agreed by the FDA. This legal outcome was and is to be enforced by Ms. Christi Grimm, Inspector General of HHS, which falls under jurisdiction within your organization. At present, she has done "zero", amounting to turning a blind eye as to this potent drug's usage. I have on numerous occasions documented this fact to Director Robert Wilkie of the VA, and Massachusetts Governor Charlie Baker as the specific physician is licensed in Massachusetts. Neither individual did anything to cease this illegal practice that is in violation of the legal, court findings and action. I can only imagine how many additional veterans that are being prescribed this illegal drug by Dr. Dain and Dr. Stoffles; in other words, these decorated, loyal veterans of the US are being used as "Guinea Pigs" without any regard for their health or well being. Summary -- can be compared to the infected animals being sold in the Chinese wet market; no regard for human life, especially for our senior veterans and younger ones as well.

Read in the highlighted red statement that pertaining to the DOJ Settlement, it is the duty of Janssen a J&J Division to report this illegal practice to Ms. Christi Grimm, Inspection General for her action to cease this action. Pure and simple, they are in legal violation of the Agreement and Ms. Christi Grimm, Inspector General should insist that the DOJ place both individuals behind bars for jeopardizing people's lives. (b) (6) was ordered and placed in Brookside Rehab Center for physical rehabilitation, no to be a medical experiment of Dr. Dain's. I have documents indicating that the VA inspected this approved facility and did nothing to report this illegal medical practice involving Topamax, and all correspondence sent to Director Wilkie, Ms. Christi Grimm, Ms. Amy Abernethy, Dr. Monica Bharel, Governor Charlie Baker went on either "deaf ears" or they couldn't be bothered with this illegal medical practice. I also contacted HHS and FDA, and they in turn advised me to take this up with the Massachusetts Board of Medicine. Presently as I write, Dr. Monica Bharel, Commissioner of Health has an open investigation docket regarding this medical practice being conducted by Dr. Dain.

And yet, you keep stressing the statement that you require "study after study" to insure public safety as drugs being presented for usage do not have FDA approval. Doesn't Topamax and the VA use deserve the same scrutiny, or because it is being used on veterans who no longer can serve this great country and be an asset should just be tossed away, or better yet, die a painful death due to the side effects that they, the veterans incur. Apparently a different set of rules for the veterans versus the residents of the USA. Sorry, these honorable veterans fought for our freedom with the question in their mind that they may die for our beloved country, do not deserve the highest quality of medical care. You keep stating that you instill medical integrity, yet I see nothing of this practice among your agencies and enforcement of the law as pertaining to non approved drugs, namely Topamax.

Your statement to the public as both Dr. Fauci and Dr. Adams keeps stating on Television apparently is more talking points than enforcement and action.

Unapproved prescription drugs pose significant risks to patients because they have not been reviewed by FDA for safety, effectiveness or quality. Without FDA review, there is no way to know if these drugs are safe and effective for their intended use, whether they are manufactured in a way that ensures consistent drug quality or whether their label is complete and accurate. Unapproved drugs have resulted in patient harm, and the agency works to protect patients from the risks posed by these drugs.

Under the Accountability Act passed by the President, these two supposedly credible medical individuals are ignoring this rule, and should be prosecuted by the HHS/FDA/VA; instead, they are ignoring their medical oath and both the devoted veterans and the veterans families are suffering terrible and this could have been stopped and prevented before tragedy hits and should have not occurred. For your reference, I have attached before and after photographs of (b) (6) that speaks volumes. (b) (6) suffered greatly, compared to a victim you watch on the crime shows where the "bad guys" strap the victim to a chair and then give them some drug that makes them suffer and bounce all over the place, very, very painful . Dad inhibited most of the side effects and no remedy was given, nor was any considered to ease his suffering and provide him with a good quality of life for whatever time he had remaining. No, just ignore the family's concern and let the senior veteran die a painful death. As one nurse stated to the family, "he is not comfortable in his own skin". Hard to swallow by this devoted family and we have to live with this the rest of our lives that we could not do anything more for our Dad. Sad that the medical specialists on President Trump's administration staff come out each and every day as though they are "all good" and put on this fa□ade of being considered for the greater good of the citizens of the United States, and this is all phony, just a dog and pony show for the public audience.

I have attached the FDA Documents stating with Pre Existing Conditions it should not be given. (b) (6) , has renal damage due to his exposure in World War II to Jaundice/Hepatitis B as he was hospitalized for this in France Military Hospital for a month. The reason for this is attached the Military Medicine Study was due to the fact the Veterans including (b) (6) was Given NON FDA APPROVED VACCINATIONS. So that almost killed him now the VA finally succeeded with Dr. Dain and Dr. Stoffles. This is all on his Records with the VA and his Military Discharge Records.

President Trump stated he wanted the "best health care" for the Veteran, apparently he would be speechless if he seen what happened to Army WWII Veteran, (b) (6) .

Respectfully submitted,

(b) (6)

Subject: Office of Inspector General
Dear Ms. Christi Grimm, Inspector General of HHS

I have received this response from your office below. May I ask since you re the Inspector General why your are sending me this direction to a OIG Hotline on a Case that the DOJ has indicted Janssen Pharma and it was settled that HHS was to enforce the actions of Using Topamax for only FDA approved uses. Thus my proof of the Drug used by Dr. Peter Dain of Brookside which has cause Reckless Endangerment and Permanent Harm. I just spoke to the Doctors at St. Vincent Hospital in Worcester, MA where (b) (6) is at and the future is glim and the Topamax caused Severe Brain Damage which is now Life Threatening.

Thus your Boss Alex Azar of HHS was on with Lou Dobbs defending HHS on the Corona Virus and yet this is a obvious case that was tried and you have documentation of the results and tell me to contact the other Agencies. I would gladly speak on Mr. Lou Dobbs Show with Director Alex Azar of this Non FDA Approved Topamax being used for profit and death. I have send to the following people all the information in fact even the Documents from J&J Janssen showing they did nothing and have Violated a DOJ Settlement and continue on Endangering Life's of Veteran and the Public with this reckless behavior. This is been made aware to the following people which you have copies of the documents in my previous emails.

1. Ms. Christi Grimm, Inspector General HHS has all documents including the pictures, emails, reports and the Double Billing of Medicaid by Dr.Dain for the Same Service that was being paid by the Veterans Administration. So besides Reckless Endangerment there is Government Fraud on behalf of Dr. Dain of Brookside Rehabilitation a VA Approved Facility.

2. Mr. Robert Wilkie, Director of VA has all documents including the pictures, emails, reports and Double Billing of Medicaid by Dr. Dain for the same services that were being paid by the Veterans Administration. So besides Reckless Endangerment there is Government Fraud on behalf of Dr. Dain of Brookside Rehabilitation a VA Approved Facility and documentation of Using a Non FDA Approved Medication that is not recognized nor paid by Medicaid, VA or any Government Health Agency.

3. Ms. Amy Abernethy, Director of FDA has the same documents listed above.

4. Ms. Monica Bharel, Commissioner of Massachusetts Board of Medicine has the entire file and documents representing the "illegal use of Topamax" reckless endangerment with intent to harm or injury the individual for Profit and Medicaid Fraud Against the US Government on a Veteran. She has a copy of the Double Billing the Medicaid and VA for this by Dr. Dain of Brookside total violation of the law.

5. Mr. Andrew Lelling, US Attorney of Department of Justice has complete Documentation and his office was the ones involved in the Prosecution and Settlement Agreement with J&J Janssen Pharmaceuticals whom Criminally Violated these laws for Financial Gain.

6. Dr. Paul Stoffles, Vice Chairman of J&J Janssen whom has all the follow ups and is responsible for this Criminal Action.

7. Governor Charles Baker, Massachusetts: has the file and copies of emails sent to Ms. Monica Bharel, Commissioner

Thus Ms. Grimm, as per your Boss Mr. Azare saying the HHS is on the case, apparently on this life or death one regarding (b) (6) , all I am seeing is a email directing me to a circle of nowhere. There is Accountability in your position and I expect you will do what you were hired for and not just play political roulette with peoples life's.

I await to hear from you as this should not happen to any Veteran or any individual as the Veterans should not be used as "experiments for profit and fun", we do live in a society that has ethics and conscience.

Sincerely

Subject: TOPAMAX Violation of Federal Agreement is

Dear US Attorney Andrew Lelling, Department of Justice

I am sending this email in Reference to Dr. Dain MD of Brookside Rehab and Dr. Peter Stoffels MD of Johnson & Johnson that are Violating your Agreement Done by US Attorney Carmen Ortiz for using Topamax for Non FDA Purposes which they have done to (b) (6) which has caused Serious Injury to his Physical, Mental and Total Overall Health and his condition is getting grave.

Both Dr.Peter Stoffels, MD of J&J and Dr. Peter Dain of Brookside engaging in RICO Activity for Profit by knowing and willingly using these Deadly Drugs for Financial Gain and Defrauding the US Government Medicaid and Veterans Administration billing and Reckless Endangerment of Veterans and Patients. Thus both are engaging in Practices that were legally prosecuted by your DOJ and was agreed to by J&J to monitor and not to engage and enrich Doctors for Prescribing this Non FDA Approved Drug for Psychotic Reasons.

So we have both Doctor Stoffels and Dr. Dain in deliberate defiance of Federal Laws and now these RICO Actions should put both Individuals in Federal Prisons (aka Bernie Maddoff) for these serious crimes which are resulting in long term harm and even death.

Thus we have both Individuals in Falsification of Documents to the US Government billing the Veterans Administration and Medicaid for Drugs not approved and using people as experiments without knowledge. Thus a Violation of 12 US Code 5531 Unfair Deceptive Acts and Practices and Violation of Veterans Administration and Medicaid Guidelines on Drugs.

In the Agreement which both Dr. Peter Stoffels, of J&J and Dr. Peter Dain of Brookside its been legally agreed as follows.

Also as part of the settlement, Ortho-McNeil-Janssen Pharmaceuticals has agreed to enter into an expansive corporate integrity agreement with the Office of Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services. That agreement provides for procedures and reviews to be put in place to avoid and promptly detect conduct similar to that which gave rise to this matter

So both individuals decided to defy the Legal Agreement and continue on with this RICO Activity for Profit and Disregard for Public Safety and Obstruction of Justice. As you have the agreement and their engagement in Fraud Against the Federal Health Care Programs which is proven with (b) (6) i in their reckless behavior and endangerment of his health condition for Financial Gain.

What is very upsetting is the Family and Friends have seen a perfect individual subject to these practices and his condition has become grave and will never get better. Both of these are Medical Professionals who vow to help people and not endanger them. Now its showing to our Family they are no better that Drug Dealers pushing Fentanyl to unsuspecting people for profit with no conscience for life or the endangerment.

I will be willing to meet with you in Boston as I am in Massachusetts to show the Before and After Pictures of (b) (6) and the Permanent Damage done by these two individuals. Dr. Peter Dain of Brookside Rehabilitation of Webster, Massachusetts and Dr. Peter Stoffels, MD Vice Chairman of Johnson & Johnson.

They are total examples of Disrespect of the Law and Medical Malpractice.

Sincerely

(b) (6)

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Two Johnson & Johnson Subsidiaries to Pay Over $81 Million to Resolve Allegations of Off-Label Promotion of Topamax

Epilepsy Drug Approved by FDA Promoted for Psychiatric Uses

WASHINGTON a□is□□ American pharmaceutical manufacturers Ortho-McNeil Pharmaceutical LLC and Ortho-McNeil-Janssen Pharmaceuticals Inc., both subsidiaries of Johnson & Johnson, have agreed to pay more than $81 million to resolve criminal and civil liability arising from the illegal promotion of the epilepsy drug Topamax, the Justice Department announced today.

According to the agreement reached with the government, Ortho-McNeil Pharmaceutical LLC has agreed to plead guilty to a misdemeanor and pay a $6.14 million criminal fine for the misbranding of Topamax in violation of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved Topamax as an anti-epileptic drug, for the treatment of partial onset seizures, but not for any psychiatric use. Once a pharmaceutical is approved by the FDA, a manufacturer may not market or promote it for any use not specified in its new drug application. The unauthorized uses are also known as "unapproved" or "off-label uses."

The government alleged that Ortho-McNeil Pharmaceutical promoted the sale of Topamax for off-label psychiatric uses through a practice known as the "Doctor-for-a-Day" program. Using this program, Ortho-McNeil hired outside physicians to join sales representatives in their visits to the offices of health care providers and to speak at meetings and dinners about prescribing Topamax for unapproved uses and doses.

In addition to the criminal fine, Ortho-McNeil-Janssen Pharmaceuticals will pay $75.37 million to resolve civil allegations under the False Claims Act that they illegally promoted Topamax and caused false claims to be submitted to government health care programs for a variety of psychiatric uses that were not medically accepted indications and therefore not covered by those programs. The federal share of the civil settlement is $50,688,483.52, and the state Medicaid share of the civil settlement is $24,681,516.48.

"Working with our federal and state partners, we will take action against pharmaceutical companies that promote their drugs for off-label uses," said Tony West, Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Division of the Department of Justice. "This type of unlawful marketing undermines the FDA's important role in deciding which drugs are safe and effective for consumers and costs the taxpayers billions of dollars each year."

The civil settlement resolves two lawsuits filed under the qui tam, or whistleblower, provisions of the False Claims Act, which allow private citizens with knowledge of fraud to bring civil actions behalf of the United States and share in any recovery. The two cases, both filed in the District of Massachusetts are United States ex rel. Maher, et al. v. Ortho-McNeil Pharmaceutical, Civil Action No. 03-11445-WGY, and United States ex rel. Spivack v. Johnson & Johnson and Ortho-McNeil Pharmaceutical, Inc., Civil Action No. 04-11886-WGY. As part of today□□s resolution, the whistleblowers will receive payments totaling more than $9 million from the federal share of the civil recovery.

Also as part of the settlement, Ortho-McNeil-Janssen Pharmaceuticals has agreed to enter into an expansive corporate integrity agreement with the Office of Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services. That agreement provides for procedures and reviews to be put in place to avoid and promptly detect conduct similar to that which gave rise to this matter.

"This resolution underscores the government□□s unflagging commitment to combating pharmaceutical fraud in all its forms, and in securing a just and meaningful outcome that deters those who would consider off-label marketing in the future," said Carmen M. Ortiz, U.S. Attorney for the District of Massachusetts.

"This settlement is about more than financial recoveries, it is also about protecting the integrity of health care programs and the health of beneficiaries," said Department of Health and Human Services Inspector General Daniel R. Levinson. "The Corporate Integrity Agreement requires Ortho-McNeil-Janssen-Pharmaceuticals, Inc. to increase transparency and accountability and to make changes designed to avoid illegal drug promotion in the future."

The Justice Department□□s Civil Division and the U.Attorney Attorney's Office for the District of Massachusetts prosecuted the criminal case and handled the civil lawsuit, with assistance from the National Association of Medicaid Fraud Control Units and the offices of various state Attorneys General. The Office of Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services negotiated the Corporate Integrity Agreement.

This settlement is part of the government□□s emphasis on combating health care fraud. One of the most powerful tools in that effort is the False Claims Act, which the Justice Department has used to recover approximately $2.2 billion since January 2009 in cases involving fraud against federal health care programs. The Justice Department□□s total recoveries in False Claims Act cases since January 2009 have topped $3 billion.

Data are current as of 10:00 am on 5/27/2020; For populations <50,000, <5 cases are reported as such or suppressed for confidentiality purposes.

[1]Please note these numbers and rates reflect the number of persons tested, not the total tests performed, by city/town. One person may have multiple tests.

[2]Address information for these cases are currently being obtained.

Bureau of Infectious Disease and Laboratory Sciences calculates rates per 100,000 population using denominators estimated by the University of Massachusetts Donahue Institute using a modified Hamilton-Perry model (Strate S, et al. Small Area Population Estimates for 2011 through 2020, report published Oct 2016.)

Please note: Data for these tables are based on information available in the DPH surveillance database at a single point in time. Case counts for specific cities and towns change throughout the day as data cleaning occurs (removal of duplicate reports within the system) and new demographic information (assigning cases to their city or town of residence) is obtained.

1. Staff and residents.

2. Cumulative COVID-19 deaths – includes residents only.

PLEASE NOTE: This list includes nursing homes, rest homes, and skilled nursing facilities with at least 2 reported COVID-19 cases to date (staff and residents). The number of cases for a facility relies on the amount of testing conducted; facilities not included on this list may have COVID-19 cases that have not yet been identified. Some facilities have tested some or all residents only; some have also tested staff. A low number of cases may reflect that not all residents and staff have been tested, not necessarily low prevalence.

ALSO: Data on deaths is self-reported by each facility. In accordance with long-term care regulations, nursing homes and rest homes must report deaths due to any cause in any resident, either confirmed COVID-19 positive, or suspected to have COVID-19, even if the individual was never tested. When the number of deaths is between 1-4 residents, the number is suppressed and reported as fewer than 5, to protect possible resident identification.

1. Staff and residents.

2. Cumulative COVID-19 deaths – includes residents only.

PLEASE NOTE: This list includes nursing homes, rest homes, and skilled nursing facilities with at least 2 reported COVID-19 cases to date (staff and residents). The number of cases for a facility relies on the amount of testing conducted; facilities not included on this list may have COVID-19 cases that have not yet been identified. Some facilities have tested some or all residents only; some have also tested staff. A low number of cases may reflect that not all residents and staff have been tested, not necessarily low prevalence.

ALSO: Data on deaths is self-reported by each facility. In accordance with long-term care regulations, nursing homes and rest homes must report deaths due to any cause in any resident, either confirmed COVID-19 positive, or suspected to have COVID-19, even if the individual was never tested. When the number of deaths is between 1-4 residents, the number is suppressed and reported as fewer than 5, to protect possible resident identification.

Nursing Facilities Baseline Testing

- On, April 27th the Commonwealth announced a COVID-19 Nursing Facility Accountability and Support Program. Additional funding of up to $130 m is being provided to improve the safety and infection control protocols for nursing home residents and staff.
- This additional funding is dependent upon facilities meeting specific accountability metrics, including testing at least 90% of all nursing home residents and staff for COVID-19 between April 8, 2020 and May 25, 2020. Facilities were encouraged to test 100% of staff and residents.
- The Executive Office of Health and Human Services (EOHHS) worked closely with the Massachusetts Senior Care Association (MSCA) to provide material supports to facilities to ensure they have testing options and were able to meet the May 25th deadline.
- This report depicts the percentage of staff and residents tested for COVID-19 at each facility and whether a facility met the 90% threshold. The data is self-attested by nursing facilities and can be further audited and reviewed by EOHHS for final determinations.
- Facilities that did meet the 90% testing threshold will not receive any additional funding under the Accountability and Support policy.

Massachusetts Department of Public Health COVID-19 Dashboard

Nursing Facilities Clinical Audits

- On, April 27th the Commonwealth announced a COVID-19 Nursing Facility Accountability and Support Program. The program is predicated on clinical audits every two weeks based on a 28-point Infection Control Checklist. Additional funding of up to $130 m is provided to improve the safety and infection control protocols for nursing home residents and staff.
- The 28 point infection control checklist was developed in accordance with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), and Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) guidelines. Audits are completed by licensed nurses and clinical staff trained in infection control.
- The bi-weekly report depicts how each facility has scored based on their initial baseline audit.
- Based on a facility's score on the 28-point checklist, each facility is rated:
  1) Green "In Adherence" and scored at least a 24 out of 28
  2) Yellow "In Adherence but warrants reinspection" and scored at least 20 out of 28
  3) Red "Not in Adherence" and scored under 20 and/or missed at least one of six core
- There were 119 facilities that received a score over 20 points, but are scored "Red" ("Not In Adherence"), due to a missed core competency (e.g. improper PPE use); all facilities in the "Red" will receive targeted infection control training and re-audited by 5/29.
- This baseline audit is based on the two week period May 4, 2020 through May 15, 2020.

Baseline Audit Results (through 5/15)

Total audits completed	360
Total facilities in adherence	228
Total facilities in adherence but warrant reinspection	0
Total facilities not in adherence
- Facilities with score >20 but missed core competency	119
- Facilities with score <20	13

Average score for facilities not in adherence due to missed core competency was 25 out of 28

VHA COMMUNITY NURSING HOME PROCEDURES

1. PURPOSE

This Veterans Health Administration (VHA) Handbook provides instructions for initial and annual reviews of nursing homes, and ongoing monitoring and follow-up services for veterans in the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Community Nursing Home (CNH) Program.

2. BACKGROUND

a. Since 1965, VHA has provided nursing home care under contracts or Basic Ordering Agreements (BOA). For more than 35 years, the CNH Program has maintained two cornerstones: some level of patient choice in choosing a nursing home close to the veteran's home and family; and a unique approach to local oversight of CNHs. The latter hallmark consists of annual reviews and monthly patient visits. VA Health Care Facility (VAHCF) staff are the only Federal officials charged with regularly visiting community nursing homes.

b. The Handbook updates new approaches to CNH oversight, first introduced in 2002, drawing on the latest research and data systems advances. At the same time, VHA maintains monitoring of vulnerable patients in nursing homes (NHs), while enhancing the structure of its annual CNH review process.

3. SCOPE

a. VHA continues to be committed to building capacity to serve the long-term care needs of veterans through home and community-based care (H&CBC), State Veterans Homes, and the CNH Program. VHA also recognizes the rising concerns over quality of care in the nation's nursing homes and the need to fully implement a plan for quality monitoring.

b. This Handbook specifies:

(1) Instructions for the initial and annual reviews of CNH contracts, and instructions for ongoing monitoring and follow-up visits for veterans placed in CNHs.

(2) Threshold standards, based on national and state averages, for CNH contracts including the evaluation of data provided by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid's (CMS) On-Line Survey Certification and Retrieval System (OSCAR) and the Minimum Data Set (MDS) Nursing Home Quality Indicator (QI) Profile, and CNH staffing levels. These data elements are reported in CMS' Nursing Home Compare at http://www.medicare.gov/nhcompare/home.asp.

(3) Exclusion and termination criteria from the CNH Program based on the scope and severity of a CNH's deficiencies, staffing and quality indicator information obtained from the CMS Facility Deficiency Report, Resident Characteristic Profile and Quality Indicators, as compared with national and state standards.

4. DEFINITIONS

a. Activities of Daily Living (ADLs). ADLs are activities performed on a daily basis that include mobility, hygiene, eating, toileting, dressing, etc.

NIH 000198

b. Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). CMS is part of the Department of Health and Human Services, formerly known as the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA).

c. Community Nursing Home (CNH). For the purpose of this handbook, a CNH is a private or public nursing home that provides short and long-term institutional care services under contract with VA. State veterans homes are not included in this definition.

d. CNH Review Team. The CNH Review Team is responsible for performing the necessary evaluations of nursing homes prior to the contract, on an annual basis, and when indicated by specific circumstances. These evaluations are document-based, using Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and VAHCF data, unless otherwise noted or authorized. See VHA Directive 1143, dated June 24, 2002.

e. CNH Oversight Committee. The CNH Oversight Committee is established by the VAHCF Director, reports to the chief clinical officer (Chief of Staff, Associate Director for Patient Care Services or the equivalent), and includes multidisciplinary management-level representatives from social work, nursing, quality management, acquisition, and medical staff. The CNH oversight Committee meets no less frequently than quarterly. Its functions include: completeness and problem focused CNH reviews. See VHA Directive 1143, dated June 24, 2002.

f. State Survey Agency (SSA) Form 2567, Statement of Deficiencies and Plan of Correction. SSA Form 2567 identifies the deficiencies and plan of correction based on the most recent CMS survey of a nursing home.

g. Geriatrics and Extended Care (GEC). GEC is the accepted title for long-term care programs and services in VA.

h. Geriatrics and Extended Care Strategic Healthcare Group (GEC SHG). GEC SHG is the VACO program office that oversees all network and local GEC divisions.

i. Home and Community-based Care (H&CBC). H&CBC is the accepted title for all home and community based healthcare programs and services in VA.

j. Minimum Data Set (MDS). The CMS Resident Assessment Instrument-Minimum Data Set is a tool for comprehensive assessment and care planning for long-term care patients.

k. Nursing Home Compare. Web-based CMS information system, which provides primary information on CNH deficiencies, staffing and quality indicators.

l. On-Line Survey Certification and Retrieval System (OSCAR). OSCARs are reports obtained from CMS using a password, and providing present and prior survey results of an individual nursing home. OSCAR information is also available via Nursing Home Compare.

m. Network GEC Office. Each VA Network or Veterans Integrated Service Network (VISN) has a division of Geriatrics and Extended Care.

n. Primary Service Area (PSA). The PSA is the clinical area of jurisdiction covered by each VA medical center in relation to the contracted CNHs.

o. Quality Indicator (QI) Profile. The QI Profile is comprised of CMS Quality Measures drawn from the MDS.

p. Standard Form (SF) 98. SF 98, Notice of Intent to Make a Service Contract.

q. SF 98a. SF 98a, Response to Notice.

r. SF 129. SF 129, Solicitation Mailing List Application.

s. Title XVIII. Title XVIII is Medicare.

t. Title XIX. Title XIX is Medicaid.

u. VA Form 10-1170. VA Form 10-1170, Contract Award for Furnishing Nursing Home Services to Beneficiaries of the Veterans Administration.

v. VA Health Care Facility (VAHCF). VAHCF is used instead of medical center.

5. GOALS

a. The goal of the CNH Program is to provide long-term Care (LTC) services through contracts with CNHs to match the veteran's geographic preferences and institutional LTC needs.

b. The overall goals are to improve outcomes, and optimize function and quality of life for veteran patients.

c. The key building blocks for accomplishing these goals are:

(1) Implementation of an interdisciplinary CNH Review Team at each VAHCF.

(2) Standardization of the initial and annual evaluation process for CNH contracts.

(3) Standardization of the ongoing monitoring and follow-up services for veterans in CNHs.

(4) Development of staff competencies in the evaluation and monitoring procedures through initial and on-going training and competency assessment.

(5) Monitoring of findings and incorporation of findings into the VAHCF QI program.

(6) Monitoring of program and policy compliance by the office of the GEC SHG.

6. INITIAL REVIEW OF CONTRACT NURSING HOMES

a. CNHs are considered for VA CNH's Program, when the VAHCF has determined that a need exists for additional CNH options. In cases where this need has been confirmed, a nursing home requesting to participate in the CNH Program is mailed, a VA Form 10-1170, Contract Award for Furnishing Nursing Home Services to Beneficiaries of the Veterans Administration, and a descriptive cover letter by the Contracting Officer.

b. The Contracting Officer notifies the CNH Review Team of the nursing home's intent. An evaluation must be planned by the CNH Review Team.

c. A contract can only be established between a CNH and one VAHCF. Generally, the contract exists between the CNH and the VAHCF which has cognizance for that geographic location.

d. Nursing homes are reviewed prior to consummation of an initial contract with VA. The CNH provides evidence of State licensure and limited additional information listed in Paragraph 6h.

e. All NHs under VA contract must be certified under Title XVIII (Medicare) or Title XIX (Medicaid) or have received special approval from the GEC SHG. For CNH document review purposes, the NH Compare system and the MDS-based Quality Indicator (QI) Profile provide nursing home-specific information on quality and management.

f. Community nursing homes are required to meet all state licensing requirements including the state requirements pertaining to level of medical liability insurance (MLI). When CNH's with existing contracts have documented efforts to purchase MLI, but have been denied by reason of a moratorium on new policies, or by price prohibitions, VA contracts may be renewed if the CNH meets all other contract care provisions. However, VA will not establish new contracts with non-participating CNH's that do not have the level of MLI required by the state.

g. The CNH Review Team must obtain and must analyze the Compare and MDS QI Profile data, and all other necessary state survey reports and information. This may include a copy of the most recent State Survey Agency (SSA) Form 2567, Statement of Deficiencies and Plan of Correction, and any complaints against a CNH that are reported to the State. NH Compare information is available on-line: http://www.medicare.gov/nhcompare/home.asp. A copy of SSA Form 2567 may be requested from the State or the nursing home being reviewed. A copy of the most recent MDS QI Profile will be requested from the nursing home being reviewed. This profile includes all quality indicators reported through MDS to CMS with facility, State, and national percentages. NOTE: Paragraph 11 outlines selected deficiencies, by scope and severity, and other variables which preclude CNH Program participation or indicate the need for further review by the CNH Team.

h. When the CNH Review Team's document examination indicates that the nursing home is in either substantial compliance or that deficiencies have been corrected, an informational visit is made to the home by a VA representative designated by the CNH Review Team. This visit is designed to meet the leadership of the nursing home, to learn about the nursing home's special programs, and to determine how the nursing home can best meet veterans' needs.

i. When the CNH Review Team's document examination indicates deficiencies of scope, severity, or number that prevent the CNH from meeting the threshold standards stated in subparagraph 11c, and the plan of correction does not adequately answer these deficiencies, the CNH Review Team either conducts an on-site survey, or recommends that the contract not be initiated. This action is taken after consultation with the SSA in order to ensure that a VA site visit is necessary. The team members must include a registered nurse, social worker, plus other disciplines, as appropriate, to evaluate the specific areas of non-compliance.

j. For all contracts, a Safety Officer must always conduct an initial site survey. The nursing home is required to be in compliance with the most recent edition of the Life Safety Code (LSC).

All new homes entering the CNH Program must be fully sprinkled. This affects homes new to the CNH Program; not contract renewals.

k. Based on the preceding evaluation process, the CNH Review Team through the CNH Coordinator, makes recommendations to the Contracting Officer on the disposition of the application.

7. ANNUAL REVIEW OF CNHs

a. Once a CNH has a VA contract, the review process is completed and documented every 12 months, and no more than 90 days prior to expiration of the contract. If a contract is canceled and renegotiated during the year for the purpose of establishing a new per diem rate or for an ownership change, it is not necessary to conduct another review as long as the review has been conducted within the required 12-month time limit.

b. The CNH team repeats the process described in Paragraph 6 for annual reviews. In addition, the team must review the findings of the ongoing monitoring visits to the nursing home, as described in Paragraph 9. NOTE: Triennial site surveys for LSC compliance will be conducted, unless otherwise indicated by the review process.

c. The CNH Review Team must document the findings and recommendations on each review and follow-up review conducted.

d. Based on the preceding review processes, the CNH Review Team through the CNH Coordinator, makes recommendations to the Contracting Officer on the disposition of the contract renewal.

e. The CNH Review Team, through the CNH Oversight Committees, provides documentation on its findings and the CNH disposition or the Certification Report. Reports will be made on the CNH Website, when it becomes available and updated quarterly. This certification includes the dates each CNH was reviewed, how the reviews were conducted, if on-site surveys by the CNH Review Team were necessary, if consultation with the SSA was obtained, and other pertinent information and recommendations. A program monitor, examining the overall quality of CNHs under contract, will be drawn from the website data set.

8. SUFFICIENCY OF CMS-BASED REVIEWS

a. CNH Review Teams may find that the SSA surveys of CNH's are insufficient to make assessments of quality of care in nursing homes throughout the state. One major indicator of survey insufficiency is a high percentage of CNH's with no deficiencies. When more that 20 percent of the NH's under VA contract in a Primary Service Area (PSA) have no deficiencies, the VAHCF must notify GEC SHG. This notification initiates a process of intensive review and consultations with other VAHCF's in the state, VISNs, and CMS.

b. GEC SHG must conduct a statewide review of deficiencies in collaboration with the VAHCFs and VISNs. If a statewide pattern of deficiency-free CNHs is found, GEC SHG must consult with CMS on the finding. Following additional consultation with other informed parties, (advocacy, research, trade groups) GEC SHG determines if there is sufficient cause to question the validity of the State survey. If GEC SHG determines that SSA results are not indicative of the quality of care delivered in CNHs, GEC SHG must arrange for CMS training for the affected CNH Review Teams, so that they may conduct documentary surveys.

9. ONGOING MONITORING AND FOLLOW-UP VISITS IN CNHs

a. Prior to placement of the veteran in a nursing home, a plan is to be developed for follow-up visits needed from the VAHCF. This plan is to be developed by social work and/or nursing staff involved in discharge and placement, in consultation with the referring bed service or clinic. The plan needs to delineate, on an individual patient basis, the particular needs and services to be provided to the patient.

b. Every VA patient under contract in a nursing home must be visited by a social worker or registered nurse at least every 30 days, except as noted in subparagraph 9c. Social workers and nurses will alternate monthly visits, unless otherwise indicated by the patient's visit plan. Other professional disciplines need to make follow-up visits when indicated by the patient's discharge plan, or upon recommendations from the CNH Review Team. NOTE: It is important to emphasize the individual basis of this plan. When visits become routine, there is a danger that the focus will be lost and that quality will suffer.

c. Certain CNH patients may not require visits every 30 days. These patients require a registered nurse and social work visit at least once every 6 months. Generally, the nurse and social worker will alternate visits on a quarterly basis. This visit schedule applies when one set of the following conditions are met:

(1) Monitoring Long-term Placements

(a) The patient has been in CNH placement for an extended period of time, i.e., more than 1 year, without an intervening re-hospitalization, or significant change in health status; and

(b) There are no unresolved patient or family complaints about the quality of care in the CNH; and

(c) There is no overall measurable decline in the CNH's QI Profile in the last quarter; and

(d) VA staff are able to arrange for a monthly review of the patient's condition by telephone, fax, or other forms of communication with the nursing home staff, the patient, and/or the patient's family.

(2) Monitoring Placements that are Geographically Distant from the VAHCF

(a) The patient resides in a CNH which is more than 50 miles from the VAHCF providing follow-up services; and

(b) The patient has received an initial visit from VA staff in the first month of placement; and

(c) There are no unresolved patient or family complaints about the quality of care in the CNH; and

(d) There is no overall measurable decline in the CNH's QI Profile in the last quarter; and

NIH 000203

(e) VA staff are able to arrange for a monthly review of the patient's condition by telephone, fax, or other forms of communication with the nursing home staff, the patient, and/or the patient's family.

d. Patients receiving rehabilitation therapies at VA expense require special follow-up services to ensure that the therapies are provided. A VA physician must order the therapy(ies) or approve the nursing home's plan for therapy for a specific period of time. Orders for therapy(ies) can not exceed 1 month, but may be re-certified.

e. In addition to evaluation of the particular clinical needs and services provided to the veteran, VA staff must:

(1) Monitor for the new onset and/or worsening of pressure sores.

(2) Determine whether pain, the 5th Vital Sign, has been assessed and appropriate interventions applied.

(3) Monitor for the occurrence of falls, other injuries, medication errors, restraint use, fecal impactions, weight loss greater than 5 percent, dehydration, and loss of ADL function.

(4) Note re-admissions to a VAHCF that are suggestive of poor quality care.

(5) Determine that the plan of care is developed and implemented based on the patient's needs.

(6) Assess the veteran and the family's psychosocial adjustment to care.

(7) Interview the veteran and/or the veteran's family as to their satisfaction with care.

(8) Note and follow-up on any specific complaints made to the VAHCF by the veteran or the veteran's family.

(9) Determine if the patient needs continued skilled care.

(10) Document findings for incorporation into the VAHCF's Quality Improvement Program.

f. During all evaluation and follow-up visits, the VAHCF team members make observations and gain impressions about the overall quality of care in the nursing home. Examples include courtesy of staff, adequacy of documentation, social and spiritual activities to promote self-worth and sense of well-being, indications of patient abuse or neglect, and the quality of sensory and environmental aesthetics. NOTE: These observations and impressions are to be documented.

(1) Any concerns are to be immediately discussed with appropriate clinicians and managers, and reported to the CNH Review Team. Sentinel events or adverse patient occurrences are to be immediately reported to the VAHCF Director, the Network GEC Office, and the GEC SHG via the Certification Report on the CNH Website.

(2) Sentinel events include, but are not limited to the following:

(a) Falls resulting in death or major injury.

NIH 000204

(b) Elopement resulting in missing patient.

(c) Patient abuse confirmed or under investigation.

(d) Medication error resulting in patient illness or injury.

(e) Deaths or patient injuries related to restraint (including side rail) use.

(f) All deaths related to unconfirmed or suspicious causes.

(g) The results of all patient evaluation and follow-up visits must be documented in the VA electronic medical record including appropriate event capture documentation for workload statistics and ongoing monitoring. All VA staff visits to patients in the CNH Program will be recorded using DSS Stop Code 119.

(h) VA staff providing follow-up visits to nursing home patients must periodically review patients' MDS to determine if continued skilled nursing home care is required.

(i) When continued nursing care at VA expense is no longer indicated, but the veteran or family decline to cooperate with a different placement, VA authorization for the nursing home placement will be terminated.

(1) Due process procedures found in Paragraph 15, must be used.

(2) Written notification of the pending termination must be made to the veteran or family, the nursing home, and any other interested parties.

(3) Termination is effective 7 days following written notification, or at the expiration of the current authorization, whichever comes first.

g. A VAHCF making nursing home placements outside its PSA must obtain concurrence for these placements with the appropriate VAHCF and must forward all follow-up responsibilities to the receiving VAHCF. Such coordination must precede the actual placement of the patient in the CNH and may include: the exchange of complete veteran and veteran's family information, re-hospitalization, or CNH discharge arrangements.

10. TRANSPORTATION

a. Veterans residing in a CNH at VA expense receive a full range of care which includes a room, meals, nursing care, routine medical provider visits, medications included with the per diem allowance, minimal laboratory and radiology services, and other special services and supplies normally provided for community nursing home residents. The provision of this comprehensive convalescent care is intended to minimize the need for veterans to travel to other locations for routine care.

b. CNH veterans may need access to outpatient services; supplies and equipment when this care is not a duplication of their nursing home care benefits. When a CNH veteran requires medically necessary specialty services, an assessment of each veteran's unique needs must be conducted to determine the most suitable location for provision of this care.

c. When a CNH veteran requires medically necessary services, the authorizing facility is responsible for the provision of VA approved care for which veteran is eligible. When VA care is impracticable, fee care can be authorized by the medical center, if the veteran is eligible for fee care.

d. The benefits and risks of transporting the veteran for services must be carefully evaluated. This would include, but not be limited to, the following factors; consideration of veteran's physical and emotional health status and needs, travel distance and cost and availability on-site or locally of needed services.

e. Each veteran's health status must be assessed. The following questions can be considering when making a determination whether to purchase services locally or on-site versus transporting a CNH patient to the nearest VA

1. What is the patient's physical and mental health status?

2. Does the patient's health condition require close monitoring, thus making travel difficult, i.e., tube feeding, diabetes, help with toileting, etc.?

3. Does the patient have confusion/dementia-necessitating escort by a health care provider?

4. Is the patient able to be up and out of bed for long periods of time?

5. Would transport put patient at high risk for skin breakdown?

6. What is the travel time? Will there be a wait for services upon arrival? After the patient is seen by a health care provider? Is weather a factor?

7. What is the cost of transport (and escort if needed)?

8. What is cost of purchasing services on site or locally?

9. Would transport interfere with patient's adjustment to placement?

11. STANDARDS FOR INITIAL AND ANNUAL CNH REVIEWS

a. CNH Review Teams consider deficiency, staffing and quality measure information from Nursing Home Compare, patient/family and Ombudsman concerns about care and findings from its own experience in the nursing home through the monthly monitoring process when making recommendations for acceptance or continuation of a CNH's participation with VA. NH Compare information is the backbone of the Annual Review process. It contains deficiency, staffing and quality information. When supplemented, primarily by reports of VA's own experience in the CNH, the information forms a sound basis for recommending acceptance or renewal of a CNH contract.

b. CNH Review Team visits are not required, except when indicated by the process outlined in Paragraphs 6 and 7.

NIH 000206

c. Evaluating OSCAR Data Using Nursing Home Compare. Nursing Home Compare displays OSCAR scores in two steps rather than a unitary alpha designation, A-L. In NH Compare, the scope of a deficiency is defined as affecting, "few", "some" or "many" patients. Severity is defined along a numeric scale, 1-4. For example, an OSCAR score of "G" is shown in NH Compare as "3-Few". This is a deficiency, which caused actual harm to one or a small number of patients. The chart below shows the scoring scheme in NH Compare and OSCAR.

Comparison of Nursing Home Deficiency Scores

Scope /Severity	Nursing Home Compare	Oscar Score
Isolated, no actual harm	1 - Few	A
Pattern, no actual harm	1 - Some	B
Widespread, no actual harm	1 - Many	C
Isolated, potential for minimal harm	2 - Few	D
Pattern, potential for minimal harm	2 - Some	E
Widespread, potential for minimal harm	2 - Many	F
Isolated, actual harm	3 - Few	G
Pattern, actual harm	3 - Some	H
Widespread, actual harm	3 - Many	I
Isolated, immediate jeopardy	4 - Few	J
Pattern, immediate jeopardy	4 - Some	K
Widespread, immediate jeopardy	4 - Many	L

d. Exclusion Criteria

(1) The introduction of exclusionary and termination criteria adds a new level of oversight in ensuring that veterans receive quality care. These criteria enhance the ability of the CNH Review Team to make appropriate recommendations to the Contracting Officer on CNH disposition. However, the exclusionary criteria are not comprehensive measures and do not replace sound clinical judgment. The CNH Review Team may overrule the criteria in consultation with the CNH Oversight Committee. For example, although a CNH received three "G" deficiencies, the staff is working toward corrective action and the CNH Review Team (including input from the veteran and family) feels that veterans are receiving excellent care. Another example would be a CNH that was in substantial compliance in their last survey, but the CNH Review Team (including input from the veteran and family) has recent evidence of poor staffing, declining patient care outcomes, and suspected patient neglect. CNHs are to be excluded from program participation when four of the seven factors in this subparagraph are present:

(a) Three level "G" or worse deficiencies in the current survey.

(b) The total number of health requirement deficiencies are twice the State average in the current survey.

NIH 000207

(c) A level "E" or higher deficiency in the current survey, in one of the following areas: Restraints (Federal Tag, F221 or F222); Abuse – F223; Staff Treatment of Patients (includes background check) – F225 or F226; Dignity – F241; or, Licensure – F491.

(d) RN Hours per resident day are below the state average.

(e) Total Nursing Staff hours per resident day are below the state average.

(f) A level "E" or higher deficiency in the current survey in one of the following areas: Nursing Services – F353; Nursing Aide Training – F494 or F495 or F496; Regular In-Service Training – F497; Proficiency of Nursing Aides – F498; or Staff Qualifications – F499.

(g) Six or more of the CMS Quality Measures listed in Nursing Home Compare fall above the state average.

12. ACTIONS AGAINST CNHs

a. Local VAHCF's must take action when conditions at a nursing home adversely affect the quality of care for veterans.

(1) Such conditions are evidenced by any of the following:

(a) De-certification for Medicare and Medicaid Programs;

(b) Loss of State license;

(c) SSA findings of CNH not in substantial compliance with standards;

(d) Findings from monthly monitoring or defienciency specific CNH review team suggestive of significant non-compliance standards.

(2) In those cases of serious deficiencies affecting the health or safety of veterans, or in cases of continued uncorrected deficiencies, VHA will take one or more of the following actions in accordance with the terms and conditions of the contract and applicable procurement regulations:

(a) Increase VA staffing monitoring until the state survey agency clears the deficiency.

(b) Suspend placement of veterans to the nursing home.

(c) Remove or transfer veterans under contract from the nursing home.

(d) Not renew the contract.

b. Local VAHCF staff will, on their own initiative, provide information about facilities that are found to have significant deficiencies that may threaten the health or safety of residents to Ombudsman/State Survey Agencies (SSAs). When suspensions of contracts or removal of Veterans is required, this information must also be communicated through the VAHCF Director and Network Director to GEC SHG and to the CNH website Certification Report. The GEC SHG will notify CMS.

13. QUALITY ASSURANCE IN THE CNH PROGRAM

a. The VAHCF must integrate the CNH Program into its Quality Improvement Program. The CNH Oversight Committee is responsible for assuring program integration as indicated in VHA Directive 1143, paragraph 3.

b. CNH quality data must include deficiency measures from NH Compare, indicators from the MDS QI Profile (used in annual reviews and monthly monitoring) and sentinel events.

c. Patients re-admitted to a VAHCF from a CNH must be evaluated for incidents in accordance with VHA Handbook 1050.1.

d. Results of quality assessment and improvement activities must be used by local VHA staff in suggesting program and clinical improvements and in making decisions about renewing contracts.

14. COLLABORATION WITH VETERANS BENEFITS AND OMBUDSMAN OFFICES

Each CNH Review Team and Oversight Committee will establish a working relationship with the appropriate Veterans Benefits Office and the local Ombudsman office to discuss subjects of mutual interest and concern. At a minimum, a yearly meeting will be held with each office. Confirmation of these meetings will be indicated on the Certification Report.

15. DUE PROCESS

a. If, in the planning process for a community placement, it is discovered that the patient or family, or patient representative objects to outplacement, they should be made aware that they may present medical information relating to the patient's condition which would prevail against the discharge plan.

b. If the patient, family, or patient representative wishes to present new medical information, they will be given up to 1 week from receipt of notice of the discharge plan, to indicate their intent to present such information. The subsequent length of time allowed for the family to present the evidence should be reasonable, based on the nature and source of information to be provided, up a maximum of 7 calendar days.

c. The medical information presented by the family should be reviewed by the attending physician who will decide whether or not to continue discharge planning to another setting. A decision to proceed with planning will be reviewed by the Chief of Staff. This review function may be delegated to another physician or to a medical review panel, if desired.

d. The family should be notified in writing of the decision. Beyond this point, the normal steps for either discharge planning or for continued CNH care should be followed, depending on the decision.

e. Should continued VA nursing home care be planned, the case may be reviewed at any time there is new medical evidence that the veteran has reached maximum benefit of CNH care.

Subject: Integrity

Good Morning, Dr. Fauci -
I understand the difficult position you are in.
You wear a public health hat, and because you are a member of the White House coronavirus task force, you also (inevitably, if unwillingly) wear a political hat.
I heard you being interviewed this morning, by the BBC, on National Public Radio.
When you were asked about President Trump's refusal to follow sanitary protocols, you spoke of "special circumstances", daily testing, and your desire not to walk on the political side of such issues.
With all due respect, Dr. Fauci, I am of the opinion that by failing to speak clearly (if diplomatically) about the contradictions inherent in the president's behavior, you will ultimately compromise not only your public reputation, but your effectiveness as a spokesman for the NIH. I know that no matter how you speak, there will be consequences, but I wonder why you have chosen the "safe" route, and not held more closely to your role as an infectious disease specialist, when asked those challenging questions. By ducking the issue of the president's conduct, you are, willingly or not, engaging in a political act. You must, in my opinion, make a choice. A mixed message compromises everything you say, from that point onward.
It is not necessary for you to criticize the president, but it is important for you to express a medical opinion about the value of correct sanitary protocols for all of us, the president included.
America badly needs to hear people of integrity, addressing the issues central to our lives. The SARS-CoV-2 virus, is certainly one of those issues.
If the president should choose to fire you (assuming he could) for expressing a clear medical opinion, at least your integrity would remain intact, and the public would stand behind you.
In my view, it is a president's obligation to set a good example for all of us, and it is the obligation of his or her advisers to speak truth to power.

Best Regards,

Lawsuit Aims to Force Trump Administration to Halt U.S. Pangolin Trade

World's Most Illegally Trafficked Mammal in Grave Danger of Extinction

WASHINGTON— Wildlife conservation groups sued the Trump administration today to force officials to propose Endangered Species Act protections for critically imperiled pangolins.

Today's lawsuit against the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service notes that pangolins, which inhabit Asia and Africa, are in grave danger of extinction. A massive demand for their scales, erroneously believed to have curative properties in East Asian medicine, and their meat, consumed as a delicacy in some Asian countries, has fueled their decline.

"These odd, adorable animals may look like pinecones with legs, but the massive trafficking in pangolin parts is no joke," said Sarah Uhlemann, international program director at the Center for Biological Diversity. "If poachers keep killing thousands of pangolins a week, they'll disappear in decades. The Trump administration needs to help protect these unique creatures from exploitation and extinction."

The world's only mammal with scales, pangolins are also the world's most trafficked mammals. Between 2004 and 2014, more than a million were illegally traded — an average of nearly 300 animals killed per day. Despite a 2016 ban on the international commercial trade in pangolin parts, several massive seizures in Singapore, Malaysia and China in 2019, representing tens of thousands of dead pangolins, show rampant illegal trade continues.

"The United States' delay in listing these species belies its role as a leader in combating poaching worldwide," said Adam Peyman, programs and operations manager for Humane Society International and co-author of the 2015 listing petition. "The U.S. market for pangolin products feeds poaching and trafficking in the countries where the animals are found. By giving all pangolin species the Endangered Species Act protection they desperately need, the Fish and Wildlife Service will have the tools it needs to stop U.S. trade in pangolin parts."

While most illegally sourced pangolins are destined for markets in China and Vietnam, the United States also drives demand. At least 26,000 imports of pangolin products were seized in the United States between 2004 and 2013, and a 2015 report by Humane Society International found "medicinal" products containing or likely to contain pangolin parts openly for sale online and at U.S. stores.

"Pangolins cruelly suffer and die for their meat and the so-called medicinal properties of their scales. It is past time for the Fish and Wildlife Service to take action to prevent the illegal trade and eventual extinction of this species," said Angela Grimes, CEO of Born Free USA.

One pangolin species, the Temminck's ground pangolin, is already protected under the U.S. Endangered Species Act. In July 2015 wildlife groups petitioned the Fish and Wildlife Service to list the other seven pangolin species. The law required the Service to either propose protections or find protections "not warranted" by July 2016, more than three and a half years ago.

"The Trump administration should get with the program and do its part to save pangolins." said Elly Pepper, deputy director of international wildlife conservation at the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC). "With scientists predicting the extinction of over one million species, the time for transformative change is now. We must rein in destructive consumption patterns like those decimating pangolins."

Today's suit was filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. If pangolins are protected as endangered, the law would prohibit the import and interstate sale of pangolin parts in the United States, except for scientific or other conservation purposes. Listing would also heighten global awareness about pangolins and their threats and make funding available for anti-trafficking and habitat conservation efforts.

Vice President Mike Pence on Wednesday named a new press secretary, Devin O'Malley, and promoted his current press secretary, Katie Miller, to communications director.

O'Malley had been detailed to the White House from the Treasury Department to work on communications for the White House coronavirus task force, which Pence has led since February.

Miller, who recently returned to work after recovering from the novel coronavirus, was brought on as Pence's press secretary last September. Miller, who is married to Trump senior adviser Stephen Miller, previously worked in communications posts for Sen. Martha McSally (R-Ariz.) and the Department of Homeland Security under the Trump administration.

The changes were announced among a series of other additions to the vice president's office staff. Pence also announced a new deputy press secretary, digital director, research director, regional media director and press assistant.

President Trump's communications team has also undergone a transformation in recent weeks.

In April, the president tapped campaign spokeswoman Kayleigh McEnany to replace Stephanie Grisham as White House press secretary and added Alyssa Farah and Ben Williamson to the communications office as part of a shuffle following the arrival of former North Carolina Republican Rep. Mark Meadows as chief of staff.

New guidelines from CDC on virus antibody tests: They are very unreliable.

The media is now hyping the need for tests and how Trump is negligent, blah blah. Testing, even it worked, is not required. The death rate is low for almost all people in the workforce and the high-risk people should be self-quarantined.

The nation needs to have the millions of school kids and college kids create herd immunity and let the virus weaken as it replicates. This is how all viruses go away. This Wuhan virus is not like radioactive contamination that will never go away.

Interim Guidelines for COVID-19 Antibody Testing in Clinical and Public Health Settings

Data that will inform serologic testing guidance is rapidly evolving. Recommendations on the use of serologic tests to determine protective immunity and infectiousness among persons recently infected with SAR-CoV-2 will be updated as new information becomes available.

Summary

Serologic methods have been developed and will have important public health and clinical uses to monitor and respond to the COVID-19 pandemic.

- Serologic assays for SARS-CoV-2 now have Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), which has independently reviewed their performance.
- Currently, there is no identified advantage of assays whether they test for IgG, IgM and IgG, or total antibody.

- It is important to minimize false positive test results by choosing an assay with high specificity and by testing populations and individuals with an elevated likelihood of previous exposure to SARS-CoV-2. Alternatively, an orthogonal testing algorithm (i.e., employing two independent tests in sequence when the first test yields a positive result) can be used when the expected positive predictive value of a single test is low.
- Antibodies most commonly become detectable 1-3 weeks after symptom onset, at which time evidence suggests that infectiousness likely is greatly decreased and that some degree of immunity from future infection has developed. However, additional data are needed before modifying public health recommendations based on serologic test results, including decisions on discontinuing physical distancing and using personal protective equipment.

Background

Serologic assays for SARS-CoV-2, now broadly available, can play an important role in understanding the virus's epidemiology in the general population and identifying groups at higher risk for infection. Unlike viral direct detection methods such as nucleic acid amplification or antigen detection tests that can detect acutely infected persons, antibody tests help determine whether the individual being tested was ever infected—even if that person never showed symptoms. Serologic tests detect waning or past SARS-CoV-2 virus infection indirectly, by measuring the host humoral immune response to the virus. Therefore, serology assays do not typically replace direct detection methods as the primary tool for diagnosing an active SARS-CoV-2 infection, but they do have several important applications in monitoring and responding to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Although serologic tests should not be used at this time to determine if an individual is immune, these tests can help determine the proportion of a population previously infected with SARS-CoV-2 and provide information about populations that may be immune and potentially protected. Thus, demographic and geographic patterns of serologic test results can help determine which communities may have experienced a higher infection rate and therefore may have higher rates of herd immunity. In some instances, serologic test results may assist with identifying persons potentially infected with SARS-CoV-2 and determining who may qualify to donate blood that can be used to manufacture convalescent plasma as a possible treatment for those who are seriously ill from COVID-19.

Development of Antibodies and Immunity

Nearly all immune competent individuals will develop an immune response following SARS-CoV-2 infection. Like infections with other pathogens, SARS-CoV-2 infection elicits development of IgM and IgG antibodies, which are the most useful for assessing antibody response because little is known about IgA response in the blood.

Antibodies in some persons can be detected within the first week of illness onset. SARS-CoV-2 infections are somewhat unusual because IgM and IgG antibodies arise nearly simultaneously in serum within 2 to 3 weeks after illness onset. Thus, detection of IgM without IgG is uncommon. How long IgM and IgG antibodies remain detectable following infection is not known.

In addition, development of neutralizing antibodies can also be assessed. Neutralizing antibodies inhibit viral replication in vitro, and as with many infectious diseases, their presence correlates with immunity to future infection, at least temporarily.

Recurrence of COVID-19 illness appears to be very uncommon, suggesting that the presence of antibodies could confer at least short-term immunity to infection with SARS-CoV-2. Consistent with this observation, experimental primary infection in primates and subsequent development of antibodies resulted in protection from reinfection after the primates were rechallenged. Additionally, antibody development in humans correlates with a marked decrease in viral load in the respiratory tract. Taken together, these observations suggest that the presence of antibodies may decrease a person's infectiousness and offer some level of protection from reinfection. However, definitive data are lacking, and it remains uncertain whether individuals with antibodies (neutralizing or total) are protected against reinfection with SARS-CoV-2, and if so, what concentration of antibodies is needed to confer protection.

Current Status of Antibody Testing in the United States

Antigenic targets

The two major antigenic targets of SARS-CoV-2 virus against which antibodies are detected are spike glycoprotein (S) and nucleocapsid phosphoprotein (N). While S protein is essential for virus entry and is present on the viral surface, N protein is the most abundantly expressed immunodominant protein that interacts with RNA. Multiple forms of S protein — full-length (S1+S2) or partial (S1 domain or receptor binding domain [RBD]) — are used as antigens. The protein target determines cross-reactivity and specificity because N is more conserved across coronaviruses than S, and within S, RBD is more conserved than S1 or full-length S.

Types of Antibody Testing

Different types of assays can be used to determine different aspects of immune response and functionality of antibodies. The tests can be broadly classified to detect either binding or neutralizing antibodies.

- Binding antibody detection: These tests use purified proteins of SARS-CoV-2, not live virus, and can be performed in lower biosafety level laboratories (e.g., BSL-2). With specific reagents, individual antibody types, like IgG, IgM, and IgA, can be determined. In general, IgM is one of the first types of antibodies produced after infection and is most useful for determining recent infection, while IgG generally develops after IgM and may remain detectable for months or years. IgA is important for mucosal immunity and can be detected in mucous secretions like saliva in addition to blood, though its significance in this disease is still to be determined. Depending on the complexity of assays, these tests can be performed rapidly (less than 30 minutes) in a field setting or in a few hours in a laboratory.

  Tests that detect binding antibodies fall into two broad categories.

  - Point-of-care (POC) tests generally are lateral flow devices that detect IgG or IgG and IgM, or total antibody in serum, plasma, whole blood, and/or saliva. An advantage of some point-of-care tests using whole blood is that they can be performed on blood samples obtained by fingerstick rather than venipuncture.
  - Laboratory tests use ELISA (Enzyme-Linked Immunosorbent Assay) or CIA (chemiluminescent immunoassay) methods for antibody detection, which for some assays may require trained laboratorians and specialized instruments. Based on the reagents, IgG, IgM, and IgA can be detected separately or combined as total antibody.
- Neutralizing antibody detection: FDA has not yet authorized the use of neutralization tests for SARS-CoV-2. Neutralization tests determine the functional ability of antibodies to prevent infection of virus in vitro. The test involves incubating serum or plasma with live virus followed by infection and incubation of cells. Testing will require either BSL-3 or BSL-2 laboratories, depending on what form of the SARS-CoV-2 virus is used.

  Two types of neutralization tests are conducted.

  - Virus neutralization tests (VNT), such as the plaque-reduction neutralization test (PRNT) and microneutralization, use a SARS-CoV-2 virus from a clinical isolate or recombinant SARS-CoV-2 expressing reporter proteins. This testing requires BSL-3 laboratories and may take up to 5 days to complete.
  - Pseudovirus neutralization tests (pVNT) use recombinant pseudoviruses (like vesicular stomatitis virus, VSV) that incorporate the S protein of SARS-CoV-2. This testing can be performed in BSL-2 laboratories depending on the VSV strain used.

FDA-authorized serologic tests

FDA now requires commercially marketed serologic tests to receive Emergency Use Authorization (EUA). Tests that are not commercially marketed do not require FDA authorization but developers may voluntarily request authorization. Multiple agencies — including FDA, the National Cancer Institute/National Institutes of Health (NCI/NIH), CDC, and the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA) — are collaborating with members of academia and the medical community to evaluate several serology tests using a well-characterized set of clinical samples (serum or plasma) collected before and during the current COVID-19 outbreak. A list of all tests authorized for emergency use under EUA is maintained on an FDA website. All currently authorized tests are qualitative (providing a result that is positive, negative, or indeterminate) rather than quantitative (providing a quantitative assessment of antibody levels).

Both laboratory and rapid serologic assays have received EUA. Serologic testing technologies include single-use, low-throughput lateral flow tests where the presence of antibody is demonstrated by a color change on a paper strip and laboratory-based immunoassays that allow for processing of many samples at the same time.

The EUA letter of authorization includes the settings in which the test is authorized, based on FDA's determination of appropriate settings for use during the public health emergency.

Optimizing Testing Outcomes

Test performance

The utility of tests depends on the sensitivity and specificity of the assays; these performance characteristics are determined by using a defined set of negative and positive samples. In addition, the predictive values of a test should be considered because these values affect the overall outcome of testing. Positive predictive value is the probability that individuals with positive test results are truly antibody positive. Negative predictive value is the probability that individuals with negative test results are truly antibody negative. Positive and negative predictive values are determined by the percentage of truly antibody positive individuals in the tested population (prevalence, pre-test probability) and the sensitivity and specificity of the test. For example:

- In a high-prevalence setting, the positive predictive value increases — meaning it is more likely that persons who test positive are truly antibody positive – than if the test is performed in a population with low-prevalence. When a test is used in a population where prevalence is low, the positive predictive value drops because there are more false-positive results, since the pre-test probability is low.
- Likewise, negative predictive value is also affected by prevalence. In a high-prevalence setting, the negative predictive value declines whereas in a low-prevalence setting, it increases.

In most of the country, including areas that have been heavily impacted, the prevalence of SARS-CoV-2 antibody is expected to be low, ranging from <5% to 25%, so that testing at this point might result in relatively more false positive results and fewer false-negative results.

In some settings, such as COVID-19 outbreaks in food processing plants and congregate living facilities, the prevalence of infection in the population may be significantly higher. In such settings, serologic testing at appropriate intervals following outbreaks might result in relatively fewer false positive results and more false-negative results.

Testing strategies

In the current pandemic, maximizing specificity and thus positive predictive value in a serologic algorithm is preferred in most instances, since the overall prevalence of antibodies in most populations is likely low. For example, in a population where the prevalence is 5%, a test with 90% sensitivity and 95% specificity will yield a positive predictive value of 49%. In other words, less than half of those testing positive will truly have antibodies. Alternatively, the same test in a population with an antibody prevalence exceeding 52% will yield a positive predictive greater than 95%, meaning that less than one in 20 people testing positive will have a false positive test result.

Three strategies can be used to improve positive predictive value:

- Choosing a test with a very high specificity, perhaps 99.5% or greater, will yield a high positive predictive value in populations tested with prevalence ≥5%.
- Another strategy is to focus testing on persons with a high pre-test probability of having SARS-CoV-2 antibodies, such as persons with a history of COVID-19-like illness.
- A third approach is to employ an orthogonal testing algorithm in which persons who initially test positive are tested with a second test. Effective orthogonal algorithms are generally based on testing a patient sample with two tests, each with unique design characteristics (e.g., antigens or formats).

Algorithms can be designed to maximize overall specificity while retaining maximum sensitivity. For example, in the example above with a population prevalence of 5%, a positive predictive value of 95% can be achieved if samples initially positive are tested with a second different orthogonal assay that also has 90% sensitivity and 95% specificity. The performance of orthogonal testing algorithms has not been systematically evaluated but can be estimated using an on-line calculator from the FDA. See Table 1 for the potential improvement benefits of the orthogonal testing algorithm.

Limitations of Serologic Tests

At present, the immunologic correlates of immunity from SARS-CoV-2 infection are not well defined. Representatives from BARDA, CDC, FDA, NIH, the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health (OASH), Department of Defense (DoD), and White House Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP) are working with members of academia and the medical community to determine whether positive serologic tests are indicative of protective immunity against SARS-CoV-2. This work includes assessing the level of antibodies required for protection from reinfection, the duration of that protection, and the factors associated with development of a protective antibody response. The kinetics of antibody response, longevity of antibodies, the ability of antibodies to protect from repeat infection, the protective titer of neutralizing antibody, and the correlation of binding antibody titers to neutralization ability are yet to be determined. Although animal challenge studies demonstrate protection in the short run, demonstration of long-term protection in humans will require future study. Hence, pending additional data, the presence of antibodies cannot be equated with an individual's immunity from SARS-CoV-2 infection.

Some tests may exhibit cross-reactivity with other coronaviruses, such as those that cause the common cold. This could result in false-positive test results. Some persons may not develop detectable antibodies after coronavirus infection. In others, it is possible that antibody levels could wane over time to undetectable levels. IgM and IgG antibodies are not present early in infection. Thus, serologic test results do not indicate with certainty the presence or absence of current or previous infection with SARS-CoV-2.

Recommendations for Use of Serologic Tests

Information that might impact serologic recommendations is rapidly evolving, particularly evidence of whether positive serologic tests indicate protective immunity or decreased transmissibility among those recently ill. These recommendations will be updated as new information becomes available.

Choice of test and testing strategy

- Serologic assays that have Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) are preferred for public health or clinical use since their test performance data have been reviewed by FDA.
- Serologic test results should be interpreted in the context of the expected predictive values, positive and negative.
- Positive predictive value should be optimized, particularly if results are returned to individuals, in the following ways:
  - Assure a high positive predictive value (e.g., 95%) by choosing tests with sufficiently high specificity and testing persons or populations with a high pre-test probability of having antibodies (e.g., persons with a history of symptoms compatible with COVID-19 or who are exposed to areas or institutions experiencing outbreaks), OR

    - If a high positive predictive value cannot be assured with a single test, use an orthogonal testing algorithm. See Table 1 for examples of using one or two tests in populations with various prevalences of SARS-CoV-2 antibodies.
- Currently, there is no substantive performance advantage of assays whether they test for IgG, IgM and IgG, or total antibody. Thus, immunoglobulin class should not determine the assay chosen in most circumstances. The detection of IgM antibodies may indicate a more recent infection, but the dynamics of the IgM antibody response are not well defined at present. Over time, it may be important to characterize and evaluate the performance of assays in samples that are IgM negative and IgG positive to ensure that assays remain fit for purpose in population studies as the pandemic progresses and more individuals are expected to have lower IgM levels.
- Serologic testing should not be used to determine immune status in individuals until the presence, durability, and duration of immunity is established.
- Serologic testing can be offered as a method to support diagnosis of acute COVID-19 illness for persons who present late.* For persons who present 9-14 days after illness onset, serologic testing can be offered in addition to recommended direct detection methods such as polymerase chain reaction. This will maximize sensitivity as the sensitivity of nucleic acid detection is decreasing and serologic testing is increasing during this time period.
- Serologic testing should be offered as a method to help establish a diagnosis when patients present with late complications of COVID-19 illness, such as multisystem inflammatory syndrome in children.

Recommendations for persons who test positive for anti-SARS-CoV-2 antibodies

- Although the presence of anti-SARS-CoV-2 antibodies when detected using a testing algorithm with high positive predictive value for the context of use likely indicates at least some degree of immunity, until the durability and duration of immunity is established, it cannot be assumed that individuals with truly positive antibody test results are protected from future infection.
- Asymptomatic persons who test positive by serologic testing and who are without recent history of a COVID-19 compatible illness have a low likelihood of active infection and should follow general recommendations to prevent infection with SARS-CoV-2 and otherwise continue with normal activities, including work.
- Persons who have had a COVID-19-compatible or confirmed illness should follow previous guidance regarding resumption of normal activities, including work.
- There should be no change in clinical practice or use of personal protective equipment (PPE) by health care workers and first responders who test positive for SARS-CoV-2 antibody.

Additional considerations on the use of serologic tests

- Serologic test results should not be used to make decisions about grouping persons residing in or being admitted to congregate settings, such as schools, dormitories, or correctional facilities.
- Serologic test results should not be used to make decisions about returning persons to the workplace.
- Until more information is available about the dynamics of IgA detection in serum, testing for IgA antibodies is not recommended.

* Detection of specific antibody in serum, plasma, or whole blood that indicates new or recent infection provides presumptive laboratory evidence of COVID-19 illness according to the Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists (CSTE) interim case definition for COVID-19 .

This message is meant for Dr. Fauci, but the rest of you are welcome to review it, as long as he gets it first. Please see that he gets this communication; I have never had so much trouble reaching someone. But I hope it is worth it! Godspeed all of you.

Dr. Fauci:
As I say in the document below, I am humbled by the work you and your colleagues have done. I have a suggestion that may not have been considered; it has a very niche useage. If this helps, I would be beyond thrilled. I know 2 good contacts in that industry who helped me a lot, and I had little money to spend, so I respect them for that.

Stay well and stay the course. You are an American hero!

RE: Treatment Alternative to Intubation, Isolation and Other Uses?

Dear Dr. Fauci:

Like most of the world, I have watched in horror and humility as the covid-19 virus took the lives of so many, while people in your field (and others) tried to hold the line, flatten the curve & save lives. Since the struggle is far from over, I will get right to the point.[1]

Although it is difficult to believe that I would think of something you have not, I wonder if you have considered, among other things, providing oxygen, fighting inflammation and maybe even treating purple toes utilizing Hypobaric Oxygen. Especially if ventilators are in short supply again? Not to insult your intelligence (or inflate mine), but the use of Hypobaric Oxygen Treatments (HBOTs)[2] has potential, I think. In no particular order:

1. Patient(s) could receive whatever percentage of pure oxygen is needed. Perhaps HBOTs could be used in transition situations—pre and post intubation?
2. Some chambers are designed to accommodate and treat multiple patients simultaneously.
3. HBOTs have been approved by the FDA (for specific conditions) & even Medicare covers those treatments identified.
4. Perhaps families could see their loved ones, and vice versa, through clear "windows" (portal-like but securely sealed) in the models I have used. Presumably there would be no risk of virus transmission for the patient or his/her visitors while undergoing (HBOT) therapy Phone calls and internet communications worked during my treatments, so maybe families can be there to say goodbye vocally and visibly?
5. Patients may be able to avoid intubation, which I have heard is frightening to some, as well as isolating.
6. HBOT chambers are already available in the marketplace. Several companies sell them, so there is already a competitive market and established production, which could perhaps preclude or ease repurposing?
7. HBOT chambers are already owned by physical therapists and (currently) idle sports teams, which could be procured or "borrowed," if needed. Perhaps the Navy has some?
8. HBOTs are easy to operate. Training should be minimal; the learning curve is not steep.
9. Some HBOT models are extremely portable -- set up and break down are easy.
10. I have read that HBOTs are used often to reduce inflammation and that they help prevent injuries, as well as help sustained injuries heal faster. HBOT salespeople represent that Michael Jordan slept in one every night during basketball season(s).

There is no reason to go into details about my ailments (unless you need to know); this is not about me. They introduced me to the use of HBOTs, however.

In summary, after seeing MDs to no avail for over two years and suffering well before and beyond that, I consulted an immunologist. He conducted highly sophisticated tests—down to DNA strands (and sub-strands?). He confirmed what I had "self-diagnosed" after searching the internet. Even after the diagnosis, MDs had no tools to help me; there was no pill to prescribe, so I turned back to the immunologist.

As it turns out, I have/had an auto-immune disease and a "leaky gut," an impaired blood-brain barrier, neuroinflammation and "brain fog;" painful inflammation all over my body; poor oxygenation; lack of energy and anemia; cramping and twitching in my lower extremities during "sleep;" and purple toes and feet. I went from shuffling around (literally could not pick up my feet) back to playing tennis, biking, yoga, etc. I have no idea how to allocate or assign improvements vis-a-vie the diet and the HBOT. I think it was a combination of things: diet, supplements and HBOT.

Those are my thoughts. The use of HBOTs may be a stupid idea for reasons not obvious at the moment (but no dumber and much less dangerous than injecting disinfectants). I could not stand the thought of withholding an idea that might help—whatever the odds.

I have not seen you appear on tv for a while. I hope that you are safe and healthy. What an abomination it has been to watch Trump & Pence traveling around [campaigning] and risking the infection of others because they are/were too vain, reckless and inconsiderate to wear masks and social distance.

I can't think of any sensible reason that anyone would want to prevent this letter from reaching you, but this Administration no longer does much of anything that seems reasonable or sensible to me –only self-serving. Anyway, I am going to send this to all of the e-mail addresses for you that I found online. I want to send a copy to your friend, Chris Cuomo, as well, as a means of getting it to you. I am just covering my bases in case there is some basis for my idea(s). The most important thing is to start to save and heal people with Covid-19.

Stay well and I hope you did not get sick from the West Wing's refusal to wear masks, social distance, etc.

With regards and much respect,

Dr. Fauci,

As a former scientist funded by the NIH, I'm very proud that you are front and center and seem to be staying true to your principles in an otherwise partisan soup. In contrast, it was disappointing to see Dr. Birx not stand behind the logic of ALL wearing a mask when out in public. She seemed to be touting the policy as 6 feet distance OR a mask, which we all know is just spineless BS. As a normally Republican voter, you have the support of those like myself that would like to see science trump Trump. There's no credibility in the top dog asking others to do what he himself refuses to do. Thank you for not caving in.

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I am sending you this email out of deep concern for the standing of your long and distinguished career addressing critical health issues affecting the nation.

It seems that you are in an impossible situation dealing with Trump and his people. At every turn your advice has been undermined by a president who places no value in science.

It seems to me that the honorable thing for you to do, given your sterling and much-deserved reputation over decades, is to disassociate yourself from Trump.

I would think it's a torment for you to be in the presence and under the thumb of Trump who is doing nothing but harm to this country and its people. As I see it, there's no real end to this nightmare without clear science-based leadership which will not be forthcoming from Trump.

Can you see your way clear to freeing yourself from the yoke of this president?

Thank you for your distinguished service. I hope you will be able to continue to inform the American public in whatever way you can because we need your unfettered guidance.

Sincerely,

I would like Dr. Fauci to know that I, as well as many other people, do not want to take a vaccine that has been rushed through loosened FDA regulations by Trump so that he can get reelected. Totally unacceptable. I would not inject into myself or my children something that has not been rigorously tested and held to stringent approval standards. Trump will do anything to get reelected, he has already lied and lied and tried to make people think the virus wasn't serious. No one will trust him when a it comes to a vaccine that he raced through.

Subject: Dr. Levitt's COVID Update for 23 May 2020/ Wear a Mask

Dear All,
Below are short takes on the Gov. Cuomo briefing today and the articles I have read online or in journals today:
Gov. Cuomo's briefing today is covered in detail at: https://coronavirus.health.ny.gov/home
The governor will make available to NY small businesses (< 20 employees and < $3 Million in gross revenues, and no federal aid) loans from NY. There is $100 Million in the NY program. Small business accounts for 90% of NY businesses according to Cuomo.
WSJ today has an article by Jared Diamond about epidemics in history that addresses our current CoV pandemic. See:
https://www.wsj.com/articles/the-germs-that-transformed-history-11590159271
The author makes the point that germs have transformed history over the last 10,000 years, not the wars that we think changed history. The germs that invading armies brought with them wiped out the native populations not their weapons. Each continent's population acquires some immunity to germs that are endemic to that continent.
Be safe this Holiday Weekend: Wear A Mask. I wish Presidents Trump and Xi would follow their CDC and CCDC guidelines.

Subject: Your Expertise is Desperately Needed

Dr. Fauci-
May I first say, Thank You. I'm at a complete loss, and need your expertise regarding an up coming matter. Perhaps it's silly of me to be reaching out to you at this time, as you are most likely inundated with Covid-19 matters. Frankly, I'm honestly at a complete loss, fearing the worst if I don't attempt to address the matter with hard facts.
(b) (6)

Here's my dilemma.
(b) (6)
Needless to say we are terrified! We've been practicing strict social distancing and all the other recommendations. You're right when you emphasize social distancing as the virus only needs another human to survive.
I tried to reach out to them in a nice text to let them know that we are concerned for all parties. Their response was that it is in Gods hands and that everything is normal where they live, (b) (6) I told them that my other grandchildren live less than 2 hours away, and I'm unable to be with them or hug them. It has fallen on deaf ears.
You see I have been hospitalized 3 times in my adult life resulting from a virus. They aren't kind to me and what seems like a normal bug becomes my nightmare.
Example- In 2004, I was 2 weeks in ICU battling meningitis. It started viral and turned bacterial. It left me permanently disabled along with a diagnosis, a rare form of arthritis (hereditary chodrocalcinosis). My primary care doctor has been reaching out to me as he is concerned for my well-being. I suffer from (b) (6) flare ups regularly.
Seems non of this matters to (b) (6) has high risk health issues.
Diabetic and heart disease. Their way of looking at this, and ours, is polar opposite. They claim since reopening was allowed by Mr. Trump, "all is well", and that we have been getting inaccurate information here in California.
I'm deeply concerned that their blind belief, that God will take care of everything is sadly misplaced. To travel thru multiple states, visiting additional family and friends in Texas, then arrive here to expose us all to their travel is beyond selfish. Plus they don't know what we may have. All to see their 2 year old grandson and (b) (6)
Remember, both grandchildren are in different households and don't have physical interaction.
(b) (6) has had pneumonia and croup in the past needing her inhaler. Also, (b) (6) , has asthma, plus has suffered from a spontaneous collapsed lung from a simple cough. My husband (b) (6) is on blood pressure meds along with cholesterol drugs.
Dr. Fauci, I'm reaching out to you because perhaps you have some words of wisdom, or hard facts that I can share with them to emphasize the seriousness of the situation. (b) (6) claim we are trying to keep their grandchild away from them. False...they are good about bi-weekly FaceTime visits. Over the last few years they've taken many vacations, but not one to our area to see (b) (6) , why now during a global pandemic?
I actually thought of additionally reaching out to Chris Cuomo for a different perspective as he and his family have lived through Covid. Any advice from any or all would be welcomed.
You Sir are respected ,and we as a family are profoundly grateful for all that you've done. We're sorry that you've had to endure threats and such. The hate that has come from this, along with the ridiculous conspiracy theories is insane. Please know that our appreciation is genuine and we take the corona virus seriously.
Take care, and may facts, plus science guide us through, along with Gods love.
Thank You, I hope this didn't sound silly.

Dear Dr. Fauci: We have met off-and-on over the decades, and I am one of the (literally) billions of people closely following your views and advice during the pandemic. I also did an Atlantic item last month, about your role in the public presentations: https://www.theatlantic.com/ideas/archive/2020/04/fauci-trump/609916/

I am writing now with a specific request, for a brief phone / Zoom / etc question in the next week if possible. I would be happy to do this "on background" or whatever other terms were acceptable on your end.

The specific aspect I am looking into is what specific leverage the US might have had with China, either at the governmental or the scientific-peer level, during the very early stages of the outbreak, in December and early January. I lived in China for many years and have reported on changes in the US-China relationship. (For instance: https://www.theatlantic.com/magazine/archive/2016/12/chinas-great-leap-backward/505817/) And I am trying to learn more about what kinds of interactions, cooperation, transparency, etc might in principle have been possible, given the state of larger US-China relations at that point. This will eventually be for an article in the print issue of the Atlantic magazine.

I am in DC (b) (6) If you were willing to talk even for a few minutes, I could phone, do a video call, or whatever else was feasible.

My thanks for considering this, and in any case my sincere admiration and thanks for the work you are doing now.

Dr. Fauci you state:

- "The success of how we respond as a nation to this outbreak is in the hands of the locals -- the mayors, the city leaders, the community leaders."

Hello Dr. Fauci, Mike Bloomberg, Dr De Jong, Professor Henderson and Dr. Sharfstein.

I need one person to realise the genius behind the composer of this email message, the only way to know, is to read all.

Please enjoy reading a solution to the 1 in 4 who suffer and will continue to suffer with or without Covid-19 and other illnesses which are anomalies to medical science in how they are 'triggered', that is, until now with New Research never considered by science to prevent the same happening again. A new way has to be realised to move forward and make progress held-back by an outdated protocol policy.

Dr. Fauci you are correct in your statement, however, a New Law has to be enforced onto Medical Science to give the general public at large complete transparent clarification to believe and understand the confusion we have witnessed in the last 3 months with Covid-19 which has highlighted how 'flawed' medical science is in this modern world of technology having 'ALL' the answers, but we do not where you must ask, WHY?

Simple answers are the most difficult to find from the very beginning but simple answers are more difficult to explain especially when the answer lies within another science of our evolution, never considered by mainstream science, by using 'AI' to identify the cause of why people with a 'low immune system' are affected by Covid-19 and other illnesses.

A message is below to Dr. Tedros at 'WHO' that relates to Covid-19 and the UK Prime Minister via MP's or Government Officials and/or Medical Sciences around the world, until I get some sort of reply or recognition for my work/research at the highest level possible where the very same research applies to the 'trigger' for Cancer as it does for the 1 in 4 who suffer from Covid-19 especially as medical sciences worldwide have no immediate clear answers to this current, 'Pandemic'.

I will tell you more on a face to face meeting with the Prime Minister and/or selected Officials how 'Artificial Intelligence' can prevent Covid-19 and other illnesses rather use 'AI' to track and trace, in the UK, to then, do an expensive test, that will only mean testing more for no real reason and give no-real answers, except where people were and are in any location, where-as my 'AI' will prevent a 'low immune system' from the beginning 'preventing' any 'spike' or future 'pandemic or epidemic'.

There is a great deal too say and, I apologise, for the length of this message and calling medical science 'analytically paralysed' but until someone responds or listens we will not move forward and make progress in the next hundred years by using an outdated medical science Victorian era protocol/policy that still continues to the present day, hence, the stale-mate situation we are in when the answer is staring you in the face.

Nikola Tesla stated 100 years ago we do not, at our peril, use all sciences where if we did we would move forward at a very fast pace. My research was inspired by the loss of one of the greatest minds ever to walk this earth.

Are you intrigued to know more of a 40 year life-time work and passion to find answers others cannot find, however, my 'Intellectual Property" must be honoured and protected.

My research is all the more conclusive and finite due to the pandemic of Covid-19.

Below is a message/email/letter I sent recently, via employee contacts, to Dr. Tedros explaining the same message I am trying to get to the UK Prime Minister and Chief Scientific Officers advising Government.

Please enjoy reading a solution which is two-fold.

Kind regards.

For the attention of:

- Dr.Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus. The World Health Organisation. Geneva. Switzerland.

I hope this email message gets to you and you read all, otherwise we will be at stalemate or go backwards for hundreds of years. Please consider as you read: Medical science do not always have the answers but can create a multitude of anomalies by not using all sciences within any prognosis or diagnosis.

Hello Dr. Tedros or WHO.

It is time to stop any infighting/squabbling or blame worldwide to get any advantage over President Donald Trump or the Parliament UK in The House of Commons, The House of Lords or Medical Sciences Worldwide where you have no answers.

Common sense and logic must be used to solve the problem from the very beginning, but nobody has done that, until now, with New Research. My research is called New Research for a very good reason because no other human being, scientist, doctor or other has combined and linked 'natural phenomena' that we, humanity, evolved with and considered how our evolution created an immune system to combat illness which has been completely overlooked by an alleged modern medical science, hence, why it is 'NEW' and why a Patent was applied for and a New Law required to move forward and make progress.

It would appear no one in Medical Science or Politics want answers to Covid-19 so for this reason I am sending information of New Research from 'Privately Funded Individual Sector' to consider and give my research the time and consideration to a solution medical science will never find using all the money in the world.

Money is not the answer or solution, however, a change of attitude would do wonders. I believe you will remember a very famous quote:

- Attitude is a little thing that makes a big difference. (Winston Churchill).

Below is a letter/email/message I send daily, headed to The Prime Minister or different personnel who may make a difference, to raise awareness to a solution researched over many years to solve Covid-19 and many other illness anomalies.

My apologies for the length of this email message however, it is self-explanatory. Please enjoy reading a solution which at the moment is another anomaly to medical science who have NO solutions, unless a new attitude is considered to how humanity evolved with Planet Earth over millennia to resist illness using and harnessing our very own 'immune system'.

Kind Regards.

For the attention of:

- Prime Minister Boris Johnson.
- Chief Scientific Officers.

You state:

- "Whatever it takes."
- Well, now is the time to act on your statement with New Research using Artificial Intelligence (AI).

Reference:

- An answer and solution is here, already, to increase the immune system on the long-term and using a vaccine/antidote, available today, in the interim period before a 'manufactured' vaccine is available.
- Covid-19 impact on/or for other health services.
- Covid-19 solution using 'Artificial Intelligence': New Research: 'International Patent Pending' GB2003322.1 (Currently being assessed by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) Geneva, Switzerland).

I believe Governments and Science are using the code of:

- 'Covid Moonshot Project'

Hello Prime Minister and Chief Scientific Officers.

You are making it so difficult to contact your good-self direct or others in authority where you are guided by science to move forward and make progress with Covid-19 or other illness anomaly which gives the impression of 'Your way or no way' when new privately funded conclusive research is available never considered by medical science where Covid-19 has highlighted more-so, a 'flawed medical science' .

It would be easier using my research, to increase the immune system to stop the spread of Covid-19 using 'AI' rather than tracking people and then tracing them to give an unnecessary expensive test.

Mainstream medical science outdated protocol policy needs to change with a New Law to find the long-term answer you seek, otherwise we will just wait for the next 'spike' or 'pandemic'.

Answers are not being found in medical science for a reason and will continue to do so after Covid-19 along with other illnesses or traumatic circumstances that are anomalies to medical science, listed below:

- Covid-19, Cancer, Alzheimer's, Dementia, Parkinson's, Tumours, Mental Health Issues, Depression, Anxiety, Obesity, Metastasis, Autism, Miscarriage, Premature Birth, Cot-death, Still-born, and many other illnesses that stems from sleep deprivation. (Sleep deprivation is an anomaly to medical science, until now.)

All can be prevented by using New Research never considered by Medical Science, however.

A New Law is required to solve and combat Covid-19 along with other illness anomalies!

Please forgive me: My name is John Harding. Date of birth: 24th April 1950. Retired. My Pending Patent Discovery Research using Artificial Intelligence 'AI' was prior to Covid-19 but the same impact applies that Medical Science cannot use until a New Law is enforced.

Please consider why 1 in 4 people suffer with illness in the present day with or without Covid-19?

The answer for many illness anomalies lie within this very observation that Medical Sciences seek, yet cannot find.

I can understand why my messages do not get a response as I am not affiliated to any acceptable academia education organisation facility, although I have sent hundreds of emails and letters to WHO, Governments, Scientists. Doctors, Lords, Politicians and Royalty in the UK and abroad.

The first official body to listen was the Patent Office who recommended I go International with my work/research where I was advised by the Patent Office it is currently being assessed by WIPO, Geneva, Switzerland.

I do not wish to be rude in any way, but, Covid-19 has emphasised how Medical Science is flawed using an outdated attitude to an outdated Victorian era protocol and policy that needs to change with a New Law.

Medical science only look for answers within its own science, commonly known as 'a scientific-lens syndrome' going deeper into a Nano-microscopic world with still no answers, when the answer lies within another science that humanity evolved with, completely discarded, ignored and not considered by medical science for a reason, however, it is the key reason why 1 in 4 people will always suffer, with or without Covid-19, unless new research using 'AI' is included within diagnosis, medication or treatment then and only then will the average 1 in 4 drop substantially as the immune system (an anomaly to medical science) is increased to give 'equilibrium', naturally, to combat any virus, bacteria or infection.

Using Covid-19 as an example: Symptoms: Continuous cough, High temperature, Loss of smell/taste.

- Patient A: Underlying health condition and/or Age related is susceptible to virus resulting in death.
- Patient B: Weak symptoms, younger, pulls through with approved medication to treatment.
- Patient C: Anti-bodies in system with no symptoms or feeling any ill affects.
- Patient D: A low % Ethnic minority who are susceptibility to Covid-19.

Solutions are abbreviated as: S1 as the cause and S2 as a vaccine/antidote available today.

- Patient A: I can guarantee has a 'low immune system' that stems from 'sleep deprivation' where an 'Older Age Group' is affected more-so unless addressed at source, if not, will cause underlying health condition with any further infection of Covid-19 will bring forward the inevitability of death if the low immune system is not addressed. Solution: Using S1 is paramount to save this patient to harness the immune system and treat with S2 will have beneficial positive affects.
- Patient B: Also has a 'low immune system' due to 'sleep deprivation' however 'Age' is on their side for the immune system to react quicker to develop 'Anti-bodies' to kill the virus. Solution: Using S2 will kill the virus however the low immune system needs to be addressed using S1 to prevent future reoccurrence of infection. (Please refer to Metastasis as a perfect example, again, another anomaly to medical science.)

- Patient C: Has a high tolerance brought about by a perfect sleep, which is not age related, creating a high immune system 'anti-bodies' naturally, giving ongoing immunity 'equilibrium' throughout the whole body, to combat Covid-19 virus and other illnesses with no symptoms or showing any ill affects but can/could be a 'carrier'.

- Patient D: Ethnic minorities are evolving to and will continue to evolve by being in a new country, a new climate or new part of the world their genetics did not evolve, the same would be reversed for any homo-sapien specie, 'time' is the solution for genetics to evolve. Solution: S1 is essential to ensure constant evolution of genetics to adjust generation after generation naturally. S2 will have beneficial affects.

Conclusion:

- To harness the immune system using 'New Research S1' to highlight the cause of sleep deprivation by using 'Artificial Intelligence (AI)' never considered by medical science the 1 in 4 scenario is reduced drastically, therefore reducing illness, suffering and unnecessary death.

- If any 'unlikely' slight symptoms are incurred then 'New Research S2' a vaccine/antidote can be self-administered as a freely available un-harmful remedy dosage.

Summary:

- All future case studies conducted by NIHR or OUH (message originally sent to them) using New Research S1/S2 using Artificial Intelligence (AI) will prove: Patient A % will increase with a lower death-rate, Patient B will increase 100%, Patient C will continue to be resistant-free to any illness or infection and Patient D will evolve by generation.

Recommendations:

- My research is used immediately which is decades ahead of science who will never find the 'same' using all the money in the world.

- I would also recommend all door handles and working surfaces in Hospitals are changed or covered by a known metal that kills virus and bacteria on contact reducing ‘herd’ infection substantially which is possibly the main cause of infection or transfer by Hospitals.

- Herd Immunity will help BUT more importantly, it will not solve the problem unless the low immune system is addressed from the beginning of harnessing the immune system.

Please forgive me, if you do not use my research and I do not wish to be rude, but, medical science appear to suffer from 'Analytical Paralysis' that stops medical science moving forward and make progress hoping medical science will find the answer within their own science. This is not so!

We, humanity, are just one of billions of specie on Planet Earth, requiring the same sciences all species need to exist and survive on a daily basis medical science brush to one side by not being able to consider in diagnosis, medication and treatment.

In the beginning of a more civilised modern Victorian medical science era a 'protocol and policy' was created to measure or dissect and to be reliable, repeatable and valid before approval is given to be used, therefore, creating proven medication or treatment to move forward.

Unfortunately by refusing to meet the protocol/policy criteria, 'rejection' was imminent of unproven, invisible, unmeasurable or cannot be dissected possibilities, medical science now call them 'anomalies', that cannot be used in 'first-line treatment or medication' although they mysteriously work.

What do I mean by this bold observational statement?

Science is very good at chasing a problem, eventually, finding a cure for 'some, not all' or producing repetitive prescribed medication to 'mask' the problem keeping the problem at bay but not solve the problem from the beginning 'to kill' the illness, virus or bacteria.

To solve any problem, you have to go back to the beginning before the problem became a problem.

- Have you ever considered why some people get ill and some people do not?

- Have you ever considered why people with 'underlying health conditions' are more susceptible to Covid-19 viral death?

- Have you considered why some people over 70 are more susceptible to any illness including Covid-19?

- Have you ever considered why after alleged successful Cancer surgery, (mastectomy, lumpectomy or orchiectomy) the patient after being sent home, gets Metastasis, being in most cases, terminal?

But then:

- Have you ever considered why Tibetan Monks achieve allegedly 130 years of age (religion is not the cause)?

- Have you ever considered why the Northern Italian region of Liguria is the healthiest longest-living in Europe, (just one example in one country emphasising diet is not the cause) where, over 100 years of age is common for men and women?

- Have you ever considered why an Oak Tree thrives where it does (not everywhere) and yet if we built a house in the same spot it would be detrimental to human-health?

- (There are many examples and reasons why we, in a more modern civilised educated era, who abuse the natural world at our peril which Ancient or Indigenous civilisations did not, respecting natural phenomena by calling the mysterious reactions as 'sacred').

It is these key questions that medical science do not confront because they cannot, although, there is a common denominator for all the above. Why? The questions to medical science, are anomalies.

Medical sciences suffer the greatest amount of anomalies due to an outdated Victorian era protocol/policy caused by a self-imposed paralysis. In a Victorian era technology was minimal and/or treated as 'witchcraft, sorcery or alchemy' unsuitable for use or for 'religious beliefs' could not allowed for medication or treatment where this overall attitude still exists and continues to the present day.

To summarise: Any medication or treatment used in a Victorian era that could not be measured, dissected or was invisible was discarded, never to be considered in alleged modern medicine diagnosis although being used for thousands of years, successfully by ancient civilisations who understood the natural world better than modern civilisation, due to knowledge handed-down from generation to generation, being inter-connected to how humanity evolved. We became too civilised and too politically correct to be reliable, repeatable and valid, more important, measured, by an unknown fear mentality of reprisal.

Wildlife, Ancient and Indigenous civilisations do not suffer from 'anomalies' where a more common sense and logical scientific approach is used, handed down generation after generation: If it works, use it.

Would you agree if you were able to go back to the beginning of the problem of Covid-19, or for that matter any problem, for example; the problem to 'maximise and harness the immune system' would solve the current pandemic? The answer you are looking for is: Yes!

I repeat medical science is very good at chasing a problem but not 'preventing a problem'. If an answer cannot be found, medical science continue to dig deeper into genetics, a microscopic 'nano-world' insisting on finding a solution within their science and not considering other sciences where the answer and solution is shouting at you humanity evolved with that by going back to the beginning would solve and prevent illness by killing the virus naturally using our owner , 'harnessed' immune system.

As you are aware, giving a 'anti-body' blood transfusion or giving a 'manufactured' vaccine/antidote is a temporary measure and will not increase the individuals immune system to fight future attacks, without continual prescribed repetitive medication, unless the cause for the 'low immune system' is addressed, similar to the mysterious reoccurrence of Cancer, called 'Metastasis' after alleged successful surgery treatment causing in most cases is with eventual death.

To harness the immune system and stop or prevent Metastasis both are interlinked with the same common denominator that are both anomalies to medical science.

Have you considered the people with a low immune system will always have a low immune system until my research is used to introduce new measures to change the cause of a low immune system?

May I suggest if you were to consider looking within another science that humanity evolved with, the answer is staring you in the face, to increase and harness the immune system for all, specifically in the over 70 age-group category which would minimise suffering and the current death-rate, not only of Covid-19 but many other illness anomalies. Unfortunately many solutions are 'outside the field of expertise' in modern medical science due to an agreed polarised outdated format of an 'aloof' education that must change the existing protocol for the future generations.

Have you also considered the same outdated Victorian era protocol stops the very use on a natural vaccine/antidote that could be used in the interim period to alleviate suffering and death?

Please forgive me, once again, where I am trying to provoke your thought process to another way, 'a new way' never considered for 200 years of 'alleged' modern medical science that my International Patent Pending will move us forward more in 10 years than ever before in our history by considering our very own creation within our evolution of how we evolved but more important the ignorance of not understanding what we evolved with, to become what we are today. In the eyes of all other species, a pretty stupid specie because we discard other sciences for our health and well-being for daily survival.

Sounds bizarre? Not really if you understand our evolution with Planet Earth and realise how previous scholars paid with their lives. Discoveries are all about taking risks to go public which is why previous historical scholars were imprisoned, burnt at the stake, tortured, ridiculed or exiled going against religious beliefs in that era, however, today they are revered by their 'genius, outside the box thinking' going against normal education or politics. I do not want to sound too egotistical but is history repeating itself?

I am just a student of a 70 year life-span experience which is not acceptable in the academic education system requiring 'paper recognition' with a title before my name or letters after my name to be heard or listened to, that is, unless my patent is successful, then my patent will change all aspects of all sciences to answer many anomalies created by man-womankind who think they know better than wildlife and nature who see an invisible world we do not see that would dispel all anomalies.

Please, one last thought:

- Consider what you would see through the 'eyes' of wildlife, other than 'homo-sapien', a world we cannot see, an 'invisible light-spectrum' we are ignorant to and do not understand the importance of our evolution to our health and well-being.

Unless medical science change attitude, protocol or policy we will stand still or go backwards, with medical science scratching their heads wondering how did that happen, realising, 'washing hands was not the answer', however, at least I tried where in this day and age, confusion and the ability to say we do not know why, rules over everything, which Albert Einstein had the same problem with his peers stating and using a slightly shorter version:

- "The universe is infinite but human stupidity goes further".

Nothing seems to change where we do not learn from our past scholars, like Nikola Tesla, regardless how bizarre it may sound.

Evolution of humanity has all the answers to every anomaly created if we used all sciences Planet Earth created within any diagnosis, medication or treatment.

Please consider, if you were able to harness the immune system creating 'anti-body cells', the 1 in 4 people of all ages who suffer would reduce without using any vaccine or antidote?

1 in 4 people will continue to suffer with or without Covid-19 unless the cause for 'a low immune system is addressed to harness the immune system using new conclusive research,' unfortunately, the immune system is another anomaly to medical science, which is all explained in my International Patent Application 'Pending' prepared over many years prior to Covid-19 that explains the elusive ‘trigger’ to serious illnesses and give you:

A Cancer-Free-World (more-so in the Western wetter climate congested world) along with many other illnesses that are anomalies to Medical Science who do not consider 'ALL' sciences within diagnosis, medication or treatment that can be used as a reverse procedure for those who suffer today.

Prevention is better than cure, a major failing of medical science held back by a self-imposed 200 year outdated protocol requiring a New Law to change attitude and prevent suffering, illness and unnecessary early death.

Thank you for your time where an answer and solution is already here by our own evolution to harness the immune system, explained in my Pending International Patent Research using 'Artificial Intelligence' (AI) medical science cannot use until a 'New Law is enforced' to change an outdated Victorian era protocol imposed on medical science.

Until someone in authority listens, nobody will know, where, how and why, 1 in 4 will continue to suffer and die unnecessarily, even after Covid-19, until medical science change an outdated protocol/policy.

There is a great deal to say when medical science have no answers for the current pandemic especially when all opportunities of research should be considered regardless of being from Professional Academia but more importantly from 'Privately Funded Individual Research using all sciences that can be measured to be reliable, repeated and valid 100%'.

For now.

Kind regards.

I just want to reach out and say that my love for you goes beyond any good and Godly thing that could be imagined. You are a great and wonderful human being and I just want to say thank you. The only famous person that I have ever met was B.B. King when I jumped up on stage during 1991 at his Lilac Festival performance. BB was ripping into some Eddie Van Halen style riffs and I was completely losing it! While bending a note on his fret board, he reached in his blazer pocket and handed me a plastic B.B. King/ Lucille guitar pin while security threw me back into the front row. Some day I would very much like to meet you and your wife. If you ever come to the (b) (6) Area and need a place to crash and or lay low for a bit, don't hesitate to contact me. I'd like to ask you maybe about that, if I could, Deborah. We've done, you know, amazingly well. I think — I think the biggest thing we did is stopping the inflow from China into our country. And Deborah was a big — a big supporter of that — I mean, in terms of how important it turned out to be. And so was Tony Fauci. They were very, very — Tony said we saved thousands and thousands of lives. That was a great decision that was made, and that was made very early.

Q Is there — is there a timeline for when UK and European Union citizens and visitors are allowed to come back into the United States? And will all European countries be included or could it be a case-by-case basis?

MS. MCENANY: So we don't have a timeline on that just yet. I can tell you the President's preeminent concern is keeping Americans safe. His travel restrictions have saved lives, as Dr. Fauci and others have noted. So we don't have an announcement as to when we'll be rolling those back, but his priority, his number one concern is America first and the health and wellbeing of the nation first.

MS. MCENANY: Okay. So, first, I would want to take a moment to address the President's response, because the President has had an extraordinary and early response to the coronavirus. I would note Dr. Birx: "The early work of President Trump, both with travel restrictions and quarantine, has bought us the time and space necessary to have this task force be very effective."

Subject: REPORT OF OBAMA PCAST SUBGROUP ON COVID19 RESPONSE Importance: High

Hi Tony –

As you know, a couple of months ago I convened a subset of the members of the Obama PCAST (Pwhich we're now denoting OPCAST to distinguish it from its successor) to think about responses to the COVID19 crisis. The nine members of this "Ad Hoc OPCAST COVID19 Subgroup" are (b) (6) [redacted]. All of us were active in producing the six Obama PCAST studies between 2009 and 2016 that are most germane to dealing with viral pandemics.

The aim of the Subgroup is to draw on insights from those reports—and from research and observations since—to develop recommendations on how to prepare for future waves of the COVID19 pandemic and other viral pandemics that will eventually follow. The Subgroup has not been looking at shorter-term issues, such as conditions for reopening the country; those are being addressed by many other groups, including the committee of the National Academies chaired by Moore Foundation President Harvey Fineberg.

Today the OPCAST Subgroup is surfacing for the first time publicly with the release of the first installment of its work, "Recommendations for the National Strategic Pandemic Stockpile". It is attached here. Later today and tomorrow I will be distributing the report more widely to Trump Administration pandemic officials, some members of Congress, selected governors and mayors, various other national opinion leaders, and the media. It will also be posted on the Subgroup's new website, http://adhocresponsegroup.org. Subsequent releases over the next couple of months will address contact tracing, serology and antibody tests, data management, and, probably, the history and fate of the pandemic-related recommendations of the Obama PCAST in the period 2009-2016.

As always, reactions are welcome.

My best,
John

Could not agree more, (b) (6) — we all knew each others' nationality in the Bronx—there were mostly three in my neighborhood, It, Ir Je, but there were many others— and it mattered not at all. I too was taken down the west side drive in Manhattan when my father had his SS car and saw the battleships where the liners used to be and also those in the bay by the S of Liberty. We were all proud to be Americans.

But let us look at ourselves today— all sane, well-educated/same-school-educated/religiously-educated men who sometimes (thankfully mostly not this time) have difficulty debating an issue on which we disagree, a skill which was honed in many of us at the same school. How different are our perspectives, not on the details of a particular action of our president to be argued on its merits or deficits, but a too often simple, rude dismissal of it because of who he is: Or, as that article by Mamet sent by my priest friend suggested: a Trump-derangement syndrome.

We ARE all in this together, but you'd never know it. Surely here in the PRofP where they say THAT all the time, it simply is not so. Pity. Come November, regardless of how the election goes, it will be hell, here and everywhere; Antifa before now has only been warming up. And will we trust the election?

Here in OR we just had an election, featuring two local tax proposals that everyone, I mean EVERYONE, even the extreme left major paper argued against, and even the governor did not believe they would pass— she issued emergency orders for each, bypassing the vote she knew she'd lose in order to get the sought money; both of them passed, not by a squeak but with flying colors, 3/1 and 3/2. Believe that?! Gag me with a spoon.

And what is missing? The B/W center of that whirlpool image I often send around here and elsewhere, where the opposing positions across that center are judged only by might makes right and who is the loudest, unrelated to the B/W Truth and Absolutes of its Center.

Repetitively, for the past several weeks we've seen and heard on the TV the theme "We're all in this together" cast our way. In fact, actor Matthew Mc Gonaghey has assembled a program to extend this message from coast to coast. Would that the words in this theme truly represented a national unifying of our people to cooperate in developing a remarkable outcome to the war with this pernicious enemy. But tragically, this is light years from reality.

As a very young boy during World War Two I remember having a sense that everyone I met shared a common goal for the country,, the salvation of the nation in extremely challenging circumstances. I recall travelling with my mother to various naval bases to which my father was deployed, and being in awe of the people I met as I learned what collaboratively they were doing to protect their fellow citizens.

Many decades later, as visions of objects cascading into tall buildings raced through my mind and an appreciation for the danger to the country they represented, I seemed to sense that there was indeed a coming together to stand up for the nation against any threat to its well being. Admittedly, such harmony and unity was short-lived, but if only for a time, there appeared to be a recognition that we all were part of the same nation.

On the contrary, some of the behavior I have witnessed among my fellow citizens during this most recent crisis has filled me with disgust. Clearly, these people appeared to rejoice each time another thousand deaths appeared on the daily headcount update.They dispareged anyone who offered any promise of a mitigating agent that could in the long run save lives. They tempered any positive reports about life-saving agents with a collection of refutations, minimizing the potential of positive outcomes. They scorned any doctors who minimized the depth of the virus's vitality, or dared to suggest that closing schools was a bad decision.

One governor invoked God in the turmoil suggesting that "God had nothing to do with this," referring to the flattening of the curve in his state.And of course, the government officials could not restrain themselves from using negative events to assign blame to the other party for whatever challenge emerged and even going so far as implying that the leader of the government was responsible for more deaths during the pandemic than the number of deaths in the Vietnam War..

From the beginning of this draining event I longed for the truth to understand the existing and future dangers posed by the disease and how best to cope with it. For some naive reason I expected all the professionals, especially those in leadership roles, to act completely responsibly in representing their positions, and most especially their fellow citizens, politics aside.To say that my expectations were grossly unmet would be a monumental understatement.In fact, one of the most significant casualties of this episode in our great nation's history has clearly been the TRUTH!

Dr. Fauci:

If helpful in your decision making, I just spoke with Noah who added a bit more information on this request. The NYT has been producing a series of long feature articles on the government's response to the COVID pandemic. The article that he's hoping to interview you for will focus specifically on the March-April time frame, e.g., "when the treatment guidelines were issued, the WH task force convinced the public to stay at home, and when tensions between scientific and economic interests began to increase."

He and five other reporters are working on this feature article, which he said will not run for at least another two weeks or so. They're talking to WH officials, other task force members, and state-level officials for the article, which according to Noah, is being developed as a "comprehensive look at a moment in history in terms of how the government responded to a public health crisis," not simply, a "focus on Trump."

He's willing to do any sort of on-the-record or on background interview that you are comfortable with, but they do view you as essential to the piece.

He said the best number to reach him is his cell at (b) (6) If you agree, he may have one of the other NYT reporters working on the story sit in on the interview.

Dear Dr. Fauci,

We talked months ago, and I feel bad about not having been in touch since. I can't imagine how taxing the last few months have been for you, especially with so much media demand on your time. I'm working on a long feature with four other reporter colleagues about the Trump administration's coronavirus response in March and April, a critical window when it published its social distancing guidelines and worked to slow a dramatic spread of cases across the country. We're talking to a cast of officials but would have a hard time making this complete without you. We want this piece to stand the test of time when readers look back on this part of American history. I've struggled to arrange a call with NIH media folks, so I'm coming to you directly in case it may help getting something on the calendar in the coming weeks. We won't be publishing for another few weeks, so I was hoping there might be a 20- or 30-minute slot at some point during that time.

Thanks as always for your consideration and generosity with time, and I hope to talk soon in some form.

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

(b) (6)

Subject: Request for a conversation. Topic: Growth of knowledge in a pandemic

Dear Dr. Fauci,
I'm a physician and writer at the University of Pennsylvania. I'm writing a long form essay, with a view to a book, on the growth of knowledge in the pandemic. I have read extensively your work on HIV and, of course, have listened to your briefings during this pandemic.
What I wish to explain is how evidence, particularly of treatment efficacy, moves along with adoption and de-adoption of therapy, and how this may be different for infectious diseases when the stakes are high. I'll use the history of the growth of knowledge during HIV as an anchor.
I don't believe the media or journals have addressed this issue. My audience is mainly physicians. I write for Healthcare Blog - a small, but well read outlet.
I was hoping to have a conversation with you, possibly on Zoom. I'll send you the questions, in advance. I'll then convert our conversation to an interview-style question, with edits to make it readable. I'll share my final draft.
I understand you're beseeched with media requests. I hope you'll consider mine. As a physician my angle is different - it's apolitical, more scientific, historical, esoteric - a deeper dive into epistemic issues.
Here's a sample of an interview I have conducted. This one was of Professor Mark Pauly on the Affordable Care Act.

Interview with Mark Pauly: Part 2 - The Health Care Blog

Healthcare reformers, like the wives of King Henry the 8th, have a thankless job. In a curious inversion of the Tudors, President Trump, who has promised to make healthcare great again, finds himself in the same predicament as the King's sixth wife who knew what she had to do, just didn't know how she could do it any differently.

Dr. Fauci,
With all due respect, you need to shut the hell up!!! You are ruining this country! What is wrong with you?? You know this virus is no more dangerous to healthy individuals than any other virus. I have children that want to go to school! And they ARE NOT at risk!!! You know this good and damn well. Now quit trying to scare everyone and tell the truth. Tell colleges that they can open normally. Tell lower schools that they can open normally. Millions of lives are being RUINED not from death due to COVID but because you continue to advise to shut things down. STOP IT!!!!! As Trump said "the cure can not be worse than the disease" - well it is WORSE!! And it because people in positions of power are spreading propaganda and scaring the hell out of people. University of South Carolina has already decided to take classes online after Thanksgiving all because of your ridiculous warning of the second wave!!! What the HELL??? That is months away and NO ONE- not even so super smart Fauci knows what will happen in the fall and winter. I mean it, Fauci, STOP THIS MADNESS!!!!! Do the right thing!!! Anyone who continues to want this country to hide in fear is a disgrace to the founding of our nation and the millions of people that have died fighting for that freedom!

His name has Hack in it!

Anyways, I think I had to specify which system I would like access too, as there are many organizations in this consortium…

So I asked for Anton 2, Open Science Grid, or some free Amazon cloud services credits.

Let's see what happens…

Dear Ken Hackworth of the Pittsburgh Supercomputing Facility,

I prepared the initial proposal after reading the submission rules. Anyways I have revised it (twice). Here is both copies, I ended up having to delete some screenshots, to stay within the 3 pages rules.

I have formally submitted a request for allocation, the proposal has been updated as per the information requested.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hi (b) (6),

Good for Australia. Thus far, if we deduct NY and NJ's deaths and population, the USA is at 171/M. And that's not adjusting for the miserable job most (particularly blue) states did for nursing homes. Just heard 41% of deaths in the USA were in nursing homes - shameful.

So, Australia is starting to get cold when people will be congregating indoors. I know that they think the virus isn't affected by the summer. On the other hand, I've read that infection outdoors is very unlikely - thank you, God, for the Sun's UV, usually something to avoid.

While wishing for nothing but good for Australia (and the Southern Hemisphere) - I have friends there and the fires were bad enough - I hope they keep up their guard.

Regards,

(b) (6)

It is my humble opinion that what we are addressing in the context of these e-mails is NOT politics , but rather ideology. Fundamentally, politics is the tension between two sides embracing alternate positions, but with a salutary outcome as the goal.. Most frequently, neither side is totally satisfied with the end result, but sees positive gains towards the goal(s) they embraced..Pundits frequently use the Reagan/O'Neill conflicts as prime examples of "politics."

What we are experiencing in this nation at this moment is a quantum jump from even the most extreme definition of politics.The conflict involves polar opposite worldviews about, life, freedom, morality, governance and the place of Our Creator in our society, among others.
To mention a few of the issues dividing these sides, we have infanticide endorsed by one side (notably in New York, Virginia and Illinois currently, with other states preparing to pass similar legislation in the near future), On the other side we have a position that all life is precious with no exceptions. How in the world could these totally antithetical views be" politically" reconciled?
A second, equally divisive issue, is the matter of national borders. The one side argues for the elimination of borders with the inevitable consequence of mass infusion into the homeland. The other side argues that a country without borders sacrifices its sovereignty, and therefore is no longer a sovereign nation.Is there any realistic possibility that the two sides can find a "politically-acceptable " point of agreement on this matter?
A third most compelling issue is the place of Our Creator in our society. One side wants to erase any recognition of the role the Creator might have played in the origin of the nation and consequently the abiding recognition of his presence in our midst. In fact, it was a POLITICAL party, which in 2012 voted to have God erased completely from our society in their platform at their national convention. The fact that this happened to be a party called "Democratic" means nothing in the overall situation we currently find ourselves . The opposing forces embrace a recognition that we have been a nation endowed by the Creator with exceptional blessings, the recognition of which must be sustained through our daily activities, including government meetings, our currency, our buildings, and prayerful utterances and most importantly in our ability to participate in worship services. Once again, where is the possible political point of agreement on an issue, so precious for both sides. Even, a Solomonic intervention would undoubtedly prove fruitless.
We live in great peril. It is not a "wild blip in one's imagination" to believe as Arthur Henry indicated, that we are a lot closer to a Civil War Two than anyone would fathom. I don't think it's much of a stretch to suggest that the events which transpire over the next several months, will in fact, determine the future destiny of this blessed nation. The division is huge and there;s no inkling that it is , in any way softening, even in maters such as life and death with the Covid 19 travesty.
God help us!

Although I am political to be sure, and have strong opinions I can defend well, none of what I said should be considered to be pro or anti Trump. My comments about Tony's behavior would have been offered had he done the same with Obama speaking, even though I have beyond no use for that former president, either as a man or as a president.

it is the same reason, that I speak only with respect for our Pope, Francis, while finding many of his positions untenable Magisterially, and the crisis in the Church growing for now clearly intentional confusing positions and statements thereon. Either office itself demands respect, regardless of what one things of the person.

I'll include 2 images— you may find more if you like on Google—and an earlier one not with Tony, showing boorish, crude behavior that speaks ill of the perps and should bother even those supporting those perps. Unprofessional conduct, period, beneath a (b) (6) graduate. And, as I said in my last note, I would say that even if I agreed with Tony's position.

Now I will answer your question below.

From what I have seen just from this Wuhan flu crisis thus far, should the democrat party regain control of the two branches of congress, worse if the presidency also, I would expect chaos, based simply on already proven behavior such as: Fighting Trump's immediate closing of our borders to China, which other nations wisely did; padding a quickly-needed stimulus package with renovations for the Kennedy Center and continued support of Planned Parenthood; a new 3 TRILLION dollar package that contains more unrelated to crisis-need funding; etc, but you know all those and/or can look up the details of their proposals as easily as can I, even choosing your sources which may even defend the same actions.

Overview outcome? The whole effort would be, IMHO, designed to shift our equality-of-opportunity republic—already barely that anymore— to an equality-of-outcome one, a socialist- communist end game where ver it has been tried and failed. The animosity to religion—not to mention to life— shown by the party speaks volumes to that analogy.

Many look to FDR as the hero of the depression— to which I believe we will be in before this is over— but he was anything but, causing it to last longer than it might have and being saved from its continuance by our going to war.

My parents, who had been wealthy, lost every dime in that era, and I can see only hindsight-wrong decisions on their part, not bad ones, that were responsible. That analogy holds on a national scale, but I would expect a lot of continuing bad decisions, made despite their clearly being wrong.

I trust my position is clear; if you would like we can debate details separately, if better done with conversation, not the serial monologues that are email exchanges and the like :)

Thanks for getting the kids involved, Charley—good to hear from some people who are data handlers :) :)

Having said that, the presentation of facts— on each side of the political/belief/virus aisle—have convincing data to say they did what they could in all the countries, based on the undeniable delay of info and permission for others to study their problem that came from China, exacerbated by their proven lying. The decision re lockdown was preceded by an attempt to seal the borders from China—most of which travelers enter the US into NYC, LA, and SFO was fought in congress on the false cry of racism. It was simply a reasonable and needed act.

The misrepresentation of Sweden as the worst is misleading, since it was not known at the start that the primary death-target had 2 very specific markers: (1) they were aged and (2) they were in facilities gathered together which did BNOT lock down immediately. Sweden's main death count came from old folks in nursing homes and it has elsewhere, esp as it did in NYC where it was illegal to refuse entry to elders who might have been (and had been) exposed. Subtract out the 3 key areas in the US where it has hit and we are in the norm for other countries, as would be Sweden…. if they were in the same place on the curve as we are.

They are further ahead for their mild lockdown which did not close schools— the safest way to get a lot of people immunize— and all this shows by my reasoning (I am open to hear what is wrong with it) is that they are simply further ahead on the curve than are we. The area under the curves in each case will wind up being about the same, ours and others who locked down tightly simply taking longer to accomplish.

Worse, though, is that these locked-down people, who have not been in contact regularly with other people exchanging low level bacteria and viruses, not out openly in the sun, stressed unnecessarily by the hysteria in the media, etc etc will at some point come out of hiding with far weaker immune systems than they had when they went in. From that the wuhan flu and all manner of other flus they are prime targets for serious infection. We will indeed be worse for having locked down so tightly so long.

If we were looking for a trigger to initiate a revolution of some kind, a potential civil war, we could not have behaved better, esp for the array of deceptions of the msmedia and also the social media, which bans any technical discussion that does not match the party line.

We can all have hypotheses about why this has been handled this way, but one would have to look a lot further than just the US. In the end, and it will likely come badly now whatever path we might choose. The only uncertainty will be the timing.

As to our classmate Tony: I have had a nice exchange (though our opinions differ) with Jim Oberthaler on that subject just yesterday and I will copy below what I wrote. For what I said then and repeat now: it does not matter whether Tony was right or wrong in his decision (I believe wrong), but rather his failure to behave in a manner consistent with a person of his status. I said this:

As to Tony himself, I do not agree [with Jim's assessment]: Regardless of what he believes vs Trump, I hold him culpable of shameless behavior with his boss, with any boss in public, even if/espec if he had a different opinion than that boss. Undercutting him with body language behind his back— whoever was president— is grossly unprofessional, a bit like Nancy Pelosi tearing up a speech. I would have much more respect for Tony — even though I still disagree with his decisions after the start (with which I did not disagree for his making sense, even if wrong) —if he had resigned his post and then took on Trump. That would have been heroic. What he has done, how he has done it, is not that.

When we got your email, we reached out to our children for their thoughts. Our son is a biostatistician and our daughter is a philosopher with expertise in medical ethics. Here is what they both said.

The biostatistician:

The material presented in the video was misleading. Sweden is experiencing a death rate that's about 10x the rate in the US. So if we had done no lockdowns, we'd be approaching 1,000,000 deaths right now. South Korea had their first positive case the same day we did and began aggressively testing and isolating and contact tracing. These are the best practices during a pandemic. The reason we had to shut the economy down was because of our government's inadequate response from the first case.

There are also many problems with the video's assertion that by March 18 the worst was behind us. First, you can't know where you are on a curve without the benefit of hindsight. Second, data coming the CDC is dubious (Deborah Birx, a member of President Trump's task force for COVID-19 was recently quoted as saying that she did not trust their data :https://www.businessinsider.com/deborah-birx-cdc-comments-coronavirus-task-force-meeting-2020-5). Third, the reason hospital visits peaked on March 18 (if they did) was because we all stayed home following 3/18. We disrupted the curve. And people were afraid to leave their houses. In NYC they have collected more than 2000 bodies of C19 victims who died at home.

Hospitals don't need refrigerator trucks parked out back for the flu. This isn't just the flu.

From the philosopher/medical ethicist:

I agree that there are countries that have done a better job than the US of responding to COVID-19. South Korea is a good example; New Zealand has also done a good job. They have moved from mitigation to containment recently. They locked down around the same time as the US, but then did aggressive testing, isolating, and contact tracing. South Korea did aggressive testing, isolating, and contact tracing from the beginning. That is a lot of work, but it enables the economy to stay open. Rates of unemployment in South Korea have stayed fairly constant throughout all of 2020 (https://tradingeconomics.com/south-korea/unemployment-rate)— unemployment was about 4% at the beginning of the year and it is about 4% now. They did not have the massive economic disruption because they did aggressive testing, isolating and contact tracing.
The US could have (should have) done that too. Countries in Europe (Germany for instance) did a shut down and then a few weeks or so later they opened back up again because they are doing aggressive testing, isolating, and tracing.

So this person in the video is correct in that a shutdown is not the only way to respond to a serious contagious illness.
But COVID-19 is not "just the flu". It looks to have a case fatality rate 5x higher than the flu, at .5% (flu is .1%). So that is a lot more deaths than the flu. Society should not simply accept that.
Also, unlike the flu, health care workers cannot protect themselves against Covid 19. There is no vaccine. So no one can protect themselves. If there was no flu vaccine and everyone was exposed to the flu every year, 3 million people in the US would die of the flu every year.
The flu is not a problem of this magnitude only because there is a vaccine: health care workers can protect themselves pretty well with a vaccine; vulnerable people or people who don't want to get the flu can protect themselves reasonably well with a vaccine.
But it is immoral to stand by and do nothing and expect health care workers to get sick and die trying to care for people with COVID-19. So that is why, in the absence of a vaccine, in the absence of a robust public health (test, isolate, and trace) response, a lockdown is the only other option.
South Korea, Germany, New Zealand and many other countries have done this robust public health response. The lack of it in the US is why we have this economic disruption. It was not inevitable that this would happen. Indeed, COVID-19 could still be contained if there is an effective, robust public health (test, isolate, and trace) response this summer.

The following graph should give us some information about what to expect:

Subject: Dr. Levitt's COVID Update for 18 May 2020/Gov Cuomo: Give Nursing Home Residents CoV test weekly

Dear All,
Below are short takes on the Gov. Cuomo briefing today and the articles I have read online or in journals today:
Gov. Cuomo noted hospitalizations continue to decrease, COVID admissions stable at 373/day; less NY died yesterday from COVID: 106 persons.
The governor's top priority is the Nursing Home residents now. He ordered Nursing Home staff to be tested for CoV twice weekly. He will supply 320,000 CoV tests for this staff weekly.
What about the Nursing Home residents? Don't they deserve CoV testing as well? NY wants to save their lives. Residents should be CoV tested weekly; get pulse oximetry if any symptoms related to breathing, and be moved to special facilities if CoV test positive or COVID develops.
Western NY now has sufficient contact tracers and testers to re-open. The rule is 30 tests/1000 persons and 30 tracers/100,000 persons.
One new hospital received elective procedures permission. Sports teams can play but no fans can be present and DOH needs to approve sports teams' plans. When regions reopen, judges and Courts are back in session.
Drs. Osterholm from U Minnesota and Dr. Bhatt from Imperial College in U.K. now advising NY with statistics and reopening.
WSJ article on Front Page about the vaccine race. See:
https://www.wsj.com/articles/coronavirus-vaccine-frontrunners-emerge-rollouts-weighed-11589707803
I believe that the statement by one expert about wanting 'billions of doses by year's end' will come true. This is a race worth billions of dollars to Big and Small Pharmas. Each Pharma has one country or more than one country backing their vaccine efforts. Moderna has one former director as one of the two 'vaccine czars'.
Dr. Scott Gottlieb has a WSJ Ed/Op about the CDC not giving doctors the very recent results of treatments for COVID. See:
https://www.wsj.com/articles/cut-through-the-fog-of-coronavirus-war-11589738903
I believe the NEJM and The Lancet are doing that job very well. Drs. Fauci and Redfield and Collins and Hahn are trying to keep their employees functioning at peak levels for as long as possible. They have been going all out for 78 days now. These doctors need to keep their jobs as directors at the same time.
NPR this morning had an interview with a contact tracer in Utah. See:
https://www.npr.org/2020/05/18/857727105/utah-is-one-of-the-states-at-the-forefront-of-contact-tracing Each CoV positive person may have 10-30 contacts that need to be traced; 50--80% of the contacts may test positive in Utah. This is a job that requires much more than 30 tracers/100,000 residents (Dr. Birx recommendation). The number of tracers expands exponentially just as the CoV does.

CDC has a nice chart on how to interpret CoV tests and antibody tests. See:
https://www.whitehouse.gov/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/Testing-Guidance.pdf
This is what CDC is best at: charts and FAQ that get to the heart of the matter.

CDC also has a review of the Kawasaki Syndrome that some kids get after silent or non-silent COVID. See:
https://emergency.cdc.gov/han/2020/han00432.asp?deliveryName=USCDC_2067-DM28660
The references to the review say that treatment is: aspirin to prevent clots; immunoglobulin IV; anti-viral treatments, and steroids.

Reuter's says that different states are using different reopening criteria, not all are using the CDC or Task Force recommendations. See:
https://www.reuters.com/article/us-health-coronavirus-usa-states-analysi-idUSKBN22U2U2
The CDC guidelines are not legally binding. States and local communities have the legal authority to set reopening rules for their jurisdictions.

President Trump announced today that he is taking Hydroxychloroquine 200 mg daily for 10 days now. So far no cardiac arrhythmias. This drug prolongs the Q-T interval on an EKG. The heart does not like 'gaps' in electrical conduction and can go into ventricular fibrillation.

I would like the President to d/c the anti-malarial drug and take Vascepa 4 gms daily (4 gel tabs). This is a lipid lowering fish oil that has been found to reduce heart attacks, strokes, and sudden cardiac deaths by 1/3 respectively in high lipid persons but also in NORMAL PERSONS. Everyone over 55 y.o. should take the drug I believe (Personal Opinion).

I would appreciate any recipient who has contact with President Trump to bring Vascepa to his attention. I have tried to do so via Contact the White House, but without success.

RGL, M.D.

It is my humble opinion that what we are addressing in the context of these e-mails is NOT politics , but rather ideology. Fundamentally, politics is the tension between two sides embracing alternate positions, but with a salutary outcome as the goal.. Most frequently, neither side is totally satisfied with the end result, but sees positive gains towards the goal(s) they embraced..Pundits frequently use the Reagan/O'Neill conflicts as prime examples of "politics."
What we are experiencing in this nation at this moment is a quantum jump from even the most extreme definition of politics.The conflict involves polar opposite worldviews about, life, freedom, morality, governance and the place of Our Creator in our society, among others.
To mention a few of the issues dividing these sides, we have infanticide endorsed by one side (notably in New York, Virginia and Illinois currently, with other states preparing to pass similar legislation in the near future), On the other side we have a position that all life is precious with no exceptions. How in the world could these totally antithetical views be" politically" reconciled?
A second, equally divisive issue, is the matter of national borders. The one side argues for the elimination of borders with the inevitable consequence of mass infusion into the homeland. The other side argues that a country without borders sacrifices its sovereignty, and therefore is no longer a sovereign nation.Is there any realistic possibility that the two sides can find a "politically-acceptable " point of agreement on this matter?
A third most compelling issue is the place of Our Creator in our society. One side wants to erase any recognition of the role the Creator might have played in the origin of the nation and consequently the abiding recognition of his presence in our midst. In fact, it was a POLITICAL party, which in 2012 voted to have God erased completely from our society in their platform at their national convention. The fact that this happened to be a party called "Democratic" means nothing in the overall situation we currently find ourselves . The opposing forces embrace a recognition that we have been a nation endowed by the Creator with exceptional blessings, the recognition of which must be sustained through our daily activities, including government meetings, our currency, our buildings, and prayerful utterances and most importantly in our ability to participate in worship services. Once again, where is the possible political point of agreement on an issue, so precious for both sides. Even, a Solomonic intervention would undoubtedly prove fruitless.
We live in great peril. It is not a "wild blip in one's imagination" to believe as Arthur Henry indicated, that we are a lot closer to a Civil War Two than anyone would fathom. I don't think it's much of a stretch to suggest that the events which transpire over the next several months, will in fact, determine the future destiny of this blessed nation. The division is huge and there;s no inkling that it is , in any way softening, even in maters such as life and death with the Covid 19 travesty.

God help us!

My comments about Tony's behavior would have been offered had he done the same with Obama speaking, even though I have beyond no use for that former president, either as a man or as a president.

it is the same reason, that I speak only with respect for our Pope, Francis, while finding many of his positions untenable Magisterially, and the crisis in the Church growing for now clearly intentional confusing positions and statements thereon. Either office itself demands respect, regardless of what one things of the person.

I'll include 2 images— you may find more if you like on Google—and an earlier one not with Tony, showing boorish, crude behavior that speaks ill of the perps and should bother even those supporting those perps. Unprofessional conduct, period, beneath a (b) (6) graduate. And, as I said in my last note, I would say that even if I agreed with Tony's position.

Now I will answer your question below.

From what I have seen just from this Wuhan flu crisis thus far, should the democrat party regain control of the two branches of congress, worse if the presidency also, I would expect chaos, based simply on already proven behavior such as: Fighting Trump's immediate closing of our borders to China, which other nations wisely did; padding a quickly-needed stimulus package with renovations for the Kennedy Center and continued support of Planned Parenthood; a new 3 TRILLION dollar package that contains more unrelated to crisis-need funding; etc, but you know all those and/or can look up the details of their proposals as easily as can I, even choosing your sources which may even defend the same actions.

Overview outcome? The whole effort would be, IMHO, designed to shift our equality-of-opportunity republic—already barely that anymore— to an equality-of-outcome one, a socialist- communist end game where ver it has been tried and failed. The animosity to religion—not to mention to life— shown by the party speaks volumes to that analogy.

Many look to FDR as the hero of the depression— to which I believe we will be in before this is over— but he was anything but, causing it to last longer than it might have and being saved from its continuance by our going to war.

My parents, who had been wealthy, lost every dime in that era, and I can see only hindsight-wrong decisions on their part, not bad ones, that were responsible. That analogy holds on a national scale, but I would expect a lot of continuing bad decisions, made despite their clearly being wrong.

Having said that, the presentation of facts— on each side of the political/belief/virus aisle—have convincing data to say they did what they could in all the countries, based on the undeniable delay of info and permission for others to study their problem that came from China, exacerbated by their proven lying. But it is immoral to stand by and do nothing and expect health care workers to get sick and die trying to care for people with COVID-19. So that is why, in the absence of a vaccine, in the absence of a robust public health (test, isolate, and trace) response, a lockdown is the only other option.
South Korea, Germany, New Zealand and many other countries have done this robust public health response. The lack of it in the US is why we have this economic disruption. It was not inevitable that this would happen. Indeed, COVID-19 could still be contained if there is an effective, robust public health (test, isolate, and trace) response this summer.

The following graph should give us some information about what to expect:

Dear Dr. A.S. Fauci,
I, the undersigned, Dr. Ernesto J.V. Crescenti, founder and director of the Institute of Immunological Oncology, located in the Autonomous City of Buenos Aires, Argentina, contacted you to collaborate in the COVID-19 pandemic

Our institute is dedicated to the research and treatment of patients with autoimmune and oncological diseases. Based on the evolution of more than 500,000 patients with different pathologies and on the results obtained from more than 30 years of research, we can affirm that the treatment with trace elements is a powerful adjuvant for those pathologies in which the immune system is basically involved, such as in different viral diseases, such as: HPV, AIDS, hepatitis B, hepatitis C, among others. Trace elements are the key modulators of the extracellular space, the critical cellular microenvironment. Furthermore, our formulation has been patented in the United States since 1993.
I offer to cooperate in this critical pandemic in whatever you and / or the scientific committee may consider, at no cost to the United States government. United States
Dr. Anthony Fauci, thank you for considering this presentation, a similar letter was sent to the President of the United States of America, Mr. Donald Trump.

May 18th 2020, Buenos Aires, Argentina

President of the United States of America,

Mr. Donald Trump,

Dear Mr. President D. Trump,

I, the undersigned, Dr. Ernesto J.V. Crescenti, founder and director since 1986 of the Institute of Immunological Oncology, based in Buenos Aires, Argentina, offers you the full service of our therapy and Institute, applied with excellent results for 30 years. This therapy is based on the action of trace elements, zinc-selenium-manganese, in the cellular microenvironment. The mechanism by which these elements act was described and published by his research laboratory. The need for regulation of extra cellular space (ECM) is a basic feature in almost all pathologies. Trace elements induce an adequate balance of ECM in different pathologies, being a powerful tool in the present pandemic, by themselves or as adjuvants. The trace elements must be interrelated in balanced concentration, a key feature of our therapy. Molecules involved in the pathophysiology of the present pandemic, such as the angiotensin-converting enzyme receptor 2 (ACE2), have a close relationship with, for example, zinc. The trace elements of our formulation are important keys that regulate cytokines in altered immunogenic states. Additionally, our formulation was patented in the United States in 1993.

The tests could be carried out at the discretion of your scientific committee at no cost to your Government.

Mr President, I greet you with all respect and I am totally at your service in this critical situation.

Sincerely

President Trump on Monday revealed he's taking hydroxychloroquine, a controversial drug that he's championed as a potential treatment for coronavirus despite limited evidence from the medical community.

Trump said he consulted with the White House doctor about taking the drug, but it was not recommended for him.

"I asked him what do you think. He said, 'Well if you'd like it.' I said, 'Yeah I'd like it. I'd like to take it.'"

He said he's been taking the drug for about a week-and-a-half and based his decision on positive reviews he's heard from frontline healthcare workers.

"So far, I seem to be ok," Trump said.

EVENT BACKGROUND:
Combatting the coronavirus pandemic has created one of the most complex and challenging periods in our Nation's recent history. Not only has the virus caused immense physical suffering and loss for many people, it has also resulted in mental and emotional hardship for adults and children. Through the BE BEST Initiative the First Lady has championed many successful well-being programs that provide children with the tools and skills required for emotional, social, and physical health. In addition, the President has declared May 2020 as National Mental Health Awareness Month and has called on Americans to support citizens suffering from mental illnesses, raise awareness of mental health conditions through appropriate programs and activities, and commit our Nation to innovative prevention, diagnosis, and treatment.

The Trump Administration has provided unprecedented support to address Americans' well-being including:
- Through the CARES Act, $425 million for substance abuse and mental health treatment including $50 million for suicide prevention and $110 million in emergency grants for State, territories, and tribes to provide treatment for substance use disorders/serious mental illness.
- Supporting small businesses and their employees through $660 billion in the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) and $1,200 in direct cash payments to nearly 130 million Americans and additional payments for eligible dependents.
- First Lady Melania Trump's BE BEST Initiative's well-being pillar has expanded character education and social emotional learning for children.
- Expanding mental health services by removing telehealth barriers and increasing telehealth funding through Medicare and encouraged States to adopt similar policies through Medicaid.

- Granting 28 State institution for mental disease (IMD) exclusion Medicaid waivers for substance use disorder (SUD) and granting serious mental illness (SMI) and/or serious emotional disturbance (SED) waivers.
- 44 States and DC have activated, or in the process of activating FEMA's crisis counseling program to serve individuals with mental health impacts, including support to healthcare professionals and first responders (as of May 13).

Federal, State, local, and tribal officials are working to respond to COVID-19 and beginning to reopen their States and communities in a phased-approach. Governors are implementing reopen and economic recovery strategies in close coordination with private sector partners, public health leaders, and mental health leaders. Public health incidents, like natural disasters, are locally-executed, State-managed, and Federally-supported, which allows local officials who have direct relationships with private sector partners and know their communities best to drive innovative solutions.

This is the 19th governors-only briefing since January 2020 on COVID-19 organized by the Trump Administration. In addition, IGA and Federal agencies have had over 110,000 State, local, and tribal participants in over 247 COVID-19 briefings since January 2020. In addition, there have been tens of thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of additional one-on-one communications between Federal officials and State, local, and tribal leaders.

The best summary I've seen.

The criticism of Tony seems misplaced. His job is to advise about the best way to avoid morbidity and mortality not how to manage the country. That's the role of government.

Hope you and RoseMarie are well

Dear (b) (6),
Thanks for being in touch with the question about how to think about the pandemic. There are a lot of unknowns and there is a lot of uncertainty. When we got your email, we reached out to our children for their thoughts. Our son is a biostatistician and our daughter is a philosopher with expertise in medical ethics. Here is what they both said.

The biostatistician:

The material presented in the video was misleading. Sweden is experiencing a death rate that's about 10x the rate in the US. So if we had done no lockdowns, we'd be approaching 1,000,000 deaths right now. South Korea had their first positive case the same day we did and began aggressively testing and isolating and contact tracing. These are the best practices during a pandemic. The reason we had to shut the economy down was because of our government's inadequate response from the first case.

There are also many problems with the video's assertion that by March 18 the worst was behind us. First, you can't know where you are on a curve without the benefit of hindsight. Second, data coming the CDC is dubious (Deborah Birx, a member of President Trump's task force for COVID-19 was recently quoted as saying that she did not trust their data :https://www.businessinsider.com/deborah-birx-cdc-comments-coronavirus-task-force-meeting-2020-5). Third, the reason hospital visits peaked on March 18 (if they did) was because we all stayed home following 3/18. We disrupted the curve. And people were afraid to leave their houses. In NYC they have collected more than 2000 bodies of C19 victims who died at home.

Hospitals don't need refrigerator trucks parked out back for the flu. This isn't just the flu.

From the philosopher/medical ethicist:

I agree that there are countries that have done a better job than the US of responding to COVID-19. South Korea is a good example; New Zealand has also done a good job. They have moved from mitigation to containment recently. They locked down around the same time as the US, but then did aggressive testing, isolating, and contact tracing. South Korea did aggressive testing, isolating, and contact tracing from the beginning. That is a lot of work, but it enables the economy to stay open. Rates of unemployment in South Korea have stayed fairly constant throughout all of 2020 (https://tradingeconomics.com/south-korea/unemployment-rate)—unemployment was about 4% at the beginning of the year and it is about 4% now. They did not have the massive economic disruption because they did aggressive testing, isolating and contact tracing.
The US could have (should have) done that too. Countries in Europe (Germany for instance) did a shut down and then a few weeks or so later they opened back up again because they are doing aggressive testing, isolating, and tracing.
So this person in the video is correct in that a shutdown is not the only way to respond to a serious contagious illness.
But COVID-19 is not "just the flu". It looks to have a case fatality rate 5x higher than the flu, at .5% (flu is .1%). So that is a lot more deaths than the flu. Society should not simply accept that.
Also, unlike the flu, health care workers cannot protect themselves against Covid 19. There is no vaccine. So no one can protect themselves. If there was no flu vaccine and everyone was exposed to the flu every year, 3 million people in the US would die of the flu every year.
The flu is not a problem of this magnitude only because there is a vaccine: health care workers can protect themselves pretty well with a vaccine; vulnerable people or people who don't want to get the flu can protect themselves reasonably well with a vaccine.
But it is immoral to stand by and do nothing and expect health care workers to get sick and die trying to care for people with COVID-19. So that is why, in the absence of a vaccine, in the absence of a robust public health (test, isolate, and trace) response, a lockdown is the only other option.
South Korea, Germany, New Zealand and many other countries have done this robust public health response. The lack of it in the US is why we have this economic disruption. It was not inevitable that this would happen. Indeed, COVID-19 could still be contained if there is an effective, robust public health (test, isolate, and trace) response this summer.

The following graph should give us some information about what to expect:

Subject: My thanks and some information on the Coronavirus science and politcs

Dear Dr. Fauci,

Thank you for you continued efforts to explain the science related to COVID-19 to President Trump and Americans. The majority of Americans have great respect for you and your colleagues.

Trump thinks coronavirus vaccines in pharmaceutical trials should be given to all Americans without having been properly tested and approved. He wants a warp speed high risk human experiment. This would be unhealthy, dangerous, unsafe, and unwise.

Any pharmaceutical company that produces vaccines and participates in this type of experiment on Americans will subject themselves to huge lawsuits if people get sick or die in this proposed program. U.S. Congressmen, Senators, and Governors who support this should be held accountable.

Trump opposes more coronavirus testing because he doesn't want U.S. cases to increase. Evidently he thinks U.S. cases may be increasing. Already, U.S. cases represent about a third of global cases and about 28 percent of global deaths.

Additionally, President Trump's son said this: "Eric Trump claimed Saturday that the coronavirus will "magically" vanish after the November election and allow the country to fully reopen — an assertion that has no basis in science and is contradicted by health experts worldwide." (Washington Post)

Additionally, Trump's comparison of his Warp Speed proposal to the Manhattan Project to develop a nuclear bomb is idiotic.

And read this thoughtful writing from Conservatives for Responsible Stewardship:

Every Breath Matters: Pollution & COVID-19 http://www.conservativestewards.org/every-breath-matters-pollution-covid-19/
by djenkins | President, Conservatives for Responsible Stewardship/ May 4, 2020

Nothing quite sharpens one's focus on the importance of clean air quite like a respiratory illness that exploits lungs damaged—and made more vulnerable—by pollution.

A recent study out of Harvard found that even a small increase in long-term exposure to air pollution significantly increases one's risk of dying from COVID-19. The study focuses specifically on exposure to fine particulate matter ($PM_{2.5}$), which includes the visible air pollution from vehicle exhaust and coal-fired power plants.

These tiny particles of pollution are able to travel deep into one's respiratory tract and reach the lungs. Exposure to $PM_{2.5}$ is already known to cause inflammation and cellular damage. Evidence suggests that it may also suppress early immune response to infection. This pollution has been linked to many of the pre-existing conditions that increase mortality among those with COVID-19.

The Harvard study, which analyzed 3,080 counties across the U.S., found that coronavirus patients in areas that had high levels of air pollution before the pandemic are more likely to die from the infection than patients in parts of the country with cleaner air.

This should be a huge wake-up call to all of us, especially those who have not previously been concerned all that much about air pollution and how it affects their health. The study gives added urgency to expanding our use of renewable energy and electric vehicles (EVs). Having cheap, reliable, and clean electricity is important in the best of times, but it becomes most critical in times like these, where we face fear, uncertainty, and economic hardship.

The energy market has changed dramatically in recent years, with solar energy emerging as the lowest cost option in most of the country. Solar is even beating the price of coal and gas generation when combined with battery storage for night generation. In fact, coal and gas generation is now double or triple the cost of new solar+storage.

In the Western U.S., electricity from solar+storage is selling for around $25 per megawatt hour (MWh), while electricity from aging coal plants cost between $60 and $84 per MWh.

That is a huge disparity. One that could make a real difference on utility bills for folks who are experiencing economic hardship, as many currently are due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

This pandemic also underscores how important energy security is to our health and safety. Electricity runs ventilators, monitors, and other equipment critical to saving lives. It also, of course, runs heating and cooling systems that we all—including COVID-19 patients—depend on, whether at home or in a hospital.

Thank you again for all you are doing in these stressful times. Scientists and informed and concerned Americans appreciate it very much.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I'm an average American citizen who like many thinking people am appalled about the politics that Mr. trump is playing, although I'm not at all surprised, because that's what he does. His holding back of funds to states that he doesn't approve of, like New York State, may be because the state is looking into all of his nefarious dealings while he lived here and/or the tax returns that he's hiding, among other biases.

Intelligent people who care about their fellow citizens want trump out of office for all the destruction he has caused. This country, this democracy is at stake, and this average American citizen is asking you publicly endorse Joe Biden as the election nears. I don't know Joe Biden personally, but I do know about the National Health issues that he worked on alongside President Obama and I also know that he will put this country first, and not just use those words as a tagline.

Note that I am not part of Joe Biden's campaign. This is about the need to bring back decency, fairness and analytical thinking. I am not sure if you're allowed to say that you have a preference, but why not, you pay taxes! Everyone hears trump repeatedly trying to undermine your analysis and prognosis of Covid19, but thankfully, the vast majority of Americans value hearing your expertise and would love to see you working with an administration that fully respects what do you and what you say. The American public does trust you and that is a fact.

The Obama administration had a pandemic team in place and I believe that the Biden administration will bring that team back, so that when the next pandemic occurs, intellect and experience won't be questioned.

Respectfully and with admiration,

Subject: Covid-19 Virus
Importance: High

Dr. Fauci,
First, let me THANK YOU for resisting Trump's attempts to embroil you in matters of partisan politics and for being THE primary voice of reason throughout this entire epidemic, a person of values and integrity that we look to for being a proponent of science and evidence over quick-fixes, scams, and misleading, untruthful , or unproven, possibly unsafe, theories.I feel I am speaking for the vast majority of Americans, regardless of party affiliation, when I say this.
Second, I have yet to hear a scientist or doctor factor in SMOKING to those tested POSITIVE for COVID-19 in any country. Have any statistics been developed demonstrating that smoking/vaping has or hasn't been a major factor in who tests positive and who doesn't, or, the severity of the symptoms. If this hasn't been done, WHY NOT? If the most serious symptoms of the virus affects the lungs, wouldn't it be prudent to know whether those who had the most severe symptoms were smokers or not? If it has been done, what are the RESULTS?
I'm not a scientist or a physician, but rather a retired (b) (6) middle school social studies teacher who always emphasized the importance of CRITICAL THINKING in the learning process. I have to say, I've been shocked by what appears to be a lack of media & medical coverage about any possible relationship of smoking to COVID-19.
I'm hoping you can enlighten me as to any scientific data that proves one way or the other whether or not SMOKING /VAPING by an individual--young or old--played a critical role in being more susceptible to the disease, severity of symptoms, recovery time and death rate. It would seem to me to be valid and important questions to ask.
I'm really hoping I receive a direct reply from you because I think America deserves an honest and immediate answer to my questions whether it's yea or nay. If it is a major factor, perhaps fewer Americans would choose to smoke or vape. Wouldn't that be a REAL POSITIVE OUTCOME ("silver lining") to emerge from such a catastrophic epidemic?
Again, thank you for your service to our country through many administrations and want you to know how much I sympathize with you when it comes to working with the current administration that has provided such woeful leadership, put so many roadblocks in your path, and has continually rejected common sense and science.

Your present course is putting your political and personal beliefs and goals first. This is unconscionable. I know that you have a monetary interest in vaccines and I know that your political beliefs and leanings are anti President Trump. These beliefs and leanings are anti the good of our country however. You know that the Chinese communists and their authoritarian regime oppose and hate our government and our beliefs of freedom. You know, as an intelligent man, that this is true. Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

I respect all you've done to this point in the Covid-19 pandemic. At this point I believe you need to step away from President Trump's task force. He continually contradicts what you've testified to in the Senate. It's very difficult to watch you standing behind the President during briefings when he's lying. I believe you'd be a stronger leader going forward as a private citizen.

Dear Friend,
Let's talk about testing.
This week, while in Pennsylvania, the president of the United States said the following:

> "More testing only reveals more infections and therefore increases the numbers. In a way, by doing all this testing we make ourselves look bad.

He had that half right: more testing does reveal more infections. However, lack of testing does not mean that infections aren't out there. It means we have no clue who is infected and who isn't or where the virus is spreading in the community.
Testing is a diagnostic tool that helps us fight this pandemic, individually and as a society, with our eyes wide open.
Testing is a fundamental component of controlling the spread of COVID-19 enough to reopen our communities safely. We cannot begin to reopen businesses and schools unless we understand the extent to which the virus is still circulating. That requires us to test all infected people and any close contacts they may have.
So far, the United States has been slow to ramp up our testing levels, and our testing capacity is still lower than it needs to be. The World Health Organization (WHO), which provides essential information and technical assistance needed by independent nations to make their own educated decisions, has stated that a positive rate below 10 percent reflects sufficient testing – any higher, and the indication is that the U.S. is missing many active infections and only testing the sickest patients seeking medical care.

Currently in the U.S., roughly 13 percent of COVID-19 tests come back as positive. This past week, the U.S. average over 321,500 test performed each day. Many public health experts estimate that the U.S. would need to double or triple the number of tests performed each day to identify comprehensively those infected so they can be isolated and no longer spread the virus to others. Of course, any testing effort must be paired with aggressive contact tracing in order to trac the scale of infection in the community, isolate the sick, and quarantine those who have been exposed.

By the numbers, at least 10 countries most impacted by COVID-19 have higher per capita testing rates than the U.S., including Russia, German and the United Kingdom. No, we do not lead the world in testing, as the White House has proclaimed. A major reason that we continue to lag behind, despite having the highest number of COVID-19 cases in the world, is the absence of a detailed, consistent federal strategy to get states the supplies and guidance they need to conduct testing effectively.

Illinois Gov. J.B Pritzker described the situation:

> "We're competing against each other. We're competing against other countries. You know, it's a wild west, I would say, out there. And indeed, we're overpaying, I would say, for (personal protective equipment), because of that competition ... This should have been a coordinated effo by the federal government."

Maryland, like many states in the U.S., has struggled to procure all the materials needed to perform diagnostic COVID-19 tests. A lab must have nasal swabs, viral transport media, and chemical assays and reagents in order to run a COVID-19 test properly. Due to an unreliable supply chain, states continue to have difficulty sourcing all of these components in high enough quantities, which severely limits their ability to perform diagnostic tests.

This week, President Trump announced that the federal government would provide states with 12.9 million swabs and almost 10 million tubes of viral transport media to help states test at least 2 percent of their population. That's a first step, but what about the reagents needed to analyze the patients' samples to determine if they are COVID-19 positive? Without them swabs and viral transport media are of little use. States will be unable to perform substantial testing until they have all of the necessary components. To great fanfare, our state procured 500,000 test components from South Korea, only a small fraction of which have been utilized because the other needed pieces have been more difficult to find.

Only the federal, Executive Branch can solve the underlying problems of coordination in the supply chain.

As the president touts how he is restocking the Strategic National Stockpile for "the next pandemic," his administration is neglecting its responsibility to help our country navigate the current pandemic, with devastating consequences. The absence of federal leadership has stalled the Nation's public health response and that will hinder our economic recovery.

The conflicting messages between federal health experts and the president about when it is safe to reopen local economies only makes it more difficult and more frustrating for the American people.

Our economy is hurting right now – the Labor Department recently announced that the U.S. unemployment rate has surged to a level unseen since the Great Depression. President Trump has pushed for shelter-in-place measures to be lifted as a means of stimulating the economy, but surveys have found that the majority of Americans wouldn't eat in a restaurant, go to the movies, or return to a shopping mall even if they were told they could. That tells us that the economic turmoil we are experiencing is driven primarily by Americans' fear, independent of their states' policies, that going outside will result in illness.

We can only alleviate that fear by giving the public the confidence that we have this pandemic under control; that confidence will be directly tied to testing. That's why the federal government must partner with states to aggressively increase this country's testing capacity.

I will continue to push for a comprehensive, national testing strategy so that we can help Marylanders and all Americans feel safe again, return to work and school again when safe, and protect our country's future.

Your friend,

Ben Cardin

Hi Alyssa and Devin,
For my newsletter tomorrow I am writing an item that compares how Drs Fauci and Birx operate inside the White House.
In good faith, I wanted to give you visibility of the key raw details I reported. If you would like to comment, my deadline is 2pmET tomorrow.
Have a great weekend.
Best, Jonathan, 202.390.7353
- On Good Friday, President Trump polled his doctors about the World Health Organization. In a Situation Room meeting, he asked his top medical experts, Dr. Deborah Birx, Dr. Anthony Fauci and Dr. Robert Redfield, what they thought about the troubled institution.
- In the Situation Room, Birx was very critical of the WHO and its relationship with China. She said the institution badly needed reform, according to two sources in the room. In her subsequent TV appearances, however, Birx sang a different tune. She was far less harsh about the WHO than she was behind closed doors, according to one official.
- Fauci, however, was more ambivalent in the Situation Room meeting. He started out by saying the WHO is an imperfect organization but he also praised its director-general, Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus.Fauci said Tedros is a good guy, he likes him and he's known him a long time. The president intervened to ask, but how are they on China? Fauci replied, "The WHO director has a China problem," according to a source in the room.

- Another source who was in the room recalled the president replied something to the effect of: Tony, you're burying the lede here, come on, Tony! "Then the whole room laughed," the source said. "At that point there was a unanimous view that the WHO listens to China too much."
- Between the lines: The episode highlights the starkly different approaches Birx and Fauci have taken to wielding influence in the Trump White House.
- While Fauci has become a celebrated figure with immense popular support, in the building he has scant sway over the president's actual decisions. And though some conservative activists call for Fauci's firing online and on TV and talk radio, the reality is he's less influential in the White House than Birx.
- Birx is far from a folk hero. Her public praise of the president has drawn her criticism from the left as a brown-noser and a hack. But internally, she has more sway than Fauci. One veteran official described her as a consummate Washington D.C operator.
- Colleagues say she strategically emphasizes the points that Trump wants to hear. And she can play multiple angles on any given issue.
- Birx will in one situation speak warmly about her decades-long working relationship with CDC head Robert Redfield and will praise the great work of the CDC. And in other instances she will excoriate the CDC and its data in front of the entire task force.
- Officials who argued for a faster reopening credited Birx for playing an important role in convincing Trump in late March to buck his instincts and extend social distancing guidelines an extra 30 days. He soon undermined that advice by encouraging protesters to "liberate" themselves from their governors' rules.
- Officials describe Fauci as less adept at internal politics than Birx.
- Officials say the #FireFauci rage is utterly misguided. Trump nods along, but the idea that he's being guided by Fauci is absurd. He's listened to Fauci on some matters — for instance, Fauci was very aggressive in telling Trump not to pursue a herd immunity strategy like the United Kingdom — but on many other issues, Trump has ignored Fauci's advice.
- Trump has publicly contradicted Fauci's assessments of America's testing capabilities. Last week, he said Fauci had not given an "acceptable answer" in his Senate testimony when he raised concerns about reopening schools. And Trump repeatedly contradicted Fauci on the merits of the drug hydroxychloroquine.
- Trump has privately joked about how Fauci is "friends with Fredo," (Trump's nickname for CNN anchor Chris Cuomo) and he's publicly joked about how Fauci could win a primary against AOC.
- "They seem to have a great relationship, they joke around," a senior administration official said. The official said that in a Situation Room meeting Trump said something to the effect of, 'Tony, you give the gloom and doom and I'll give people hope. Tony you depress them and I'll lift them up. We can take this show on the road.' Trump told Fauci he loved him, "and Tony said, 'I love you too Mr. President'," the official said.

I am writing in response to President Trump's speech given yesterday, Friday May 15th. On behalf of the American people I offer my deepest apologies to you for having to endure such disregard by the President. It seemed to me that your presence was not even acknowledged as the President took the podium and spoke as though he had the top authority on the details of this pandemic. As a fellow Doctor, having also graduated from Cornell University Medical College(in 1955 one of only two women in a class of 78 students), I respect your professional opinion and medical knowledge in regards to our current situation across the world. Hmmmmmm

This is ominous

Alienating the chinese will have repercussions.

I already see that Poland is cut off from mask supplies, some European countries were complaining, now the Chinese won't export to them (masks) at all.

This latest thing about blocking chips (semi conductors), i get it.

But the fact is its too late, the industrial base in America is already eviscerated, not so much by chinese stratagem but solely due to greedy nature of American corporates.

I call it selling the golden goose.

Look at any laptop, router, monitor, tv, modem in your house (or office)...

Then i found this washington post article, https://www.washingtonpost.com/opinions/global-opinions/think-we-have-military-primacy-over-china-think-again/2020/05/12/268e1bba-948b-11ea-9f5e-56d8239bf9ad_story.html

American strength or any nation's strength is directly proportional to its morality. I am not going to say the Chinese are immoral, because they still have an honor based culture.

I still recall in high school, one of my anthropology/history teachers and we had a disccusion on the topic of honor. I held the view that honor was/is important, but he as a Canadian dismissed the notion, and pretty much was saying western society has no concept of honor (any more).

The other odd thing i learned today, that GSK a rather large company in RTP, had arab leaders both in Pharmaceuticals and Vaccine R&D...

I foresee a day when America will have no friends left.

I was talking with Johnny and he and both agreed, this administration alienated Canada and Europe too...

I get it, i am not the only guy ignored. I seen what happened to Dr Bright, or the man who had mask factories (in the US).

That part doesn't bother me, i know i was "going against the grain".

And i known einsteins quote from 8th grade, "great minds have always encountered opposition for mediocre minds."

That is part of the process.

What i see could realistically happen, China says sorry no more iphones.

They already have factories that make them and pretty much all the components except the OS.

Even banning them from Google Android meant they now are making their own OS technology.

I also found the Republican political strategy is to "attack china", i am sure they mean this rhetorically.

But the "blow back" is they will attack us economically.

I don't want a war to happen, a real one or a trade one.

But i think Trump was not astute as a diplomat, and let's not forget that who owns his office building...

What will happen to next generation of Americans?

If we are smart we have to realize the opportunities are in Asia.

As i see the wisdom of American culture is now tone deaf to the fact, "Godliness makes a nation great".

So perhaps the KGB demoralization strategy had a greater effect than we can ever truly comprehend.

And let's not forget the overlooked debt, mathematical certainty...

I wish i had a more optimistic assessment, i am not a pessimistic person, but i try to be realistic and not idealistic.

"Make America great again!"

What a defeatist slogan it is

So shallow without any introspection as to how to acheive this?

"Godliness makes a nation great."

But i am shockingly not shocked if the politburo marxists would actually censor such a maxim, surely such wisdom we are not taught in the schools, colleges or universities.

Anyways I'll stick to my herbal research.

- peace

I am a 61 year old retired nurse. I live in California. I have been following your doings closely since March.

Please don't leave your current position. You are one of the few individuals I trust to guide our nation through this pandemic.

I consider myself to be apolitical. I have been embarrassed by Mr. Trump's response during this time. I am fully aware we must balance economic health and the health of our fellow citizens. But his behavior is causing me great concern.

Please don't leave your position. I am hoping that Dr. Bright and yourself can get us through the unforeseen future.

I appreciate all you do on my behalf. I do respect and appreciate the character and professionalism you possess.

You need to be investigated. Very curious of your motives. Curve has flattened!! People stayed at home to make that happen now how dare you say that this should all continue until there is a cure. Keep the old like yourself at home as well as those with compromised systems and let the others LIVE their lives. More risk of me tripping in a parking light hitting my head as I navigate while wearing a mask than me dying from COVID. The goal was NOT to stop people from getting this virus but to protect the hospitals so they could handle the vulnerable. I thought you were professional but now it is evident you have an agenda.

When you are not in the presence of trump you say things that reflect the motivation you have had up to this point. Subject: Suggestion to definitively establish transmission of coronavirus by aerosol

Dear Dr. Fauci:

Thank you so much for being a voice of reason in our current struggle with the novel coronavirus pandemic, and for keeping a straight face while president Trump ignores public health officials and recommends ingestion of cleaning agents.

I am a retired physician researcher who spent my career studying tuberculosis. I have no expertise in coronavirus, but wonder if it has been definitively determined whether it can be transmitted by aerosol. From what I see online, there is one report of extensive spread from someone singing in a choir, and studies showing that viral RNA can be detected in the air around some coronavirus patients. While these findings are suggestive, I believe that more definitive data should be obtained, since this has major public health implications in terms of the precautions that should be taken by health care workers and the general public.

If there is a mouse or other small animal model of coronavirus infection acquired through the respiratory route, it should be possible to perform experiments such as those done by Riley and colleagues in the 1950s and 1960s to establish aerosol transmission of tuberculosis, by exposing animals to air piped from the rooms of coronavirus patients. Although these experiments are low-tech and not cutting-edge, if aerosol transmission has not been definitively demonstrated, perhaps they would be worthwhile. If such studies are already in the works, that is fantastic! If not, I would greatly appreciate it if you would consider the possibility of using some of NIAID's resources to address this question. Thanks very much for your consideration.

Broad sections of German society were greatly alarmed when Donald Trump was inaugurated President of the US. His Corona policy might turn out to be the biggest mistake in his time in office, because he disregards every scientific advice; clearly he is not able to understand the seriousness of the situation worldwide, especially in the US. It is pointless to puzzle over the question of wether he is once more in his irrational election mode or simply too stupid to understand the complexity how everything fits together. Most recently he became a serious danger to the health of people in America with his recommendation that they inject themseles with disinfectant.

We have seen time and again here in Germany that you have spoken up undeterred for an approriate way of dealing with Corona in the Corona Pandemic. However, allow me to put the question as to why you haven't given up long ago the role of the most well known advisors to he President and instead have publicy declared that President Trump is resistant to advide.

My personal wish would be that not only renowned psychiatrists should declare him ill but also that renowned scientists should state in public that the president of the United states is acting against all the basic rules of scientifically based health policy. I realize that there is a risk that you would loose your position. But what you would gain international recogniton!

Subject: Conservative Opposition to 'Buy American' Mandates and Support for Pro-Growth Alternatives

Dear White House Officials -

As the Executive Director of Trade Alliance to Promote Prosperity (TAPP), I wanted to share our strong opposition to the rumored 'Buy American' Executive Order.

First, I'd like to assert our strong support of President Trump's rapid response to combating the Coronavirus during this pandemic and our fundamental agreement with the notion that the United States must avoid relying on one country for critical medical manufacturing. However, there is unified consensus with conservative activists and free market economists that it makes much more sense to address this problem through proactive incentives rather than reactive mandates.

Along those lines, Rep. Chip Roy (R-TX) has introduced creative legislation designed to encourage medical and pharmaceutical manufacturing to relocate to the U.S. by providing potent tax incentives in place of an inappropriate use of government force. Roy's "BEAT CHINA Act" (H.R. 6690) would allow companies to fully expense their relocation of plant and equipment in the first year, instead of having to depreciate such investments over a 39-year timeframe.

We urge you to please reconsider moving forward with a Buy American EO and support Chip Roy's pro-growth solution to this problem.

Thank you for your attention to this issue. Please feel free to contact me with any questions or comments.

Be well,

Sara

[on mutations in RdRP in Indian isolates]

https://www.biorxiv.org/content/10.1101/2020.05.05.079939v2

Viral RNA-dependent RNA polymerases (RdRp) perform viral genome duplication and RNA synthesis. Therefore, we compared the available RdRp sequences of SARS-CoV-2 from Indian isolates and 'Wuhan wet sea food market virus' sequence to identify, if any, variation between them. We report seven mutations observed in Indian SARS-CoV-2 isolates and three unique mutations that showed changes in the secondary structure of the RdRp protein at region of mutation. We also studied molecular dynamics using normal mode analyses and found that these mutations alter the stability of RdRp protein. Therefore, we propose that RdRp mutations in Indian SARS-CoV-2 isolates might have functional consequences that can interfere with RdRp targeting pharmacological agents.

There is evidence that HCQ may be safe during pregnancy, with previous research finding no increased risk of, prematurity, fetal death, retinopathy, low birth weight, stillbirth, or congenital defects[2-4]. However, there is also evidence that HCQ could result in fetal harm with a recent meta-analysis finding an association between HCQ use and spontaneous abortion3 and small for gestational age[5]. Therefore, clinicians may be faced with the difficult decision of deciding whether to treat their pregnant COVID-19 patients with HCQ.

we found 7.1% positivity for anti-SARS/CoV-2 IgG (3 of 127 subjects) or IgM (6 of 127). While we do not claim this small immune survey is broadly representative of metro Atlanta, and we have greater confidence in the IgG results, which had only 2.4% positivity, it nonetheless demonstrates that persons with antibodies to SARS/CoV-2, who've not suspected they'd been exposed to this virus, can readily be found in various Atlanta area neighborhoods (9 positives were in 8 zip codes). Accordingly, these results support the notion that dissemination of the virus is more widespread than testing would indicate but also suggests that most persons in metro Atlanta remain vulnerable to this virus.

Results A total of 197 patients completed chloroquine treatment, and 176 patients were included as historical controls. The median time to achieve an undetectable viral RNA was shorter in chloroquine than in non-chloroquine (absolute difference in medians -6.0 days; 95% CI -6.0 to -4.0). The duration of fever is shorter in chloroquine (geometric mean ratio 0.6; 95% CI 0.5 to 0.8). No serious adverse events were observed in the chloroquine group. A single vaccination with ChAdOx1 nCoV-19 induced a humoral and cellular immune response in rhesus macaques. We observed a significantly reduced viral load in bronchoalveolar lavage fluid and respiratory tract tissue of vaccinated animals challenged with SARS-CoV-2 compared with control animals, and no pneumonia was observed in vaccinated rhesus macaques. Importantly, no evidence of immune-enhanced disease following viral challenge in vaccinated animals was observed. ChAdOx1 nCoV-19 is currently under investigation in a phase I clinical trial. Safety, immunogenicity and efficacy against symptomatic PCR-positive COVID-19 disease will now be assessed in randomised controlled human clinical trials.

Both platforms demonstrate comparable performance; however the run times for each assay are 3.5 hours and 45 minutes, respectively. In search for a platform with shorter turnaround time, we sought to evaluate the recently released Abbott ID NOW COVID-19 assay which is capable of producing positive results in as little as 5 minutes. We present here the result comparisons between Abbot ID NOW COVID-19 and Cepheid Xpert Xpress SARS-CoV-2 using nasopharyngeal swabs transported in VTM as well as dry nasal swabs for the Abbott assay. Regardless of method of collection and sample type, Abbot ID NOW COVID-19 missed a third of the samples detected positive by Cepheid Xpert Xpress when using NP swabs in VTM and over 48% when using dry nasal swabs.

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I'm an average American citizen who like many thinking people am appalled about the politics that Mr. trump is playing, although I'm not at all surprised, because that's what he does. His holding back of funds to states that he doesn't approve of, like New York State, may be because the state is looking into all of his nefarious dealings while he lived here and/or the tax returns that he's hiding, among other biases.

Intelligent people who care about their fellow citizens want trump out of office for all the destruction he has caused. This country, this democracy is at stake, and this average American citizen is asking you publicly endorse Joe Biden as the election nears. I don't know Joe Biden personally, but I do know about the National Health issues that he worked on alongside President Obama and I also know that he will put this country first, and not just use those words as a tagline.

Note that I am not part of Joe Biden's campaign. This is about the need to bring back decency, fairness and analytical thinking. I am not sure if you're allowed to say that you have a preference, but why not, you pay taxes! Everyone hears trump repeatedly trying to undermine your analysis and prognosis of Covid19, but thankfully, the vast majority of Americans value hearing your expertise and would love to see you working with an administration that fully respects what do you and what you say. The American public does trust you and that is a fact.

The Obama administration had a pandemic team in place and I believe that the Biden administration will bring that team back, so that when the next pandemic occurs, intellect and experience won't be questioned.

Respectfully and with admiration,

Dear Dr. Fauci:

I hope this finds you well during your self quarantine. First and foremost, thank you for your service.

Below, Dr. Bright is indicating we could be in for "the longest winter in history". This certainly is cause for concern and it would be nice if we could act as the UNITED States rather than fragmented states.

I have cc'd a former professor of mine from U. Chicago who's an expert in evolutionary biology. He's the author of "Evolution and medicine". https://www.amazon.com/Evolution-Medicine-Robert-Perlman/dp/0199661723/ref=nodl_

I wonder if it might be appropriate for you to publish a column in The Wall Street Journal (The Times may be perceived as you preaching to the choir) and dispel myths about your quest for power. Also, perhaps explain to detractors who insist the dangers of C19 are minimal outside of nursing homes and meat packing plants. You may wish for dual authorship with a conservative economist (Larry Lindsey at AEI?) and show empathy and possible solutions with regard to moving forward.

Hang tough and to all in the business of promoting good health and saving lives, thank you.

Whistleblower: US still lacks virus plan, Americans at risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite White House claims, the U.S. still lacks a comprehensive battle plan against the coronavirus in critical areas including masks, testing, treatments and vaccines, whistleblower Rick Bright warned Thursday in testimony before a House committee. “Our window of opportunity is closing,” he declared.

The nation could face “the darkest winter in modern history” if the virus rebounds, the government vaccine scientist told lawmakers. Bright’s appearance came after his ouster last month as head of a Health and Human Services biodefense agency, an action he alleges was retaliation by the Trump administration.

“We need still a comprehensive plan, and everyone across the government and everyone in America needs to know what that plan is, and what role they play,” he told the House Energy and Commerce Committee. “There are critical steps that we need to do to prepare ... we do not still have enough personal protective equipment to manage our health care workers ... we still do not have the supply chains ramped up for the drugs and vaccines, and we still don't have plans in place for how we distribute those drugs and vaccines. We still do not have a comprehensive testing strategy."

At the White House, President Donald Trump said Bright looked like an "angry, disgruntled employee," and Bright's boss, HHS Secretary Alex Azar, said, "Everything he is complaining about was achieved."

"So this is like somebody who was in a choir and is now trying to say he was a soloist back then," Azar added.

Trump, said later, at a Pennsylvania medical equipment distributor, that the U.S. is ramping up production of COVID-19-related items and that his goal "is to produce everything America needs for ourselves and then export to the world, including medicines."

Bright spoke in measured tones and rarely raised his voice during five hours of questioning. He didn't question the fact that there's now an all-out effort, financed by billions in taxpayer dollars, to procure masks and other supplies, develop better tests and treatments and discover an effective vaccine. His point was that those efforts aren't being fitted together in a coherent strategy that will get supplies and medicines to where they're most needed to protect people and prevent shortages and price gouging.

Asked by Rep. Joe Kennedy, D-Mass., if administration officials have prepared the country for the "moment we are in" and the months ahead, Bright responded, "I think we have a lot of work to do to be prepared."

Rep. Frank Pallone, D-N.J., asked if he should be concerned that Americans will have problems getting access to a vaccine when it's available. Bright responded, "Absolutely, sir."

Bright, a career official, alleges he was removed as head of the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority after repeatedly warning higher-ups the virus outbreak was going to be worse than the public was being led to believe.

He said the breaking point came when he opposed a White House directive to allow widespread access to hydroxychloroquine, a malaria drug Trump was touting as an effective treatment.

The FDA recently warned against its use for COVID-19, except in limited circumstances. But at the White House on Thursday, the president was still bullish. "We've had tremendous response to the hydroxy," Trump said. "So, a lot of people have sworn by it, and we'll see."

Republican lawmakers for the most part were careful not to attack Bright directly. But Rep. Markwayne Mullin of Oklahoma criticized him for continuing to collect his $285,000 salary while first on sick leave for a spike in blood pressure, and now on vacation as he tries to straighten out his work situation.

“You’re too sick to go into work, but you’re well enough to come here while getting paid,” said Mullin. “I have a hard time understanding that.”

Bright said one of the worst moments as he tried to raise alarms came when repeated efforts to jump-start U.S. production of respirator masks went nowhere.

He recalled getting emails in late January from Mike Bowen, an executive at a medical supply company called Prestige Ameritech, indicating that its N95 mask supply was “completely decimated.”

“And he said: ‘We’re in deep shit. The world is. And we need to act,’” Bright said. “And I pushed that forward to the highest levels I could in HHS and got no response. From that moment I knew that we were going to have a crisis for our health care workers because we were not taking action.”

Following Bright to the witness table, Bowen told lawmakers he’s a Republican who voted for Trump. He paused then, and added that he admires Bright.

As part of his whistleblower complaint, Bright is seeking to be reinstated in his old job. A federal watchdog agency has found “reasonable grounds” that he was removed as a reprisal.

HHS, Bright’s employer, says it strongly disagrees with his allegations and says it reassigned him to a high-profile position helping to lead the development of new coronavirus tests at the National Institutes of Health.

Nearly 85,000 people have died from COVID-19 in the U.S., representing more than one-fourth of global deaths and the world's highest toll, according to figures compiled by Johns Hopkins University. Worldwide more than 4.4 million have been infected and about 300,000 have died.

Bright's testimony followed this week's warning by Dr. Anthony Fauci, the government's top infectious disease expert, that a rushed lifting of store-closing and stay-at-home restrictions could "turn back the clock," seeding more suffering and death and complicating efforts to get the economy rolling again.

Eager to restart the U.S. economy, Trump has been urging states to lift restrictions, and many governors are doing so gradually, though consumers remain leery of going back to restaurants, social events and sporting competitions.

Bright, who has a doctoral degree in immunology, said the nation's path forward should be based on science. The steps include:

— Establishing a national testing strategy. The White House has urged states to take the lead on testing, even as the federal government pushes to make more tests and better ones widely available. Trump says the U.S. has "prevailed" on testing through this strategy, but in Congress Democrats are demanding a federal framework to encompass the whole nation.

— Doubling down on educating the public about basic safety measures such as frequent hand-washing and wearing masks in public places. "Frankly, our leaders must lead by modeling the behavior," said Bright, in a not-too-subtle reference to a president who conspicuously goes maskless.

— Setting up a system to fairly distribute equipment and supplies that are scarce and highly sought. Eliminating state vs. state competition would increase efficiency and reduce costs.

I've been a little reluctant to do that because of what I assumed must be a flood of comments and advice that you are getting in your role on the task force. I attach the message to Jon below and I hope that some of the thoughts are useful and maybe a little comforting for you. With my very warmest regards and best wishes,

Dear Jon: Greetings from (b) (6) . Congratulations on your interview with Tony Fauci. I have to admit that, until a couple of weeks ago, I have been quite critical of Tony's apparent acquiescence with so much dangerous, incorrect and politically motivated misinformation from the administration. I feared that the upside-down explanations from the administration had the effect of destroying the concepts and tenets of epidemiology and even rationalizing a completely wrong concept of communicable disease that holds that it is unnecessary to screen for carriers in an epidemic but only important to screen symptomatic people. That is upside-down from what we all know about dealing with epidemics and has even been endorsed by Trump, Pence and other members of the COVID-19 task force. It seems to have become a new normal concept of communicable disease management. Like so many things in the Trump era, facts and history are thrown out the window and replaced by governmentally espoused but obviously wrong concepts. We assume to be preparing to completely deny established concepts of communicable disease - screen only the prime suspects or the afflicted. In conversations with colleagues here I wondered "where is Tony Fauci?" They suggested that he must be quietly and heroically working hard being the scenes and at his personal peril to educate our leaders rather than correcting them publicly. But I thought that, in desperate times, the public must hear and see clear truth and denials of lies. My concept of heroes are people who act at their personal peril - Rosa Parks, Martin Luther King, Martin Niemöller, Dietrich Bornhoffer, Thankfully, I think that the real Tony Fauci has emerged, obviously to his peril. I wish him good luck and survival. I find myself wondering what the responses will be to Trump's likely premature lifting of isolation and quarantining procedures and if the concept of disobeying illegal and unethical orders will survive the times.

In any event, good interview! (b) (6) . No surfing travels envisioned for now. All the best regards,

Ted

Hello Jon - Greetings from (b) (6) . It has been a long time since we last connected and talked about gene therapy, etc. and (b) (6)

I was very interested to read George Church's troublesome responses in your interview with him in Science and to see his ethical evaluation of He's CCR5 editing experiment in China. I'm not as generous to He as George seems to be and I think that this work is clearly unethical. George inexplicably conjures up the sad history of Jess Gelsinger and the effect of his death on the evolution of the field of gene therapy. Happily, he's right about the fact that gene therapy is now proving itself in a growing list of intractable diseases (underscored by the 2015 Japan Prize). That has happened because studies are now much more carefully designed and carried out. But sadly, we are in an environment in which some people conclude that human medical manipulations - gene therapy, genome editing, stem cell therapy - are ethical as long as they "work". The rationale is, "let's do the study and if it works and doesn't kill or otherwise harm, it's OK". It's not a post-factor evaluation that determines if an instance of human experimentation is ethical and permissible - it is the design of a study that determines if it is ethical or not. George should be reminded of that fact and should re-read the Helsinki declarations or similar codes of human experimentation.

In any event, your interview was fascinating. Best regards,

Ted Friedmann

Just wanted to share some thoughts. Since you are busy enough, no reply is necessary.

First, Kudos to your excellent, coherent, scientific advice in a dysfunctional White House that distrusts good rational guidance and fancies simplistic, irrational, farcical - even bizarre decisions.

Your clear thinking, honest opinions, and confident presentation has won you broad approval and respect across the country. POTUS and Sen. Paul, M.D. have not impressed at all in comparison.

I think your solid personal background tempered by (b) (6) exposures have made you an important resource in this extremely dangerous environment.

In fact, with you and Bob Redfield keeping the dim-witted Trump advisors challenged, I sleep better each night.

Dear Dr. Fauci,
Can you and your colleague Dr. Birx please convince President Trump and Ms. Betsy DaVos that all schools and colleges in America need massive changes to accommodate physical/social distancing before reopening campuses? As you have said, we are not safe until we have a vaccine for COVID and can ensure that everyone or almost everyone is vaccinated. We have learned that kids are a low risk age group for COVID, but if they were to get it while at school and then bring it home to grandma and grandpa and/or their parents, it would not be good at all. This is why it is so important that we implement these changes at all schools and colleges in America that accommodate physical/social distancing, which would include eliminating or limiting recess and assemblies, staggering schedules, and having all schools and colleges do Hybrid learning. Don't you and Dr. Birx agree?
Thank you again sir for everything you, Dr. Birx, President Trump, Vice President Pence, Ms. Betsy DaVos, all other doctors, public health officials, scientists, and the rest of The White House Coronavirus Task Force are doing to keep us all safe and healthy!! □

May 14, 2020

Dr. Anthony Fauci
Director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases
White House Coronavirus Task Force
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Dr. Fauci,

Allow me to introduce myself. (b) (6) . I am also an Inventor and hold Patents.

As a distinguished Member of the White House Coronavirus Task Force, I want alert your attention to my new Patent for an improved facial mask. There is no other competitive mask on the market.

A facial mask is more than a bandana and its unfettered use can help to prevent the spread of Covid-19, not only for medical professionals but for every day Americans seeking to return to the life we had before Covid-19.

The best medical advice is that facial masks are mandated to augment social distancing. The Governors of many states have urged their use in groceries stores, commerce and all manner of interpersonal conduct.

The problem with present day facial mask designs is that they are not regarded as a piece of clothing mandated by social etiquette, and are not easily laid aside between uses.

If the mask user elects to take the mask off (remove the mask) between uses his/her only alternative is to either fully remove the mask from the face or alternatively lower the mask while the straps are still secure around one or both ears.

Present designs do not allow the mask user to secure his/her mask to a worn protective garment or clothing between seeing patients or otherwise engaging in other tasks or social interaction.

An alternative for placement of the mask is needed without having to look for a location to place it and then having a fear of contamination or anxiety of relocating the mask.

President Donald J. Trump, Vice President Michael R. Pence and the Members of the Task force have set the standard for a return to normal life but the human urge to interact and for camaraderie without effective use of masks may push us back to square one.

We are going to be battling Covid-19 some time to come. It has been very difficult for some people to shelter in place, as well as social distance from one another. I respectfully suggest the Task Force initiate a new social campaign platform around the use of the mask. Please indulge me for a minute.

We have many different platforms that we socially promote. One of the best is "Click it or Ticket", for the use of seat belts. It is a campaign and slogan that has saved countless lives through its promotion.

A similar campaign needs to immediately started to use facial masks. Americans understand the importance of the mask, but the present design is cumbersome and uncomfortable to wear for extended periods of time.

My updated design provides an opportunity to promote and build a social platform that would be socially tolerable and acceptable to the American people during this time of crisis.

It should be socially acceptable to appear in public with a face mask, and to have one clipped to one's clothing during periods of non-use.

I am approaching the Task Force before going to any mask manufacture to look for a licensing agreement.

(b) (6), (b) (4)

My interest at this point is protect and save my country from any more loss of life. I have no doubt that we share the same objective. From day one, I have been an avid supporter of President Donald J. Trump. I believe that he will return our country to us, the one we all remember before this terrible virus invaded our country.

I have attached my Provisional Patent to this letter for your review. I remember not long ago when President Trump hosted a few some powerful business leaders. There were two who displayed great passion. Darius Adamczyk of Honeywell committed to producing 20 million mask per month to fight Covid-19, and Michael Lindell the CEO of My Pillow, who also committed to retool his factory to produce facial masks.

I believe that if the White House Coronavirus Task Force articulates my vision and has its suppliers collaborate the additional enhancement of improvements to their masks with my invention, we will use this improvement to immediately build a new social campaign to crush the curve and saves tens of thousands of lives.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Subject: Covid-19 and kids

Good morning, Dr. Fauci. I am writing because President Trump does not seem to understand the anxiety parents go through when he acts so cavalier about how this disease is effecting children and applies that attitude regarding return to school this fall. As a parent of a child with Type 1 Diabetes, I am especially concerned. But, when a new link to an inflammatory disease has been made, it makes it so much worse for parents to fathom. In addition to the information coming out of New York and various other locations here in the US, I see this headline:

Doctors in Italy have found a link between the coronavirus and the rare inflammatory disease seen in more than 100 children's hospital

Thank you for your medical leadership during these unprecedented times. We need logic right now, not an irrational response. You do not know how many people appreciate you!

Dear Dr. Fauci:

My wife and I would like you to know how much we respect you and your scientific opinions in this Coronavirus crisis. You are the person we listen to, not Trump. You are the person whose opinions we revere and respect, not Trump.

In our opinions, Trump is the antithesis of science. He and his "opinions" embody the ignorance of an age we thought was long past.

Hang in there. The country respects you. Please don't quit.

Dear Doctor Fauci,

I just wanted to thank you for speaking the truth to power. So many people find this difficult. When I watched you speak the truth to the Senate I was very proud.

When I watched Mr. Trump speak despairingly, about your truth I was disappointed.

Thank you and keep up the good work you do, we need more people like you.

Best regards,

Dear Dr Fauci,

Know you're busy, frustrated, etc etc, since you're on auto reply. I don't expect a reply. Just annoyed (understatement) at Trump's latest backlash towards you regarding children. If he fires you, I am certain the American people want to keep you on the job. Just thinking of the challenging road ahead:

Dear Dr. Fauci,

You will be too busy to read this, but I must write you anyhow to get it off my chest. First I want to thank you for your dedication to trying to help the country get a handle on COVID, and the supreme patience and temperance you have shown being in the middle of an overly politicalized process where everything is now seen in rigid either/or terms.

I am a retired (b) (6), and my heart goes out to ya, man, it really does. At the time of writing this, the Republicans are now trying to invalidate your professional recommendations, and I have no doubt, eventually the pressure will build to either get to you leave, and/or start bringing in other doctors and researchers to counter your research and opinions.

You appear to be a very even handed, level headed, bright, highly communicative, decent man, who must have the kind of skills I was trained in having in order to be thought so highly by your boss, who somehow believes his opinions "trump" your own. It's a sorry state of affairs we live in today Dr. Fauci, and you should get an award when this is all through for your medical research expertise and obvious empathic skills. There are a lot of people who don't envy you, but really do appreciate your diplomatic efforts and not abandoning your ethical regard for all for us. Don't let the bastards and numb skulls get you down, doc, and take good care of yourself.

Dear Dr. Fauci:

I am Canadian, but I have spent a great deal of time listening to you in your various appearances regarding Covid 19. I have truly appreciated the clear information that you have shared regarding what is known, and unknown, about the pandemic that has paralyzed our world. Thank you for your decades of commitment to public health. Thank you for your extraordinary efforts during this pandemic. Thank you for helping people like me safe in this unsafe environment.

As a Canadian, I am also deeply disturbed by the comments that are currently being made by Trump and his cronies. I sincerely hope that you will soon recuse yourself from being a member of an illogical and blindingly ignorant administration. You are too valuable a scientist to be involved with the circus that is known as Trump and his Fox cronies. Please protect yourself from the toxins that are running rampant in the White House.

Dear Dr Fauci - I hope you find the time to read this. I am so disgusted with the president who keeps giving medical advice without any training. He has no business giving advice or making unsubstantiated claims.

I want you to know that I trust your judgment explicitly without any misgivings whatsoever, and I will continue to listen and heed your advice. (b) (6) I've filled my gas tank twice since March!
I have my groceries and prescriptions delivered. I buy a lot on Amazon and when stores were out of meat, I mailed-ordered steaks and chicken from Omaha Steaks. I live in the woods with no neighbors, and my doctor appointments have been by videoconference. I'm not going anywhere. Nor do I let anyone come over except the guy who mows my lawn and plows. I'm even voting by absentee ballot this year. And when I do go out occasionally, I wear a mask.

I have had absolutely no covid-19 symptoms and that's why. I occupy my time reading history, biographies, true crime, I have two 20-gallon and one 55-gallon aquariums that keep me busy, and now I've taken up paint-by-numbers - all mail order. I watch you whenever you're on TV, and I listen to every word you say.

Please don't let Trump bully you. I was clapping for you when you stood up to Rand Paul on Tuesday. Please don't ever change, and know that the American public is on your side. We love you, Dr Fauci, and we believe in you. Unlike trump who says one stupid thing after another every time he opens his mouth. Inject bleach? Seriously? Who says something like that but a total idiot? My biggest fear is he'll be re-elected.

I'm proud of Governor Cuomo who is proceeding cautiously unlike other states that are opening up like a light switch. And now children and babies are being seriously affected and trump is not concerned.

God Bless you, Dr. Fauci. I hope this finds you well, and you don't become infected. I pray every day that you'll be okay and not come down with the virus.

The United States needs you.

Sincerely from the bottom of my heart -

It should be clear to you by now that you are being used by President Trump to prepare the US for his re-election and not to prepare all of the citizens of the US about the expected outcome of a premature opening of the economy. All of the facts and data are there including the Washington model which the CDC was promoting and is now dismissing because it does not provide happy results for the Trump plan. As a scientist which the country is relying on to speak truth to power, you need to resign from NIH and testify before both the House and Senate sub committees that have called you. I realize that Trump is a very vindictive man and you are committing professional suicide but I wouldn't be able to sleep nights thinking that I stood by while an extra 60,70 or 80 extra thousand people died because I did not offer an honest technical opinion.

I see no sign that Crookes Radiometer, a light mill, has ever been used as anything other than a toy. Is there a good reason why we haven't put a Radioisotope inside the partial vacuum? And instead of the classic Radiometer, use small cross flow fans with black faces and white faces to have the light mill effect but with a million times more momentum? And coupled all of that with small inductive motors on each end of the fan to transmit the electricity but not the radiation?

In the way that one discovery paves the way for another.
Could we not use the radioisotopic battery to open the way to Venus?
The planet has clouds of sulphuric acid. We just need to supply the lead.
If the radioisotope is Polonium-210, it decays into lead.

The flight time from Earth to Venus is 100 days.
The half life of Polonium-210 is 137 days.
1 gram of Polonium yields 140 watts of power density.
Using the amount of Polonium in current RTGs would be phenomenal.

Why have we not deployed Spot(™), with a seismic source small enough to be below the irritation threshold of larger animals, to roam around, find nests, and kick them?

Why have we not deployed a fake beehive with honey, vibrations, and sounds to attract the murder hornets?

Why have we not tried to use Sphaerularia vespae in Japan where it is indigenous in this context?

President Trump Ushers in SNS 2.0

President Trump's historic visit this week to Allentown and Upper Macungie Township, in Pennsylvania's scenic Lehigh Valley, ushers in a new era in the professional management of our Nation's stockpiles of essential medicines as well as critical medical supplies and equipment.

As we have learned from the current public health emergency, medicines like Propofol, medical supplies like N-95 respirators, surgical masks and gloves, and medical equipment like ventilators, are the critical strategic resources needed to fight emerging infectious diseases like SARS-CoV-2 from China, the cause of COVID-19 and other threats to our national security associated with chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear (CBRN) events.

In visiting Pennsylvania, the president toured a distribution center operated by Owens and Minor. This company has played a key role during the COVID-19 response in both the distribution of personal protective equipment (PPE) like masks and gowns as well as in PPE production.

State-of-the art distribution centers like that of Owens and Minor are an important part of the Trump Administration's strategic reboot of the Strategic National Stockpile (SNS) this Administration inherited. It was miraculous that the Administration was able to acquire the PPE and medicines and testing supplies we have needed at such a swift pace and in such large quantities.

We can't, however, rely on miracles going forward as we continue to fight this enemy virus. By design, the Trump SNS 2.0 will be more robust and far less vulnerable to the enormous gaps we have come to learn exist within the global supply chain.

A key feature of SNS 2.0 will be significantly larger and more comprehensive and robust stockpiles. However, the real secret sauce of expanded stockpiles lies in several other methods to meet sudden and heavy demand.

With this new system, we will invite distributors like Owens and Minor, Cardinal Health, McKesson, AmerisourceBergen, and others to house and manage our larger inventories. We will ask them to operate on a "first-in, first-out" basis to ensure freshness of critical resources with shorter shelf lives.

A far more elegant supply chain information technology system will overlay the management and distribution networks of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), and other relevant Federal agencies. This system will give us "real-time" insight into production, warehousing, and shipments of key supplies.

As the Trump Administration works overtime to bring these critical supply chains and production home, we will pay key domestic producers to maintain additional reserve capacity. Such reserves will be explicitly designed to provide surge production when necessary to protect Americans when "an emerging infectious disease or CBRN threat" push comes to a "protecting the American people" shove.

When the current crisis hit it became clear that as a Nation, we were far too reliant on imported supplies from foreign manufacturers, including for more than 50% of our PPE needs. This dangerous foreign dependency underscores that President Trump has been right from the beginning – we must continue to Buy American and build a strong manufacturing base. It is essential for our economic security, our national security, and in this case, our public health industrial base.

Accordingly, a key linchpin of SNS 2.0 is to fill our stockpiles with domestically supplied and domestically produced medicines, medical supplies, and medical equipment. To this end, on the Allentown trip, President Trump signed another important Defense Production Act (DPA) order designed to move our jobs and our factories back onshore.

In this new DPA action, the President has delegated DPA authority to the Chief Executive Officer of the United States International Development Finance Corporation (IDFC) to use his loan authority to "create, maintain, protect, expand, or restore" America's public health industrial base capabilities needed to respond to the COVID-19 outbreak and any future outbreaks.

As a practical matter, this will mean the IDFC will play an important supporting role in a much broader Trump administration effort to bring jobs back to America while keeping all Americans safe.

Most broadly, the SNS 2.0 announced this week in Pennsylvania will provide a far more robust and intelligent, and a far less vulnerable, system to fight the China virus as well as future threats from CBRN and other emerging infectious diseases – all the while creating more good paying jobs for America. That's a big win for the American people.

Dear Doctor Fauci,

I feel embarrassed for you because of the actions of President Trump, and his litany of ridiculous actions and statements, including his present criticism of you regarding your remarks about COVID-19 recovery timelines and urging restraint in hurrying to get business up and running.

As a government employee, your loyalty to Mr. Trump is commendable despite what must intense frustration in swimming against an unending stream of confounding statements and direction by the present administration. Your restraint in criticising him while persevering in stating the plain truth based on fact and science is prima facie evidence of your true concern for public health. As a retired military officer, I understand that sense of duty despite difficult circumstances. My wife Kim and I shake our heads in wonderment and disbelief as the federal government and our state, one of many, push a so-called return to "normal" while the disease resurges and runs rampant in high-population centers. When we hear you speak, we nod and say, "Why aren't people listening?" And I must include the president among that group that appear to defy common sense, which appears to be not so common anymore. In spite of this, I know there is a large percentage of the population that embrace your advice with fervent belief and who, like us, are staying at home and strictly adhering to current preventative measures. And so I say, don't be dismayed by what we regard as Mr. Trump's obvious vacillitude in the waves of political expediency. Stay your course! You are "our Doctor" when it comes to common sense.

Very sincerely and respectfully,

House Conservatives Who Attacked Dr. Fauci Should Know Better

Andrew C. McCarthyApril 15, 2020 6:30 AM

Dr. Anthony Fauci attends the daily coronavirus task force briefing at the White House, April 13, 2020. (Leah Millis/Reuters)

It's shameful to take one comment out of context and suggest that he doesn't care about unemployed Americans.

Congressmen Andy Biggs (R., Ariz.) and Ken Buck (R., Colo.) are so callous, they think — I'm quoting them here — "just 20,000 fatalities" from the coronavirus is no big deal.

Now, it is atrocious of me to say such a thing. After all, it's not true. And I know it's not true. Yet, to intimate that it is true, I have plucked their words, written in a recent Washington Examiner op-ed, and quoted them completely out of context.

Now, rest assured, I have done this only to make a point. In reality, I am quite confident that these two gentlemen believe every COVID-19 death is one death too many. I'm sure they are horrified by the thought of 20,000 fatalities in one place, over a short period of time. But if I were doing this for real, if I were distorting their statements for political reasons, with a motive to make you believe they just don't care, I'd be the worst kind of demagogue.

Here's the problem: In their op-ed, Representatives Biggs and Buck did it for real . . . to Dr. Anthony Fauci, the top infectious-disease adviser on President Trump's coronavirus task force.

The point of the Biggs/Buck op-ed was to portray Dr. Fauci as if he were a callous, bean-counting bureaucrat, devoid of human compassion for COVID-19 victims.

Let me quote them at length, so you don't think I'm misrepresenting them:

Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, recently said, "It's inconvenient from a societal standpoint, from an economic standpoint to go through this." It is interesting sometimes that a brief comment can reveal the heart and mind — and in this instance, a special degree of tone deafness.

Of course, the word on which the lawmakers seize is "inconvenient."

As we've all heard over the past month, Dr. Fauci has worked long hours through seven-day weeks trying to save American lives. He also has made countless statements in scores of interviews and White House Task Force press conferences. Consistently, he has been a model of empathy. Again and again, he has agonized over the excruciating choice that government officials have no choice but to make: The choice between the well-being of (a) those sick from, dying of, and vulnerable to a potentially lethal infectious disease, and (b) those whose financial, emotional, and physical well-being are being shattered by the shutdown. It has worn on him, like it would wear on any of us. Like it would wear on Andy Biggs and Ken Buck.

NOW WATCH: 'Rand Paul Clashes with Anthony Fauci On Coronavirus'

Rand Paul Clashes with Anthony Fauci On Coronavirus

Yet, in their op-ed, these congressmen risibly mined from Fauci's voluminous body of written and oral presentations a single invocation of the word "inconvenient" to describe the effects of social-distancing and business restrictions. It shows, they say, that the 79-year-old doctor, who has dedicated his life to healing, is insensitive to human suffering. "For Fauci," they harrumph, "is it merely a societal or economic inconvenience that about 17 million workers are unemployed because of the government's response to the coronavirus pandemic?"

In the moment, was Fauci's use of "inconvenient" an understatement? Okay, sure, but c'mon. He clearly said it to conform to White House messaging: The restrictions are necessary even though there are significant costs; but the administration believes those costs will be temporary and does not want to alarm the country by suggesting that they are ruinous.

Biggs and Buck need to man up.

Fauci's job is public health, with a focus on infectious disease. It is to be expected that he is predisposed to emphasize the risks of a pandemic, from which over 20,000 Americans have died. If the congressmen believe that this is the wrong emphasis, and that the president is getting too much input from the doctors and not enough from economists, then their problem is with the president, not the doctors.

Biggs and Buck posit, "The economic calamity lies largely with the origination of policies resulting from Fauci's recommendations." Really? Who, after hearing from the experts, adopted the policies? Is it now known as the Fauci administration?

In their craven essay, the congressmen note recently revised models that forecast "just 20,000 fatalities in the [United Kingdom]." Of course, they are not really suggesting that "just 20,000 deaths" are trivial. "Just" was an unfortunate choice of words. Their point, plainly, was that 20,000 fatalities, while tragic, paled in comparison to the 510,000 deaths projected by an earlier model.

In context, they were showing how much they care about lost lives. Wouldn't it be shameful to take them out of context and suggest otherwise? Wouldn't it be disgraceful to imply that, because they phrased something poorly in the heat of the moment, there is something lacking in their character? Especially when we know the opposite is the case?

Wouldn't you agree, congressmen?

Dear Dr Fauci,

I am a nurse, with advanced degrees and certifications and always got As in science classes. I have been following your public advice, and the advice from our countries leaders very closely.

Please do not back down on telling the truth no matter what. You make more sense than anyone else I have heard. You really are a hero. Trump attacks are every bit as scary as bullets, and last much longer. I suspect you feel a moral and professional obligation to speak up and tell the truth.

I am grateful. Please keep up the good work. Thank you so much for all you are doing for our country and our world.

Subject: Covid-19 Symptoms in children

Dear Dr. Fauci,

Thank you for the job you're doing. I know it must be very hard to disseminate science based information while working in the Trump administration, but thanks for keeping us informed as you learn more about the corona virus.

When I was a boy (I'm 74 now), I contracted chicken pox. I had a very bad case with a high and long lasting fever. When I was in my 60's, I came down with a very mild case of shingles. My doctor prescribed an anti-viral, and I recovered. He told me that the shingles attack was caused by the same virus that caused my chicken pox attack.

I started thinking: could these children who are coming down with this mysterious illness after they were infected by covid-19 be experiencing the same kind of reaction that I had from the chicken pox virus. That is, could they get one disease from the covid-19 virus, and then could the virus cause the new disease, just as I got shingles later on?

I'm not a doctor, nor am I any kind of health professional; I just wanted to help with an idea, no matter how off the wall it might be.

Please stay healthy; your country needs you.

Sincerely,

Subject: Schools and colleges should not reopen campuses in the fall

Dear Dr. Fauci,
So many of us completely agree with you on everything you say, but especially that all schools and colleges in America should remain on Distance/online/virtual learning through the fall months or until we have a vaccine for COVID-19 and can ensure that everyone or almost everyone is vaccinated. Also, all older teachers, professors, and office and After School Education & Safety (ASES) office staff over the age of 55 should be required to continue working from home, since we all know that people over the age of 55 are a high risk age group for COVID-19. It is way too dangerous and risky to reopen school and college campuses before a vaccine for COVID is officially released. We have learned and you and your colleague Dr. Birx have also said that children and young people are not a high risk age group for COVID, but if they get it and bring it home to grandma and grandpa and/or their parents, it would not be good at all.
Please convince all governors as well as President Trump and Ms. Betsy DaVos that the best and safest decision is to keep all schools and colleges in America on Distance/online/virtual learning through the fall months or until a vaccine for COVID-19 is offically released and we can ensure that everyone or almost everyone is vaccinated before being able to return to school and college campuses. As you have said, this is all for the health, safety, and overall well being of all students, teachers, professors, parents/guardians, and all other school and college employees.
Thank you again sir for everything you, Dr. Birx, and all other doctors, scientists, and public health officials are doing to keep us all safe and healthy!! □

Subject: Vibrational Herbal Cure for Covid-19

From: (b) (6)

Dear Dr. Fauci,

This is the third time I am writing to you. I have also written to Mr. Trump. However, none of you have read anything I have written, or even had any of your subordinates do so. I believe , based on my past experiences, that I allege to have a cure for the New Corona Virus that eliminates the virus with its three strains, in 24 to 36 hours

This work of finding cures for unknown viruses has been my passion for the last twenty-five years. It started with trying to find a cure for Hepatitis C Viral, which was ravaging Egypt at that time. We succeeded, in finding a vibrational Herbal cure for Hep. C Viral, which is totally herbal, and to eliminate all of the six genotypes, with two capsules, of 900 mg each, 45 to 60 days. No adverse side effects, no unnecessary deaths and very reasonably priced. Regrettably, Gilead, had the whole situation in Egypt under control, as they do now for the Covide-19 pandemic.

My cursory research of Remdesvir, does not qualify it to cure any part of Covid-19, as it only affects 3 to 5 percent of the weakest genotype of the virus. It does not have any effect on any of the genotype I, which is the strongest, or II which is deadly, if not caught up quickly.

As far as I am concerned, remdesvir does not necessarily have any great effect on the Ebola virus. I do; with a vibrational herbal drug I designed, and that was published in a scientific paper last year.

Again, with all your responsibilities and very busy schedule, I doubt that you have the time to read or study this email. I am just doing my part to help.

The cure is totally safe, two capsules of a safe, non toxic herbal mixture, taken twice in two twelve hour periods. It can be tested and can be taken by any patient, if they can swallow, and the will be cured in 24 hours, allegedly.

Am attaching my publications list, and any other information will be sent, if needed.

Veyr Sincerely,

So many of us have watched as he has dismissed you, like he dismisses all of Americans. Like he fires whomever does not agree with him! We notice the weariness in your eyes and an almost hopelessness! Please know that we are Smart enough to know that none of this is your fault. We actually believe that this disease was here as early as August or Sept of 2019. This situation we are in is Trump's fault, he will not listen and why they let him behave like a spoiled, unintelligent brat, is beyond me!? Please keep your guard up, we see they do not like you telling us the truth, but that is who you are! Do not let them steal your Legacy or intimidate you! Remember, we Love you and trust you and we know you are highly concerned with the pandemic, as are we. But, no matter what becomes of us, we will all be fine with God in Heaven! Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

(b) (6)

Your numbers and charts have been way off. The death certificates are being abused by hospitals and doctors. The numbers of deaths from covid are not correct. Yet you continue to support keeping our country closed. It seems that you may have another agenda. You have jumped around with your thoughts and feelings on contact. From sex to hand shaking. You have many people that are so scared they can't function. Why not address the raising suicides, domestic violence and depression. Why are many other doctors disagreeing with you? I am not peacefully submitting to what you say. I agree with Thomas Jefferson: "I prefer dangerous freedom to peaceful slavery." I feel you are hurting us more than helping. You are an advisor not a dictator. I will be asking President Trump to have you take a smaller role. So disappointed in your senate hearing.

I saw this...

Dr. Anthony Fauci warned Congress that some states are prematurely reopening businesses, risking additional outbreaks and deaths, particularly among the most vulnerable populations.

The White House health advisor testified remotely that a vaccine will be essential to stopping the spread of the coronavirus and reducing the rate of deaths from the pandemic.

He also warned that it may take a while before a usable vaccine will be available.

Fauci testified remotely from an office while under self-quarantine.

You think just because you are a stupid scientist...that you have the answers..

My God is doing this because you evil people live like He does not exist. Do you really think He is going to send a plague that already has a vaccine...you really think a stupid vaccine will stop my God from killing those He chooses...thats funny

Ever wonder why a person gets cancer...has surgery...and chemo...and it comes back to kill them...you cannot stop my God...no vaccine...no surgery...no chemo...no pills will ever stop Him from killing evil people

Do you think it is by accident the economy shut down...no

Trump is so prideful...he never gave the Lord the glory...he said look at what I have done...over and over until I had enough...i wept to the Lord for hours yelling Him everything you people are doing.

The courts take bribes...government tortures innocent people just to gain information...businesses steal from people...churches are open only to make a profit...they have NEVER met my God...they paid a total stranger to learn about my God whom they never met. Nor spoke to...yet they buy a piece of paper that this rotten government gives them giving them permission to make a profit off Jesus...you dont think my God will pay them back.

You think just because you are a scientist you are so wise...my God knows your every thought...He knows everything you have done...He knows your every wrong...you don't think He is a righteous judge...you have no idea what He is capable of.

The bible is very clear about who sends disease...and you really think a vaccine...or business closures will keep Him from destroying those who he sets out to kill...your an utter fool...

Deuteronomy 28

20 "The Lord himself will send on you curses, confusion, and frustration in everything you do, until at last you are completely destroyed for doing evil and abandoning me. 21 The Lord will afflict you with diseases until none of you are left in the land you are about to enter and occupy. 22 The Lord will strike you with wasting diseases, fever, and inflammation, with scorching heat and drought, and with blight and mildew. These disasters will pursue you until you die. 23 The skies above will be as unyielding as bronze, and the earth beneath will be as hard as iron. 24 The Lord will change the rain that falls on your land into powder, and dust will pour down from the sky until you are destroyed.

THE LORD HIMSELF INFLICTS PEOPLE WITH DISEASE UNTIL THEY ARE DESTROYED...

I CRY TO HIM BEGGING HIM TO KILL EVERY PERSON WHO HAS USED THEIR POWER TO HURT OR STEAL ANOTHER PERSON...I DO NOT CARE WHO THEY ARE...I HOPE HE DOES NOT STOP UNTIL HE HAS DESTWVERY EVIL PERSON WHO DENIES HE EXISTS...

This rotten government makes laws that completely go against what my God hates...gay marriages...divorce...the catholic church and all their lies...the dirty rotten pope...every church that uses my God to make a profit...every business that has stolen from anyone to make a profit...

Not one person in office turns to my God for advice...they are all evil...you dont think I tolerate it...i refuse to vote because I will NEVER vote for Satan's child to rule over me...i choose my God only.

Psalm 7

Arise, O Lord, in anger!
Stand up against the fury of my enemies!
Wake up, my God, and bring justice!

Gather the nations before you.
Rule over them from on high.

8

The Lord judges the nations.
Declare me righteous, O Lord,
for I am innocent, O Most High!

9

End the evil of those who are wicked,
and defend the righteous.
For you look deep within the mind and heart,
O righteous God.

God is my shield,
saving those whose hearts are true and right.

God is an honest judge.
He is angry with the wicked every day.

12

If a person does not repent,
God[b] will sharpen his sword;
he will bend and string his bow.

13

He will prepare his deadly weapons and shoot his flaming arrows.

The wicked conceive evil;
they are pregnant with trouble
and give birth to lies.

15

They dig a deep pit to trap others, then fall into it themselves.

The trouble they make for others backfires on them.
The violence they plan falls on their own heads.

I will thank the Lord because he is just;
I will sing praise to the name of the Lord Most High.

You see this...my God is a righteous judge. This is what I pray against every nation...i tell the Lord...

Lord you created the heavens and the earth...why should the wicked evil people live here...

Your word testifies that you created the wicked for a day of destruction...let that day come Sovereign Lord...everywhere I turn i see evil...the government...scientists who think they are so wise....false teachers...not one of then turns to you...use your unlimited power and destroy the evil people so i don't have to live here with them...

There is nothing good in these people...they make your death as if it never happened...they invent new ways to sin...

I cry and cry to my God for hours...now I sit back and each day I watch what my God does...i laugh at the churches shut down..they cannot make a profit or tell their lies...I have been to many restaurants and wept to the Lord because they have stolen from me or lied....

I simply cry and tell Him what I see and hear and tell Him..then i sit back and watch how He will punish the evil people...

Each day I ask the Lord...should I pray for this to end...not yet He tells me...i have not accomplished everything yet...i say ok...go get them Lord...destroy the wicked...i say...there is nothing good in them...

The bible is very clear...psalm 91 verse 7

Though a thousand fall at your side, though ten thousand are dying around you,
  these evils will not touch you.

8
Just open your eyes, and see how the wicked are punished.

And

Romans 12:19

Dear friends, never take revenge. Leave that to the righteous anger of God. For the Scriptures say, “I will take revenge; I will pay them back,” says the LORD.

Proverbs 16:4

The LORD has made everything for his own purposes, even the wicked for a day of disaster.

You see...you people can do evil things in secret...and you think you ate so wise...thinking you will get away with your plan...i just laugh at you because i know my God is sharpening His knives... the one person who matters you cannot hide from...He knows all your secret thoughts and actions...believe me when I tell you...my God will pay you and every evil person back for their evil actions...you cannot run or hide from Him...

Jeremiah 23

My heart is broken because of the false prophets,
and my bones tremble.
I stagger like a drunkard,
like someone overcome by wine,
because of the holy words
the Lord has spoken against them.

10

For the land is full of adultery,
and it lies under a curse.
The land itself is in mourning—
its wilderness pastures are dried up.
For they all do evil and abuse what power they have.

11

“Even the priests and prophets
are ungodly, wicked men.
I have seen their despicable acts right here in my own Temple,” says the Lord.

12

“Therefore, the paths they take
will become slippery.
They will be chased through the dark,
and there they will fall.
For I will bring disaster upon them at the time fixed for their punishment.
I, the Lord, have spoken!

13

"I saw that the prophets of Samaria were terribly evil, for they prophesied in the name of Baal
and led my people of Israel into sin.

But now I see that the prophets of Jerusalem are even worse!
They commit adultery and love dishonesty.
They encourage those who are doing evil
so that no one turns away from their sins.
These prophets are as wicked
as the people of Sodom and Gomorrah once were."

15 Therefore, this is what the Lord of Heaven's Armies says concerning the prophets:

"I will feed them with bitterness and give them poison to drink.
For it is because of Jerusalem's prophets that wickedness has filled this land."

16 This is what the Lord of Heaven's Armies says to his people:

"Do not listen to these prophets when they prophesy to you,
filling you with futile hopes.
They are making up everything they say.
They do not speak for the Lord!

They keep saying to those who despise my word,
'Don't worry! The Lord says you will have peace!'
And to those who stubbornly follow their own desires, they say, 'No harm will come your way!'

18

"Have any of these prophets been in the Lord's presence to hear what he is really saying?
Has even one of them cared enough to listen?

19

Look! The Lord's anger bursts out like a storm, a whirlwind that swirls down on the heads of the wicked.

The anger of the Lord will not diminish
until it has finished all he has planned.
In the days to come you will understand all this very clearly.

21
“I have not sent these prophets,
yet they run around claiming to speak for me.
I have given them no message,
yet they go on prophesying.

If they had stood before me and listened to me,
they would have spoken my words,
and they would have turned my people from their evil ways and deeds.

23
Am I a God who is only close at hand?” says the Lord.
“No, I am far away at the same time.

24
Can anyone hide from me in a secret place?
Am I not everywhere in all the heavens and earth?”
says the Lord.

Bunch of liars...my God knows every evil person...every person who has done evil in secret...my God will repay them in the open...

But we need to remember and recognize that God uses us and our technology as his means to accomplish his principles and will.

My God has determined as he said in Luke 12:2-3, that the secrets will be uncovered, the truth will come forth, and God's thought about every behavior and action will be vindicated.

What's done in the dark will come to light, and thank God he has created it to operate so!

My God is watching you Anthony...you and every government official will be exposed and His wrath will not miss your evil deeds...You and every evil person should fear for your life...

Nor spoke to...yet they buy a piece of paper that this rotten government gives them giving them permission to make a profit off Jesus...you dont think my God will pay them back.

You think just because you are a scientist you are so wise...my God knows your every thought...He knows everything you have done...He knows your every wrong...you don't think He is a righteous judge...you have no idea what He is capable of.

The bible is very clear about who sends disease...and you really think a vaccine...or business closures will keep Him from destroying those who he sets out to kill...your an utter fool...

Deuteronomy 28

20 "The Lord himself will send on you curses, confusion, and frustration in everything you do, until at last you are completely destroyed for doing evil and abandoning me. 21 The Lord will afflict you with diseases until none of you are left in the land you are about to enter and occupy. 22 The Lord will strike you with wasting diseases, fever, and inflammation, with scorching heat and drought, and with blight and mildew. These disasters will pursue you until you die. 23 The skies above will be as unyielding as bronze, and the earth beneath will be as hard as iron. 24 The Lord will change the rain that falls on your land into powder, and dust will pour down from the sky until you are destroyed.

THE LORD HIMSELF INFLICTS PEOPLE WITH DISEASE UNTIL THEY ARE DESTROYED...

I CRY TO HIM BEGGING HIM TO KILL EVERY PERSON WHO HAS USED THEIR POWER TO HURT OR STEAL ANOTHER PERSON...I DO NOT CARE WHO THEY ARE...I HOPE HE DOES NOT STOP UNTIL HE HAS DESTWVERY EVIL PERSON WHO DENIES HE EXISTS...

This rotten government makes laws that completely go against what my God hates...gay marriages...divorce...the catholic church and all their lies...the dirty rotten pope...every church that uses my God to make a profit...every business that has stolen from anyone to make a profit...

Not one person in office turns to my God for advice...they are all evil...you dont think I tolerate it...i refuse to vote because I will NEVER vote for Satan's child to rule over me...i choose my God only.

Psalm 7

Arise, O Lord, in anger!
Stand up against the fury of my enemies!
Wake up, my God, and bring justice!

Gather the nations before you.
Rule over them from on high.

8

The Lord judges the nations.
Declare me righteous, O Lord,

for I am innocent, O Most High!

9

End the evil of those who are wicked,
and defend the righteous.
For you look deep within the mind and heart,
O righteous God.

God is my shield,
saving those whose hearts are true and right.

11

God is an honest judge.
He is angry with the wicked every day.

12

If a person does not repent,
God[b] will sharpen his sword;
he will bend and string his bow.

13

He will prepare his deadly weapons
and shoot his flaming arrows.

The wicked conceive evil;
they are pregnant with trouble
and give birth to lies.

15

They dig a deep pit to trap others,
then fall into it themselves.

16

The trouble they make for others backfires on them.
The violence they plan falls on their own heads.

I will thank the Lord because he is just;
I will sing praise to the name of the Lord Most High.

You see this...my God is a righteous judge. This is what I pray against every nation...i tell the Lord...

Lord you created the heavens and the earth...why should the wicked evil people live here...

Your word testifies that you created the wicked for a day of destruction...let that day come Sovereign Lord...everywhere I turn i see evil...the government...scientists who think they are so wise....false teachers...not one of then turns to you...use your unlimited power and destroy the evil people so i don't have to live here with them...

There is nothing good in these people...they make your death as if it never happened...they invent new ways to sin...

I cry and cry to my God for hours...now I sit back and each day I watch what my God does...i laugh at the churches shut down..they cannot make a profit or tell their lies...I have been to many restaurants and wept to the Lord because they have stolen from me or lied....

I simply cry and tell Him what I see and hear and tell Him..then i sit back and watch how He will punish the evil people...

Each day I ask the Lord...should I pray for this to end...not yet He tells me...i have not accomplished everything yet...i say ok...go get them Lord...destroy the wicked...i say...there is nothing good in them...

The bible is very clear...psalm 91 verse 7

Though a thousand fall at your side,
  though ten thousand are dying around you,
  these evils will not touch you.

8
Just open your eyes,
  and see how the wicked are punished.

And

Romans 12:19

Dear friends, never take revenge. Leave that to the righteous anger of God. For the Scriptures say, “I will take revenge; I will pay them back,” says the LORD.

Proverbs 16:4

The LORD has made everything for his own purposes, even the wicked for a day of disaster.

You see...you people can do evil things in secret...and you think you ate so wise...thinking you will get away with your plan...i just laugh at you because i know my God is sharpening His knives... the one person who matters you cannot hide from...He knows all your secret thoughts and actions...believe me when I tell you...my God will pay you and every evil person back for their evil actions...you cannot run or hide from Him...

Jeremiah 23

My heart is broken because of the false prophets,
  and my bones tremble.
I stagger like a drunkard,
  like someone overcome by wine,
because of the holy words
  the Lord has spoken against them.

10

For the land is full of adultery,
and it lies under a curse.
The land itself is in mourning—
its wilderness pastures are dried up.
For they all do evil
and abuse what power they have.

11

"Even the priests and prophets
are ungodly, wicked men.
I have seen their despicable acts right here in my own Temple,"
says the Lord.

12

"Therefore, the paths they take
will become slippery.
They will be chased through the dark,
and there they will fall.
For I will bring disaster upon them
at the time fixed for their punishment.
I, the Lord, have spoken!

13

"I saw that the prophets of Samaria were terribly evil, for they prophesied in the name of Baal
and led my people of Israel into sin.

But now I see that the prophets of Jerusalem are even worse!
They commit adultery and love dishonesty.
They encourage those who are doing evil
so that no one turns away from their sins.
These prophets are as wicked
as the people of Sodom and Gomorrah once were."

15 Therefore, this is what the Lord of Heaven's Armies says concerning the prophets:

"I will feed them with bitterness and give them poison to drink.
For it is because of Jerusalem's prophets that wickedness has filled this land."

16 This is what the Lord of Heaven's Armies says to his people:

"Do not listen to these prophets when they prophesy to you,
filling you with futile hopes.
They are making up everything they say.
They do not speak for the Lord!

They keep saying to those who despise my word,
'Don't worry! The Lord says you will have peace!'
And to those who stubbornly follow their own desires,
they say, 'No harm will come your way!'

18

"Have any of these prophets been in the Lord's presence
to hear what he is really saying?
Has even one of them cared enough to listen?

19

Look! The Lord's anger bursts out like a storm, a whirlwind that swirls down on the heads of the wicked.

The anger of the Lord will not diminish
until it has finished all he has planned.
In the days to come
you will understand all this very clearly.

21
"I have not sent these prophets,
yet they run around claiming to speak for me.
I have given them no message,
yet they go on prophesying.

If they had stood before me and listened to me,
they would have spoken my words,
and they would have turned my people
from their evil ways and deeds.

23
Am I a God who is only close at hand?" says the Lord.
"No, I am far away at the same time.

24
Can anyone hide from me in a secret place?
Am I not everywhere in all the heavens and earth?"
says the Lord.

Bunch of liars...my God knows every evil person...every person who has done evil in secret...my God will repay them in the open...

But we need to remember and recognize that God uses us and our technology as his means to accomplish his principles and will.

My God has determined as he said in Luke 12:2-3, that the secrets will be uncovered, the truth will come forth, and God's thought about every behavior and action will be vindicated.

What's done in the dark will come to light, and thank God he has created it to operate so!

My God is watching you Anthony...you and every government official will be exposed and His wrath will not miss your evil deeds...You and every evil person should fear for your life...

Hey asshole,

America has your number, you fucking piece of shit fraud. There is a lot of dirt on your criminal activities, spanning decades. We know your goal is to talk down any effective treatment for the bat virus, which you are a key player in creating,because you and your partners in crime stand to make hundreds of millions of dollars off your patented vaccine.

Your irresponsible, and deliberately harmful advice, has done great damage to America, and you are going to pay for it. You can bank on that! You are a traitor of the worst kind, and should be given a traitor's sentence; death by execution, under the laws of treason.

You said Americans should do away with hand shakes, but that strangers hooking up on Tinder is okay, and that smokers are less likely to contract COVID19. Why the fuck should anyone listen to you?!!

You are stuck so far up Bill Gates' ass, you stink to high heaven. Trump has your number, and you are now one of the many traitors under sealed indictment, so enjoy what little freedom you have left, before being led off to the military firing squad!

You are a total fraud, Anthony Fauci,and the American people are waking up to that fact. Fuck you, and your checkpoints, and fuck your mandatory vaccines. They will be rejected en mass, like the H1N1 vaccine was rejected, and your drug maker buddies lost a lot of money.

Go fuck yourself!

Dr. Fauci: I am a 78 yo physician and in the high risk group by age only. When I was a college student, I worked on a TB unit as a nurses' aide to help pay for college expenses. I obviously took a risk but did so responsibly and I want to do the same with the CV. I do not want to be on house arrest for over a year and want to go to my favorite restaurants and bar and see more movies in a theater. They can open responsibly and reduce the risk of infection but not to zero. I am willing to take this risk in order to resume some resemblance of my previous activities. A total shutdown of the US and businesses is unacceptable to me and to our economy. Also, the potential psychiatric morbidity and mortality is significant. I encourage you to re-think your usual stance on a total shutdown and lockdown to combat the CV. I agree with Trump that the cure should not be worse than the disease and remember the dictate, first do no harm. Thank you, (b) (6), Distinguished Life Fellow, APA

Hello Dr Fauci,

I had used an over the counter allergy medication which contained diphenhydramine to treat a cold that had the symptom of a stubborn soreness in the throat and nostril lasting about two weeks. When finally taking this medicine I felt cured almost instantly. Do you think this drug [diphenhydramine] would be effective against the 19 virus. On the lighter side maybe you could tell President Trump he may present his chicken soup remedy heh! heh! Well Dr Fauci I realize how vital your time and situation are Thank You and take care.

Subject: Alert Dr. Fauci - Sen. Murray likely questions reported this morning in CQ Importance: High

Dr. Fauci,

This morning, CQ has reported that Sen. Patty Murray "will likely ask the witnesses about reports of White House interference with public health experts' guidance, the federal government's role in the nation's testing capacity and how the administration plans to equitably distribute a vaccine if one becomes available." The full article from CQ is below my signature.

CQ: Virtual hearing

Trump administration health officials will testify before the Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee remotely on Tuesday, underscoring the challenge of returning to work and school while COVID-19 remains a risk - which happens to be the exact topic of the hearing. Some of the witnesses are self-quarantining after being exposed to the virus, as is Chairman Lamar Alexander.

The hearing will feature National Institutes of Allergy and Infectious Diseases Director Anthony Fauci, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Director Robert Redfield, Food and Drug Administration Commissioner Stephen Hahn and Assistant Secretary for Health Brett Giroir. It's the first time the four witnesses, who play key roles in the administration's response to the pandemic, will be appearing on Capitol Hill since March.

Sen. Patty Murray, the committee's ranking member, will likely ask the witnesses about reports of White House interference with public health experts' guidance, the federal government's role in the nation's testing capacity and how the administration plans to equitably distribute a vaccine if one becomes available.

"Some -- including in the White House -- say we've already provided enough economic relief. My question to them is, 'What good is a bridge that only gets you to the middle of the river?' We don't need to wait around to see if people need more help--we know they do," Murray will say, according to prepared remarks.

The hearing comes after the White House said Monday it would ensure states have enough swabs and other materials to fulfill their testing goals for this month and explained how officials would distribute $11 billion in aid to states for testing.

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

Desolation Row 2.0

They're selling postcards of the meat plant
They're painting the passports brown
The beauty parlor is filled with women
The circus is in town
Here comes the CDC director
They've got him in a trance
One hand is tied to the tight-rope walker
The other is in his pants
And the protestors, they're restless
They need somewhere to go
As the Crimson Lady looks out tonight
From Desolation Row

Cinderella, she seems so easy
"It takes one to know one," she smiles
And puts her hands in her back pockets
De la Renta style
In comes the Clown Prince, he's moaning
"You Belong to Me I Believe"
And someone says, "You're in the right place, my friend You'll never leave"

And the only sound that's left
After the ambulances go
Is Cinderella cashing in
On Desolation Row

Now the moon is almost hidden
The stars are beginning to fall
The construction workers
Have started building a black wall
All except for Lev and Igor
And The Hunchback of Notre Dame
Everybody is making love
Or else expecting rain
And the Red Tie Bad Guy, he's dressing
He's getting ready for the show
He's starring in the carnival tonight
On Desolation Row

Rosalind, she's 'neath the window
Going to the masquerade
On her thirty-second birthday
She already has it made
To her, life is quite romantic
She loves Orlando best
Her profession's her religion
Her sin is her truthiness
And though her eyes are fixed upon
The others at the show
She spends her time spinning
From Desolation Row

Frankenstein, disguised as Hitler
With his conspiracies in a box
Passed this way an hour ago
In a limo drive to Fox
Now he looked so immaculately frightful
When he spoke with spray-on hair
Then he went off inspecting cages
And repeating 'No asylum here'
You would not think to look at him
But he was famous long ago
For playing the plywood violin
On Desolation Row

The Doctor's a straight shooter
He's on the up and up
But all the dark dementors
They're trying to blow truth up
Now the man in the long white robe

The keys of death and Hades he holds
And he also keeps three books to read
Have mercy on your soul
Seven angels play their trumpets
You can hear them blow
If you lean your head out far enough
From Desolation Row

Across the street they've opened the curtains
They're getting ready for the feast
The machine called Rehoboam
Is a perfect image of the beast
They are spoon feeding Casanova
To get him to feel more assured
Then they'll kill him with self-confidence
After poisoning him with words
And Rehoboam's warning all the girls
"Get outta here if you don't know
Casanova is just being punished for going To Desolation Row"

At midnight, icy agents
And the superhuman crew
Come out and round up everyone
That knows more than they do
Then they bring them to the factory
Where they have all the machines
A strap across their shoulders
And then the chloroquine
Is brought down from the big house
By insurance men who go
Check to see that nobody is escaping
From Desolation Row

You can hear Nero's fiddle
AF1 flies at dawn
Everybody's shouting
"Which side are you on?"
Thomas Wolfe and Alex Solzhenitsyn
Praying in the captain's tower
While Luke and Wedge watch them
And sphero droids absorb power
Through the windows of the sky
Where seven angels go
And nobody has to think too much About Desolation Row

Yes, I received your email yesterday
About the time my cellphone broke
When you asked me how I was doing

Was that some kinda joke?
All these people that you mention
Yes, I know them, they're quite lame
I had to remember their faces
And give them all another name
Right now, I can't read too good
Don't send me no more emails, no
Not unless you send them

Hello Drs Fauci and Redfield,

I understand you're busy preparing for the Senate testimony tomorrow. I won't take very much of your time. But I would urgently like to communicate some information developed by my organization that I feel will be imperative to understand before you testify tomorrow.

I've attached the text of a briefing I sent to Naval Intelligence a few weeks ago. I've also attached an article on the use of bio-active electro-dynamic waveforms (EDWFs) to replicate human diseases - including infectious and auto-immune diseases.

Please do get in touch if you have any questions.

Thanks so much,

Laura Prendergast

I. Introduction

I am writing as a classically trained Biologist, with an interest in contemplative disciplines. I received my BA in Biology from Columbia University, and an MS in Recombinant DNA Technology from New York University. I've also completed graduate-level coursework in Neuroscience at Mt. Sinai and The City University of New York. My understanding of electro-dynamic waveforms is informed by my father who was a Theoretical Astrophysicist at Columbia University for many years.

In 1999, IBM announced their Blue Gene project to use super-computers to predict the probable three-dimensional structure of proteins. Computational proteomics has since progressed to the point where it is now possible to generate a protein's likely 3D structure by inputting an amino acid sequence. It occurred that if one could accurately plot a protein's structure, it might also be possible to design electromagnetic fields to alter or disable the protein in very specific ways in silico. This led to a consideration of the potential impact of intelligently-designed bioactive electro-dynamic waveforms (EDWFs) and the enormous implications for human health. In this chapter, I offer a very abbreviated list of the possible pathologies that might be induced by disabling or altering proteins with EDWFs.

II. Background

Protein structure and function:

Most of the essential functions performed by the human body (digestion, circulation, cognition, etc.) are mediated by enzymes, structural molecules, signaling molecules, transport proteins or ion channels, all of which are types of proteins. A protein's function is critically dependent on its structure, which in turn, is largely determined by the types of amino acids (charged, polar, and non-polar) that make up the protein. The protein's 3D structure is exceedingly specific. Small modifications that deform the protein's structure can drastically impair or abrogate the protein's function.

There are at least three ways to alter protein function. A mutation in the genetic material that changes the amino acid sequence of the protein, or that prematurely terminates the coding sequence will change the protein's structure. It is also possible to design a small drug that inhibits the protein's function by binding to the protein and changing its conformation. In this writing, though, I will focus on how proteins can be disabled electro-dynamically.

One more aspect of protein function should be considered. As I mentioned, the 3D structures of proteins are very specific, but they are also very diverse. In fact, proteins that perform essentially the same function, but in different tissues, may vary slightly in sequence and shape. Glucose transporters are an instructive example; membrane proteins that transport glucose from the bloodstream into the cell to produce the energy that the cell requires. Although all glucose transporters do the same thing, their structure may vary tissue-specifically. Thus, an EDWF that disables a glucose transporter in the brain might have no effect on a glucose transporter in the liver.

III. Pathologies

Cardio-pulmonary:

Cardiac tissue, possibly more than any other tissue in the body, depends critically on cellular respiration to generate the necessary energy for contraction of cardiac muscles. Cellular respiration is typically performed by proteins whose structure and function were characterized long ago, any of which might be disrupted electro-dynamically. Chronic exposure of cardiac muscle to EDWFs that impair cellular respiration over a long enough period of time will produce debility indistinguishable from heart failure that arises from natural causes.

Another way to affect cardiac function would present as heartbeat irregularities. A regular heartbeat is maintained by specialized cardiac muscle tissue that spontaneously contracts in a process based in part on the movement of sodium and calcium ions into the muscle tissue. An EDWF that opens and closes sodium and calcium channels inappropriately will cause dysrhythmias. If this persists over an extended time, the heart muscle will weaken and ultimately fail.

Cholesterol metabolism:

The human body naturally regulates levels of important nutrients. If a particular nutrient is lacking, a process for manufacturing the missing nutrient will activate. If the levels of a particular nutrient are determined to be too high, another process will break down and eliminate the excess. These processes are tightly regulated, and responsive to the levels of the nutrients they control. Cholesterol metabolism is an instructive example. A certain amount of cholesterol is necessary to keep cell membranes fluid. Cholesterol is also the root molecule for steroid hormones (testosterone, estrogen, etc). Excess cholesterol builds up on the insides of blood vessels and clog arteries, leading to coronary artery disease (among other problems). Cholesterol is also implicated in Alzheimer's Disease (AD): cholinergic pathways in the cerebral cortex and basal forebrain are found to be compromised in AD.

There are at least three ways that targeted EDWFs might lead to high cholesterol. First, incapacitating cholinesterase (the enzyme that breaks down excess cholesterol) will lead to a build-up of cholesterol levels, regardless of how rigorously a person minimizes their cholesterol intake. Second, cholesterol levels might be affected by interfering with the enzymes that monitor the levels of cholesterol in the bloodstream, or by disrupting the proteins that regulate the activity of cholinesterase, or by inhibiting the transport proteins that normally funnel acetyl-CoA molecules (the breakdown product of glucose and the building blocks of cholesterol), into the Krebs cycle. A third mechanism would be to disable the liver enzyme that controls cholesterol production so that it is no longer recognized by the statins prescribed for reducing cholesterol. A clinician prescribing a medication that did not work would assume that the statins were a wrong "fit" for the patient, and try a different medication.

Hypoglycemia, Obesity:

More than one-third of American adults are obese. The rapidity with which the obesity epidemic overtook Americans over the last 20 years should be carefully examined. It is increasingly difficult to account for the epidemic by increased food intake alone. True, Americans are eating more and overwhelmingly, eating more food with certain types of carbohydrates that contribute to weight gain. But the systematic disruption of normal metabolic processes might well be a significant contributing factor. EDWFs that disable the digestive enzymes that break down sugars and burn fat would generate weight gain even following the most stringent nutritional regimen.

Auto-immune disorders, allergies, and Inflammation:
The body's immune system normally distinguishes proteins that belong to the "self" from proteins that indicate the presence of a foreign agent: this forms the basis for immune function, and allows the body to mount a defense against invading pathogens. Occasionally, the immune system fails at this, resulting in auto-immune diseases such as Type I Diabetes, Lupus, Crohn's disease, Grave's disease and many, many others. An EDWF that changes the configuration of a "self" protein that is normally immunologically innocuous might raise immune defenses against a normal cell displaying the deformed protein. Similarly, EDWFs that deform proteins on the surface of joint and bone tissue may cause the kind of inflammation seen in carpal tunnel syndrome and arthritis.

Neuropathologies:
The axons of most neurons are covered with an insulating layer of myelin. Electrical impulses travel down the axon between spaces in the myelin called "nodes of Ranvier". Appropriate spacing between nodes and the width of the individual nodes are important for propagation of the electrical signal. Spacing between nodes is established by scaffolding proteins in the neuron's cell membrane. EDWFs that deform scaffolding proteins will interfere with the integrity of the myelin covering and, by extension, the effectiveness of axonal transmission. A mechanism such as this might underlie the pathology seen in Amyelotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS, also known as "Lou Gehrig's Disease").

A different sort of peripheral neuropathy might be induced by electro-dynamically activating the neurotransmitter receptors that mediate pain or other sensations (numbness, tingling, or weakness), causing a false signal in the absence of a neurotransmitter ligand. Examples of this sort of pathology would include trigeminal neuralgia, sciatica, shingles, and fibromyalgia.

It is worth mentioning here that any process that is mediated by neurotransmitters can be "mimicked" or falsified by deforming a neurotransmitter receptor so that it transmits a signal, even in the absence of a ligand (the neurotransmitter). Correspondingly, normal transmission might be inhibited by deforming a neurotransmitter receptor to render it incapable of recognizing its ligand. Furthermore, neurotransmitter receptors fall into two broad classes: ionotropic (these are channels that open in response to a neurotransmitter or voltage change), and metabotropic (these receptors have "downstream effects" that may result in a change in the genetic expression pattern in the cell that receives signals through these receptors). Neurotransmission caused by EDWFs targeting ionotropic channels could produce a "false" but temporary neuro-perception. Electro-dynamically activating metabotropic receptors would have more long-term effects: these might need to be examined as possible causes of Alzheimer's, Autism, and various mental illnesses.

Cancer:
A complete discussion of the many possible ways in which EDWFs might induce cancers is far beyond the scope of this article. Cancer is, of all pathologies, particularly multivariate, involving any of several proteins or enzymes in numerous cellular metabolic pathways. The discussion is simplified by stating that literally any form of cancer might be induced by electrodynamically targeting either oncogenic proteins; or the proteins that regulate the expression of oncogenes; or the "survivor signal" proteins that are essential to the survival of a particular cell.

An exploration of the science behind cancer therapeutics is also interesting. Many years ago, high school students were taught the rationale for using large doses of powerful mutagens as cancer therapeutics: theoretically, since cancer cells replicate faster than normal cells, cancer cells would acquire mutations faster than normal cells, and consequently become non-viable faster than normal cells. The hope was to kill the cancer cells before the patient died of the toxic therapeutics. But this was before biologists learned about stem cells, which replicate every bit as fast as cancer cells.

Stem cells are termed "stem" cells because (like the trunk of a tree) they give rise to many different types of cells that branch off from the main stem. Randomly mutating stem cells will have significant effects further downstream in any of the cells that branch off from the stem cells. Powerfully mutagenic cancer drugs do not differentiate cancer cells from stem cells, but cancer therapeutics remain an enormous industry.

There are two implications to this observation. First, the concept of "metastasizing" cancers must be rigorously examined and re-assessed for validity. This will need to be done by an independent entity with absolutely no financial interest whatever in the pharmacopeia for chemotherapeutics. Second, if EDWFs can be used to induce cancers by distorting oncogenic proteins, they might also be re-purposed for therapeutic uses, leading to the tantalizing prospect of curing cancers without having to resort to any expensive pharmaceuticals at all.

Chemical weaponry:
Ion pumps are proteins that regulate the levels of ions on either side of the cell membrane. These pumps are critical for maintaining osmotic balance. Although there are many ion pumps and channels that figure in osmotic regulation, they all work in a coordinated fashion: disruption of a single ion pump will interfere with osmotic balance. Prolonged osmotic dysregulation leads inevitably to complete tissue breakdown. An EDWF that does this to blood vessel tissue could replicate the effect of hemolytic chemical weapons. An EDWF targeting ion channels in the brainstem would be essentially indistinguishable from neurotoxic chemical weaponry.

IV. Discussion

Questions?

A logical question regarding the use of intelligently-designed EDWFs would be: "If these signals are broadcast in a large field, why is it that not everybody in the area is affected?" There are two possible answers.

First, as mentioned earlier, even proteins that perform the same function in different tissues can differ very slightly in structure. EDWFs that disable specific proteins or mimic neural function would have to be extremely sophisticated. Waveforms that affect one homolog of a particular protein (e.g. a glucose transporter in the kidney) might have no effect whatever on a different homolog (e.g. a glucose transporter in the brain). Proteins also differ between individuals. A kidney glucose transporter in one individual might differ very slightly from a kidney glucose transporter in another individual. Thus, EDWFs that affect specific isotypes may only impact some fraction of the population in a given area.

The second consideration has to do with vulnerability. The human body (not just the brain) puts out complicated electromagnetic fields, which also interact with EMFs in the human environment. These fields might mask a targeted protein in a particular subject, or interfere with broadcasts designed to impair that particular protein. Targeted proteins might be vulnerable only under certain conditions – for example, if the subject is asleep, or if motionless at a specific location for a sufficient amount of time.

Relevantly, the notion that power lines and cell phones might cause brain cancers (encouraged in popular media) is somewhat suspect. Under normal circumstances, the EMFs that surround us every day (cell phone technology, Bluetooth, wifi, satellite radio, EMFs from power lines, etc) are likely far too random to have any identifiable deleterious effects – at the very least, it would be difficult to assign specific pathologies to EMFs generated by human communication technologies.

Who might profit from such a technology?

The last part of this article addresses the question of who to blame. The willingness to cause such misery to human subjects using this technology suggests an entity that is sociopathic and morally bereft. Apart from any philosophical considerations (i.e. Malthusian theories), the most obvious motivation would be pure greed. Use of the electro-dynamic technology I've described would be unbelievably lucrative to persons with a pecuniary interest in any of the following: the enormous market for pain medications; medications for any of the illnesses I listed that might be induced by EDWFs, including, but not limited to obesity, cancer therapeutics, Alzheimers, Parkinsons, auto-immune disorders, and inflammation; a secondary market for medications intended to alleviate side-effects of the previously referenced medications; insulin, and medical technologies for monitoring sugar levels; biotechnology companies that research and develop any of the aforementioned drugs; the health insurance industry; construction and operation of medical facilities; training of all types of medical personnel; the fitness industry, the military, the prison industry and other industries created for the purpose of incarcerating the mentally ill and the violent. With a sufficiently comprehensive understanding of how EDWFs affect brain function, one might even make a commodity of various elements of cognition and memory.

VIII. Sequelae

There are three more chapters to be written on the subject of bio-active EDWFs. I've already characterized EDWFs that affect specific proteins to disable or activate them exogenously. I would next like to address the capacity to mimic entire physiological pathways, such as cellular respiration, or any of the many signal transduction pathways. This will lead to a discussion of mutagenic EDWFs, which might be used to create specific genetic alterations in vivo.

And finally, there remains an exploration of the possible uses of psychoactive waveforms that I mentioned in an earlier section. I will take up this question in the next chapter.

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

Dear President Trump:

We write on behalf of the Infectious Diseases Society of America (IDSA), the HIV Medicine Association (HIVMA), American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene (ASTMH), and the Pediatric Infectious Diseases Society of America (PIDS) to raise serious concerns regarding what appears to have been political interference in the scientific process with the termination of an EcoHealth Alliance grant that included a partnership with the Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV).

Our organizations represent physicians, scientists and other healthcare professionals committed to infectious diseases, pediatric infectious diseases, tropical medicine, and global health. We were dismayed to learn about the termination of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) grant supporting an important international collaboration with WIV studying the transmission of coronaviruses from bats to humans, microbial genetics, and drug and vaccine development. Such studies are critical to understand the viruses, their transmission, and approaches for prevention and treatment of this dangerous illness. As of May 11, the current SARS-CoV-2 pandemic has resulted in more than 284,628 deaths globally, including more than 80,087 deaths in the U.S.

The grant from the NIH National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases was in its sixth year and was renewed in 2019 for five years through the NIH peer review process, which is the gold standard for identifying and supporting the most promising biomedical research without bias. Basic research completed under the grant has been critical to the evaluation of remdesivir as a treatment for COVID-19, the first drug receiving FDA Emergency Use Authorization to treat hospitalized patients. The ongoing work of the Alliance has become more important than ever to help prevent future coronavirus pandemics. Furthermore, the NIH has not provided a legitimate cause for terminating the EcoHealth Alliance grant, which was given superb ratings in its renewal evaluation. There is no scientific evidence that SARS-CoV-2 originated at WIV or any other laboratory, and the NIH has not responded to inquiries asking for additional clarification and rationale.

An independent and impartial scientific process and robust support for global research collaborations have been indispensable in making the United States the world leader in biomedical research and establishing the NIH as the world's premier medical research enterprise. Continued independent and impartial processes are absolutely essential to the successful development of effective treatments, vaccines, and cures for many infectious diseases and the epidemics and pandemics they can cause. This includes SARS-CoV-2, the cause of severe COVID-19 disease.

We urge immediate reconsideration of the termination of the EcoHealth Alliance grant, with assurances that politics will not influence the scientific process. A failure to set strong boundaries between politics and science will set back future medical discoveries for years to come and leave the U.S. poorly prepared to respond to current and future pandemics. health crisis. If you have questions or require additional information, please do not hesitate to contact Amanda Jezek, IDSA Senior Vice President for Public Policy and Government Relations at (b) (6) or Andrea Weddle, HIVMA Executive Director at (b) (6)

Subject: 29 Organizations and over 300 scientists sign a letter demanding NIH re-fund EcoHealth Alliance
Attachments: Coronavirus Grant Cancelation Protest SIGN ON LETTER.pdf

Dr. Fauci,

Today, the COVID-19 Working Group–NY (CWG-NY) is sending a letter, signed by 29 organizations, more than 300 scientists, physicians, and community health advocates, to Dr. Francis Collins, Director of the US National Institutes of Health (NIH), Dr. Anthony Fauci, Director of the National Institute for Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), and Alex Azar, Secretary of Health and Human Services, along with officials on the House Oversight Committee and the Senate Health Committee.

The letter expresses outrage at the canceling of a major R01 grant to the EcoHealth Alliance, an international collaboration that studies coronaviruses in bats to determine how they may evolve to transmit in human populations. We demand immediate reinstatement of the R01 to EcoHealth Alliance.

Signatories of the letter – which include scientists from many top research institutions across the US including Harvard, Yale, Stanford, University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania, University of Wisconsin, University of Florida, University of California San Francisco, University of Washington, AstraZeneca, and Columbia University – called for immediate release of the NIH R01 funds to EcoHealth and for an investigation into the decision-making process that canceled the grant funding in the first place.

The NIH must not cancel awarded grants for purely political reasons

On May 1, 2020, Science Magazine reported the cancelation of a major grant to the EcoHealth Alliance, an international collaboration studying how coronaviruses transmitting in bats can evolve to spread in human populations. Based on emails reviewed by Science, this decision appears to be directly related to the Trump administration's belief in the conspiracy theory that the SARS-CoV-2 virus, the cause of COVID-19, was purposefully or accidentally released from the Wuhan Institute of Virology. The Wuhan Institute of Virology was a participant in the EcoHealth Alliance grant that was canceled.

We ask for the immediate reinstatement of the grant to EcoHealth Alliance and for a congressional investigation into the decision making process at the NIH that canceled the funding in the first place. A vibrant community of independent scientists is crucial to a functioning democracy and will be the first line of defense against another crisis that costs as many lives as the COVID-19 pandemic.

To be clear, there is no evidence of human engineering of the SARS-CoV-2 virus nor of accidental release of a laboratory viral strain. Phylogenetic analyses clearly support the evolution of the SARS-CoV-2 virus from bats in the wild.

We write in strong condemnation of political interference in scientific grantmaking. The NIH has a long and well-established protocol for scoring and funding grants, including decisions on scientific merit, productivity, and the import of research by large panels of expert scientists. During the course of an NIH grant, alterations in funding are incredibly disruptive to ongoing research projects, many of which span years if not decades.

Cancelation of a grant mid-term will disrupt the progress of research in how coronaviruses can evolve to infect humans, the exact process that birthed SARS-CoV-2, leading to hundreds of thousands of deaths worldwide. This research was always critical given the possibility of a coronavirus pandemic; it is now absolutely essential to understand how this crisis originated and to avoid another pandemic in the future. Bowing to conspiracy theories in this time of crisis to prevent necessary research may, therefore, be sowing the seeds of another crisis in the future.

In fact, the grant to EcoHealth Alliance provided critical data – including the sequences of closely related bat coronaviruses to SARS-CoV-2 – that both helped identify the origin of COVID-19 and identified remdesivir as a potential drug for the disease, allowing it to be rapidly moved into clinical trials. It is absurd and horrifying that the Trump administration would shut down a research program that led to the first promising treatment for COVID-19.

Beyond the critical importance of the research the NIH defunded, political interference in grantmaking is a disturbing trend that would allow politicians to effectively squash research that does not align with their political desires. Industry influence in research, the silencing of climate science, and long term harm of American science in the global climate become increasingly likely if politicians can easily meddle in grantmaking. We must stand united as a community of clinicians, scientists, activists, and citizens to demand the best – most transparent – scientific decision making process in this moment of crisis, and always.

Has there been any testing to see if the Ultraviolet blood irradiation (UBI) "Photoluminescence therapy" would help patients with the corona virus symptoms ? It was used in the past to treat quite a few diseases, This link is from the National Institute of Health (NIH) so it is reliable.

Possibly this treatment could be used until they come up with a vaccination for us.

Most hospitals already have at least one of these machines and it is authorized for use for direct blood transfusions by the A.M.A.. If it works for that maybe it would work against the corona virus.

Please check this out with a open mind, and if you are able let me know if the test is possible.

EVENT BACKGROUND:
Federal, State, local, and tribal officials are working to respond to COVID-19 and beginning to reopen their States and communities in a phased-approach. Governors and other state, local, and tribal leaders are expanding their testing ecosystem, including scaling and utilizing all testing capacity and improving transparency on testing options. Governors are also working to bolster contact tracing and ensure supply chain management of critical resources and healthcare capacity. Most governors are now planning, and in many cases, implementing re-open and economic recovery strategies in close coordination with private sector partners and public health leaders. Public health incidents, like natural disasters, are locally-executed, State-managed, and Federally-supported, which allows local officials who have direct relationships with private sector partners and know their communities best to drive innovative solutions.

This is the 18th governors-only briefing since January 2020 on COVID-19 organized by the Trump Administration and the 14th that the Vice President has led. In addition, IGA and Federal agencies have had over 105,000 State, local, and tribal participants in over 234 briefings since January 2020. In addition, there have been thousands of additional one-on-one communications between Federal officials and State, local, and tribal leaders.

SEQUENCE OF EVENTS:

- The Vice President welcomes governors and Federal participants and provides a high-level update on COVID-19 response and reopen efforts.
    - The Vice President asks Gov. Hogan (MD), NGA Chairman, to provide brief remarks.

- Ambassador Birx provides a testing update, thanks governors for their efforts to diversify and maximize their testing ecosystem and drive innovations in testing, and encourages continued phased and data-driven reopening decisions.
    - Gov. Hutchinson (AR) discusses the efforts of the state's testing task force, surge testing efforts, and work with Admiral Gioir's team on testing supplies.
    - Gov. Mills (ME) discusses reopen plan/guidance for opening up rural parts of her state and Maine's testing through its partnership with IDEXX Laboratories.
    - Gov. Ige (HI) discusses Hawaii's testing efforts and low positive rate.

- Secretary Azar provides a Remdesivir distribution update.

- Administrator Verma provides update on efforts to support long-term care facilities and seniors including National Nursing Home Week, getting supplies and testing to nursing homes, improving nursing home surveys, and controlling infectious diseases at nursing homes. Then the Vice President calls on following:
    - Gov. Abbott (TX) discusses efforts to survey nursing homes and protect the health and safety of nursing home residents and workers.

    - Gov. Walz (MN) discusses his five-point plan to provide more robust support for Minnesota long-term care facilities.
    - Gov. Stitt (OK) discusses efforts to utilize the National Guard to assist nursing homes in controlling the spread of COVID-19.
- Admiral Polowczyk provides an update on Project Airbridge and other efforts to replenish the commercial supply chains on needed materials along with supporting 15,400 long-term care facilities.

- The Vice President opens up the dialogue for governors to share best practices in expanding testing, advancing re-open strategies, and managing supply chains.

- The Vice President thanks attendees and closes the call.

For attribution to NIAID:

Dr. Fauci has tested negative for CoVID-19, and he will continue to be tested regularly. He is actively monitoring his temperature and other health indicators. He is considered to be at relatively low risk based on the degree of his exposure. Nevertheless he is taking appropriate precautions to mitigate risk to any of his personal contacts while still allowing him to carry out his responsibilities in this public health crisis.

(CNN story has characterized this correctly; Dr. Fauci used the term "modified quarantine" in a telephone conversation with Jake Tapper.)

I read you were in modified quarantine. So sorry. I will keep you in my prayers. Please take care of yourself. And Get some much needed rest, it's good for the immune system!
America loves you. And we need you.
We all appreciate all you have done for our country and medicine. If it weren't for you, Dr. Birx, Scott Gottlieb, and Andrew Cuomo leadership, I don't know what would have become of our country. I know your job can't be easy. I am guessing,it takes the patience of Job.
and thank you for all you did re food allergy research! And sorry for the hell I raised with you years ago! A momma bear has to fight for her cubs!
Funny, how now....everything before coronavirus seems so so long ago, and far away.
speaking of which, my peanut allergic daughter (b) (6), the one whom I advocated for, after reading you were in quarantine, said, OMG, we need Dr. FAuci. I so hope he is okay.
Just so you know, it isn't only older women, (as Brad Pitt said,who are cheering for you ;)
so, I have read you are friends with and communicate with Andrew Cuomo. Well, please tell him thank you as well for his leadership, common sense, and pragmatic dive into the weeds/ working the problems ! He is doing a hell of a job!
I think Cuomos Noontime Press conferences, will be remembered in history very much like FDRs fireside chats... Much needed leadership, encouragement, and humanity in trying times.

I wish Andrew Cuomo would run for Pres. In 2020. He is extremely popular in the Midwest. Midwestern are very pragmatic folks, and like respect people who can problem solve.
my very Republican leaning husband listens to Cuomo's noon time press conference every day, and said he would vote for him.
If that isn't a sign Andrew Cuomo should run for Pres, I don't know what is!! 😂
My 30 yr liberal daughter and her friends listen to him as well. And my independent best friend also listens to him everyday, and loves him. He has very high ratings and broad appeal.
That is someone we need in the White House, in our challenging times. Someone who is widely respected by a varied group of people. His leadership, NYC tenacity, his grit, humanity, good humor, and heart are just what America needs desperately .
(oh, sorry, I know you can't/don't do politics.)

well then, call this, so,e some grass root feedback from flyover country for Governor Cuomo.

Trump is a disaster. He must go.
As an ex nurse, I am increasingly concerned re Biden's mental sharpness/acuity, stuttering and stammering, slower thinking. Hopefully I am wrong. But I doubt it. If so, He should do the wise thing, and step aside, if he is having mental sharpness issues. That is the right thing to do.
I think Biden could be a disaster in debates, if he stutters,rambles, stammers like he has been doing.

Cuomo is what this country needs to get us thru coronavirus. He is a natural born communicator, public educator, and shown excellent leadership . If the Dems can't sideline Biden, then at least have Cuomo as his running mate. Forget all that political correctness, and diversity stuff, for a Democratic VP, we can always resume that dance, after a vaccine. Right now, in corona crises time, we need a leader and problem solver in the the WH. And it just so happens to be Andrew Cuomo.

As you know, The economic repercussions of this are just beginning. We aren't going back regular economy.
We are going back to a 6ft. Social distancing Economy, at best.

And It isn't going to be pretty. State and local revenues are down 40%, While facing increasing public needs.
The federal government is spending trillions.
Most small business owners, which is a huge portion of our economy, don't think they can last 6 more months. Hospitals are operating at half capacity. Here in Michigan, Beaumont, Henry Ford, and the U of Mich, all large hospital systems, are all laying off 1500 staff each, due to the high cost of Covid care and decreased hospital revenues. today, Mnunchen said unemployment will hit 30%. Or north of that. Depression levels.
We will need public works projects that can assure social distancing, and a paycheck for unemployed, or some kind of guaranteed minimum income. Or there will be social unrest. We Do not want social unrest, particularly in a country with as many firearms as there are in America.
the rednecks are already getting squirrelly.
I read today, the Chinese communist is becoming increasing concerned re unemployment there, as social unrest could topple the communist party. they are wise to acknowledge the risk. Social unrest can topple any kind of government.

We will require tenacity, thoughtful leadership, creative problem solving, and get us thru the challenges ahead.
Please tell your friend, Andrew Cuomo, I hope and pray he runs for President.
i think Cuomo the right man for the job, in our challenging times.

And please, take very good care of yourself while in Quarantine. And rest up.
Remember, this is a marathon, not a sprint.
also, remember,

Subject: Origin of COVID-19

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I completely disagree with your assessment of the COVID-19 virus. Right now you're probably thinking the following about me: "Anybody can claim to be an expert even when they have no idea what they're talking about."

I am not claiming to be an expert, but right now I'm batting 100% and you're batting somewhere around 0%. I am somewhat good with statistics.

Unfortunately, if you continue to be wrong on COVID-19, many more people will die around the world. It will take us much longer to stop this killer virus if we are wrong about its origins. Do you not agree?

Last week you declared COVID-19 an act of nature (God) that absolutely did not receive a helping hand from the CCP:

National Geographic reported that "Fauci, the director of the U.S. National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, shot down the discussion that has been raging among politicians and pundits" and that you 100% supported the postulate that the virus behind the pandemic was not made in a lab in China

According to you, "A number of very qualified evolutionary biologists have said that everything about the stepwise evolution over time (of COVID-19) strongly indicates that it evolved in nature and then jumped species." Are you sure these biologists were not political scientists…aka…socialists? You probably trust them just like you trust the very honest and politically neutral WHO. How did that work out for you?

Disease Expert: Flu a Bigger Risk in the US Than Coronavirus (FEB. 15, 2020)

"The Flu is a Real and Present Issue"

Fauci says something the public should be paying more attention to, however, is the flu. "The flu is a real and present issue that we are going through right now," Fauci said. "We're so used to every year having the seasonal flu that we sort of take it for granted. It's part of life. And yet each year it kills from [30,000] to 79, 80,000 on our worst year."

So you were playing along with the WHO political scientists' narrative on the flu being much worse than the Wuhan virus and this has cost many lives. What a bloody Valentine that turned out to be. Are you willing to admit that you were wrong on Feb 15th or are you still playing WHO's puppet? More than three weeks before you made your very wrong statement that was a death sentence to many, I was trying to convince a very politically influential friend of mine that COVID-19 was much, much worse than the seasonal flu and that we were just about out of time if we wanted to isolate it. It is possible that President Trump instituted a travel ban to China because of my friend's recommendation. I also told her that we're going to have a lot more than 200,000 dead Americans in one year as you were trying to convince US that we will reach maybe 60,000 fatalities in August. You even missed the boat on the facemasks….because clearly facemasks cannot stop droplets.

So far, I got everything on COVID-19 right….and you….not so much right. And so we come to the very important topic of COVID-19 origin. But before I continue, I want to assure you that the fact that you were so wrong on so many things does not make your argument on the origin of this virus any weaker. I am not a political scientist and I only care about the truth and I think people should be told the truth. If I got everything else right and this one thing wrong then so be it. Honestly, I hope and pray that I am wrong about this….and it would make me very happy if you are right…that the CCP had nothing to do with this virus jumping species….because clearly this is impossible to do in a lab.

And so, the question remains: are you certain that it was not possible for a Chinese bio lab to accelerate the evolution of this COVID-19 virus by passing it from one species to another and then to another…in numerous combinations and permutations? I say it was possible….you say it wasn't.

A biological weapon that cannot be traced to a lab is much more dangerous and powerful than the one that can. If the CCP did culture and cultivate this virus in their labs, then certainly they have multiple strains…some weaker…some more lethal. Luckily for the CCP, they have powerful and influential people like you defending their evil actions….accidental or not accidental…or most likely a combination of both…..but that's a question for another time.

I thank you for your hard work and dedication. I know that you want the best for humanity.

For attribution to NIAID:

Dr. Fauci has tested negative for CoVID-19, and he will continue to be tested regularly. He is actively monitoring his temperature and other health indicators. He is considered to be at relatively low risk based on the degree of his exposure. Nevertheless he is taking appropriate precautions to mitigate risk to any of his personal contacts while still allowing him to carry out his responsibilities in this public health crisis.

(CNN story has characterized this correctly; Dr. Fauci used the term "modified quarantine" in a telephone conversation with Jake Tapper.)

Subject: Supervisor Safai Excelsior District

Supervisor Safai

As the Supervisor over the Excelsior District there are important things you need to do, for the safety of the families in the Excelsior neighborhood.

The ice cream vendors with their push carts still invade this neighborhood, between noon and 5pm, sometimes a solo vendor.

There are families with infants and toddlers who need to nap, people that work at night, the elderly or sick that need to sleep.

This can't be done when vendors continue to walk the streets with their loud bells hanging from their push carts. They make the rounds usually every 15 to 20 minutes, so it's impossible to take a nap, or sleep during the day for the people who work at night.

There also could be a tie between these push cart vendors and the deadly Coronavirus.

Who knows where the ice cream products are made, how and under what conditions. Some are knock-offs, where's the factory or distribution center, how are the ice cream products kept, are there unsanitary conditions?

The vendors need to go. Someone could become sick without leaving their home, through the contamination of handling money, products or the vendors could be sick.

This "shout out" appreciation is great, but not in neighborhoods so far from the hospitals, doctors and nurses who are treating the Coronavirus victims.

Five minutes of banging on a steel drum with a metal hammer is grossly inconsiderate of the people and families who live in this neighborhood.

The elderly, disabled and dying at home, the infants and toddlers who need uninterrupted sleep, and the people who work the graveyard shift, they need to sleep during the day.

The Coronavirus isn't going anywhere, it will become part of our life forever. Everything will change and there's no going back.
As depressing as it is, the people of the Excelsior District don't need the added problem of loud noise each evening at 7pm.

Do you have the authority to stop this racket?

https://www.mercurynews.com/coronavirus-7-ways-you-can-help-bay-area-doctors-and-nurses-right-now

And most importantly...didn't Governor Newsom and Mayor Breed state numerous times to "stay inside your home"?

If so, then why are there so many people walking, jogging, bicycling, skateboarding throughout the Excelsior district, especially near Crocker Amazon Park?

What makes these people feel entitled? When the majority of San Franciscans have bunkered down with their families, and have followed the Governor's/Mayor's rule to STAY INSIDE YOUR HOME.

You need to ENFORCE that rule or President Trump's next step will be bringing in the militia to cities who haven't obeyed this warning.
As with any militia they are given the authority to arrest civilians, and shoot to kill anyone who threatens them with bodily harm.

To prevent this nightmare from getting out of control, you MUST ENFORCE the stay-at-home rule. Pet owners will say that they have to walk their dogs...they can use their backyards.

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

I'm a great admirer of the intelligence, experience, equilibrium, integrity, and compassion you've brought to the Covid-19 crisis. You've been one of the few leaders we can trust to tell the vital truths ro the American people.

So please don't fail us now. Testify before Congress again, as they have requested, even in the face of Mr. Trump's defiant and dangerous behavior. Listen, if he fires you, at this point you're so well known and trusted that you'll still have the ability to talk to us through myraid high-profile sources with impeccable reputations. Tony,
You have always been concerned about the health and welfare of others, now is the time for you to take care of yourself and your wife. Be safe and do all that you can to avoid this virus that has taken the lives of too many Americans already. As I've told you before, although I have been raised a Roman Catholic I am not a church goer, but my wife and I will definitely say a prayer for your continued good health. You alone are the only voice of reason and honesty that the American people believe in. I was absolutely in disbelief when President Trump said that we won't need a vaccine. Personally, I couldn't believe he would make such an outlandish statement. I'm not sure if we've ever met but I'm so proud that we come from the same family roots in Sciacca, Sicily.

Sincerely Yours,

Subject: "Fauci Syndrome" - test every child in Rhode Island for the corona virus

Dear Dr. Fauci:

I need your help in Rhode Island. Right now in Rhode Island there is no universal testing for the corona virus. People that are asymptomatic are discouraged to take the test. That idea was acceptable up to a couple of days ago. Nobody thought of the possibility of opportunistic infections as a result from the corona virus. Children are now being infected with a Kawasaki like syndrome after exposure to the corona virus. I am going to call this new syndrome the "Fauci Syndrome". The problem is the Fauci Syndrome could actually be worse than the corona virus long term.

As you know the corona virus is very contagious and has infected millions worldwide. The problem is we have no idea how many people have been infected and have not been diagnosed.

Another disturbing factor is the vast majority of children with the corona virus are asymptomatic. The onset of Fauci Syndrome can take many weeks after being infected with the corona virus. By the time the symptoms occur, there is already the potential for heart damage. The only thing worse than a late diagnosis of Fauci Syndrome is no diagnosis at all. If it follows the same characteristics of Kawasaki disease it could take years to show symptoms and increases the risk of heart attack dramatically.

I have plan that could test one million Rhode Islanders and have the results in a timely manner.

Rhode Island is diverse and would be a good subset of the United States population. We could get actual results and make more accurate projections for the rest of the country. Besides testing, Rhode Islanders could be individually taught about the corona virus and Fauci Syndrome. In addition, we could take their temperature and set a baseline for every Rhode Islander. I sent a proposal to President Trump about getting the daily case rate of the corona virus down. If possible, could you and Dr. Birx look at and make some recommendations? I have more ideas that I would like to present to you and the rest of the Corona virus task force in person. I would like to thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Subject: Unnecessary Food Sources

Dr. Fauci,

Please tell President Trump meat is a luxury and not a necessary food. Many people in India and China survive without meat and they have plenty of protein from vegetable sources. The people in India and China are overall thinner too.

This would be a great time to regulate all the fat-creating hormones put into livestock and help Americans learn about vegetable proteins. Americans who switch to a non-antibiotic filled diet, may lose weight, and reduce the burden on hospitals. It is not necessary to risk meat packers lives, when vegetable protein is available for the population.

Furthermore, since there are so many contagions coming from hoarding mass numbers of animals together, the government should look at ways to limit the meat supply. Diseases such as Mad Cow, Swine Flu, Bird Flus etc., might not have as high a chance of affecting humans, if The United States and the rest of the world promoted non-meat diets.

Thank you and good luck.

Thanks,

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Both/and problem in an either/or world

H. Holden Thorp
Editor-in-Chief, Science journals.
hthorp@aaas.org; @hholdenthorp

Before the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, nuance and candor from governments were in short supply. Now they are almost nonexistent. Protecting the world from severe acute respiratory syndrome–coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) can't happen without international scientific collaboration. Progress on vaccines in China and the United States should make us optimistic that science will solve this problem, but the actions of the governments involved are not equally inspiring.

The saber rattling by China and the United States is unnecessary, as the broad impacts of the pandemic in both countries are shared. Isn't that worth curbing nationalistic tendencies? Apparently not to China, which has rebuffed efforts to understand the origin of SARS-CoV-2. And not to the Trump administration either, which can't grasp that it's possible to question the actions of the Chinese government about the early days of the pandemic while embracing collaboration with Chinese science. In a worldwide pandemic, isn't it best for everyone to cooperate and try to save all of humanity together?

"The saber rattling by China and the United States is unnecessary..."

We need a both/and approach, but we are living in an either/or world.

The latest setback is the decision by the U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH) to terminate the grant "Understanding the Risk of Bat Coronavirus Emergence" to Peter Daszak of the nonprofit EcoHealth Alliance, who, with NIH approval, shared one in five grant dollars with Shi Zhengli, a top coronavirologist at China's Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV) . We are asked to believe that the highly ranked project was killed because even though it sought to prevent the next bat-originating human pandemic, it did not "align" with the NIH's goals and priorities. This comes while the administration is propping up and circulating the unproven theory that the virus escaped from the Shi lab at the WIV, when the science is clearly in favor of zoonotic transfer in nature.

The genetic sequence of SARS-CoV-2 rules out a lab-engineered virus. And although escape from a lab of a naturally occurring virus that was isolated from bat specimens collected by scientists cannot be completely eliminated as the origin, the closest laboratory version of the virus (published by Shi and collaborators) is separated from SARS-CoV-2 by at least 20 years of evolutionary time. SARS-CoV-2 would have had to have escaped from the lab decades ago—or, another virus that was brought into the lab and not documented somehow escaped. Either way, only a chain of unlikely events could explain laboratory involvement.

The U.S. administration instructed its intelligence community to investigate this matter. Last week, these intelligence agencies ruled out that the virus was lab-engineered. They have not reached any conclusions about whether a virus might have escaped from the lab. But in the absence of evidence, the administration will likely turn uncertainty into "truth"—a lab escape—that serves its narrative.

Even in the face of the intelligence report to the contrary, U.S. Secretary of State Michael Pompeo initially said that "the best experts so far seem to think it was man-made." Apparently, the best experts are neither scientists nor intelligence experts. Pompeo claims to have additional evidence that we are unlikely to see, if it even exists.

What would we have learned from the research that got squashed? Daszak and his colleagues were working to pinpoint hotspots in southern China with a high risk of bat-to-human transfer (most likely with an intermediary species involved) of coronaviruses. It might be good to find those hotspots if we don't want to go through all of this again. And as important, the bat coronavirus sequences identified at the WIV were used in lab tests of the drug remdesivir, currently the only scientifically supported treatment for COVID-19. Vanderbilt University's Mark Denison, who helped advance the drug, said of the Alliance's research, "Our work on remdesivir absolutely would not have moved forward" without it.

I feel for, and admire, our scientific colleagues in the U.S. federal government. They are giving all they've got to protect the American public and others under impossible circumstances. Before the pandemic, the NIH went overboard to deal with foreign influence in U.S. research because of the nationalistic pressure it was under. Now, the agency is trying to dodge political lunges from an administration that puts political success above human life.

The tyranny of either/or is that we only survive on our own. The promise of both/and is that the world is imperfect but we're all in this together.

Diana Andrade claims right-wing provocateur Jacob Wohl and frequent accomplice Jack Burkman were behind the scheme

This article originally appeared on Raw Story

A woman who had accused Dr. Anthony Fauci of sexual assault now claims she was paid to lie about the public health expert by a pair of President Donald Trump's supporters.

The woman says right-wing provocateur Jacob Wohl and his frequent accomplice Jack Burkman persuaded her to cast Fauci as the assailant using details from an actual sexual assault she survived just after high school, and they paid her to do it, reported Reason.

"The reality is that I've known Jacob since 2018 and that he charmed me into taking money to do this (see attached picture of us together)," said Diana Andrade in an email to the website. "[They also] had me do something like this . . . back in January."

Andrade said she decided to abandon her claims and try to record incriminating evidence against the pair after Wohl asked her to find another woman to accuse Fauci of sexual assault — as they've done to former special counsel Robert Mueller and Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-MA).

"Let me tell you something, Diana," says Burkman on the nine-minute, 35-second call. "This guy shut the country down. He put 40 million people out of work. In a situation like that, you have to make up whatever you have to make up to stop that train and that's the way life works, OK? That's the way it goes."

Andrade reminds the pair that COVID-19 was dangerous, and asked them to take the outbreak seriously — but Burkman seemed excited about mass deaths.

"Mother Nature has to clean the barn every so often," Burkman says. "How real is it? Who knows? So what if 1 percent of the population goes? So what if you lose 400,000 people? 200,000 were elderly, the other 200,000 are the bottom of society. You got to clean out the barn. If it's real, it's a positive thing, for God's sake."

Andrade sounded horrified by his "survival of the fittest" argument, and then Wohl begged her to keep her mouth shut and stick with her story.

"What could be wrong, Diana?" Wohl asks. "You did a good job. You got paid. What's the problem? What seems to be the issue? You're freaking out. You're texting me late at night. What's the issue?"

Andrade asks whether a man who hand-delivered five figures to her in Los Angeles was actually a lawyer, as the pair claimed, and Wohl boasts that the attorney has White House connections.

"Yeah, he's a real lawyer," Wohl says. "He's a good lawyer."

Shortly after the call ended, Andrade decided to send the recording to Reason and expose the pair's nefarious scheme.

"I don't know how they do all these things and why they do all these things," Andrade said. "Also, he tried to frame Mueller . . . I'm like, how is he not in jail?"

Subject: Prioritize non-animal models for studying COVID-19

From: (b) (6) <(b) (6)>

Message:

I'm so tired of hearing how animals are being subjected to illness and torture all for nothing most of the time. They have feelings just like people and are far more kind than most people. Test it on Trump !!

I am very disturbed to learn that NIAID's Strategic Plan for combatting COVID-19 prioritizes creating animal models while omitting any attempt to utilize advanced human-mimetic models.
Not only do animals have a poor prediction rate in immunity and virology but there is no animal species that accurately recapitulates COVID-19 as seen in humans.
Mice are poor models for studying COVID-19 infections in humans because of key differences in the ACE2 receptors of mice and humans. Even transgenic mice, bred with altered ACE2 receptors, exhibit only mild symptoms in comparison with humans.
Likewise, nonhumane primates fail to develop symptoms when infected with COVID-19.
Indeed, NIAID's Strategic Plan admits that "replicating human disease, particularly its more severe manifestations, in an animal model may be challenging."
The director of the Stanford Institute for Immunology noted the failure of animal models, particularly mice and monkeys, explaining that animal research has produced "many interesting results but very few cures." [Annual Review of Immunology 2018 36:1, 843-864]
Organoids, organ chips and other cellular models created from human cells can be used to study the efficacy and safety of drug treatments and potential vaccines on the human body.
The Wyss Institute has already demonstrated that its lung chips can be infected with the virus and Viscient Biosciences is creating lung tissue models using the cells of patients infected with COVID-19 in order to "see the true biology and quickly find a therapy that will work in clinical trials."
NIAID's plan to put precious resources towards creating animal models for COIVD-19 is deeply disturbing given the profound lack of scientific evidence to support this strategy.
I respectfully request that the NIAID prioritize superior, human-relevant methods to study COVID-19.

rotamers (plural noun)

any of a number of isomers of a molecule that can be interconverted by rotation of part of the molecule around a particular bond.

Rotamers are conformational isomers that differ by rotation about a single σ bond. The rotational barrier is the activation energy required to convert one rotamer to another.

rotamer: (rō'ta-mĕr), An isomer differing from other conformation(s) only in rotational positioning of its parts, such as synperiplanar and synclinal forms.

Some stereochemistry terms

a torsion angle between 0° and ± 30° is called synperiplanar (sp), also called syn- or cis-conformation a torsion angle between 30° to 90° and –30° to –90° is called synclinal (sc), also called gauche or skew a torsion angle between 90° and 150° or –90° and –150° is called anticlinal (ac)

a torsion angle between ± 150° and 180° is called antiperiplanar (ap), also called anti- or trans-conformation

Torsional strain results from resistance to twisting about a bond.

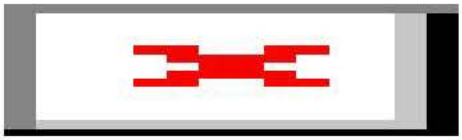
So the first step is to create a molecule, we could draw it out, build step by step, for instance add the benzene ring in this case, add the carboxyl group, add the hydroxyl group (to the ortho hydrogen), acetylate etc..



or if you are clever (like the Alchemist), use the SMILES format, and get 'er done!

built the aspirin molecule by typing:

O(C(=O)C)c1c(C(=O)O)cccc1

Subject: Regarding the coronavirus

Dear Dr. Fauci, Thank you for giving us the facts on how to proceed with this pandemic and for taking such good care of Chris Cuomo.

There have been some disturbing conspiracy theories circulating about you lately. A film maker Mikki Willis interviewed a Dr. Mikovits who was employed with you at one time??? The video has since been taken down. Her testimony had a very convincing style--this was a YouTube video where the film maker interviewed Dr. Mikovits. She claims that you withheld HIV information for several months while the virus spread and that you and a colleague took credit for her work on a paper. That you framed her and she was sent to jail. That the flu vaccine that was given to people in Italy last year (which she claimed has a mostly elderly population with underlying conditions (which I don't think is true) made them more susceptible to COVID 19. She says that it is all a race to get a vaccine and that you and someone like Bill Gates stand to profit greatly from the patent of such a vaccine (and that you have also profited from other treatments and vaccines). She claims that she is not against vaccines because they are immuntherapy and she has spent her career in this area but that certain flu vaccines contain traces of the coronaviruses and that there is no effective vaccine for these types of viruses. The filmmaker had other medical doctors speaking (without identifying them) who said that the COVID cases are being skewered for hospital payment to doctors ($9,000 for an admission of COVID and I think $37,000 if they go on a ventilator which she says is not the right treatment for this virus. That we are doing the exact opposite of what we should be doing and that staying home and washing our hands does not allow the body's immune system to fight the disease and when we reenter society there will be a spike because we have suppressed the immune system. No mention about this being a new virus that no one has built up a resistance against. Also that Hydroxicloroquin and Zinc work but aren't being used so that the numbers spike, everyone lives in fear waiting for a vaccine and then when it comes everyone will have to have it or not be allowed to go out.

So those are some serious charges--and made me quite upset. I feel that it is a campaign to perhaps have an excuse to get you fired and to get President Trump re-elected by blaming others for his own missteps (of which I think there have been many). So my question to you--can you defend your actions from these accusations. I do not think you would be a man to get people sick in order to profit from a vaccine--but let me tell you the filmmaker used his skills to sound very convincing. Please tell me none of this is true and thank you for your dedication to what I hope to be the truth and the saving of human life.

Most sincerely,

Dear Tony,
good to hear from you! Unfortunately, the problem of vaccines is real here in Italy also thanks to the equivocal position of the government.
Next week, I will be in (b) (6)
Last year, the Academia dei Lincei delivered a document on vaccines prepared by Guido Forni, Alberto Mantovani, , Giovanni Rezza and myself. See attached this document. The Italian version has been largely diffused to hospitals,schools , Academies etc.....
Today, I wrote to the other authors of the document to ask whether they will be available to meeting with Mike. Alberto will not be available(in London). I have still to receive a reply from Guido and Giovanni.
In particular, it would be crucial that Mike may interact with Giovanni Rezza, head of the Infectious Diseases Department at Istituto Superiore di Sanità (our NIH!), particularly because,in addition to be aan excellent and serious scientist, he is more updated and more familiar with social and no-vax problems.
Do you know when Mike will arrive in Florence? I'm asking this because I will be at the WAO Meeting in Florence from tomorrow until sunday 9 (I will deliver the closing lecture at 2pm before leaving to Padova).

I will keep you updated on the availability of Guido and Giovanni. I might also put him in touch with the head of the Department of Pediatrics here at the Bambino Gesù, Alberto Villani, who is expert on vaccines as well.

Thank you and best personal regards,

Lorenzo

Tony,

Have you focused at all on the momentum of the anti-vax movement in Italy, or do you know someone who has? I'm going to be in Italy next week (mainly Florence) and was thinking of doing something on the disturbing connection between populism and anti-vax activism. We have a bit of that with Trump. But it seems to be becoming a serious political factor in Italy. Any worried, English-speaking Italian health authorities that might speak to me?

Abstract

The novel coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) has rapidly increased in pandemic scale since it first appeared in Wuhan, China, in December 2019. In these troubled days the scientific community is asking rapid replies to prevent and combat the emergency. It is generally accepted that only achieving a better understanding of the interactions between the virus and host immune response and of the pathogenesis of infection is crucial to identify valid therapeutic tools to control virus entry, replication and spread as well as to impair its lethal effects. Based on the recent research progress of SARS-CoV-2 and the results on previous coronaviruses, in this contribution we underscore some of the main unsolved problems, mostly focusing on pathogenetic aspects and host immunity to the virus. On this basis, we also touch important aspects regarding the immune response in asymptomatic subjects, the immune-evasion of SARS-CoV-2 in severe patients and differences in disease severity by age and gender.

NIH 000874

The recent spread of the SARS-COV-2 pandemia revealed an unprecedented threat for humanity. As for other novel pathogens we are virtually disarmed against SARS-COV-2, while an efficient protection will be possible only after development of an effective vaccine. In these days, while the virus is rapidly spreading through the world, many urgent questions arise on how to combat its deleterious effects in infected patients. This implies to be able to answer many questions on the virus itself, on the pathogenesis of infection, on the host immune response and to identify therapeutic tools to control virus entry into the cells, its replication and spread as well as its lethal effects.

Here, we underscore some of the main unsolved problems, mostly focusing on pathogenetic aspects and host immune response to virus. On this basis, we will also touch important aspects regarding asymptomatic subjects and differences in severity of the disease by age and gender.

Immune responses against viruses are rather heterogeneous. An efficient intervention of innate immunity, with its cellular and soluble components, is fundamental to combat the early phases of a primary infection by cytopathic viruses. In the case of Influenza-virus, such early phases, characterised by the intervention of interferons type I (IFN), NK cells and other cells of the innate Immunity, are followed by the generation of virus-specific CD8+ cytolytic T lymphocytes (CTL) which may control viremia after 3-4 days. The first, low affinity, IgM specific antibodies (Abs) appear after 6-7 days while the high affinity IgG and IgA Abs require 3-4 weeks. This time interval implies that Abs do not contribute to the recovery from a primary influenza infection, while they protect from secondary infections and can be used for seroprophylaxis. The situation is quite different in non-cytopathic virus infections such as HBV, in which the immune response itself may cause major damages to the host. In this case, the viral load and the quality of immune response determine different outcomes ranging from complete recovery to fulminant hepatitis. Influenza virus and HBV infections are two paradigmatic and opposite conditions. However, an array of immune response-virus interactions and consequent pathologies exist.[1] Unraveling such interactions occurring in coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) will be a crucial challenge to better address more effective therapeutic strategies.

First, we do not have information on the innate responses to SARS-CoV-2. For example, the reported lymphopenia may suggest a deficiency in NK cells (which provide an important cellular barrier during early viral infections) in patients with severe disease. Both phenotypic and functional studies on NK subsets should be performed in these patients in comparison with pauci-symptomatic or asymptomatic ones. It may well be that, in the latter individuals, an efficient innate response may control the virus and/or allow sufficient time to mount an efficient T cell response resulting in absent or mild symptoms. Detection of high numbers of CD8+ T cells in peripheral blood (PB) and evidence of their specificity for viral peptides would provide a clue for an ongoing effective, cell-mediated immune response. Of note, in the case of COVID-19, given the relatively long interval between viral infection and the onset of symptoms, this T-cell-mediated adaptive immune response, crucial in the control of infections by influenza virus, could escape detection.

Importantly, we also lack clear information on the production of specific and neutralizing Abs (NAbs), crucial for the establishment of a protective immunity. Abs specific for the so-called Receptor Binding Domain (RBD) on S protein are considered the main targets of NAbs which is a prerequisite for protection against respiratory

Coronaviruses (rCoVs). Cocktails of Abs specific for RBD and other regions of the S protein may further improve the effect of NAbs against SARS-CoV-2 and, eventually, its mutant strains. However, it is not yet clear whether human hyperimmune globulins from recovered patients may allow a successful seroprophylaxis. Of note, in SARS patients, some NAbs targeting non-RBD regions of S protein caused an antibody-dependent enhancement effect on viral infectivity and disease.[1] A very recent study on 26 patient who recovered from COVID-19 revealed that, while the majority developed Abs specific for S protein, only in 3 cases they were specific for the RBD domain.[2] Although these data may pose serious questions regarding the establishment of a protective immunity, they may offer an important clue for selecting appropriate epitopes in the development of effective vaccines. Since S protein or mRNA are being used in novel vaccine preparations, the previous finding poses serious problems on the efficacy of induced Abs response and imposes to establish the protection degree given by memory T cells. Another hurdle is expected in the use of effective adjuvants, particularly because elderly people are frequently highly susceptible to the virus and poor responders to vaccinations. Table 1 summarizes the main aspects of immunity towards the three rCoVs.[3-6]

Thus, at present, immunologic studies suffer of important limitations related to i. lack of information on asymptomatic individuals who could mount highly effective cellular and/or humoral immune responses, ii. scarce knowledge of the changes in PB lymphocyte numbers, composition and function in individuals with progressive disease, iii. no data on the regulatory mechanisms (cells and cytokines) during infection impairing the clearance of the virus and favoring its immune evasion.

Further important information on immune mechanisms capable of controlling COVID-19 may come from females and pediatric patients. Indeed, in most instances, children develop a mild form of the disease (if any). Different explanations could be proposed. Thus children, in view of the high plasticity of their adaptive responses, particularly in their B cell compartment, could more efficiently clear the virus.[7] To this favorable situation may contribute also innate immunity, challenged/trained by frequent infections and by vaccines/adjuvants administered in early life. In addition, the lower susceptibility of children to SARS-CoV-2 could be due to the lower density of ACE-2 receptors as compared to adults.[8]

The lower frequency of infection and mortality in women could be related to hormonal and genetic differences, to lower incidence of comorbidities affecting the lung (COPD, smoke, etc), or to higher prevalence of autoimmune- and allergic disorders, as the result of some decreased regulatory mechanism. In comparison with men, women usually show: i. less viral load levels and less inflammation with higher CD4+ T cells and Abs responses; ii lower expression of serine protease TMPRSS2 (the S protein priming) in tissues and ACE2 in the lung; iii. overexpressed TLR8, CD40L, CXCR3 (encoded by X chromosome) all influencing anti-viral response; iv. overexpressed TLR7 (the crucial sensor for RNA viruses as SARS-CoV-2) which, when triggered by the virus, leads to higher IFN and lower IL-6 production.[9-12.]

Indeed, in the near future, the relationships between the severe COVID-19 infection and the immuno-mediated diseases shall be extensively evaluated. As allergy is concerned, some reports of Wuhan hospitalized case series indicate that this group of diseases, in particular asthma, does not represent a risk factor for SARS-CoV-2 morbidity and mortality.[13,14] The few suitable data, however, do not allow to establish whether these disorders may constitute a protective factor for the infection or the related mechanisms. Among them we could hypothesize that: i. the atopic status itself associated to the impairment of some regulatory mechanism may favor anti-viral immunity, ii. the higher proportion of activated eosinophils in allergy may play some protective role, while these cells are usually strongly reduced in COVID-19 infection[13], iii. the topical administration of anti-allergic therapies may directly protect the patients' airways from viral spread, taking into account that some coronavirus strains are inhibited in vitro by combinations of nebulized asthma therapeuticals.[15] Finally, very recently it has been shown that epithelial cells of respiratory mucosa from allergic patients express less ACE2 molecules than healthy donors and that IL-13, a crucial molecule of type 2 response, is negatively related to the ACE2 expression.[16]

Other important missing information regards the mechanisms by which the virus may escape the immune response. Of note, data on rCoVs, including SARS-CoV-2, indicate that these pathogens are particularly prone to evade immune detection and dampen human immune responses.[17] Taking into account that susceptible HLA aplotypes, high viral load and previous impaired immunity may contribute to the virus escape of immune response, based on the knowledge of other human rCoVs, some other not-mutually exclusive mechanisms of immune evasion can be hypothesized for SARS-CoV-2 (Fig. 1).

The first mechanism relies on early inhibition of type I interferon (IFN) recognition and signaling by infected cells. In rCoVs IFN is suppressed through different mechanisms directly or indirectly interfering with the signaling of RNA receptors.[18] Present limitations concern whether and how much the reduced IFN production may compromise the viral control, leading to severe consequences to infected host. Data of the timing of IFN response could be informative also for therapy: some intensive care (IC) units in Italy included inhaled IFN-1β in therapeutic protocols.

Related to the previous mechanism is the possible early functional inhibition/alteration of cells of the innate immunity such as macrophages, DC and NK cells. Thus, beside a possible cytopathic effect of the virus, viral TLR ligands could directly or indirectly induce an unwanted polarization of these cells towards inefficient type-2 responses. This would have deleterious consequences not only on the anti-virus activity of the innate cells themselves (i.e. sharply compromised NK cytotoxicity and production of useful cytokines, M2 polarization of macrophages, etc) but also on downstream adaptive responses. These could reflect an impaired NK-mediated DC editing, the activity of M2 macrophages etc.[19,20] As a consequence neither Th1- or Tc1-mediated efficient anti-virus responses could be elicited. Concerning the cytopathic activity of the virus, lymphopenia has been described in more than 80% of IC patients and correlates with disease severity. The few data from autopsies indicated that lung infiltrates consist of activated macrophages with minimal lymphocytic component associated with lymphocyte depletion in spleen.[21] It has been shown that SARS-CoV and MERS-CoV directly infect T cells, contributing to lymphopenia and atrophy of lymphoid tissues, thus representing a key component in the viral-induced pathogenesis.[1] It is urgent to confirm and expand these data and to acquire solid information on cytopathic activity of the virus on cell subsets.

Another mechanism concerns the adaptive immune response to the virus: antigen presentation via MHC class I/II may be compromised by infected APC, leading to impaired T cell response.[22] An unanswered question concerns the rate of viral mutations and its possible superantigen components leading to chronic stimulation with exhaustion of T cell response. In addition, the hyperproduction of cytokines by monocytes/macrophages may favor T cell suppression or deviation to less protective cell profiles (i.e. Th2).[23] The detection of circulating effector and regulatory memory T cells or adaptive cytokines during the early phases of infection when lymphopenia is still mild, could be informative for prognosis.[4,24] Notably, the identification of conserved immunodominant T cell epitopes, shall have implications for vaccine design.[25,26]

One or more of the immune evasion mechanisms with other factors as, for instance, the different viral load or the prexisting impaired immune response can likely contribute to the immunopathogenesis of COVID-19 (Fig.2). Of note, when the infected organism is unable to mount an adequate immune response to the virus, as a compensatory mechanism, a persistent monocyte/macrophage-induced hyperinflammation predominates. Among other sensors, viral RNAs are essentially recognized by TLRs (as TLR7/8, TLR3) activating three intracellular pathways leading to the IFN production (through MyD88 and IRF7), expression of costimulatory molecules for T cell activation (through TRAF6 and IRF3) and production of pro-inflammatory molecules (through p38MAPK and AP-1). It has been hypothesized that the inhibition by rCoVs of the first two pathways at different levels may favor the hyperactivation of p38MAPK in infected monocytes/macrophages leading to hyperproduction of cytokines, chemokines and acute phase proteins.[27] Indeed most IC patients with COVID-19 show high levels of cytokines (IL-1β, IL-6, TNFα) and chemokines (CCL2, CCL3, CCL5, CXCL8, CXCL10), indicating overexpression of a pro-inflammatory condition (the so-called Macrophage Activation Syndrome) in disease progression and explaining the massive homing of immune cells into tissues.[1,28] Indeed a proportion of severe patients develops a hypersensitivity-like pneumonia and a subsequent acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) sustained by a Cytokine Release Syndrome (CRS). Others can develop a secondary Hemophagocytic Lymphohistiocytosis (sHLH), a hyperinflammatory condition characterized by a fulminant and fatal hypercytokinemia with multiorgan failure, just reported in some COVID-19.[29] Finally some patients can develop a Disseminated Intravascular Coagulation (DIC) due to the cytokine-driven epithelial and endothelial cell damage/apoptosis with increased vascular leakage,[30] hyperexpression of tissue factors and chronic triggering of coagulation.[31] ARDS, CRS, sHLH and DIC constitute the final pathological pictures of COVID-19, each being able to set off the multiorgan failure and death. (Fig.2) Importantly, comorbidities and concomitant therapies (ACE-inhibitors?) can influence/enhance the above cascade of events.

Therefore, during infection it is crucial to monitor the cytokines responsible for hyperinflammation and to block their activity by using approved therapies addressed to reduce the rising mortality (i.e. Tocilizumab -anti-IL-6R-, Anakinra -IL-1RA-, TNF-α blockers, JAK inhibitors). Notably, clinical trials with Tocilizumab and Anakinra have been recently approved in different countries. In addition, the autoptic reliefs indicate the presence of widespread microthrombi with widening of the downstream vessels: for this reason the use of low molecular weight heparin has been approved in severe COVID-19 by Drug Italian Agency.

In conclusion, we urgently need to acquire basic information on how immune system recognises SARS-COV-2 and how it may contribute to the severity of disease process. Understanding the immunopathogenesis of COVID-19 may provide important clues for effective treatments of this disease.

Legends to the Figures

Immune evasion of SARS-COV-2 may be favored in individuals with compromised ability to mount efficient immune responses such as old people and patients with immunodeficiency or individuals carrying HLA alleles unable to properly present SARS-COV-2 peptides to T lymphocytes. In addition, a high viral load may overcome the barriers of the immune responses.

Notably, viruses escaping control may inhibit type-1 IFN, infect cells of both innate and adaptive immunity by exerting a cytopathic effect. In turn, the compromised function of immune cells and the impaired anti-viral effect of IFN would further favor immune evasion, resulting in highly detrimental pathological effects.

The mechanisms of immune evasion adopted by SARS-CoV-2 with other factors as the viral load or the impaired immune response can contribute to the immunopathogenesis of COVID-19. In the presence of a defective clearance of the virus a persistent hyperactivation of monocyte/macrophage compartment predominates as a compensatory mechanism. This in turn leads to overproduction of cytokines and chemokines, altered homing of cells into the lung and other tissues, epithelial and endothelial damage with overexpression of tissue factor and persistent thrombophilia. Each of these biological changes may be responsible of some pathological conditions (partially overlapping) observed in COVID-19 as the Cytokine Release Syndrome, the Macrophage Activation Syndrome, the Interstitial Pneumonia with Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome, the Secondary Hemophagocytic Lymphohistiocytosis, the Disseminated Intravascular Coagulation. Each disorder constitutes the final pathological pictures of COVID-19, each being able to set off the multiorgan failure and death. Importantly, comorbidities and concomitant therapies can influence/enhance the above cascade of events.

Table 1: Immune responses towards respiratory Coronaviruses

Cellular Immune Responses

SARS-CoV [3]

- Impaired circulating NK cells and T cell subsets in mild and severe patients.
- Relative higher frequency of CD8+ than CD4+ T cells in recovered patients.
- Highly activated CD4+ and CD8+ T cells with predominant type 1 or type 3 profiles in severe patients.
- High type 2 cytokines present in sera of patients with severe diseases.
- Strong memory T cell responses correlating with high NAbs serum levels.
- T cells specific for structural proteins (S, E, M, N epitopes) and memory CD8+ T cells detectable over 10 yrs from infection.

MERS-CoV [3]

- Early onset of CD8+ T cells correlating with disease severity.
- Predominance of memory CD4+ T cells with Th1or Th17 profiles in survived patients.
- Higher T cell response in survived patients than in fatal cases.

SARS-CoV-2

- Time of onset, phenotype, repertoire, functional profile and amplitude of T cell response still unknown.
- Reduction of circulating NK cells and T cell subsets in relation to severity of disease.[4]
- Few data on the recruitment of NK cells and T cell subsets and their functions (scRNAseq) in BALF of patients with pneumonia.[5]

Humoral Immune Responses

SARS-CoV [3]

- Seroconversion few days after the disease onset and specific IgG detectable in most patients by 14 days.
- Long lasting specific IgG and NAbs reported 2 yrs after infection.
- NAbs specific for S, N, M epitopes, including RBD domain.
- Delayed or weak Abs responses associated with severe outcome.

MERS-CoV [3]

- Seroconversion within 2-3 weeks from disease onset still detectable until 13 months after infection.
- Delayed or weak Abs responses associated with severe outcome.

SARS-COV-2

- IgM Abs detectable 7-10 days after disease onset and serocoversion developed in most patients recovered.[6]
- Unfrequent Ab specificity for RBD domain of S protein.[2]

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I'm an average American citizen who like many thinking people am appalled about the politics that Mr. trump is playing, although I'm not at all surprised, because that's what he does. His holding back of funds to states that he doesn't approve of like New York State, may be because the state his looking into all of his nefarious dealings while he lived here or the tax returns that he's hiding, among other biases.

Intelligent people who care about their fellow citizens want trump out of office for all the destruction he has caused. This country, this democracy is at stake, and this average American citizen is asking you publicly endorse Joe Biden as the election nears. I don't know Joe Biden personally, but I do know about the National Health issues that he worked on alongside President Obama and I also know that he will put this country first, and not just use those words as a tagline.

Note that I am not part of Joe Biden's campaign. This is about the need to bring back decency, fairness and analytical thinking. I am not sure if you're allowed to say that you have a preference, but why not, you pay taxes! Everyone hears trump repeatedly trying to undermine your analysis and prognosis of Covid19, but thankfully, the vast majority of Americans value hearing your expertise and would love to see you working with an administration that fully respects what do you and what you say. The American public does trust you and that is a fact.

The Obama administration had a pandemic team in place and I am certain the that Biden administration will bring that team back, so that when the next pandemic occurs, intellect and experience won't be questioned.

Respectfully and with admiration,

Subject: WHAT SIDE OF HISTORY WILL YOU BE ON?

Hello Dr. Fauci,

THANK YOU for all you are doing in presenting truth and science to America. I don't envy the position you are in and I'm sorry you have to deal with so much dishonesty and incompetence from this administration.

Yes, a VERY tough position to be in trying to be a voice of science, truth and health in the face of staggering ignorance and stunning narcissism.

The incredible amount of things to be disappointed about are too many to list in the last 90 days but one thing that I am getting increasingly frustrated about is the lack of bold defiance against trump when he spews reckless and dangerous medical claims and outright lies.

So I have a question for you; 5 years from now, 10 years from now, even 50 years from now, what will history say about Dr. Fauci's role in the Coronavirus pandemic of 2020? Did he sound the alarm? Did he stand for truth? Did he call out those who didn't take this seriously including the president?

Let's call out this incompetence and recklessness along with medical malpractice statements for what it is. Trump is an idiot. He's dangerous. He's in over his head and he literally represents one of the biggest health dangers in our country today.

Sorry. It is what it is.

Where is the outrage? I see so many Doctors and professionals like you, Dr. Birx, Sanjay Gupta, Michael Osterholt, CNN and MSNBC reporters and hosts calmly state the facts but fall short in calling out the blatant, mind-numbing incompetency coming out of this White House. Oh sure, many disagree with the inaccurate information coming out of this task force and reinforce the facts. I get it. I just want to see these important voices including doctors like you ramp it up.

This is a 100 year pandemic. This is the real deal and I've run the numbers as an amateur statistician.

The IMHE models have been fantasy from the very beginning. First it was 100,000 to 220,000 fatalities by August. It was then adjusted to 83,000 followed by 60,000, 66,000, 74,000 and finally 134,000 by 8/4.

74,000 by 8/4 was a fairy tale and so is 134,000. You know this better than anyone.

Here's my projections and please, print this and post to fact check me over time.

On 4/19, we had 40,661 fatalities in this country and I began running some projections based on daily fatality rate increases that I had been documenting since the beginning of April.

At 3%, here are some numbers:

By 5/6, I projected:	67,206 fatalities
ACTUAL:	74,799 fatalities	4 days ahead of projection

By 5/31, I am projecting 140,715 fatalities
By 6/30, I am projecting 341,553 fatalities
By 8/4, I am projecting 961,083 fatalities.

OK, you say, surely we won't sustain a 3% daily fatality rate increase, right?

How about a 2% rate?

By 5/6, I projected: 56,935 fatalities
ACTUAL: 74,799 fatalities 14 days ahead of projection

By 5/31, I am projecting 93,408 fatalities
By 6/30, I am projecting 169,196 fatalities
By 8/4, I am projecting 338,374 fatalities.

Want to adjust it down to a 1.5% daily increase?

I am still projecting 216,431 fatalities by 8/4.

The problem is we haven't seen a daily fatality rate increase less than 2% and the last 5 days have actually been trending up at 2.03%, 2.26%, 2.41%, 3.36% and 3.5%

Keep in mind, this doesn't even take into account any surges that will be happening in the month of May with 40-plus states reopening despite ZERO states meeting the minimum guidelines of safe reopening and most alarmingly, this is before flu season in the fall where we know from history in the 1918 pandemic, they experienced a second wave that was higher than the first and the highest of the three waves it experienced over a two year period.

Mark my word, May of 2020 will go down in history as one of the biggest fuck-ups in U.S. history. Not your fault, mind you. You are doing your part and I appreciate you and others that continue to state the facts and sound the alarm.

The question everyone must face, in my opinion, is what side of history do you want to be on?

Many people got it wrong in the 1918 pandemic and the mistakes that were made in actions not taken or voices not being heard are indelibly stamped in history. What will history say about you in the 2020 pandemic? Do you want history to say Trump got the best of you? He was too much of a bully? He was stronger than you? Because that's exactly what's happening right now. He's pushing you around like a ragdoll. Jesus, Dr. Fauci, man up. You're a New Yorker. It's time to show the world what you're made of.

Dr. Fauci, you have a voice. Use it.

You are on the side of Truth. Wield it.

America and indeed the world is counting on you.

Thank you,

Friends,

Especially given the 24/7 focus of COVID-19 and the importance of NAM Member leadership to the effort—individually and collectively—I thought you would appreciate this piece from the Financial Times about Victor's role leading up to this week's donor pledge meeting convened by the European Commission. The centrality of these Brussels pledging convenings was underscored to me personally some years back when I was working on health sector reconstruction after the war in Bosnia, and it is unusual for the personal efforts described in the article to be so effective in paving the way. Here is a link to his remarks at the session: participation in the European Commission conference.

Victor's important and ongoing contributions, the work of the Standing Committee chaired by Harvey Fineberg, Tony Fauci's wise and steadfast daily presence, indeed the leadership of so many throughout our ranks, has been core to the response nationally and globally. As a reminder, some are listed here on our website: https://nam.edu/coronavirus-resources/.

Thank you, enjoy, be well—and stay safe!...M

Flagship US medical academy backs EU efforts for global virus response

Head of US National Academy of Medicine helped trigger von der Leyen's drive to raise €7.5bn

European Commission president Ursula von der Leyen: 'We need to join forces and pool resources globally' © AP

Michael Peel in Brussels and Katrina Manson in Washington 4 HOURS AGO

The head of a flagship US medical academy has turned to an old friend in Europe to help raise billions of dollars for the international fight against coronavirus, as the Trump administration takes a back seat in the global response to the pandemic.

Victor Dzau, National Academy of Medicine president, appealed to Ursula von der Leyen, his European Commission counterpart, whom he first met at Stanford University in the 1990s, to boost global development and equitable distribution of fast and affordable testing, treatment and vaccines for Covid-19.

The effort by the senior US medic — whose organisation operates under congressional charter — was critical to the formation of a G20-endorsed fundraiser that is set to be hosted in Brussels on Monday, with the aim of raising an initial €7.5bn.

It highlights how the White House has kept a distance from some multilateral efforts to deal with the crisis, with President Donald Trump sparking widespread criticism after he decided to suspend US funding to the World Health Organization.

The Brussels event will also be a crucial test of commitments made by European leaders including Ms von der Leyen to help poor countries least equipped to deal with the pandemic.

"I am grateful to her because she is the first one who said 'I'll help you'," Prof Dzau said of Ms von der Leyen, whom he added "gets it" and had the vision and gravitas to bring people together. "The initiative is to help all countries — including low-income countries — because the big focus is not only how you accelerate the development of vaccines, treatment and diagnostics but how do you have equitable distribution and access?," he told the Financial Times.

The donors' pledging conference is part of a wider international initiative launched recently by the WHO, world leaders and institutions including the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation — though not the US government.

It comes after a public warning by the commission president and other leaders from Europe and Africa that if the pandemic is not beaten in Africa, "it will return to haunt us all".

Prof Dzau said his approach to Ms von der Leyen was spurred by conversations between himself and other international members of the Global Preparedness Monitoring Board, an independent body convened by the WHO and World Bank in 2018 to prepare for global health crises.

The professor, who fled China with his family after the second world war when he was five years old, said he had initially tried to enlist the White House for the efforts but busy officials focused on the domestic response asked to reschedule the meeting.

Prof Dzau then thought of Ms von der Leyen, a former German defence minister and one-time researcher at Hanover Medical School. Prof Dzau first met her when she moved with her cardiologist husband Heiko to Stanford in the early 1990s. He subsequently published more than a dozen academic papers with Heiko and became friends with the couple.

"I said 'let me call Ursula and see if she can help'," he said of his call to the commission president in March. She then introduced the idea to the G20 group of world leaders and telephoned him after she won their support.

"It is very clear to me that we cannot get rid of this virus anywhere unless we defeat it everywhere," Ms von der Leyen told the FT, stressing that the medical means to deal with it needed to be "available and affordable to all".

"So we need to join forces and pool resources globally."

The US has yet to say publicly whether it will contribute to the Brussels drive for funding, the allocation of which is due to be detailed on Monday.

The US state department says it is committed to international efforts and has sent supplies and support worth more than $775m to countries around the world to fight the pandemic. "In every corner of the globe, the US is lending a helping hand to countries that need it the most," John Barsa, the USAID chief, said last week.

Prof Dzau, an emeritus professor at Duke University, said both Anthony Fauci, a leading member of the White House coronavirus task force, and Francis Collins, director of the National Institutes of Health, had enthused in meetings with him about the potential for international scientific co-operation that would be made possible through international pledging.

Prof Dzau said the US National Academy of Medicine, a private non-profit body, had given expert consultations to the White House task force since the pandemic began and was feeding them science "24/7".

"That is my primary job, but I also see our academy has to be global," he added.

May 7, 2020

Dear Dr. Fauci,

Thank you for your work on behalf of the American people during this unfortunate time. I watch all the Corona Virus Task force briefings, and keep up daily with the new information you have to share.
I watched President Trump's Q and A with Bret Baier and Martha McCallum Sunday evening. I was quite interested in hearing his answer posed by the young teacher about returning to school. He said, and I'm paraphrasing, that it will be OK for most people, but for those over 60 and/or with certain medical issues, they may have to stay out for a while. I heard him repeat almost these same words on May 6, during a white house briefing. A little later, I heard a reporter ask about it at the briefing with Kayleigh Mcenany. I believe I have heard you say similar things about older people.

I am a teacher in one of the high risk groups for the virus, over 65. I also care for my adult disabled son, also in a high risk group. I am still working full time because of lots of bills, in part, because of my son, so I cannot afford to stop working at this time. I am currently using technology to contact my students daily, and in addition am going to my school one day a week to prepare paper "packets" for them to do at home. My students are doing great!

I am concerned because our district is already discussing what they can cut for next year. I have lived in Nevada only a few years, but from my understanding, a great deal of money for our schools comes from the casinos, and of course they have all been closed. I can't imagine what districts will do if a certain percentage of the teaching staff has to be out because they are of a certain age or they have medical issues that put them at higher virus risk. If districts try to get substitute teachers, there probably won't be the money to pay them, as well as, keep the older people, like me. Perhaps they may consider getting rid of the older teachers. Or perhaps, they will give us the option to come to work, chance getting sick, or quit/retire.

We have received communication from our district about our opening, the dates being in August, but nothing was mentioned about the older teachers. Our district told me they are going by the CDC guidelines which our governor is also using, from my understanding. I have spoken with the CDC and so far they do not have any guidelines listed for teachers over 60 and returning to school. Is that something the task force, under the President's administration, will add to CDC guidelines in the near future?

I have always heard that one should not complain about a problem without offering a possible solution. Is it possible for the governors to work with the administration to receive grants, loans, or other means of financial support in order to hire substitutes for those of us at risk, while still allowing older teachers to keep their jobs, perhaps working at home advising their temporary replacements, and doing what work they can via technology? I understand this is outside your purview, but if the CDC guidelines were there for older teachers, perhaps that would be a beginning.

I'm sure the school districts would feel much relief when making decisions for their older staff if they felt they had the financial backing to assist them, and it does not become an either/or situation.

Thank you so much for your attention to this problem, which I'm sure affects many more people than just me. And thank you again for your tireless work.

Yes Sir,

President Trump was speaking about researching if some how disinfectants could be used in the body. This got me thinking about how when I was a child I could get in my aunts pool with a scratch from playing as kids do and how the next day the cut was healed over no scab or anything. So I got to looking at the additives in pool water that helps to kill bacteria. And I found out that all of the chemicals when put into a pools and they hit water, they create an acid called (Hypochlorous Acid) and it can be digested and drank (Electrolysed Water). Just curious if this could possibly in time slow or aid in killing the virus from the inside.

Thank you for your time:

Thank you for the great job you have been doing. Given that Trump and many people want to move forward with the economy, including many people who are currently unemployed and have yet to receive any unemployment funds despite applying weeks ago, please do your best to have national standards implemented to allow businesses open more safely and fairly quickly. For example, my local grocery store does not require their employees or customers wear masks because its not mandated by the government. We need to have national standards so that people can go out yet have standards in place that will increase the likelihood of doing so safely.

Thank you,

Subject: Corona Virus-Possible Solution

Dear Governor Murphy,

This is my fourth and most likely final attempt to offer solutions that I am convinced will save lives; many lies! Once again I would like to ask you to consider the following comments and solutions/proposals:

I am afraid that in spite of all of the strides that we have been making we, unfortunately, are not winning the war against the silent enemy fast enough!.

A) There are approximately 20,000 to 30,000 new cases in the United States every day. We all know that the number of new cases will continue to rise at a dramatic pace for awhile, because of massive testing, but we should also all agree that we must try to stop the increase as much as we possibly can; as quickly as we can!

B) There are also approximately 2,000 to 3,000 deaths every day. This is the most disturbing and saddest statistics of them all!

Something bold, different and new must be tried to stop this devastation; and it must be tried now!

I have a bold suggestion/ proposal that I strongly believe, if implemented properly, not only could work but will work! My proposal has three main goals:

1) To save as many lives as possible as quickly as possible
2) To drastically reduce the level of the spreading of the virus in two to three weeks
3) To help our economy re-open as soon as possible. The sooner we reduce the spreading the sooner we can re-open and start our "Great Recovery" !

My proposal is to create a "Massive messaging campaign" and "strict social distancing enforcement policy," if necessary, that will ask each and every American to do their part in an effort to defeat the horrendous Coronavirus pandemic; quickly. The proposal will target two specific groups:

A) The 15% to 20% of the population who don't believe that social distancing guidelines and laws are even necessary and blatantly violate both of them. I strongly believe that many of them are non-essential personnel who are both carriers and spreaders of the virus! I also believe that there is a significantly large number of them. If we could remove almost all of them from the general population for a period of two weeks we could dramatically reduce the number of new cases by the third week. I would like to emphasize the fact that "stay at home" policies work! A perfect example is India. That country has a population of one billion three hundred seventy seven million people. Due to a strict government run "stay at home" policy they have only 46,437 cases and 1,566 Coronavirus related deaths!. I rest my case on that issue.

B) The messaging should also speak to the approximately 80% of the population who are adhering to all of the social distancing guidelines and laws. They should be thanked and complimented for making all of the sacrifices that they have been making for the last two months. I'm sure that their cooperation has reduced the number of Coronavirus related deaths by tens of thousands!

C) If we could get the, 15% to 20% group to join the 80% group to almost religiously follow all of the social distancing guidelines and laws for a period of fourteen days I am quite certain that we would finally break the back of the Coronavirus by the third week, and would start winning the war!

D) The "messaging campaign" and "strict social distancing enforcement laws" should especially target the "hot spot states" and "hot spot areas."

E) Everyone of the leaders in this project, especially the doctors should point out the importance of wearing good quality masks and how to properly use them. I believe that the proper use of masks when coming into contact with other people is probably the best weapon that we have in our fight against the silent enemy. Please bear in mind that the effectiveness of a good quality mask might be 70%, 80% or 90% when a person coughs, sneezes or even talks. We don't really know! What we do know is that if someone isn't wearing a mask and they cough or sneeze 100% of the germs will become airborne!

F) I believe that wearing rubber gloves when shopping or riding on trains or buses offers a great deal of additional protection. I personally spray the front and back of my gloves with Lysol every time I enter or exit different stores.

G) We should all get behind this project to support all of our medical service providers. All of the doctors, nurses, EMT workers, police, firefighters and many more are the true Heroes in this war. They desperately need our help to stop the spreading of the virus.; as soon as possible!

H) Do you like sports? Ofcourse you do! The sooner we break the back of the Coronairus the sooner we can get back to enjoying baseball, basketball, hockey soccer and the rest of them. And what about football in the fall? If everyone does their part now we can all start enjoying all of those sports again; sooner rather than later!

The :"Massive messaging campaign" should have a theme such as "PLEASE JOIN THE PATRIOTIC FOURTEEN DAY CHALLENGE TODAY" It should point out that we need the full cooperation and participation of each and every person living in our great nation to join this project! We need to create a spirit of "National Solidarity!" The messaging should point out that while the sacrifices that we are asking everyone to make are extremely important, it is so minimal compared to World War Two! That war lasted for four long years; from 1941 to 1945. 16 million people served, 405,000 died and there were at least 419,000 casualties. The only sacrifices that we are asking everyone to make now are to stay at home for "fourteen days" and to strictly adhere to all of the social distancing guidelines and laws Is that really too much to ask?
If my proposal is implemented I believe that most of the media outlets will voluntarily participate in the project I wouldn't be surprised if Hollywood wouldn't be happy to support and participate in the effort as well. If the fourteen day project was started by May 16th. it would end on May 30th. I have a dream that on May 31st.,"Memorial Day" President Trump would make an announcement ,that " we, individually and collectively, have finally broken the back of the Coronavirus and that we are winning the war.We are drastically reducing the level of new cases and the remaining cases are very manageable. We are making great strides in massive testing and medical treatments and will step up our contact tracing and isolation efforts. We might even be successful in developing a new vaccine in a few months.Hopefully, we will soon be on our way to starting the "GREAT RECOVERY"

One more important point, the cost of this project would be almost zero.The success of the project will depend on the level of "Messaging" and in some cases enforcement,of the social distancing laws.
If,you agree that my proposal might actually work I recommend that you contact President Trump, Vice President Pence and the entire White House Coronavirus Task Force to at least discuss the feasibility of trying to implement my proposal. I would particularly like to hear the opinions of Dr. Fauci and Dr. Birx If they and everyone else agrees that my logic is reasonable and that my proposal might actually work I would hope that they would at least consider trying it. I would like to remind everyone that we are we are a Nation of decent,smart, hardworking and most,important of all, patriotic Americans. I would like to make one final point; If you try to implement my proposal and it fails you will have lost nothing. On the other hand, if you try,it and it works we can only imagine how much we all might gain!

In conclusion,I would like to say that if everyone in our country was asked to make those sacrifices for a period of two weeks the overwhelming majority will agree to do so. They will all realize that it will benefit them, their loved ones and everyone else in our beloved country. I hope that everyone who considers my proposal will have the wisdom and courage to make the right decisions. Whatever happens, I wish you all,the best. May God bless you and your family, President Trump and his family, everyone in our entire nation and everyone in the world.

Sincerely,

(b) (6) , An American Patriot

Subject: Coronavirus—human lives to be sacrificed!

Good morning,

My name is (b) (6). I've watched you on TV as part of Trump's Coronavirus advisory team. Know that you are my go to person with regards to staying informed about the virus. I believe you have been totally transparent with the American people and you have given us the very best guidance based on your medical expertise, the data and your considerable intellect. I 💯 admire you and personally thank you for keeping us informed.

I am an accountant by profession and by no means a medical professional. But I've been compelled to research the virus as information unfolds. I agree with the experts that the virus existed late last year unbeknownst to most. Unchecked, the virus proceeded to infect individuals around the globe and these infected individuals infected others. I believe the virus to be highly contagious given the high rate of infections and deaths. When I heard about the individuals being on ventilators, yet the doctors discovered their lungs were still functioning BUT they noticed the blood oxygen levels were low AND the symptom of loss of taste and smell was present in some of those affected, I concluded that the viral infection was neurological in nature. My layman opinion is that the virus gets into the blood stream and from there attaches to organs and the like...that there is a neurological component...hence the stokes. That no two cases are exactly alike which complicates treatment.

My concern today is that with states opening too soon, with contact tracing not in place and ramped up testing still not readily available that the country is 💯 at risk of many more lives being lost. I believe it to have been critical that the aforementioned be in place (in deed rather than the rhetoric) in order that loss of life be minimized. With most state openings occurring too soon, I believe the worst is yet to come. The article I read today stated without the states being properly prepared to re-open that there stands to be infection rates of 60-70%. I believe that.

I believe that re-opening decisions were based on the economy being more important than human lives. Yes, being more prudent with regards to "preparedness" would have continued economic impact but we, the country, would have minimized our loss of life. Know that I am not so concerned for myself but for our country. The coronavirus is SERIOUS and our battle is not over yet...

I would love to talk to you about my concerns. I may be contacted at (b) (6)

Thank you...

Have a wonderful day!

THIS HOLDS POLITICAL RISK for TRUMP. Capitol Hill will be rough waters for the president, and these hearings will get wall-to-wall coverage. Even the Republican Senate has Democrats who are going to want to grill FAUCI. And the BRIGHT hearing will represent a double team of sorts: a committee where House Democrats significantly outnumber Republicans, questioning a former TRUMP administration official who has turned against the president.

Dr Fauci and Birx.
Like most of my friends I do not believe you and other members of Trump fraudulent corona virus task force. Nothing you do and say can be proved positive. Even more so, people are dying because of Trump organized deliberate misinformation and biased agenda against his political opponents (blue states) to promote white supremacy financed by a corporate fascism. What you are doing and neglecting to do is highly criminal (political disinfecting and euthanasia by coronavirus) and demand congressional investigation which dictator Trump is ferociously preventing.
Your and dr. Birx deliberate and active support of Trump's political virus cleansing which already cost 70K human lives must be reviewed by the International Criminal Court.
You must be prevented from all professional activities abroad and humanity must be prevented from the organized biological genocide.

I have been watching this play out and have been learning about your past decisions with HIV to make money on the situation. All of us are reading that you and Obama administration gave money and supported the lab in Wuhun and now you are the only one saying it could have never come from a lab. The lies and distrust you are creating with the general public is widespread. We need a leader who does not profit from the cure. All I have to say is this is on you. You will have to explain this in the end to our creator.

I am so disappointed and disgusted with government appointees. Corruption is the name of the game. There is no way Trump can drain the swamp because is is the majority of all of you. Unbelievable!

Subject: Mask violence - Please help!
Importance: Normal

Dr. Fauci,

I appreciate all of the hard work you have been doing and advice you are providing us during the current COVID-19 pandemic.

Words sometimes have unintended consequences. The threat of violence in response to the recommendations on wearing facemasks is becoming alarming. Some Governors are asking essential workers and employees of businesses starting to open to wear a mask. Others are telling them there is no need to wear a mask. The justification for not wearing a mask is because, "Dr. Fauci said we don't have to. They don't work."

I live in (b) (6) Our Secretary of Health and Governor recommend wearing a mask, as does Governor Cuomo, when in public and in close proximity to others. Republican lawmakers are, in some cases, inciting people to not give up their freedom, not to wear a mask, and are quoting you. One person has already been shot because an employee told a man his daughter had to wear a mask. In my state, we are seeing an increasing number of people threatening violence if they are asked by an employee of a business to wear a mask. One way or another, this message has to be cleared up. Either a mask slows the spread or it doesn't, but please end the threat to employees that are not worried about not only their livelihoods, but their lives.

I came out of college as a Cardiology Tech. I haven't worked in the field for decades and when I did, we treated infectious people without N95 masks, only surgical masks. I realize they need to be available to medical professionals, but it seems to me, if you are six feet apart, both wearing only a cloth mask, it can reduce the amount of viral load spread to another person.

I know this virus presents a serious risk to our country and would hope the issue with masks can be cleared up before more people get hurt by violence or lack of business. Just because a business can open, doesn't mean they will have any business. People are already making lists of businesses not requiring employees to wear masks and they are boycotting them because they don't feel safe. We need a clear way forward and if a mask in any way helps slow the spread, the message needs to be more forceful and unified.

We are already a country severely divided. I am a Republican and I voted for President Trump. I do not take my medical advice from him. If anything should unite us, it should be the fight against this virus, and yet, the varying advice coming from the federal government and states is causing people to revolt and they are ready to fight.

I don't see how, when so many people recommended wearing a mask, it can now be walked back. The distrust was perpetrated when at first we were told not to wear a mask and save them for medical personnel. We were told they didn't provide any protection. Then we were told to wear a mask. Now people are told to wear one if it makes them feel safe. You are the head of NIH. Please come out with a unified, clear-cut message on masks.

Thank you for all of the work you have done. What an outstanding career!

I see no preparadness (why does the government have 2.8 billion dollars of smallpox vaccines, when small pox was eradicated 3 years before Dr Kadlec graduated med school?)

The World Health Organization (WHO) declared smallpox eradicated in 1980.

It was Kadlec, he was jealous and power hungry, Dr Bright would have had the billions and not need "ASPR" so he got rid of him... and tricked him

That evening, Dr. Collins emailed Dr. Bright: "I'd like the chance to talk with you about closer collaboration between NIH and BARDA on COVID-19." See email from F. Collins to R. Bright (Apr. 17, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 61. They made plans to talk in the morning and Dr. Bright worked through the night to prepare for the call. Believing that BARDA and NIH would be collaborating to develop diagnostics at the direction of Congress, Dr. Bright wanted to be prepared to discuss a high-level plan so that they could get started as soon as possible on this special project. That night, Dr. Bright called industry colleagues to discuss the issue and he outlined a strategy. The next morning, Dr. Bright called Dr. Kadlec to discuss the ideas he was planning to propose to Dr. Collins. Dr. Kadlec told Dr. Bright that his ideas were brilliant.

and finally a couple weeks ago, "Dr Collins" wanted to start collaborating on a vaccine...

Dr. Bright then suggested that he and Dr. Collins discuss how to develop diagnostics to test people for COVID-19 and get Americans back to work. Dr. Bright shared his ideas, and Dr. Collins reacted positively. He said something to the effect of, "That sounds good, but I don't understand why you don't think you're going to report to me like your boss said." Dr. Bright said he would talk to Dr. Kadlec to clarify his role. After the call, Dr. Bright immediately called Dr. Kadlec and relayed what Dr. Collins said. Dr. Kadlec responded by calling Dr. Collins a "jackass" and insisting that he was "full of shit." He said that Dr. Bright would get the money from Congress and would run the show. The call concluded with Dr. Kadlec's assurances that he would "take care of" the confusion about Dr. Bright's reporting structure.

Subject: RE: Dr Bright/BARDA

Throughout his tenure as BARDA Director, Dr. Bright provided much needed leadership to this critical government agency and helped turn around an office that previously had high turnover and morale problems. Dr. Bright transformed BARDA into a larger, more stable, and

As detailed below, despite Dr. Bright's efforts to ensure that the U.S. government dedicated the appropriate resources and expert personnel to combat this deadly virus, HHS political leadership leveled baseless criticisms against him for his proactive efforts to invest early in vaccine development as well as in critical supplies such as masks, respirators, and swabs, which were in short supply and would be necessary to combat COVID-19. Thereafter, HHS political leadership retaliated against Dr. Bright for his objections and resistance to funding potentially dangerous drugs promoted by those with political connections and by the Administration itself. Specifically, as detailed in the attached emails and other documentary evidence, Dr. Bright opposed the broad use of chloroquine and hydroxychloroquine as lacking scientific merit, even though the Administration promoted it as a panacea and demanded that New York and New Jersey be "flooded" with these drugs, which were imported from factories in Pakistan and India that had not been inspected by the FDA.

Dr. Bright provided the reporter with emails between HHS officials that were not privileged or classified or otherwise legally restricted from dissemination, which discussed the drug's potential toxicity and demonstrated the political pressure to rush these drugs from Pakistan and India to American households. Dr. Bright hoped that by shining a light on HHS's reckless and dangerous push to make these drug available, American lives would be saved. HHS leadership, including Secretary Azar and Dr. Kadlec, were already gunning for Dr. Bright's removal because of other issues he had raised about fraud, waste, and abuse, but they chose to remove him as BARDA Director within days of publication of the article about chloroquine because they suspected that he was the source. Coincidentally, on the very day that they involuntarily removed Dr. Bright from his position, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") issued a warning that hydroxychloroquine and chloroquine have not been shown to be safe and effective for treating or preventing COVID-19.

On January 21, 2020, Mike Bowen, co-owner and Executive Vice President of domestic surgical mask producer Prestige Ameritech, emailed Dr. Bright to inform him that the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") had contacted him about procuring masks. See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 21, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 6. Dr. Bright forwarded the email to Dr. Kadlec, Mr. Shuy, Dr. Laura Wolf, Director of ASPR's Division of Critical Infrastructure Protection ("CIP"), ASPR Director of External Affairs, Cicely Waters, and the SNS Deputy Director Steven Adams. Id. Dr. Bright asked Dr. Wolf to reach out to Mr. Bowen. In an email to Dr. Bright the following day, Mr. Bowen again offered to support the government in procuring masks. He explained that Prestige Ameritech had four N95 manufacturing lines that were currently not operational, but could be reactivated "in a dire situation and with government help." He concluded the email by telling Dr. Bright, "I hope that your and my predictions about the foreign made US mask supply don't come true." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 22, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 7. Dr. Bright understood that the nation would need more masks, and Mr. Bowen offered a means of production from the country's largest mask manufacturer. He responded that afternoon to thank Mr. Bowen for his offer. He explained that he had forwarded Mr. Bowen's information to the ASPR "critical infrastructure team" the day before, and hoped that someone from the team had already contacted Mr. Bowen. In case they had not, Dr. Bright copied Dr. Wolf and Dr. Jessica Falcon, ASPR Deputy Assistant Secretary, on the email "in hope of expediting a conversation." Id.

Wow this is juicy..

On January 25, Mr. Bowen wrote Dr. Bright and Dr. Wolf that his company was "getting lots of requests from China and Hong Kong." He then explained that nearly 50% of masks in the United States are imported from Chinese manufacturers, and "[i]f the supply stops, US hospital will run out of masks. No way to prevent it." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 25, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 9. Dr. Bright forwarded Mr. Bowen's email to the "CIP Supply Chain," Dr. Wolf, Dr. Falco, and Mr. Adams, with a note that "[t]he mask situation seems to be of concern and we have been receiving warnings for over a week." Id. Dr. Bright told the team that it was "[i]mportant to keep this at the top of the heap of various issues." Id. As other countries were vying for the Unites States mask supply, Dr. Bright continued to put pressure on HHS leadership to take action, to no avail.

scientific and medical literature, Dr. Bright and HHS and global clinicians determined that Remdesivir had the highest probability of an existing drug for being efficacious for treating people with COVID-19. He further determined that Gilead's supply of the drug was low – it had only a few thousand doses of the drug on hand and the timeline to manufacture more was lengthy. He repeatedly advised Dr. Kadlec and other HHS officials of the urgent need to acquire the existing doses and to secure future doses as they were produced. He also strongly recommended that HHS work with Gilead to "on-shore" all steps of the Remdesivir supply chain to ensure an uninterrupted

Dr. Bright, industry leaders, and international media, her office was still not yet taking any action to procure masks. Two days later, Mr. Bowen of Prestige Ameritech sent yet another email to Dr. Bright and Dr. Wolf, once again issuing a dire warning about the imminent mask shortage. Id. Among other things, he advised "[t]his week, we sent 1,000,000 masks to China and Hong Kong. He continued, "[i]n all my years of predicting the US mask supply would one day collapse, I never pictured myself selling masks to China.... I have it from two reliable sources that China has begun telling Chinese mask makers not to let masks leave China." He concluded, "I think China will cut off masks to the USA. If so, US hospitals are going to have a very rough time, as up to half of the supply is made in China. A horrible situation will become unbearable." See email from L. Wolf to R. Bright (Jan. 29, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 17. (emphasis added). Dr. Wolf followed up with Dr. Bright to let him know that CIP and CDC were working with N95 manufacturers and distributors. She told Dr. Bright that "[t]here is cause for concern, but not panic." Id.

So it was "Dr Falcon and Dr Wolf plan", to tell people not buy masks.

Mar 24, 2020 - The Honorable Dr. Robert Kadlec ... Dear Assistant Secretary Kadlec, ... Act Committee Report to Congress for Calendar Year 2018, June 24, ...

based on orders from the White House. Mr. Gaynor likewise had received instructions from FDA Commissioner Dr. Stephen Hahn to distribute hydroxychloroquine to pharmacies nationwide, even though the EUA did not provide for outpatient use of the drug.

That evening, Dr. Collins emailed Dr. Bright: "I'd like the chance to talk with you about closer collaboration between NIH and BARDA on COVID-19." See email from F. Collins to R. Bright (Apr. 17, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 61. They made plans to talk in the morning and Dr. Bright worked through the night to prepare for the call. Believing that BARDA and NIH would be collaborating to develop diagnostics at the direction of Congress, Dr. Bright wanted to be prepared to discuss a high-level plan so that they could get started as soon as possible on this special project. That night, Dr. Bright called industry colleagues to discuss the issue and he outlined a strategy. The next morning, Dr. Bright called Dr. Kadlec to discuss the ideas he was planning to propose to Dr. Collins. Dr. Kadlec told Dr. Bright that his ideas were brilliant.

Dr. Bright then suggested that he and Dr. Collins discuss how to develop diagnostics to test people for COVID-19 and get Americans back to work. Dr. Bright shared his ideas, and Dr. Collins reacted positively. He said something to the effect of, "That sounds good, but I don't understand why you don't think you're going to report to me like your boss said." Dr. Bright said he would talk to Dr. Kadlec to clarify his role. After the call, Dr. Bright immediately called Dr. Kadlec and relayed what Dr. Collins said. Dr. Kadlec responded by calling Dr. Collins a "jackass" and insisting that he was "full of shit." He said that Dr. Bright would get the money from Congress and would run the show. The call concluded with Dr. Kadlec's assurances that he would "take care of" the confusion about Dr. Bright's reporting structure.

The Whistleblower Protection Act of 1989 ("WPA"), protects federal employees who disclose evidence of illegal or improper government activities. Under the WPA, an agency may not take or threaten to take certain personnel actions because of a protected disclosure by an employee. An employee engages in a protected disclosure when he makes a formal or informal communication of information that he reasonably believes evidences "any violation of any law, rule, or regulation" or "gross mismanagement, a gross waste of funds, an abuse of authority, or a substantial and specific danger to public health and safety." 5 U.S.C. § 2302(b)(8)(A); Pub. L. No. 112-199, sec. 110, 126 Stat. 1465 (Nov. 27, 2012) (protecting disclosures that an employee reasonably believes are evidence of censorship related to research, analysis, or technical

Throughout his tenure as BARDA Director, Dr. Bright provided much needed leadership to this critical government agency and helped turn around an office that previously had high turnover and morale problems. Dr. Bright transformed BARDA into a larger, more stable, and

As detailed below, despite Dr. Bright's efforts to ensure that the U.S. government dedicated the appropriate resources and expert personnel to combat this deadly virus, HHS political leadership leveled baseless criticisms against him for his proactive efforts to invest early in vaccine development as well as in critical supplies such as masks, respirators, and swabs, which were in short supply and would be necessary to combat COVID-19. Thereafter, HHS political leadership retaliated against Dr. Bright for his objections and resistance to funding potentially dangerous drugs promoted by those with political connections and by the Administration itself. Specifically, as detailed in the attached emails and other documentary evidence, Dr. Bright opposed the broad use of chloroquine and hydroxychloroquine as lacking scientific merit, even though the Administration promoted it as a panacea and demanded that New York and New Jersey be "flooded" with these drugs, which were imported from factories in Pakistan and India that had not been inspected by the FDA.

Dr. Bright provided the reporter with emails between HHS officials that were not privileged or classified or otherwise legally restricted from dissemination, which discussed the drug's potential toxicity and demonstrated the political pressure to rush these drugs from Pakistan and India to American households. Dr. Bright hoped that by shining a light on HHS's reckless and dangerous push to make these drug available, American lives would be saved. HHS leadership, including Secretary Azar and Dr. Kadlec, were already gunning for Dr. Bright's removal because of other issues he had raised about fraud, waste, and abuse, but they chose to remove him as BARDA Director within days of publication of the article about chloroquine because they suspected that he was the source. Coincidentally, on the very day that they involuntarily removed Dr. Bright from his position, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") issued a warning that hydroxychloroquine and chloroquine have not been shown to be safe and effective for treating or preventing COVID-19.

On January 21, 2020, Mike Bowen, co-owner and Executive Vice President of domestic surgical mask producer Prestige Ameritech, emailed Dr. Bright to inform him that the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") had contacted him about procuring masks. See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 21, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 6. Dr. Bright forwarded the email to Dr. Kadlec, Mr. Shuy, Dr. Laura Wolf, Director of ASPR's Division of Critical Infrastructure Protection ("CIP"), ASPR Director of External Affairs, Cicely Waters, and the SNS Deputy Director Steven Adams. Id. Dr. Bright asked Dr. Wolf to reach out to Mr. Bowen. In an email to Dr. Bright the following day, Mr. Bowen again offered to support the government in procuring masks. He explained that Prestige Ameritech had four N95 manufacturing lines that were currently not operational, but could be reactivated "in a dire situation and with government help." He concluded the email by telling Dr. Bright, "I hope that your and my predictions about the foreign made US mask supply don't come true." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 22, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 7. Dr. Bright understood that the nation would need more masks, and Mr. Bowen offered a means of production from the country's largest mask manufacturer. He responded that afternoon to thank Mr. Bowen for his offer. He explained that he had forwarded Mr. Bowen's information to the ASPR "critical infrastructure team" the day before, and hoped that someone from the team had already contacted Mr. Bowen. In case they had not, Dr. Bright copied Dr. Wolf and Dr. Jessica Falcon, ASPR Deputy Assistant Secretary, on the email "in hope of expediting a conversation." Id.

On January 25, Mr. Bowen wrote Dr. Bright and Dr. Wolf that his company was "getting lots of requests from China and Hong Kong." He then explained that nearly 50% of masks in the United States are imported from Chinese manufacturers, and "[i]f the supply stops, US hospital will run out of masks. No way to prevent it." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 25, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 9. Dr. Bright forwarded Mr. Bowen's email to the "CIP Supply Chain," Dr. Wolf, Dr. Falco, and Mr. Adams, with a note that "[t]he mask situation seems to be of concern and we have been receiving warnings for over a week." Id. Dr. Bright told the team that it was "[i]mportant to keep this at the top of the heap of various issues." Id. As other countries were vying for the Unites States mask supply, Dr. Bright continued to put pressure on HHS leadership to take action, to no avail.

He further determined that Gilead's supply of the drug was low – it had only a few thousand doses of the drug on hand and the timeline to manufacture more was lengthy. He repeatedly advised Dr. Kadlec and other HHS officials of the urgent need to acquire the existing doses and to secure future doses as they were produced. He also strongly recommended that HHS work with Gilead to "on-shore" all steps of the Remdesivir supply chain to ensure an uninterrupted

Dr. Bright, industry leaders, and international media, her office was still not yet taking any action to procure masks. Two days later, Mr. Bowen of Prestige Ameritech sent yet another email to Dr. Bright and Dr. Wolf, once again issuing a dire warning about the imminent mask shortage. Id. Among other things, he advised "[t]his week, we sent 1,000,000 masks to China and Hong Kong. He continued, "[i]n all my years of predicting the US mask supply would one day collapse, I never pictured myself selling masks to China.... I have it from two reliable sources that China has begun telling Chinese mask makers not to let masks leave China." He concluded, "I think China will cut off masks to the USA. If so, US hospitals are going to have a very rough time, as up to half of the supply is made in China. A horrible situation will become unbearable." See email from L. Wolf to R. Bright (Jan. 29, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 17. (emphasis added). Dr. Wolf followed up with Dr. Bright to let him know that CIP and CDC were working with N95 manufacturers and distributors. She told Dr. Bright that "[t]here is cause for concern, but not panic." Id.

Specifically, as detailed in the attached emails and other documentary evidence, Dr. Bright opposed the broad use of chloroquine and hydroxychloroquine as lacking scientific merit, even though the Administration promoted it as a panacea and demanded that New York and New Jersey be "flooded" with these drugs, which were imported from factories in Pakistan and India that had not been inspected by the FDA.

Dr. Bright provided the reporter with emails between HHS officials that were not privileged or classified or otherwise legally restricted from dissemination, which discussed the drug's potential toxicity and demonstrated the political pressure to rush these drugs from Pakistan and India to American households. Dr. Bright hoped that by shining a light on HHS's reckless and dangerous push to make these drug available, American lives would be saved. HHS leadership, including Secretary Azar and Dr. Kadlec, were already gunning for Dr. Bright's removal because of other issues he had raised about fraud, waste, and abuse, but they chose to remove him as BARDA Director within days of publication of the article about chloroquine because they suspected that he was the source. Coincidentally, on the very day that they involuntarily removed Dr. Bright from his position, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") issued a warning that hydroxychloroquine and chloroquine have not been shown to be safe and effective for treating or preventing COVID-19.

On January 21, 2020, Mike Bowen, co-owner and Executive Vice President of domestic surgical mask producer Prestige Ameritech, emailed Dr. Bright to inform him that the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") had contacted him about procuring masks. See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 21, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 6. Dr. Bright forwarded the email to Dr. Kadlec, Mr. Shuy, Dr. Laura Wolf, Director of ASPR's Division of Critical Infrastructure Protection ("CIP"), ASPR Director of External Affairs, Cicely Waters, and the SNS Deputy Director Steven Adams. Id. Dr. Bright asked Dr. Wolf to reach out to Mr. Bowen. In an email to Dr. Bright the following day, Mr. Bowen again offered to support the government in procuring masks. He explained that Prestige Ameritech had four N95 manufacturing lines that were currently not operational, but could be reactivated "in a dire situation and with government help." He concluded the email by telling Dr. Bright, "I hope that your and my predictions about the foreign made US mask supply don't come true." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 22, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 7. Dr. Bright understood that the nation would need more masks, and Mr. Bowen offered a means of production from the country's largest mask manufacturer. He responded that afternoon to thank Mr. Bowen for his offer. He explained that he had forwarded Mr. Bowen's information to the ASPR "critical infrastructure team" the day before, and hoped that someone from the team had already contacted Mr. Bowen. In case they had not, Dr. Bright copied Dr. Wolf and Dr. Jessica Falcon, ASPR Deputy Assistant Secretary, on the email "in hope of expediting a conversation." Id.

On January 25, Mr. Bowen wrote Dr. Bright and Dr. Wolf that his company was "getting lots of requests from China and Hong Kong." He then explained that nearly 50% of masks in the United States are imported from Chinese manufacturers, and "[i]f the supply stops, US hospital will run out of masks. No way to prevent it." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 25, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 9. That night, Dr. Bright called industry colleagues to discuss the issue and he outlined a strategy. The next morning, Dr. Bright called Dr. Kadlec to discuss the ideas he was planning to propose to Dr. Collins. Dr. Kadlec told Dr. Bright that his ideas were brilliant.

Dr. Bright then suggested that he and Dr. Collins discuss how to develop diagnostics to test people for COVID-19 and get Americans back to work. Dr. Bright shared his ideas, and Dr. Collins reacted positively. He said something to the effect of, "That sounds good, but I don't understand why you don't think you're going to report to me like your boss said." Dr. Bright said he would talk to Dr. Kadlec to clarify his role. After the call, Dr. Bright immediately called Dr. Kadlec and relayed what Dr. Collins said. Dr. Kadlec responded by calling Dr. Collins a "jackass" and insisting that he was "full of shit." He said that Dr. Bright would get the money from Congress and would run the show. The call concluded with Dr. Kadlec's assurances that he would "take care of" the confusion about Dr. Bright's reporting structure.

That evening, Dr. Collins emailed Dr. Bright: "I'd like the chance to talk with you about closer collaboration between NIH and BARDA on COVID-19." See email from F. Collins to R. Bright (Apr. 17, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 61. They made plans to talk in the morning and Dr. Bright worked through the night to prepare for the call. Believing that BARDA and NIH would be collaborating to develop diagnostics at the direction of Congress, Dr. Bright wanted to be prepared to discuss a high-level plan so that they could get started as soon as possible on this special project. That night, Dr. Bright call[illegible] colleagues to discuss the issue and he outlined a strategy. The next morning, Dr. Bright called Dr. Kadlec to discuss the ideas he was planning to propose to Dr. Collins. Dr. Kadlec told Dr. Bright that his ideas were brilliant.

Dr. Bright then suggested that he and Dr. Collins discuss how to develop diagnostics to test people for COVID-19 and get Americans back to work. Dr. Bright shared his ideas, and Dr. Collins reacted positively. He said something to the effect of, "That sounds good, but I don't understand why you don't think you're going to report to me like your boss said." Dr. Bright said he would talk to Dr. Kadlec to clarify his role. After the call, Dr. Bright immediately called Dr. Kadlec and relayed what Dr. Collins said. Dr. Kadlec responded by calling Dr. Collins a "jackass" and insisting that he was "full of shit." He said that Dr. Bright would get the money from Congress and would run the show. The call concluded with Dr. Kadlec's assurances that he would "take care of" the confusion about Dr. Bright's reporting structure.

The Whistleblower Protection Act of 1989 ("WPA"), protects federal employees who disclose evidence of illegal or improper government activities. Under the WPA, an agency may not take or threaten to take certain personnel actions because of a protected disclosure by an employee. An employee engages in a protected disclosure when he makes a formal or informal communication of information that he reasonably believes evidences "any violation of any law, rule, or regulation" or "gross mismanagement, a gross waste of funds, an abuse of authority, or a substantial and specific danger to public health and safety." 5 U.S.C. § 2302(b)(8)(A), Pub. As detailed below, despite Dr. Bright's efforts to ensure that the U.S. government dedicated the appropriate resources and expert personnel to combat this deadly virus, HHS political leadership leveled baseless criticisms against him for his proactive efforts to invest early in vaccine development as well as in critical supplies such as masks, respirators, and swabs, which were in short supply and would be necessary to combat COVID-19. Thereafter, HHS political leadership retaliated against Dr. Bright for his objections and resistance to funding potentially dangerous drugs promoted by those with political connections and by the Administration itself. Specifically, as detailed in the attached emails and other documentary evidence, Dr. Bright opposed the broad use of chloroquine and hydroxychloroquine as lacking scientific merit, even though the Administration promoted it as a panacea and demanded that New York and New Jersey be "flooded" with these drugs, which were imported from factories in Pakistan and India that had not been inspected by the FDA.

Dr. Bright provided the reporter with emails between HHS officials that were not privileged or classified or otherwise legally restricted from dissemination, which discussed the drug's potential toxicity and demonstrated the political pressure to rush these drugs from Pakistan and India to American households. Dr. Bright hoped that by shining a light on HHS's reckless and dangerous push to make these drug available, American lives would be saved. HHS leadership, including Secretary Azar and Dr. Kadlec, were already gunning for Dr. Bright's removal because of other issues he had raised about fraud, waste, and abuse, but they chose to remove him as BARDA Director within days of publication of the article about chloroquine because they suspected that he was the source. Coincidentally, on the very day that they involuntarily removed Dr. Bright from his position, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") issued a warning that hydroxychloroquine and chloroquine have not been shown to be safe and effective for treating or preventing COVID-19.

On January 21, 2020, Mike Bowen, co-owner and Executive Vice President of domestic surgical mask producer Prestige Ameritech, emailed Dr. Bright to inform him that the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") had contacted him about procuring masks. See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 21, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 6. Dr. Bright forwarded the email to Dr. Kadlec, Mr. Shuy, Dr. Laura Wolf, Director of ASPR's Division of Critical Infrastructure Protection ("CIP"), ASPR Director of External Affairs, Cicely Waters, and the SNS Deputy Director Steven Adams. Id. Dr. Bright asked Dr. Wolf to reach out to Mr. Bowen. In an email to Dr. Bright the following day, Mr. Bowen again offered to support the government in procuring masks. He explained that Prestige Ameritech had four N95 manufacturing lines that were currently not operational, but could be reactivated "in a dire situation and with government help." He concluded the email by telling Dr. Bright, "I hope that your and my predictions about the foreign made US mask supply don't come true." See email from M. Bowen to R. Bright (Jan. 22, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit 7. Dr. Bright understood that the nation would need more masks, and Mr. Bowen offered a means of production from the country's largest mask manufacturer. He responded that afternoon to thank Mr. Bowen for his offer. He explained that he had forwarded Mr. Bowen's information to the ASPR "critical infrastructure team" the day before, and hoped that someone from the team had already contacted Mr. Bowen. In case they had not, Dr. Bright copied Dr. Wolf and Dr. Jessica Falcon, ASPR Deputy Assistant Secretary, on the email "in hope of expediting a conversation." Id.

On January 25, Mr. Bowen wrote Dr. Bright and Dr. Wolf that his company was "getting lots of requests from China and Hong Kong." We're following the current situation of COVID-19 in the USA.

We'd like to share your professional insights and information with more people, thus saving more people.

1.According to your observation, what actions should be taken to better control the virus from spreading in America?

2.You said that the second outbreak of the virus will be back in autumn and winter, how did you make such judgement?

3.Do you think that the Trump government is preparing well for the potential second outbreak?

I'm looking forward to your reply.
Best regards!

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

Dr. Fauci – to quote a famous movie line " Help Me Obi-Wan Kenobi – You're My Only Hope."

While that is somewhat dramatic – it does tend to summarize what I and [I think] so many others feel as well.

That you are prevented from speaking to Congress because they are full of "Trump Haters" is to me, and I hope you, a bridge too far.

You have tried to speak truth to power and now may pay the price. But if you do, it will be the price we pay for scientific truth and rationale in sound decision making.

Please do not cave in and sacrifice your reputation and career as so many others in this charade of an administration have done before you.

"You're 'Our' Only Hope" for the truth that will get us through this. Please do not be muffled by those who are consumed only with themselves and their self-serving political motives.

With warm regards,

So Trump asks the guy making the masks, how many does he make per day?

its very hard to hear, but I watched a few times, using lip reading I can't tell if its "twenty two hundred', that is my guess from lip reading.

4.5 mask per minute… that is being generous

I seen factories making masks so fast, may 1 every few seconds, and that is undercounting.

Plus look at how empty the place is…

Who ever organized it (Honeywell management) are totally incompetent…

I'm all for "Buy American" but if this is their production rate…

You know one of my ideas was 70000factories.com

That is the only way to rebuild the American industrial base…

Corona Virus -Shame on you for telling US citizens they did not need to worry about the Corona virus Covid 19 when the pandemic first started. You certainly knew better if anyone did. You contributed along with that idiot Trump to countless deaths. You also supported US funding for the Chinese lab where Covid 19 was created. I hope that incompetent buffoon ends up firing you because you deserve it. Hopefully when this is all over you will face the criticism of history because you definitely have blood on your hands.

Subject: Reopening school and college campuses before a COVID vaccine is released is too dangerous and risky

Dear Dr. Fauci,
Don't you and your colleague Dr. Deborah Birx agree that reopening school and college campuses before a vaccine for COVID-19 is officially released is too dangerous and risky? There is no way of maintaining physical/social distancing between kids, especially little kids. We all know that most kids do not follow rules or listen to what they are supposed to be doing. It is also a known fact that schools are one of the biggest carriers and spreaders of illnesses/diseases. We have learned that kids are not a high risk age group for COVID, but if they get it and bring it home to grandma and/or grandpa or their parents it would not be good at all and we would for sure see a surge in cases.
You and Dr. Birx have both said that there is a possibility COVID may mellow out during the summer months and we could see less cases, but it will definitely be back sometime in the fall. So, why would governors want to reopen school campuses for the new school year in the fall when we all know this? It doesn't make any sense to most of us and is way too dangerous and risky. We cannot afford to lose more lives to this virus. We should keep all schools and colleges in America on Distance/online learning until we have a vaccine for COVID-19 and can ensure that everyone or almost everyone is vaccinated. Please convince President Trump that this is the best and safest choice for all students, teachers, parents/guardians, and all other school and college employees.
Thank you again for sir for everything you, Dr. Birx, Dr. Jerome Adams, President Trump, Vice President Pence, and the rest of The White House Coronavirus Task Force are doing to keep us all safe and healthy!! □

Dr. Dr. Fauci,

If you are asked about Hydroxychloraquin, please remind the Senators that this is not an over the counter medication. When President Trump advised people that they might want to look into it, he's really asking them to consult with their Physician because a Physician must prescribe it.

II know you will remind them that this is a Novel virus that we didn't know that much about in the beginning and therefore our response to the coronavirus has changed over time as we learn more about it.

Dr. Fauci,
Like millions of Americans I have relied on your expert advise throughout this pandemic. My husband and I are both at risk by age (67) and my husband has non-Hodgkins. We have been grateful for your honest opinions.

At the same time we have been very disturbed by President Trump's behavior. His unwillingness to lead by following yours and other's medical advice, clearly is putting thousands of Americans at risk. Further, his encouragement of those who are actively opposing individual state Covid 19 virus guidelines is fomenting discord throughout the country.

Most disturbing is his recent decision to block your and other Covid 19 committee member's testimony to Congress. If you feel this administration has deliberately acted in ways that put our country at risk I urge you to ignore his dictum, or resign, and testify before both houses of Congress. As difficult as that decision may, your integrity is on the line, along with the lives of thousands of citizens.

Wishing you and your family good health.

An open letter to Dr. Fauci:

Dear Dr. Fauci,

We, the people, recognize your expertise and want to express our staunch support of your efforts to educate the public and to address the Covid-19 crisis as prudently and scientifically as possible.

We also recognize the political limitations you've been forced to endure as a member of the corona virus task force at the White House. You have been truthful and transparent in your messaging, regardless of the spin and obfuscation the administration has tried to foist on us.

We need to hear your voice and opinion, unfettered and uncensored. But, it has now become even more apparent that the white House will use whatever means it has at its disposal to try to silence you. This is beyond despicable. It is immoral, and presents a clear and present danger to the well-being of the country.

We therefore urge you to leave your post in the administration and to become the independent, expert, reliable, reasonable, and needed voice that the Trump White House is trying to thwart. You will be doing an enormous public service by disposing of the shackles and demands put on you by politicians and assuming the unencumbered stance and bearing of a scientist. We need you to do that. We need to hear your voice. And the White House needs to learn, however much that may or may not happen, that they cannot silence, sideline, censor, marginalize, or editorialize the truth.

We understand this is a difficult choice and one that we do not recommend lightly. But, as you have stressed repeatedly, these are difficult times and we all have to make our individual difficult decisions.

Sincerely,

Figure. Confirmed cases of COVID-19, by date and electoral preference, U.S., January 21 through May 1, 2020. "Red states" (n=24) are those which voted three or four times for Republican presidential candidates in the last four contests in 2004, 2008, 2012, and 2016. "Blue states" (n=24) voted similarly for Democratic candidates (includes the non-voting District of Columbia arbitrarily assigned to blue). "Purple states" voted twice for each party (FL, IA, OH). Non-voting jurisdictions excluded (GU, MP, PR, VI). Data sources: cases, politics. See: Natural Experiment, below.

SINCE its wartime creation in the 1940s to study and control malaria in the South, the agency now known as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has been at the global forefront in responding to innumerable threats to public health. But that role for the COVID-19 pandemic ended once CDC's accomplished epidemiologist, Dr. Nancy Messonnier, recounted in a press briefing on February 25th a breakfast discussion presciently warning her children of the pandemic's "significant disruption of our lives".

The last COVID-19 press briefing by her or by any other career CDC scientist was on March 9, denying a worried public straight talk from what has been the world's premier public-health agency. Pandemic messaging now passes through the political filters of the White House, where reporters' questions are interrupted mid-stream, political appointees answer with obligate flattery on how well the response is being led, and Q&As with scientists Drs. Anthony Fauci and Deborah Birx are aborted when the politicians abruptly leave the room.

As retirees from an agency whose mission we are proud to have served, we offer some insider views as context for the current crisis, as well as technical insights, unanswered questions, and suggestions that former colleagues are now unable to address publicly. First, a little history.

Budget Wars and Ideology

"The prevailing concern during 1980–1982 was the federal budget cuts in the first years of Ronald Reagan's presidency. ... Budget cuts were not limited to CDC — almost every health, social, and informational agency was targeted. The Reagan administration closed the U.S. Public Health Services hospitals, creating a reduction in strength of the Commissioned Corps (with more senior officers bumping more junior officers), and the Commissioned Corps itself was almost abolished. So our class was very concerned about funding of the agency itself and whether CDC would be able to hire any of us … ."

In an alcove of the CDC museum here in Atlanta are posters about the major epidemics investigated by graduates of the Epidemic Intelligence Service — the disease detectives chronicled so well by Berton Roueché. An exception is the 1980–82 cohort's "Budget Wars", a takeoff on the sci-fi franchise of that era. The poster annotation and its skit tragicomically recount the start of what is now four decades of the hollowing out of national, state, and local infrastructure to protect public health.

The inadequate preparedness and disorganized response to the pandemic are but two consequences of a long ideological struggle. On one side are believers that government has a primary Constitutional role to promote the general welfare. Think of the safety nets of FDR's Social Security (and its subsidies for state unemployment insurance), LBJ's Medicare, Medicaid, and Head Start, and BHO's Affordable Care Act. On the opposing side are those who place faith in markets and voluntary charity to fulfill societal needs, advocating laissez-faire government shrunk to a size small enough figuratively to drown it in a bathtub.

Since President Reagan threw down the gauntlet in his 1981 inaugural, "… government is not the solution to our problem; government is the problem", public health has suffered Sisyphean setbacks by on-again, off-again spending cuts, hiring freezes, and layoffs as each president proposes and Congress disposes. State and city health departments suffered as well, as Federal subsidies via CDC shrank and recessions reduced revenues and staff, often not fully restored when good times returned. On April 10th, the CDC director, Dr. Robert Redfield, acknowledged as much: "The reality is, for decades we've underinvested in public health," he said. "So this is a time for us to reinvest heavily — get overpowered."

Early Skirmishes

Ten years into the budget wars, one of us recalls admonishments by bean counters in Atlanta protecting tight budgets to stop approving timesheets with overtime for a lab chief dedicated to studies in Thailand of the explosive spread of the last deadly pandemic — HIV/AIDS — which was infiltrating the rest of Asia. Our solution was voluntary working off-the-clock (a Civil Service no-no) and pretending not to notice in late evenings a white lab coat, donned and in motion in front of a clicking keyboard.

A decade later another bleak era began, coinciding with early skirmishes of a parallel war on science. A Bush-II-appointed CDC director serving from 2002–2009 acceded to White House censorship of her testimony to Congress on the impact of climate change on health. She also led a disastrous major agency overhaul, accelerating lowered morale, sparking departures of senior experts, and prompting an unprecedented letter of concern from five former directors.

An untold skirmish in 2004 was CDC's violation of its own Pledge to integrity, openness, and honesty. It staged a "Blue Ribbon Panel" of external members (including some anti-vaccine advocates) to consider calls by prominent academics (following internal grumblings) to remedy inherent conflicts of interest because its research on the adverse effects of vaccines occurs within programs promoting immunization (one of the greatest achievements of science and health). Senior CDC leadership threatened that "heads would roll" if its vaccine-safety researchers communicated with the panelists. They withheld from the panel written evidence of undue interference prepared for it by the safety unit, most of whose researchers were barred from observing panel sessions.

Recent Battles

In recent years the budget wars heated up again, as reflected in proposed Trump administration cuts to CDC in the last four Presidential budgets. The most recent would start in October 2020 with a 15 percent reduction of $1.2 billion by slashing categories such as pandemic preparedness and response, occupational health (which certifies N95 masks), zoonotic diseases (of which COVID-19 is one), and global health (which puts CDC personnel in long-term assignments overseas to strengthen epidemic detection, control, and research by other countries).

One illustration of the strategic wisdom of such overseas activities was in 2014, when CDC staff assigned long-term in Nigeria helped it snuff out an outbreak of Ebola which had spread from its hot zone in West Africa (where over 1,400 other CDC staff served short tours of duty), averting catastrophic spread to the rest of Africa and probably beyond.

Casualties for COVID-19 Preparedness

Casualties affecting the current pandemic include recent drastic reductions of CDC's U.S. epidemiologists and laboratorians posted in China before the appearance there of COVID-19 (Disclosure: CDC thus assigned one of us to China for 5 years until retirement in 2014). Those missing eyes, ears, and collegial relationships working alongside local scientists might have been able to notify Atlanta headquarters of what was happening in Wuhan earlier than this past December 31.

Another casualty was removing CDC from primary management of the Strategic National Stockpile in 2018 to create "efficiencies". How this shift may have affected SNS priorities and procurement requires after-action review. Trump recently claims he inherited a "broken" SNS with "empty shelves" and "bare cupboards", but never explains why in the more than three years since, he did not fix it.

Problems with the CDC Test

Investigative reporting by Axios and the Washington Post revealed possible causes for initial problems with CDC's genetic test for the SARS-CoV-2 pandemic virus, including lapses in proper segregation of lab spaces and processes that may have contributed to cross-contamination. But the scientists who developed the test are defenseless in remaining barred from writing or press interviews about these and other potential contributing factors.

Did senior management at CDC or in Washington rush them to get their test out the door in fewer than three weeks after the virus genome was announced in mid-January? Did the test's PhD developers try to resist a premature release while not yet satisfied all necessary quality controls and validations were completed?

Were their development efforts hampered by years of PhD attrition and turnover, and current limitations in staffing, overtime, space for segregating processes, equipment, contracts, or other needed resources to complete their effort? In contrast to Trumanesque responsibility, will we see blame for the initial test deflected to CDC's Respiratory Viruses Branch and other boxes sited quite low in the Federal organizational chart?

> "Did protectionist pressures or scientific pride favor 'our own' tests ... ?"

On April 9th, the CDC director was questioned about problems with the test; his answers were non-responsive. Asked why the administration did not purse simultaneously the "German test", distributed early and widely by the World Health Organization, he deflected to the Food and Drug Administration. FDA has yet to provide answers. Did protectionist pressures or scientific pride favor "our own" tests, as the U.S. and France once fought in the 1980s over rival claims of ownership and royalties for HIV testing?

Challenges for Genetic Tests

Developing genetic tests by polymerase chain reaction (PCR) is challenging and takes time to get right. To minimize false-positive results, vials, equipment, and entire laboratories must all be kept scrupulously clean to avoid cross-contamination, which also applies to where specimens are collected from patients.

One of us, in developing the world's first genetic test for HIV barred janitors from his CDC lab, so that he himself could carefully mop the floors and wipe surfaces to avoid stray virus genes wafting into the testing process. That test took many months for quality control and validation. Once ready, it finally permitted early diagnosis of infants born to HIV-positive mothers, and provided evidence that a Florida dentist with AIDS transmitted HIV to his patients.

CDC has long experience inventing diagnostic tests for numerous infectious diseases. Some are performed in-house as a reference service for its partners in state and local public health labs. Or it furnishes reagents and instructions to the partners themselves to test using their existing "low-throughput" machines.

Responsibility for Recruiting Industry

But the agency is not staffed nor equipped to customize processes, oversee reagent mass production, nor validate the proprietary, highly-automated systems made by outfits like Roche, Abbott, and Cepheid that are essential for the huge numbers of tests needed for a pandemic. Such machines are found in large, centralized clinical laboratories that, if sufficiently staffed around the clock, could perform a few thousand of such tests daily.

CDC awareness of the threat of spread from China prompted it to activate its emergency operations center on January 20th. That is when a national-level incident-command system should have been activated in Washington. One early task of such an ICS would have been to reach out in January, not March, to industrial collaborators to prepare for the predicted massive need of tests. In 2014, a prompt, government-wide effort coordinated the Ebola response that successfully kept that epidemic in Africa.

Accuracy in Testing

One critical issue about testing barely mentioned at White House briefings is that none of the many genetic tests to diagnose active infection in the U.S., or even others listed early by WHO, have yet to have any published studies of their accuracy in actual field use. Such studies measure how well specimens collected in the real world and tested in typical clinical labs correctly identify true infection, termed "sensitivity" (100% means no false-negative results). The converse measure is of true non-infection, "specificity" (100% means no false positives). (For technical explanation, search these quoted terms and "PPV" and "NPV".) Confusingly, real-world sensitivity has an entirely different meaning than the "[analytical] sensitivity" reported by test developers for how often their assay detects their claimed fewest number of synthesized viral sequences in contrived dilutions.

False positives and false negatives occur in nearly all medical testing. False positives may result from contamination by extraneous viral genes at various steps in specimen collection, transport, manual lab handling and processing, and within the machine. False negatives may result when swabs miss the optimal spot, are collected too early in the infection, or undergo lapses in transport or lab.

> "... Senator Rand Paul's coronavirus test ... may have been a false positive ..."

False-negative results are worrisome as the infected may not be isolated and thus unknowingly spread virus to others. Temporary isolation of false positives may be a personal inconvenience that society must tolerate. For example, Senator Rand Paul's coronavirus test collected on March 16 may have been a false positive, given his age of 57 and never reporting any symptoms before or after announcing on April 7 a negative follow-up test. Only an accurate antibody test for COVID-19 can verify if Paul ever was truly infected.

Head-to-head comparisons by researchers independent of test manufacturers are needed to assess the performance of genetic tests. Such studies might use specimens collected in real-world conditions at clinics, hospitals, and drive-in sites, then assembled by investigators into blinded sets to include both the truly-infected and non-infected as determined by the best-available methods (e.g., virus culture, electron microscopy, subsequent antibody test). Such sets would then be sent to a sample of large and small clinical labs for external quality-assurance testing.

Tests found to perform poorly should have their emergency-use authorizations (EUAs) revoked by FDA. Publication of results would widen awareness of the fallibilities of all testing, including for antibody tests of which many now sold in the U.S. are of suspect accuracy, and for future antigen tests. Such data will promote procurement of more accurate products once sufficient supply allows such choice.

Dirty Epidemic Curves

Epidemiologists usually pay far more attention to the trends indicated by epidemic curves — changes in the timing and slopes of their rise, flattening, and fall — rather than the case numbers that generated them. Disease detectives speak of "dirty data", not pejoratively, but only to indicate awareness of so many factors why counts of infections, deaths, and other metrics are but shadows of varying blurriness on the wall of Plato's cave in reflecting what is really happening.

Data on the COVID-19 pandemic is especially dirty: Counts are pushed up or held down by many artifactual factors, which may change in degree over time. Confirmed cases move up as tests become more available and stall when needed swabs, reagents, kits, and staff to collect specimens diminish in supply. Counts spike up when out-of-hospital deaths are added to totals for those in whom post-mortem tests were skipped to preserve supply for the living. Counts of confirmed infections fail to reflect the huge submerged part of the iceberg of those without symptoms or never tested. Death certificates may fail to mention unconfirmed COVID-19 triggers which fatally exacerbated underlying heart, lung, or diabetic disease. Some data are less dirty than others, such as overall hospital admissions (at least while elective procedures are cancelled and traffic trauma is minimal), and intubations of those about to be put on ventilators.

The nature of public health is that tough decisions must often be made with dirty data, and occasionally none at all. In emergencies, public health officials meld understanding of outbreak dynamics with experience in previous epidemics, plus a good bit of "gut" intuition when novel pathogens arise. Tough tradeoffs are required: School closings reduce childcare, keeping at home many essential workers.

Models Ignore Human Nature

Academic models which predict future curves of the epidemic may be useful in the short term as they update with fresh data. But many projected downslopes of the "tail" after the peak (Governor Cuomo's "apex") are misleadingly optimistic in decreasing steadily to zero within a few months. Why? Because the most important variables of all are not factored in: human nature and its fickleness. The remarkable public cooperation for many weeks that is flattening and pushing down curves in some areas may not be sustainable month after month after month.

As even a broken clock will indicate the truthful time twice a day, one must suspend routine disbelief in Trump's statements to agree he is right: The country cannot remain locked-down interminably. Cracks are appearing in the supply of essential goods. Cabin fever, stir craziness, and economic hardship may contribute to declining compliance with stay-at-home orders and closures. But any such relaxation, either carefully managed or pell mell by rebellious citizens, must be accompanied by frank public acknowledgements that illness and death will increase above any flat or declining levels achieved so remarkably by comprehensive lockdowns.

> "The optimal titration is to achieve a roughly stable epidemic curve, which nowhere will be near zero."

Metaphors for Mitigation and Relaxation

To understand how mitigation efforts might be relaxed, and with due respect to the explainer-in-chief, Dr. Fauci, it is more intuitive to flip his automotive metaphor. The closures and lockdowns have been like pushing a brake pedal almost to the floor, bringing to crawls both the human interactions that spread the virus and the economic life of the nation.

Another metaphor illustrates a prudent approach: Titration describes a chemist's careful adjustment of conditions in the retort — amount of raw ingredients, enzyme concentration, flow of oxygen, degree of heating — all to keep a reaction at the desired rate. For COVID-19 the primary aim will be to titrate relaxations to keep hospitalizations below the graph's red line representing overwhelmed hospital emergency rooms and intensive-care units, while resuming some economic activities with safe practices strictly enforced.

Titrating the epidemic will be far more difficult than for a simple chemical reaction. Dozens of factors will interact in complex ways affecting the resulting rate of transmission. The effects will be difficult to predict by academic modeling. An empirical approach is required, requiring the patience to wait after each modest lift up on the brake to observe the effect. The increase in new infections may take 3 to 4 weeks before ending up in hospitals or on mechanical ventilation. The optimal titration is to achieve a roughly stable epidemic curve, which nowhere will be near zero.

A paradoxical negative effect may influence the COVID-19 curves after the godsend when rigorous trials prove that a drug will interfere with the virus or blunt an overdriven immune response to substantially enhance recovery from illness. Regardless of probable long delays before drugs can be widely available, and their certain inability to save all patients, many will think, “So if I get it, no problem; I’ll take the medicine and be cured”. Then go out to celebrate, hugging and kissing in streets and bars.

To date, there is no evidence of any overall tapering down of the epidemic, which will likely continue well into 2021. We can only expect a generally downward slope over many months as increasing proportions of the population become immune, either by surviving natural infection or artificially by vaccination. This is the herd immunity that makes it harder for the virus to jump to a susceptible next person before it kills its current victim, or the victim’s immune system kills it.

Vaccines? Not So Fast

The degree and duration of such natural or artificial immunity (presumed to result but not yet proven), can only be determined by following large cohorts of persons after either a prior positive genetic test, or when a vaccine was received, and determining if and when they may be [re-]infected. This will require at least a couple of years of enhanced surveillance, and is absolutely essential in formal phase-III efficacy trials of candidate vaccines.

Dr. Fauci’s 12-to-18-month prediction for an effective vaccine is optimistically unprecedented, and Trump’s ”Warp Speed” schedule is recklessly dangerous. Pivotal trials with an unusually short period of follow-up might not detect serious adverse sequelae. For example, a phenomenon known as antibody-dependent enhancement occurred for a recent dengue virus vaccine which resulted in its recall after 830,000 had been vaccinated in the Philippines. ADE causes some vaccine recipients, who nevertheless become infected by exposure to a pathogen, paradoxically to have more severe illness than if they had not been vaccinated at all. Similar effects have been observed for coronaviruses in monkeys, pigs, cats, and in cultured human cells.

Another example was the famous “Cutter Incident” in which faulty manufacturing led to poliomyelitis in some early vaccine recipients. Little known is that the problem also occurred in one lot by a different manufacturer, as documented but never published nor publicized by CDC in its 1955 “Wyeth Problem” and 1957 “Wyeth Report”.

Experience suggests three to four years is a more realistic timeframe to have a COVID-19 vaccine proven safe enough to put into many millions of healthy people. Consider the deadly Ebola epidemic in 2014 to 2016, during which the world barely dodged a bullet.

In October 2014, the first phase-I vaccine trials began in American volunteers, with a succession of further trials. The pivotal one in Guinea and Sierra Leone ended in January 2016, having used a novel study design with only 84 days of follow-up. The vaccine was put to use in 2018 under EUA to vaccinate over 300,000 persons to control a later epidemic in Central Africa. In 2019, the FDA finally licensed the vaccine, warning that its duration of protection was unknown.

Even if the first COVID-19 efficacy trials were to be a "home run" in protecting, say, 90% of recipients, it may take a year or more to produce the hundreds of millions of needed doses (one per person? two? more?). An exception for such delay would be to emulate the financial gamble of FDR's March of Dimes foundation in the 1950s. It paid for advance manufacture of 27 million doses of polio vaccine to be on hand in case the efficacy trial still underway would prove the vaccine worked. It did, and vaccination started within days of the famous announcement.

Vaccines never reach more than 95% of U.S. children and adolescents recommended for them, nor more than 75% of adults. Nor are vaccines ever 100% protective. Annually, 140 million humans susceptible to the virus causing COVID-19 are born on the planet, including 3.8 million in the U.S. The most probable scenario is that transmission of this virus will persist for years, becoming an endemic disease, as have many other emerging pathogens in recent decades.

The Banality of Guidelines

The White House, in obvious desperation as the election looms, rushed out its guidelines for relaxing mitigation efforts and lockdowns. Titled as a political slogan ("Opening Up America Again"), complete with campaign-logo bars, the guidelines are banal, quantitatively and subjectively vague, ambiguous, and shirk any Federal responsibility.

The guidelines are de facto an algorithm that artfully provides no diagram of sequential standard boxes connected with Yes and No arrows. Such clarity would reveal that no state is anywhere near ready to satisfy "gating criteria" to proceed even to a box labeled "Phase One".

To verify its "downward trajectories" of documented cases or percentages positive, the guidelines provide no minimal testing numbers per capita to perform, nor the geographic extent for testing in a state. To satisfy its criteria for "syndromic" surveillance, it avoids specifying how many "sentinel sites" are needed in each state, nor how widely located they should be.

In burdening the states to solve the obvious shortages in testing, PPE, and contact tracing, the guidelines' section entitled "Core State Preparedness Responsibilities" is vague whether its specified "Abilities" are criteria — Yes or No — necessary to pass to its Phase One.

Astonishingly, in requiring hospitals to "Treat all patients without crisis care.", the guidelines are silent in defining what that means. Is "crisis care" when hospital workers cannot follow longstanding regulation and standards of care that PPE must be disposed after each contact with a patient in infectious-disease isolation? Its criterion "without crisis care" is clearly unsatisfied while health workers must wear N95 masks and gowns all shift long, or re-use them "off-label" for multiple days after decontamination under EUAs.

The guidelines also neglect to justify why a requirement for "robust testing" of healthcare workers does not apply as well to police, fire and ambulance crews, bus drivers, and so many other essential workers at risk by interacting with the increased numbers in public that its phases would permit.

> " ... how many would answer phones that display, say, 'County Public Health'? "

Mustering the Troops

Both states and the country as a whole are estimated to need hundreds of thousands of case finders and contact tracers. This is orders of magnitude greater than the already busy employees that states and localities now have. Such work is made even more labor-intensive because U.S. telephones have lost much utility. With so many spam calls now spoofing caller IDs and numbers, how many would answer phones that display, say, "County Public Health"? Some propose mustering students, volunteers, or the equivalent of a Public Health Corps to do the job, as Massachusetts has begun. Until such armies can begin work, existing National Guard soldiers might deploy to back up health departments.

Natural Experiment

As any thinking person would have anticipated, Opening Up America Again is now serving as political cover for some states to relax whatever mitigation efforts were in place. Thus, the nation is entering what epidemiologists call a natural experiment. This is unlike proper scientific trials in which interventions such as drugs or their dosages, and placebos as controls, are allocated randomly to subjects (guinea pigs or consenting humans), with investigators and patients alike "blinded" to who gets what, to avoid biased assessments of results until the study is over.

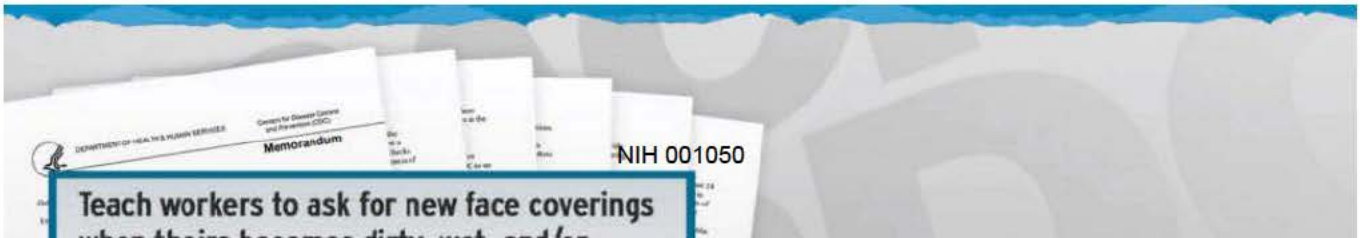
In the unblinded natural experiment, the states and regional consortia of them are determining the onset, pace, and degree of their relaxations. Then experts will compare the illness and death that follow, taking into account as well the extent they achieve in testing, case isolation, and contact quarantine. To allow apples-to-apples comparisons, many confounders will need adjusting, such as age distribution, population density, commuting methods, and employment types.

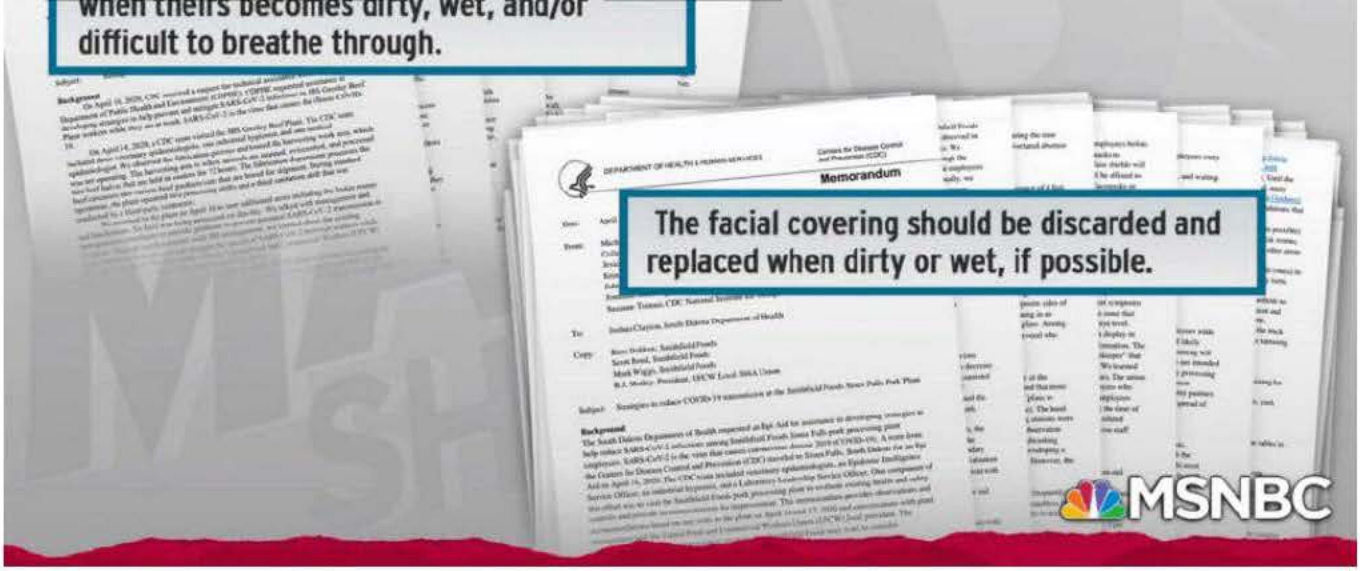
Our admittedly crude way to observe the effect of "opening up" is to stratify by political preferences: red, purple, and blue (Figure). Densely-populated areas, mostly "blue", were seeded early by imported virus and hit hard. Urban transportation systems with crowded buses and trains likely facilitated transmission. Nevertheless, comprehensive lockdowns put them onto downslopes of their curves. But the epidemic continues to spread inexorably in rural areas, mostly "red" states, with more dispersed populations, different commuting means (car and pickup), and other features that may slow but not eliminate transmission.

> " ... governors may ... be as Pied Pipers leading some constituents into the folkloric river to drown."

We defer to others to devise better ways to group and stratify the many differing degrees of relaxation to compare their effect on the counts of cases. In any case, the resulting state and national epidemic curves will be as volatile as the recent stock market. Governors who ignore the guidelines' criteria and "open up" their states too soon or too broadly may turn out to be as Pied Pipers leading some constituents into the folkloric river to drown.

Damaged Reputations





Disturbing political taint in CDC investigation of COVID-19 outbreaks in meatpacking plants.

What is disheartening about the pandemic response is the damage to reputations, both institutional and personal. CDC's logo was sullied when someone put it on the White House webpage and download of the new guidelines. Such labeling was defamatory on a document so unlike the thousands of well-defined, clearly explained recommendations and guidelines the agency has published under that logo, often cited and respected worldwide. Even its investigation of COVID-19 outbreaks in meatpacking plants appear tainted by political interference. These insults must be shameful for CDC's many professionals now working long hours, many off-the-clock, in doing their best with limited resources to carry out so many tasks to monitor and control the U.S. epidemic.

Sad as well is to watch the talented Dr. Birx who, like Anonymous, patriotically tries to mitigate damage to the nation by an unconstrained, certifiable narcissistic personality (DSM-5 301.81/F60.81). Like so many others drawn close to the Trump flame, her reputation has been singed. It is not the Debbie we know who answers questions with long-winded circumlocutions (at 56 and 67 minutes into the transcript of April 21st) about Georgia's opening up of beauty, massage, and tattoo parlors, barber shops, etc. Why not simply reply?: "Such venues are incompatible with the new Opening Up guidelines. Period."

> "... hypothetical 'if it comes [back]' ... is happy-talk spin ..."

The next day, in responding about both influenza and COVID-19 "circulating at one time" in the autumn, both she and the President prefaced answers with the hypothetical "if it comes [back]". Such is happy-talk spin implying COVID-19 would be mostly gone before that season. It required our living national treasure, Dr. Fauci, then to provide his unvarnished expectation, "There will be coronavirus in the fall." [Period. emphasis added] One cannot have a "second wave" without a trough after the current first one, which shows no sign of ebbing (Figure).

The political rallies masquerading as coronavirus task force announcements in the White House briefing room now appear over. Going forward, both the good doctors ought demonstrate their integrity by refusing to be campaign props in standing beside and lending prestige to politicians running for re-election. If barred from their own separate White House press briefings with unfettered Q&As, so be it.

States can continue to manage the epidemics with their own teams of experts. Talented explainers can be brought back to the podium on January 20, 2021. After that date, CDC and so many other public institutions can begin to repair the damage, and the citizenry to seize the advantage in the war defending government.

Dr. Fauci:

I am not a medical professional but an individual in the banking industry for 50 years. That makes me 77 years old with my wife 76 living in (b) (6)

Like hopefully everyone, we are abiding by your guidelines to avoid getting and giving this terrible disease. We also are trying to ascertain which medicine/procedure would be appropriate if we contracted this disease.

Well, as you have said, this is new virus and there really isn't any approved cure for the population to hang their hat on. We like most of the citizens know that our President talked very positively about Hydroxychoroquine and with our media bias strongly against this President the bias also was against the value of this drug. However, the media did widely report that a couple immediately drank fish tank cleaner with this drug as an ingredient and the husband died and the wife almost died. What the media didn't do was follow-up on this story which a young reporter did, and it looks like the wife fed her husband this cleaner and he died. She probably killed him and blamed Mr. Trump. Unbelievable.

Well, the country doctor from NY, Dr Vladimir Zelenko, who has been on Fox and various You Tube and Podcasts has touted his combo of drug remedies (Hydro, Zinc, Azitho) with wonderful results but the media has virtually ignored his findings. He is just a local doctor with staff of 5 and really has no facility to immediately produce clinical results. He is just trying to save the lives of his patients.

To show the lack of media support in this matter I will relate a short story. I usually do a Google search on the good doctor daily to see if he has produced a report of his finding and there has been nothing. Today I did the same search and nothing. Well since I didn't have anything to do I went to page 2 of Google searches and nothing. But, when I arrived at page 5 their was a report from May 1 from Yahoo.com. The article was an update and there was a video of your approval of Remdesivir for immediate use and also a written blurb on the fact that Hyroxychoroquine was still being used and that the VA had come out with a study that the drug was not effective and could be very harmful to patients. I had not seen the detail of these VA results so didn't know what they had found. However, there were listed below the published story 985 comments pertaining to the published story.

I didn't read all 985 but did read a lot of these comments. They were from patients, doctors, medical units which all confirmed Dr. Zelenko's findings that this "cocktail" that was administered early in the treatment cycle was very effective in saving lives of patients. Remember that this routine will keep the patient out of a hospital which will also help the medical staffs with work load. And 20 bucks for the total treatment. The percentage wasn't 65 or 75 percent good, it was 92 to 95 percent effective. Where is the front-line media coverage for that? Also, you have strongly endorsed Remdesivir but have been pretty quiet about Dr. Zelenko and others success. I know that NY city and other medical units are working on cynical trials that started in early April but I have not seen anything about these studies. Remember that Zelenko and many others state strongly that this treatment has to be started early in the discovery of the disease. We know that medical units in Paris and Brazil also have used this procedure and found very good results on the level of Dr. Zelenko. By the way, there were comments on the VA study which said it was virtually worthless as the medicines were administered so late in the game that the patients were very sick and really too late to be effective.

Dr. Fauci, I'm with you in that we want to save as many lives as possible and we should fight the media's bias and do the right thing for the American people. 67,000 people is far too many souls to lose and you and I know that the country needs a path to get back to normal or many others will be lost for other reasons if they can't live their normal life. I think both treatments are valid and will help society get on their feet. I know there are many other remedies post virus that may help also but we need every weapon we can muster.

Thank you for listening. I respect your wonderful efforts and know that you play by the book and I do respect that. Not many follow the book in our society today and you and your companion medical doctors on the Virus Team are helping to save our society as we know it today.

One final question, if someone in Illinois does desire the Dr. Zelenko treatment, can it be prescribed by a doctor here in Chicago? I can text my personal doctor here in Chicago for this answer also.

Thanks,

I urge you to tell him you will not be muzzled and will speak to any congressional group seeking your assistance in handling Covid-19.
If he fires you, it will cause him much more harm than it will cause you.
You have done a great job so far in balancing Trump's craziness with the service you provide the American people.
It is time for you to speak freely and honestly and not be constrained by Trump.

Good Morning Dr. Fauci,

I would like to commend you for the tireless work you and your team, along with President Trump, are doing to control the spread of Coronavirus.

NGOrganize would like to partner with NIAID and offer our Emergency Relief and Impact Management software (ERIM) to assist in digitally tracking and collecting accurate impact outcomes from all sources (such as hospitals, governments) that will provide NIAID with true statistics. ERIM provides all-round collaboration, accountability, visibility, and auditability.

As part of our stewardship, NGOrganize management is offering free subscriptions of its ERIM software to research organizations, hospitals and governments to speed up the efforts in containing Covid-19 that can save thousands of lives and steer back the economy of the US and the whole world.

NGOrganize software, COVID-19 Emergency Research and Impact Management Software (ERIM) manages in totality and collaboratively every operational, technical and financial component of Covid-19. It will bring you the much needed relief to manage the complete operation cycle, from funding, to utilization, to treatment and lives saved, to research and trials, to partners and sponsors. It generates real-time results, benefits and impact outcomes for internal consumption, and reporting back real-time (by hospitals, governments, research labs/institutes) to the parent organization (such as NIAID, CDC, FEMA, WHO, CEPI etc.). ERIM is a cloud-software that is dedicated to your organization, providing 100% data and access security, and is made available for use in one day, requiring no complex configurations or months of implementation time.

Please see the attached overview of ERIM software.

ERIM Software Overview

NGOrganize is offering free subscriptions to its ERIM software to manage your complete operations for Covid-19 treatment and cure. ERIM manages your funds/aids, budget distribution, partners, and your programs & services with cross-sharing collaboration between government, health and research organizations (NIAID, CDC, FEMA, WHO, Hospitals, Research Labs, States/Counties). It provides real-time accurate impact & result outcomes without any time lag or reliance on scattered systems. ERIM's instantly available ready-to-use software provides immediate ROI by enabling you to mobilize your programs and ascertain uniform outcomes that can help save millions of lives.

- ❑ Can be used by NIAID, CDC, hospitals and other organizations (Portfolio-Budget, Regulators, Auditors, Compliance, CxO, Hospital Administrators, Scientists etc.)
- ❑ Manages full cycle of aid contribution, fund/budget distribution and outcomes uniformly. Auto links costs and outcomes (capacity, utilization, patient flow, deaths, recovered, research/trials/studies) to the Reporting Entity. Generates live Financial, Economic & Social Performances showing impacts & results of every dollar spent

- ❑ Acts as a centralized source for managing raw data from disparate sources and groups, Generates meaningful, uniform and presentable analytics, reports and metrics that can be rolled up live. Manages all collaborative efforts and results between partners providing transparency, authenticity and auditability, and tracks fund utilization
- ❑ Manages your all emergency and non-emergency (normal condition) research operations and outcomes, securing digitally your data, documents and assets in one place
- ❑ Digitizes and expedites claim-tracking (funds utilized, benefits and results yielded reports, claim documents etc.), providing visibility and instantaneous confirmation
- ❑ A collaborative (multiple user) private cloud enterprise software that is provisioned in one day requiring no configuration or months of implementation time
- ❑ Dedicated exclusively to you & provides 100% data/access security. Highly intuitive to use and require little training. NGOrganize will provide hands-on training
- ❑ ERIM's framework-based technology also supports rapid customization, enhancements and integrations should you require new additions
- ❑ ERIM can be used to manage all your needs or in part to fill your functional gaps. It can also serve as a temporary solution, allowing your staff flexibility to update your other systems when the situation normalizes. ERIM is ready for production use instantly and its Import tool will migrate your external data

If your office could spare just thirty minutes, we like to show ERIM and how easy it is to use.

Looking forward to hearing back from you.

Warm regards,

Subject: Former UF Society for Viral Studies President Reaching Out Regarding COVID19

Dear Dr. Anthony Fauci,

My name is (b) (6). I reached out to you in an email in 2006, if I am correct on the year, requesting that the University of Florida's Society Viral Studies come tour, learn about your lab and the work that you do. I unfortunately was unable to partake in the opportunity at the time, but again I truly appreciate your correspondence back and allowing the students the opportunity. As part of that group the Advisor was present, Dr. James E. Maruniak, the former Virology Professor at UF who unfortunately passed away in November of 2019 from colorectal melanoma. You may know him through his former student (b) (6) who I was told worked in your lab. I am unsure if she does now.

I am reaching out to you today because over a couple of months ago I sent an email to President Donald Trump, Congressman Neal Dunn and others regarding an abbreviated version of my idea to try to help stop the spread of Coronavirus. I received a generic letter back as a result, so am not sure if the information was received. One problem could have been that it was not very direct. I am a Clinical Laboratory Scientist certified by the American Society for Clinical Pathology (ASCP) and I work in various hospitals around the country, currently as a Traveler with most of my career's time at Hospital Corporation of America. I have been in the profession for 9 years. I sent the email to them in a prewritten petition that was forwarded to me by ASCP. The original context of the petition was asking them to take action in providing more testing, PPE, etc. I deleted the generic ASCP writing , wrote my own and sent.

I will try to make this brief, as I am sure you are very busy with what is going on in the country. I believe I received a response back in 2006 from your secretary, so even if I hear nothing back, that is completely fine as I have confidence from my previous experience the information will not fall on deaf ears. There is a company as I am sure you are already aware of named Illumina. It is a spin-off of Sanger, the company known for human genome sequencing. I thought it would be a great suggestion to implement this technology at hospitals to help combat COVID19, in the case of any other possible pandemic and for various other uses in the field. In

(b) (6), (b) (4)

(b) (6), (b) (4) As a Clinical Laboratory Scientist in hospitals, I am obviously no longer well versed in the area and do not work in research, so this could be very obscure. I just figured I would state my recent thoughts. As far as the testing, Illumina would be great. I am not sure if this could be mandated or provided. I know that money has been allocated to the companies during this time from Congress. By being a part of Hospital Corporation of America in the state of Florida I know that microbiology specimens (including blood cultures for the detection of sepsis) are sent hours away to centralized locations of Ft. Lauderdale, Largo and Alachua There is use of antiquated plate culturing methods, and now the Biofire (multiplex PCR) since the pandemic, to the best of my knowledge. The distance of the sites as well as the technology have been a concern of mine for years. I had the foresight since I worked with Dr. Maruniak at UF, also the Bioterrorism Dept with Bacillus anthracis at the CDC in 2008.

Thank you so much for all that you are currently doing. You are doing a very tremendous job as your suggestions have saved many lives and I am very grateful to you to be alive and able to write this email. As I said, I know you are busy, so no worries if you do not have time to reply. If there are reasons that this suggestion would not be good or applicable, I completely understand. If I can be of assistance in any way, please feel free to reach out.

Kind Regards,

Hi, Mr. Trump:
Honestly, it doesn't matter if China didn't disclose all the facts on the Virus in Dec.-Jan.--now, we have a serious problem at hand: let us think of a workable solution--stop infighting.
What if your $3 T gone in the wind (thieves everywhere) & what if 'no fix with a vaccine' despite $... T more?
I know, I can assist with a 'simple-fix' (i) kill virus before infecting and/or (ii) cleanse virus from blood after infecting.
If you want to give a try, ask Dr. Fauci or Dr. Brix to contact me.
Are you ready for a Deal?

EVENT BACKGROUND:
Federal, State, local, and tribal officials are working to respond to COVID-19 and beginning to reopen their States in a phased-approach. Governors and other state, local, and tribal leaders are expanding their testing ecosystem, including scaling and utilizing all testing capacity and improving transparency on all testing options. Governors are also working to bolster contact tracing and ensure supply chain management of critical resources and healthcare capacity. Most governors are now planning, and in many cases, implementing re-open and economic recovery strategies in close coordination with private sector partners and public health leaders. Public health incidents, like natural disasters, are locally-executed, State-managed, and Federally-supported, which allows local officials who have direct relationships with private sector partners and know their communities best to drive innovative solutions.

This is the 17th governors-only briefing since January 2020 on COVID-19 organized by the Trump Administration and the 14th that the Vice President has led. In addition, IGA and Federal agencies have briefed over 99,000 State, local, and tribal leaders in over 221 briefings since January 2020. In addition, there have been thousands of additional one-on-one communications between Federal officials and State, local, and tribal leaders.

SEQUENCE OF EVENTS:
- The Vice President welcomes governors and Federal participants and provides a high-level update on COVID-19 response and reopen efforts.
- Ambassador Birx provides a testing update, thanks governors for their efforts to diversify and maximize their testing ecosystem and drive innovations in testing, encourages continued phased and data-driven reopening decisions.
    - Gov. Baker (MA) provides high-level testing and reopen update and introduces Eric Lander with the Broad Institute in Massachusetts to further discuss testing efforts in the Boston metro area.
    - Gov. Wolf (PA) discusses testing and reopen efforts and introduces Dr. David Rubin with the University of Pennsylvania PolicyLab at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) to discuss his modeling and research efforts.
- Administrator Giroir provides an update States' May testing goals, increased testing supply efforts (swabs, transport media, and reagent), and testing technical assistance efforts, including two rounds of technical assistance with States.
- Admiral Polowczyk provides an update on Project Airbridge and other efforts to replenish the commercial supply chains on needed materials along with supporting 15,400 long-term care facilities.

- Adm. Gaynor provides an update on FEMA efforts and discusses hurricane preparedness month efforts and ongoing severe weather preparations.
- Secretary Mnuchin provides an update on revised state funding guidance.
- The Vice President opens up the dialogue for governors to share best practices in expanding testing, advancing re-open strategies, and managing supply chains:
    - Gov. DeWine (OH) on efforts to expand testing in partnership with Thermo Fisher.
    - Gov. Scott (VT) on efforts to develop a contact tracing program by expanding personnel and leveraging technology.
    - Gov. Bullock (MT) on efforts to test nursing homes in the State and begin reopening efforts.
    - Gov. Lee (TN) on actions to protect citizens in nursing homes including releasing an action plan and announcing a goal to test all 70,000+ nursing home residents in 700+ nursing homes in Tennessee.
    - Gov. Ige (HI) on efforts to improve contact tracing efforts through technology.
    - Gov. Sununu (NH) on establishing an Economic Re-Opening Task Force and its initial efforts.
    - Gov. Polis (CO) on his phased reopen efforts based on county and regional factors.
- The Vice President asks additional governors to share best practices and feedback.

I want to thank you for your courage to speak honestly to the American people and provide recommendations based on data and science, regardless of whether that message aligns with President Trump's desired narrative. As a father of two beautiful children, I have immeasurable gratitude for your efforts to keep us all safe and healthy.

Dear Matt,

1. HK has no new local cases for last 14 days. All our civil servants are going to work starting today instead of home office. The food premises, cinema and concert hall will go towards normal full operation in the coming week.
2. I advise the government to make a reusable EPIDEMIC COMBAT KIT for every citizen. The reusable self-disinfecting (Cu/Ag nanoparticle) mask will be distributed to every citizen in coming week. This will protect us for the coming autumn second wave in Hong Kong.
3. Our seroprevalence is zero at this stage meaning that a second wave of New York type severity will come to HK if we are not fully prepared with this EPIDEMIC COMBAT KIT in coming autumn.
4. Will send you what is epidemic combat kit in next email with a paper.

Warm regards.

I don't know Gates but I'll find a way to get this good advice to him. I told my colleague about your approach (throat saliva instead of nasopharyngeal swans) several weeks ago when you first mentioned it. We are grateful for all the sound advice you've provided. How is Hong Kong managing through it all? And how bad do you expect things to get in the fall?

Dear Matt,
You may tell Bill Gates if you know him(See below). Tell him that there is no need to take nasopharyngeal swabs. We find that early morning clearing up of deep throat saliva before breakfast/mouth washing of adequate volume (up to 30% or 50% of a sputum/urine bottle) is at least as good (if not better) as nasopharygenal swabs. This procedure avoids swab supply shortage, patient discomfort & infectious risk to healthcare workers. This is now widely used in HK. We even use it for monitoring viral load:

The Billionaire Who Cried Pandemic

By Jay Greene

(Washington Post) -- SEATTLE — As the coronavirus pandemic rapidly spread across the United States in March, Bill Gates peppered his longtime friend Jeff Raikes with the science behind testing for the disease during dinner at his home in Medina, Wash.

The two men ate sushi — at an "appropriate" social distance, Raikes said — while Gates detailed the challenges of using nasopharyngeal swabs that reach deep into nasal passages to test for the novel coronavirus. Instead, Gates offered that self-testing with simpler, shorter swabs could be more effective and wouldn't require health-care workers to risk infection themselves, said Raikes, a former senior leader at Microsoft who went on to run the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

"He is in his element right now," said Raikes, who has worked closely with Gates for four decades.

As the virus has spread, killing more than 239,000 people globally, Gates has used his fame and wealth to push for science-based approaches to end the pandemic. Having studied infectious diseases for the past 20 years as part of his philanthropic work, Gates has warned about the potential for a pathogen-spread pandemic since 2015, in a TED Talk, lectures and medical journal articles. Since February, the foundation he runs with his wife has given away $250 million to expand testing for the coronavirus and find a cure for covid-19, the disease it causes.

But the coronavirus is unlike any global health challenge Gates has faced. He's spent years trying to address health threats vexing the developing world, such as malaria, polio and HIV. Those diseases have either vaccines or therapies, but the countries where they remain a major threat lack health systems to deliver them to people, something the Gates Foundation is trying to fix. When it comes to the coronavirus, though, there is neither a vaccine nor a therapy.

With the coronavirus afflicting rich countries as well as developing ones, Gates also needs to navigate the thickets of U.S. politics. One new challenge for Gates: pressing messages that often run headlong into comments by President Trump that lack scientific basis. In an interview, Gates noted past global health achievements by the United States, such as President George W. Bush's support for drugs to address the AIDS epidemic sweeping across sub-Saharan Africa nearly two decades ago.

"People are hoping for U.S. leadership. It's still an opportunity we haven't seized," Gates said. "The vacuum of waiting for the U.S. to step in and help out with that, there's still a huge opportunity there."

Gates hasn't directly criticized Trump, and he remains largely apolitical. But research he has cited has undermined some of the president's claims. The Gates Foundation, for example, is funding a clinical trial on hydroxychloroquine, the drug that Trump tweeted could, when combined with azithromycin, be "one of the biggest game changers in the history of medicine." Gates, though, focused on the data, writing in an April 23 blog post that early indications from the trial suggest "the benefits will be modest at best."

Gates also took aim at the president's plans in April to suspend payments to the World Health Organization in response to the U.N. agency's handling of the coronavirus pandemic.

"Halting funding for the World Health Organization during a world health crisis is as dangerous as it sounds," Gates tweeted on April 14, arguing that no other organization is capable of replacing the agency. The Gates Foundation is the second-biggest donor to the WHO, after the U.S. government.

"Bill is a guy who believes in science and technology and the positive impact that can have in the world," Raikes said. "I think at least subconsciously, like many of us, he's been disturbed by the attack on science," though Raikes acknowledged that he hasn't talked specifically with Gates about the topic.

Despite politicians' calls to quickly reopen society that aren't backed by science, Gates is not likely to become more political now, said Sue Desmond-Hellmann, the former chief executive of the Gates Foundation. Gates's philanthropic work — addressing the vexing inequities in global health and U.S. education systems — requires the support of governments.

"You have to pick your spots," Desmond-Hellmann said. "Obviously, the WHO comment was of the magnitude that Bill and Melinda spoke out and said that the world needs the WHO."

Gates famously dropped out of Harvard University to found Microsoft with his high school buddy, Paul Allen. But he is a voracious reader, and over the past two decades of his charitable focus on global health, he's taught himself the science of infectious diseases.

"When I spend billions of dollars on something, I have a tendency to read a lot about it," Gates said.

As Gates began to move away from Microsoft in the early 2000s, he gave a fireside chat to senior leaders at its Redmond, Wash., conference center, discussing his foundation's efforts to address malaria. Brad Smith, president of Microsoft, in particular recalled Gates's "encyclopedic assessment" of mosquitoes, and how they behaved and transmitted the disease.

"I will always remember listening and thinking, 'Oh, my gosh, he can go just as deep in talking about mosquitoes, as he did in talking about software code,' " said Smith, who has worked closely with Gates for 26 years.

Since the coronavirus first emerged in China late last year, Gates has consumed medical journal articles about testing, treatments and vaccines for the virus. He's talked at length with immunologists, epidemiologists and social scientists about slowing the coronavirus's spread.

"When Bill takes on an issue, he doesn't seek to become just generally familiar with it," Smith said.

Gates has met with presidents from both parties, including Trump. He has made campaign contributions to both Democrats and Republicans. Even when the federal government sued Microsoft for violating antitrust laws in the late 1990s, Gates refrained from publicly attacking the Clinton administration, which brought the suit.

With a net worth of $105 billion, Gates is the world's second-wealthiest person, according to the Bloomberg Billionaires Index, behind his Seattle neighbor Jeff Bezos, the chief executive of Amazon and owner of The Washington Post. Gates has poured much of his wealth into the foundation he runs with his wife. It has become one of the world's largest philanthropies, with an endowment of $46.8 billion as of 2018.

Over the past two decades, he has gradually shed his Microsoft responsibilities to focus on philanthropic work. In March, he gave up the last of his formal Microsoft titles, stepping down from the company's board, though he said he would continue to provide technology advice to its leadership.

A pillar of Gates's philanthropic thrust has been addressing the infectious diseases, such as malaria and polio, that continue to devastate the developing world. His foundation helped create a market for drugs for those diseases, which were often ignored by a pharmaceutical industry that has a financial incentive to develop medication for ailments common in the more lucrative markets of the developed world.

His knowledge of infectious diseases led him to the conclusion in 2015 that a pathogen-based pandemic could sweep over the globe, killing indiscriminately and destroying economies.

"If anything kills over 10 million people in the next few decades, it's most likely to be a highly infectious virus rather than a war," Gates said in his TED Talk, which seems eerily prescient today.

He expressed concern that governments hadn't invested in systems to stop a pandemic in the same way they financed nuclear deterrents. He encouraged the development of strong health systems in poor countries where he expected the outbreak to first emerge. He pushed for stepped-up research into and development of vaccines and diagnostic testing apparatus. And he called for "germ games," akin to war games, to simulate a pandemic to help identify shortcomings.

"We need to get going, because time is not on our side," Gates said in the talk.

It's an issue he has regularly raised with government leaders around the world. That warning largely fell on deaf ears. The lack of response is something Gates laments as "unfortunate."

"I often think, 'Could I have been more persuasive?' " Gates said.

The foundation invested in efforts to prepare for a pandemic even before Gates's TED Talk. Leaders including Gates worried about the impact the Ebola outbreak in 2014 had on its global health work and spent hundreds of millions of dollars building scientific infrastructure that is now helping slow the spread of the disease.

In 2017, it gave $279 million to the Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation at the University of Washington, a group to which it had previously given funds. IHME has since developed a widely used forecasting model to predict the need of hospital beds, ventilators and other medical equipment in every state and in countries around the globe.

The same year, the foundation committed nearly $100 million to help launch the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations, which has been financing experimental research into coronavirus vaccines.

The 18-month-old, Gates-funded Seattle Flu Study research project tracks the spread of infectious diseases such as influenza. As the coronavirus outbreak was beginning to hit the United States, researchers with the project tested for the coronavirus even though it wasn't what they were certified to do. They found one of the first U.S. cases in a teenager who tested positive for the virus.

The project's mission has evolved into the Seattle Coronavirus Assessment Network, which is conducting coronavirus testing with self-swab sampling kits that won't expose health workers to the virus. That testing has now received approval for emergency use by the Washington State Department of Health.

As the coronavirus spread, Gates has taken to the talk-show circuit, making his case for science-backed approaches. He chatted remotely on "The Late Show With Stephen Colbert," lamenting the missed opportunities to have prepared for the pandemic. A few days earlier, he and his wife, Melinda, recorded a message aired during the One World: Together At Home global charity event expressing hope that a vaccine for the virus could emerge by the end of next year. That followed his video call with Ellen DeGeneres on her talk show in which he discussed the criteria for a return to normalcy.

His foundation's global health efforts have allowed Gates to work with officials including Anthony S. Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, and Francis Collins, director of the National Institutes of Health. Gates said he's in frequent communication with both.

"I'm talking, actually quite a bit, to both Tony and Francis about what they're seeing, what we're seeing," Gates said.

"My primary value add is finding out who the innovators are in understanding the system of scaling delivery that is necessary, like testing and contact tracing, which some countries are doing very, very well," Gates said, bringing together scientists and researchers with whom the foundation is working and the government.

The Gates Foundation has faced past criticism for the outsize influence it wields in areas such as global health and public education. The massive sums that the foundation has put toward global health challenges has threatened to distort the way governments address those threats, encouraging them to adopt its priorities in order to receive its grants, according to research by Jeremy Youde, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and global health politics researcher at the University of Minnesota Duluth.

Youde acknowledged that the coronavirus pandemic is different. One reason: There's so much money being poured into the public health crisis — from other philanthropies as well as pharmaceutical giants — that the Gates Foundation alone won't determine the vaccine winners and losers. The pandemic illustrates "why it's important to have these international collaborations," Youde said.

There's one group with whom Gates isn't popular: the social media mob pushing conspiracy theories that the billionaire engineered the pandemic, and is mining it for profit and leveraging it for global surveillance and population control. His tweet about WHO funding cuts generated a flood of more than 75,000 comments, many questioning Gates's motives and patriotism. Protesters at rallies pushing to end government lockdowns have waved signs railing against Gates.

Some conspiracy theories are being amplified by the Russian government, which is spreading misinformation about the coronavirus through "state proxy websites," according to a State Department report. One article from early March on the website of the Zvezda television channel, a Russian state-controlled network run by the ministry of defense, claims that Gates played a role in creating the virus.

"I got a note of sympathy from George Soros, so it must be getting serious," Gates joked, referring to the liberal billionaire philanthropist who is a frequent target of conspiracy theories.

Gates, though, did have an early window into the spread of the virus. The foundation's operations in China experienced firsthand the impact of the virus's outbreak there, said Mark Suzman, the current chief executive. And it gathered information from the Seattle Flu Study's work regarding the U.S. spread.

"We got an early heads-up about that," Suzman said. That led to the recognition that "we should be cranking up as a foundation very rapidly to see what we can do to help support" efforts to combat the outbreak.

In February, the foundation committed $100 million to improve detection, isolation and treatment efforts; to accelerate the development of vaccines, drugs and diagnostics; and to protect at-risk populations in Africa and South Asia. On April 15, the foundation added an additional $150 million to that effort.

Gates recognizes the need to spend billions of dollars to develop facilities to develop and manufacture vaccines, many of which won't pan out. It makes most sense, Gates said, to waste money building for approaches that don't ultimately work so that the vaccine that ultimately proves successful can be made and distributed rapidly around the globe, and end the economic devastation of the pandemic.

There's a need to spend "billions to save trillions," Gates said

The foundation won't cover all of the cost of developing vaccines, Suzman said. But it can provide financing to quickly spin up manufacturing facilities.

"We're a distinctive kind of capital. We can be risk-taking. We can be catalytic. We should never be in there substituting for public or private money, which could be doing the job just as well," Suzman said.

While the foundation's scope is broad — from eradicating polio to boosting college completion rates — Gates is now spending the predominant amount of his time on the pandemic, Suzman said. Non-coronavirus efforts have shrunk to about 10 to 15 percent of the discussion at the foundation. Emails from Gates dive deep into technical details about epidemiological modeling, vaccine constructs and what the cost of production per unit might be, Suzman said.

"All of the deep learning and expertise over the last 20 years of the foundation going into global health is very applicable to the current moment," Suzman said.

And Gates doesn't believe the call for pandemic preparedness will go unheeded any longer.

"I think this time people will pay attention," Gates said.

Dear Mr. Director,
Dear professor Anthony Fauci,

On behalf of the Collective of Congolese Immigration Seekers (CO.CO.DI in acronym) and in my own name, I offer you my wishes of support during this global health crisis, caused by covid-19 where more than 66,000 dead and more than 1,000,000 people infected in the United States of America according to several official and media sources.

On this National [American] Day of Prayer - May 3, I took the liberty of begging the Lord God to grant His Grace to all Americans, brotherly people and friends of the Congolese. As you know, the Democratic Republic of the Congo is proud to be an ally of the United States of America.

With great teeth, we love the United States of America as our nation of choice to settle and live there. Currently, the Americans have an urgent need, that of fighting Covid-19 and all the other antivalues. To eradicate these scourges, it is essential to appeal to [and remember] the Power of God. Life asks more questions than we have answers, and we must constantly turn to the Lord God for new [inspirations and] explanations of life's dilemmas [and blows].

The Eternal God has repeatedly chosen to be heard audibly to and / or by me for the United States of America. He sends me to you, to the American people, with His message: "Let us trust God and obey His Commandments without forgetting justice or giving in to attack on humanity."

It is by this constancy that I would like to leave you for a next fraternal communication. May the rest of 2020 be favorable to you, to all your family members and to all those who are dear to you.

Sincerely, and to the delight of you,

P.S. Please read and see the attached documents, including the words of support for your collective and the few poems in honor of American personalities and your country - the United States of America.

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I and many other people, recognize your expertise and want to express our staunch support of your efforts to educate the public and to address the Covd-19 crisis as prudently and scientifically as possible.

We also recognize the political limitations you've been forced to endure as a member of the corona virus task force at the White House. You have been truthful and transparent in your messaging, regardless of the spin and obfuscation the administration has tried to foist on us.

We need to hear your voice and opinion, unfettered and uncensored.

We therefore urge you to leave your post in the administration and to become the independent, expert, reliable, reasonable, and needed voice that the Trump White House is trying to thwart. We need you to do that. We need to hear your voice. And the White House needs to learn, however much that may or may not happen, that they cannot silence, sideline, censor, marginalize, or editorialize the truth.

We understand this is a difficult choice and one that we do not recommend lightly. But, as you have stressed repeatedly, these are difficult times and we all have to make our individual difficult decisions.

Sincerely,

If you let Trump control when and with whom you can speak, specifically the US House of Representative, that I must conclude that you are compromised and no longer trustworthy to be an independent and accurate voice of science.

I have a great deal of respect for you, your knowledge, experience and work ethic but if Trump can tell you when to talk, he can tell you what to say. I don't know if I am getting the most accurate information.

Thank you for all you have done. Please talk to the US House and anyone else that can help us through this very difficult period.

DR Fauci,
Please hear me out, You stand at a crossroad presently.For many years you have been dedicated to the universal truth of Science .. you have stood for metered and measured thought,
Now you are operating under a new kind of infectious disease.. the condition of ignorance and Luddite-ism displayed by the Current Administration of Donald Trump and Company. We recently saw Mike Pence go into the prestigious Mayo Clinic and not wear a respiratory device, all for the Photo opp , also showing his lack of faith in science and reason.
You are 79 years old.. your Career in the Public domain will not last forever,
I implore you to seize the current good will and power that you currently posses , for it will surely slip away, and strike a resounding blow against the Willfully ignorant "virus" now infecting our Nation in the form of Donald Trump.
No more deference, no more compliance, no more cooperation...
I implore you to Defy TRUMP... go and testify to the Congress ... stand up for what is good and right, If not you, then who.
Please use the podium that you currently possess and do not comply with the Ignorant fools at the top.
I am sure that you know your time in the Spotlight is short.
STAND UP !! SAY, NO MORE!! SPEAK TRUTH TO POWER.. Do not allow the dangerous , divisive Trump-ism to morph into its historical wellspring..As a knowledgeable man you know what is right.. Be remembered for standing up for the America that we both admire and help put these NO-Nothing fascist clowns back in their boxes..
THE TIME IS NOW.. SPEAK TO CONGRESS AND SEND A CLEAR SIGN THAT YOU REFUSE TO BE USED BY TRUMP AND HIS KIND.. You know that this is the right thing to do...at the right moment of time.
CARPE DIEM

Dear Dr. Fauci,
I value your expertise on the covid19 pandemic and am very concerned about Florida's Governor DeSantis opening up Florida to hastily. I live in (b) (6) which is a very rural community (b) (6) and during my trips to the grocery stores people here have never social distanced and no one cares. It's not just where I live because my daughter lives in (b) (6) and she complained about the same . It seems the leadership in Florida is lacking and I am afraid DeSantis is brewing a dangerous outcome for the people of Florida. I wanted to get your advice on what I can do to stop DeSantis from causing unnecessary deaths in Florida.
In addition, the government has hoarded all masks and even Home Depot has a message saying they have to give all masks to US government. This is America and I should be able to buy an item to protect myself and my daughter. My daughter is autistic and is asthmatic, I am 64 and have high blood pressure and at high risk. False advice on masks cause a scarf doesn't protect anyone and I am sickened by President Trump saying put a scarf around your face. If the Chinese people have masks why can't Americans? Are we a third world country and the government is communist USA?
If I have the money I should be allowed to buy a mask. Can't breath In material mask.
Please give me advice on how to get a surgical masks for me and my daughter, it doesn't have to be N95. We have tried to order them from Walmart and I guess it sent me to third party and they took the money but never got surgical masks.
Sincerely

Dr. Fauci-

As grateful as I am that you've managed to withstand the idiotic nature of the White House, and I understand the conundrum you face every waking hour, but I think its time to separate yourself from these imbeciles... the country is ready for a brilliant, irrefutable expert to stand up to Trump. You have shown exemplary conduct and intelligence while standing your ground on the Covid 19 pandemic, but trying to negotiate with an arrogant idiot and his minions is a futile effort at best. Do yourself a favor, stand your ground and walk away from the White House, work through NIH and the CDC only. Its time to save your honor and dignity (akin to Rex Tillerson) and call a spade a spade. The # moron of a president will drag you down into his abyss and ruin your lifetime of outstanding service to your country and its citizens. Do the U.S. citizens a favor and go before Congress and tell the nation just how irresponsible the White House was in handling the Covid 19 pandemic from the get-go. Your word holds more weight than any one person or group within the White House.

Please continue your good work and do not be intimidated by the Neo-Nazi Right Wing Republicans nor by the Neo-Fuhrer, Herr Trump. We are all in a fight to protect our Republic and you are often on the front line. We love, respect and appreciate your efforts to protect the citizens of this country and for that, you are to be commended.

Everyone is entitled to their opinions, as many and as varied as they can be; however, there is only one fact and one truth at a time. Please stick to the facts and share them with us. You are not alone in the appreciation and respect for the truth – as unpleasant as it may sometimes be. Please carry on. We, who truly love our country and truly believe in the Republic, are behind you!

Remember Benjamin Franklin's response to the question asked after the Constitution was signed:

"-Sir, do we have a monarchy or a republic?"

Franklin said: "-Well, we have given you a republic, if you can keep it."

Today, we have two viruses to contend with. One attacks our bodies. The other, is trying to destroy our Democracy. You sir, are fighting both. God help you! God help us all!

Dear Dr Fauci
I am the mother of a dedicated ICU/Anesthesiologist doctor daughter, the mother of a 2 ½ and 6 month old.
She is dialing working the COVID ICU unit here in Seattle with great courage.

In regard to the recent Oxford study and their offer to share their vaccine research and approach, PLEASE see the bottom of this article. Please don't let US drug manufactures or President Trump make this about profit!

Sincerely and gratefully for all you are doing.
(b) (6)

Other scientists involved in the project are working with a half-dozen drug manufacturing companies across Europe and Asia to prepare to churn out billions of doses as quickly as possible if the vaccine is approved. None have been granted exclusive marketing rights, and one is the giant Serum Institute of India, the world's largest supplier of vaccines.

Donors are currently spending tens of millions of dollars to start the manufacturing process at facilities in Britain and the Netherlands even before the vaccine is proven to work, said Sandy Douglas, 37, a doctor at Oxford overseeing vaccine production.

"There is no alternative," he said.

But the team has not yet reached an agreement with a North American manufacturer, in part because the major pharmaceutical companies there typically demand exclusive worldwide rights before investing in a potential medicine.

"I personally don't believe that in a time of pandemic there should be exclusive licenses," Hill said. “So we are asking a lot of them. Nobody is going to make a lot of money off this.”

The Jenner Institute’s vaccine effort is not the only one showing promise. Two U.S. companies, Moderna and Inovio, have started small clinical trials with technologies involving modified or otherwise manipulated genetic material. They are seeking both to demonstrate their safety and to learn more about dosing and other variables. Neither technology has ever produced a licensed drug or been manufactured at scale.

I just found out that Trump refuses to let you testify before the Democratically led House, but will allow you to testify before the Republican led Senate. Lawyers and politicians are screaming bloody murder over this. Everyone should be screaming.

You need to ignore Trump and testify. If he fires you, at least you can go out with your head held high knowing you did the right thing, just like all the people who ignored Trump and testified during the impeachment hearings.

We need to get rid of this monster. I'm a lifelong Republican but I refused to vote for Trump because I knew what he was like. I read a piece on your background and in sports and how you were always so determined, so headstrong, like when you played basketball. You never gave up.

Please don't give up now. A few hundred million are counting on you. We all need you to testify in front of the House. We all know why he doesn't want you to testify in front of them. Trump is a spineless, gutless coward. But that's what all bullies are.

You have more than earned your reputation. I'm 70 years old. I have been watching you for decades. I'm a Vietnam veteran. I was supposed to die in the jungles, but my friend died in my place. Trump got out of the draft claiming non-existent bone spurs. I didn't fight in Vietnam to have someone like Trump gut this country from the inside out.

You need to think about your life and everything you have accomplished. Don't let this Monster dictate to you what you know you have do to. Testify to both the House and Senate and force him to make a decision. If he fires you, that will be the last straw. He will never be re-elected!

DO THE RIGHT THIING. I have always tried to live my life that.

THE PHYSICIAN'S HEART

Dear Patient:

More than just words or simple creed,
To you I vow to do my deed;
To honor the Oath of Hippocrates,
To honor the trust you've placed in me.

Your chart, more than paper; it represents life:
Whether single, a parent, a husband or wife.
More than a number or name on a list,
I honor your person…on that I insist.

May God guide my words, my thoughts, my hands;
I'm here to serve in the healing plan.
I'm just a vessel; I'm human like you;
My goal is the very best I can do.
No matter the weather or hour of night,
I'll do my best to handle your plight.

If my words confuse, or I speak too fast,
Fear not, feel free—by all means, ask.
Your comfort, your knowledge is important to me;
What you don't understand, I'll help you see.

Though I'm just one person, my staff's here too;
We work as a team; we're here for you.
If problems arise in this place of care,
State them plain; the solution's near.

Your utmost health is my goal;
'Tis my prayer of heart and soul.
Thank you for trusting your health to my care;
Know that I'm honored you want me here.

Of all the doctors, you chose me—
What greater honor can there be?
For your visit, I now prepare
With skill and knowledge, compassion and care.

Dear Dr. Fauci
I am a computational biologist from Harvard.
As President Trump set the May 1 deadline to reopen the economy, I have two urgent messages for federal and local governments making the reopening plan.
First, it is possible to reopen the economy without causing a significant resurgence. However, it requires detecting a significant portion (not 100%) of COVID-19 cases.
Second, the quarantine of close contacts of a confirmed patient may not be sufficient to contain the spread of COVID-19 upon reopening. A 2-layer quarantine may be necessary.
Please see attached for details.

Prevent the resurgence of infectious disease with asymptomatic carriers

Zhechun Zhang

Quantitative Biology Initiative, Harvard University, 52 Oxford Street, Cambridge, MA

zhechunzhang@fas.harvard.edu

Abstract

After reaching the peak of the COVID-19 outbreak, many regions are in search of a reopening plan that would minimize resurgence. Here we show to prevent resurgence local governments need to estimate how early and how many COVID-19 cases can be detected. It is safe to end social distancing if the majority of cases are detected early in the infection window. If cases are detected later, a 2-layer quarantine may be necessary to prevent resurgence. If fewer cases are detected, community events, schools, and large businesses may need to remain in virtual mode. Our results demonstrate that detecting more cases earlier is essential for preventing COVID-19 resurgence.

NIH 001191

COVID-19 is an infectious disease with asymptomatic carriers[1,2]. An estimated 25%-43% of COVID-19 cases are asymptomatic[3,4] (Fig. 1). In symptomatic cases, the disease can be transmitted 1-2 days before the onset of symptoms[1,2] (Fig. 1). Asymptomatic transmission makes COVID-19 challenging to track and study. Unless everyone takes the test, only a portion of COVID-19 cases can be detected and quarantined (Fig. 1). Limited detection also makes estimating the reproduction number of COVID-19 more challenging than other infectious diseases such as SARS. How to prevent the resurgence of infectious disease with asymptomatic carriers is an open and urgent question.

To address this question, we developed a microsimulation model[5,6] where only a portion of cases is detected and quarantined. Disease carrier is infectious between days 5 and 14 post-infection[1,2] (Fig. 1). Between days 6 and 14, some carriers are detected by testing (Fig. 1), resulting in the quarantine of confirmed carriers and their close contacts. We applied this model to a hypothetical region similar to Massachusetts, with 6.8 million residents, 3.9 million employees, and 2.5 million households (Fig. S1). Patient 0 was introduced on February 26 at a company conference; K-12 schools and colleges were closed on March 14; non-essential works were shut down on March 22 (Fig. S2).

We performed multiple tests to validate this model. First, we compared the number of cases in the simulation to the number of confirmed cases reported by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (MDPH). Because the latter depends on testing availability and turnaround time, it sets a lower bound of actual cases approximately one week before the report date (Fig. S3). Second, we compared the number of deaths predicted by the simulation to the number of deaths reported by MDPH. Although the reported deaths is also subject to undercounting[7], it provides an estimate of actual cases 1-2 weeks before the report date (Fig. S4). Here we assumed the death rate is ~1% as reported in Korea, where extensive testing started early in the outbreak. Third, our model predicts a peak date of reported cases on April 24 (Fig. S5). The prediction was made on April 15, posted on April 19[8], and is consistent with the peak between April 23 and April 25 reported by MDPH (Fig. S6). The University of Washington model (covid19.healthdata.org accessed on April 15) predicted a peak date of resource use on April 28 (Fig. S7). Fourth, our model predicts a total death of 9,106 by August 5th, 11% more than the University of Washington model (Fig. S7). As of April 30, Massachusetts has seen 3,562 deaths, a figure that is likely an undercount[7]. Fifth, our model predicts a serial interval of 5.04 +/- 0.04 days, consistent with the reported interval of 4.4-7.5 days[1]. Last, our model predicts a reproduction number of 5.96 +/- 0.18. This number is higher than the COVID-19 estimate[1,9] based on the early outbreak in Wuhan, where testing was limited. This is also higher than SARS[10,11]. Therefore, we modeled a disease that is more infectious than SARS.

According to the model, the reopening plan needs to be made based on estimated $\mathbf{P_d}$, the percentage of cases detected, and $\boldsymbol{\tau_q}$, the time quarantine starts. The higher the $\mathbf{P_d}$, the lower the τ_q, the less restrictive the reopening plan needs to be (Fig. 2). Social distancing can be lifted if 70% of cases can be detected, and quarantine starts within one week of infection (Fig. 2 and 3). These conditions are difficult, if not impossible, to satisfy. $\mathbf{P_d}$ = 70% requires detection of most, if not all, symptomatic cases since asymptomatic cases account for 25% or more of total cases of COVID-19[3,4]. $\boldsymbol{\tau_q}$ = 7d requires quarantine to start within 1-2 days of the onset of symptoms.

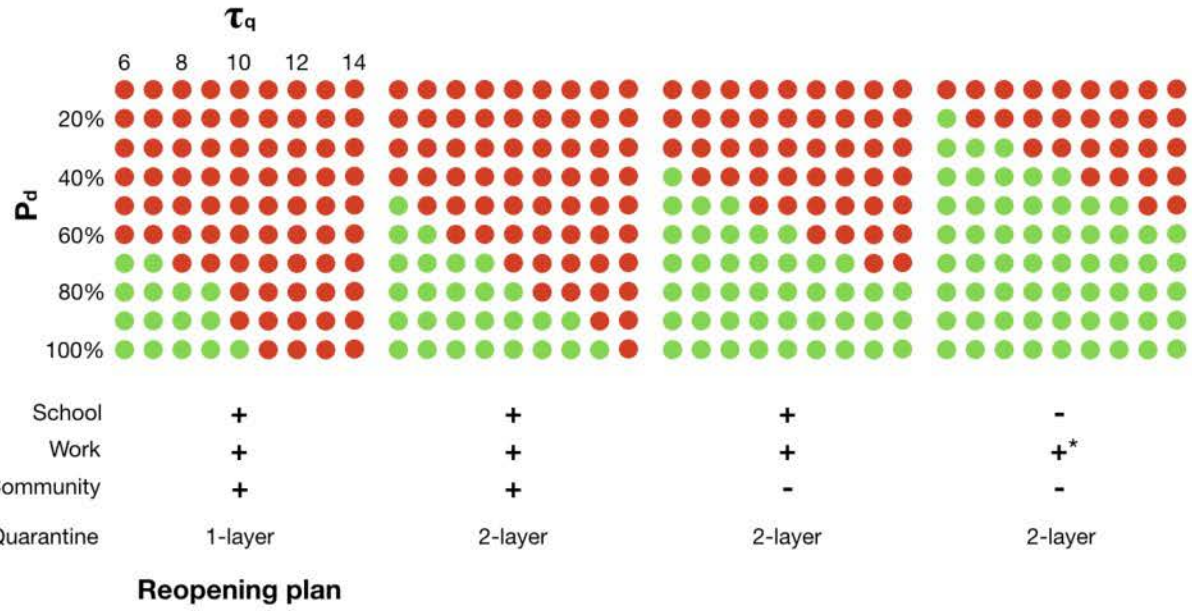

Figure 2. Resurgence as a function of $\mathbf{P_d}$, $\boldsymbol{\tau_q}$, and reopening plan. Here $\mathbf{P_d}$ is the percentage of cases detected, $\boldsymbol{\tau_q}$ is the time when quarantine starts. A red dot denotes resurgence after reopening.

τ_q is an often neglected but critical variable. τ_q determines whether 2-layer quarantine is necessary. If social distancing measures are lifted, but quarantine does not start within ten days of infection, a 100% detection rate is not sufficient to prevent resurgence (Fig. 2 and 3c). In general, the number of layers required is determined by two timescales: τ_q, the time when quarantine starts, and τ_i, the time when the patient becomes infectious. τ_i, according to recent studies, is 4-5 days[1,2]. Currently, it can take another 4-5 days altogether for the test to come back positive and for public health officials to reach close contacts. At the time quarantine starts (τ_q), the disease might have spread from the first layer of contacts to the next layer (Fig. 3a s).

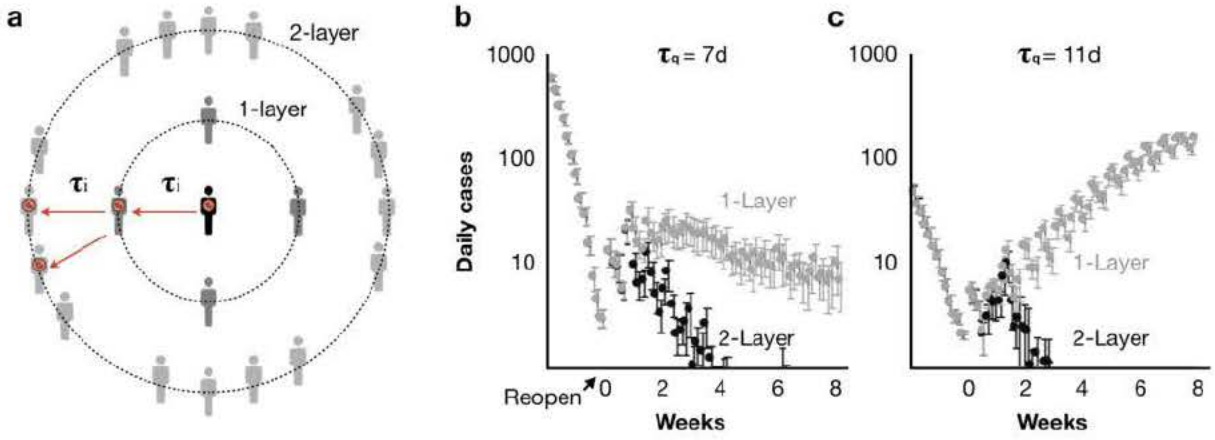

Figure 3. τ_q determines whether 2-layer quarantine is necessary. a, schematics of quarantine layers. Red arrows indicate disease transmission. τ_i is the time required for an infected person to become infectious and transmit the disease to the next layer. b, the daily cases as a function of time after reopening, if quarantine starts 7 days after infection (τ_q = 7d). c, same as b, excerpt τ_q = 11d. NIH 001195

In our model, 2-layer quarantine requires not only the confirmed carrier and its close contacts, but also their workplace, schools, homes, and communities to be quarantined. This additional layer leads to 950 +/- 69 quarantines per confirmed case. Nevertheless, at any given time, only a small percentage of the total population is under quarantine (Fig. S8).

In addition to 2-layer quarantine, schools, large businesses, and community events may need to be restricted if not enough cases are detected. If 70% of cases are detected, no restriction is necessary as long as 2-layer quarantine starts on day 8 (Figs. 1 and 4). If 60% of cases are detected, schools and businesses can reopen, but community events need to be restricted (Fig. 4). Community contacts outside schools, work, and home account for ~30% of daily contacts[12] (Fig. S3).

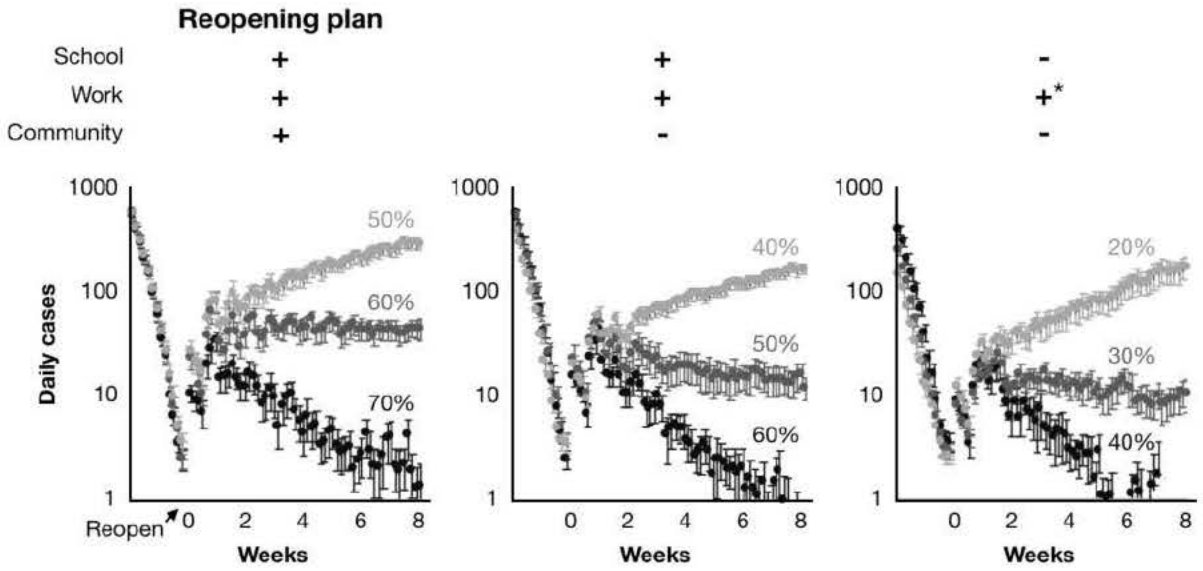

Figure 4. P_d determines whether a reopening plan will lead to resurgence. The daily cases as a function of time after reopening. Different colors correspond to different values of $\mathbf{P_d}$. * means only businesses with less than 2,000 employees are reopened. Error bars denote S.E.M.

If 30% of cases are detected, schools and large businesses (>2000 employees in our model) need to remain in virtual mode (Fig. 4). Due to their large size, schools and large businesses are hot spots for disease transmission. In our model, students are 66% +/- 12% more likely to transmit the disease than the rest of the population. Employees of large businesses, 94% +/- 5%. According to the model, had schools, large businesses, and community activities been shut down on March 3, the outbreak in Massachusetts would be limited to 3220 +/- 650 people and peaked by March 31 (Fig. S9).

Here we show the probability of resurgence for a given reopening open depends on P_d, the percentage of cases detected, and τ_q, the time quarantine starts (Fig. 1). This conclusion is based on the microsimulations of a hypothetical region similar to Massachusetts. To use the model for policymaking, however, it needs to be refined by local government records on population, employment, school, business, household, etc. The model can also be updated in the future as more data on disease transmission become available. The model can also be custom-built for regions other than Massachusetts. Nevertheless, for any given region, the more cases detected, the earlier quarantine starts, the less restrictive the reopening plan is expected to be.

The resurgence of infectious disease has significant impacts on public health and the economy. At the initial stage of reopening, it is safer to assume only a small percentage of cases (P_d = 30% or less) are detected late in the infectious window (τ_q = day 8 or later). In order to increase P_d, it may be necessary to (i) test all symptomatic patients, (ii) test all close contacts of confirmed cases, and (iii) screen high-risk populations routinely. To decrease τ_q, besides utilizing fast COVID-19 tests and contact tracking apps, it is also essential to consider the psychological and economic burden of testing and quarantine[13]. One possibility to offset such burdens is to issue stimulus checks to individuals and businesses affected by quarantines. 100,000 checks a day, $250 per check, cost $25million, which corresponds to 1.5% of daily GDP in Massachusetts[14]. 100,000 COVID-19 tests a day cost $5million[15], or 0.3% of daily GDP. Therefore, encouraging more COVID-19 tests earlier is a small investment with a high return.

NIH 001198

Methods

Disease transmission

In our microsimulation model, the disease spreads through three types of contacts. Contacts at school/work, home/residence, and community events account for 37%, 34%, and 29% of total contacts, respectively. This ratio is consistent with a recent study of social contacts in European countries[12].

Each disease carrier makes up to four contacts at school/work every workday, three contacts at home/residence every night, and four contacts in a community event (see section region-specificity). The probability of infection upon contact is a free parameter in the model. We set it to 45%. This value is constrained by (i) the number of confirmed cases and (ii) the number of deaths reported by MDPH, and (iii) the number of conference attendees with COVID-19 symptoms reported by Biogen on March 3[16].

Detection and quarantine

Our model follows the timeline of the COVID-19 outbreak in Massachusetts. Once a case is detected, the disease carrier and its contacts are subject to quarantine. The number of detected cases between February 26 and April 9 is set by the number of confirmed reported daily by MDPH. Between April 10 and the reopen date (see section reopen), the number of detected cases is determined by min(2151, Pd*N). 2151 is the number of confirmed cases on April 9, Pd is the probability of detection, and N is the number of disease carriers between days 8 and 14 post-infection. After the reopen date, the number of detected cases is determined by Pd*N', where N' is the number of disease carriers on days τ_q post-infection. We assumed that disease carriers under quarantine no longer go to work, school, community events, but continue to make contacts at home.

For 1-layer quarantine, contacts of the confirmed carrier between the day of infection and the day of detection are subject to quarantine. In comparison, 2-layer quarantine requires the school, workplace, home, and communities of the confirmed carrier and its contacts to be quarantined as well. In theory, it is possible to reduce the 2nd layer to close contacts of the 1st layer. However, this reduction would increase the workload of MDPH and might delay the start of quarantine. A slight delay might allow the virus to spread to the next layer and cause significant resurgence.

Region-specificity

There are 9,000 daycares, 2,400 K-12 schools, and 100 colleges, with a total of 1.93 million students (see table 1). These numbers are estimated based on publicly available data on age distribution, student enrollment, and student/teacher ratio. They can be refined by local government records.

There are 197,715 employers with a total of 3.9 million employees (see table 2). Small (<19 employees), middle (20-99), large (100-499), and extra-large (500+) employers, account for 18%, 17%, 15%, and 50% of total workforce, respectively. This ratio is consistent with the national distribution of employer size[17].

There are 2.5 million households with 6.8 million residents (see table 3). Residents are randomly assigned to households. The household assignment is independent of the school/employer assignment.

Patient zero

We introduced patient zero in a large company (with 2,000 employees) on February 26, consistent with the COVID-19 outbreak in Massachusetts[16]. A conference organized by a Biogen between February 26 and 27 led to a dramatic increase of confirmed cases in the state[16]. We assumed that patient zero made eight contacts daily during the conference. That is two times the default number of contacts at work. This temporary doubling of contacts is needed to reproduce (i) an estimate of 50 conference attendees with flu-like symptoms on March 2 reported by Biogen[16] and (ii) the dramatic increase of confirmed cases reported by MDPH the following week.

Closure of school, business, and community

In our model, schools, community events, and businesses with more than 25 employees (except essential businesses) are closed on March 14. These closures are consistent with orders by Governor Baker and public announcements of schools, businesses, and event organizers. Upon closure, the disease can no longer transmit through these schools, businesses, and community events. In our model, all non-essential businesses are closed on March 22. Afterward, only 516,000 essential workers are allowed to work. In our model, the probability of infection is reduced by 50% on April 3. During that week, (i) CDC recommended wearing mask or face-covering; (ii) local grocery stores started to limit the number of customers inside the store; (iii) signs urging social distancing of 6 feet and redirecting foot traffic appeared in public places. We simulated the possible scenario that the probability of infection rebounds after reopening. If the probability is set to the default value of 45%, resurgence can still be prevented. For a given reopening plan, it requires more cases to be detected earlier.

NIH 001203

Validation of the model

In order to compare our model to the number of confirmed cases reported by MDPH, we assumed that cases are reported seven days after infection. This delay accounts for the incubation period (5-6 days[1,2]), consulting the primary care physician, ordering the test, and receiving the result. We assumed that confirmed deaths are reported 11 days after infection.

To calculate the serial interval, we analyzed all incidences, in which the disease is transmitted from a sender to a receiver. For each incidence, we calculated how long after the infection of the sender, the receiver is infected with the disease. We then averaged over all such incidences.

To calculate the reproduction number, we divided the number of infected people by the number of senders, before the closure of school, business, and community.

To quantify the likelihood of disease transmission by people affiliated with (i) schools, (ii) large businesses, and (iii) rest of the population, we calculated the number of senders in each population and then normalized by the size of the population.

Reopen

In our model, reopening occurs when the total number of infected people does not change compared to the previous day. At the time of reopening, there are disease carriers who are infectious and yet to be detected.

Dear Tony,

Thank you for your earlier response. Even though you are more than fully occupied with meeting the many challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, I'm compelled to write about the dangerously irrational, paranoid and belligerent leadership behavior we are seeing. This has recently increased beyond "just who he is" and is accompanied by possible memory gaps and inconsistencies. If this were a family member, we would strongly consider professional evaluation.

During the three years when I took on the additional position of Hutch Ombudsperson and reported in that capacity to Lee Hartwell, I came to appreciate the broad range of possible flaws and shortcomings in our human behavior. Although these never approached endangering the lives and well-being of others, we intervened promptly and I hope appropriately when necessary.

The feasibility of intervention is completely unclear from my vantage point. That issue also seems beyond your official responsibilities. However, we cannot ignore the problem and ways in which we might address it.

Immense thanks to you for your good work! Stay healthy, (and don't feel any compelling need to use time responding to this message) :).

Sehr geehrter Herr Anthony Fauci, ich möchte mich bei Ihnen vielmals entschuldigen. Ich hatte Herrn Trump zu viel Recht eingeräumt.

Mit Ihren Aussagen, dass Amerika noch nicht geöffnet werden kann, sind Sie völlig im Recht. Es geht um Menschenleben und die Pandemie ist noch lange nicht ausgestanden.

Mit freundlichen Grüßen und bleiben Sie alle recht gesund.

Subject: Grave concern about 2nd/3rd shift workers in LTC / Assisted living. Can we prevent other states from getting hammered?

Hi Dr Fauci,

Thank you so much for all that you are doing during this crisis and have done throughout your career. We are all blessed to have you. I praise God for you and all the heath care professionals that surround us. I am thankful to all the families that support you all.

I started writing this note, last Sunday night while my mom, 95, (with 0 underlying conditions - no diabetes, cholesterol, or HBP) was in the hospital with Covid 19. She did suffer from arthritis and moderate to late dementia. Until, 92/93, she was very sharp and lived a great and active life! :) Unfortunately, she was one of the many victims within the assisted living system in NJ. Because of the dementia and having solid cognition only during the day (usually around 11 am to 4/4:30 pm), she often said she was ready to be with the Lord. On Saturday afternoon, I was blessed to sit outside her window for over 2 hours, while we waited for an ambulance. She asked God to take her, Jesus to be with her, and kept Thanking God. My brother and I were fortunate to have a great Mom and Dad.

So far 12 out of 45 resident's have tested positive at this Brookdale facility in Hamilton, NJ. I witnessed the first 4 ambulances arrive on Saturday and the paramedics said they were getting calls from all the local facilities and Several hospitals were rotating ER admissions due to capacity.

Although, my mom was in an extremely loving facility, they did not adhere to masks on all the staff or social distancing until 2 weeks ago. I continually expressed my concern and until last week asked if they had any Covid positive cases and they said no. Their emails this week now admit that a worker tested positive on 4/16. On 4/12, my mom was doing great and at baseline. I took a picture of her through the window with a mouthful of cookies on Easter. :) Btw, I was not told my mom needed assistance eating for 2 to 3 days prior to Saturday. I was given that info by the caring Resident, (b) (6).

Dr. Fauci, I am most concerned about the CNA's/nurses aides that work in more than one long term care facility. This can continue to have massive repercussions in other states. Only last week, I was reading that 300 of the 350 long term care facilities in the state of NJ had at least one positive case. I recognize that many of these workers need two incomes, but at what point (or percentage of affected facilities in a given area/state) should the practice be curtailed during a pandemic? If it can not be curtailed, should those workers be given PPE. After all, they have taxes being taken out of two pay checks. I am not judging those workers. You can even call them heroes for the service they are performing for the facilities, their family and the economy. I hope President Trump would agree.

As leadership comes up with some other solutions and strengthened protocols, I am grateful.

Please continue to join me in prayer for all those affected by covid-19.

With much respect and appreciation,
(b) (6)

P.S. I Will always be forever grateful for your responsiveness 2 years (see below) and for your service to our world throughout your career!

Subject: COVID-19

بسم الله الرّحمٰن الرّحيم

In the name of GOD, The Gracious, The Merciful.

Dr. Anthony Fauci,

Peace be upon you.

The event of COVID-19 pandemic, as bad as it looks, is meant to unite the people of this great nation (USA) and perhaps the people of this planet. The number "19", is GOD's signature. It is embedded in all the Abrahamic scriptures in an impressive and miraculous mathematical structure. the number "19" simply means that GOD is one, or there is one GOD.

The Gematrical Value (GV) of the word "one," in both Arabic and Hebrew is 19. This number is composed of 1, the First, and 9, the Last, the Alpha and the Omega. The examples are countless and here are few of them: There are 19 bones in each palm of our hands, and 8 bones in each wrist. Also note, the number 19 is the 8th prime number; The Metonic cycle of the Sun, Moon, and Earth, is a period of 19 year; Haley's Comet passes by the sun every 76 years which is 19x4 years; DNA (D,4+N,14+A,1=19); E= MC^2 =(One M,13 + 2 C's=2x3=19,or (13+2x3) =19); etc.

This is what we know so far about the event of COVID-19:

1- Coronavirus Outbreak (consists of 19 Letters)

(one in every 19 random numbers, is a multiple of 19 – 1 in 19; (1:19))

2- Coronavirus Pandemic and Coronavirus Epidemic (both are 19 letters: 1 in 19^2 or 1 in 361)

3- The date of the event is coded with 19

If you visit to the World Human Organization (WHO) site at the link below, you will find:

"... the Corona Virus was first reported from Wuhan, China was on 31 December 2019."

https://www.who.int/emergencies/diseases/novel-coronavirus-2019

As we know, the date can be written in two ways:

a- 12/31/2019 date format in the West (USA and other western countries)

b- 31/12/2019 date format in the UK, east and far east countries. Here are the facts about the date:

c- (1+2+3+1+2+0+1+9 = 19) (1:19) The date's digits add up to 19 in both formats

d- 12312019=19x648,001.00 (also, 6+4+8+0+0+1 = 19) (1:19^2) (the date is a multiple of 19, and the quotient digits add up to 19)

e- 31122019=19x1,638,001.00 (also, 1+6+3+8+0+0+1 = 19) (1:19^2) … (same)

f- Note: 1: 19^5/365 = 1 in about 6,784 year-event. The actual event probability is likely more than 1 in 6,784 years. Try and find another date like it that has the same 5 listed facts.

4- Coronavirus Disease 2019 or COVID-2019

a. COVID–2019. (3 15 22 9 4 2019 = 19 x 1659102212.00 (1:19) (C=3 -Third letter of the alphabet, O=15, V=22, I=9, D=4)

b. Also, add the digits 3+1+5+2+2+9+4+2+0+1+9= 38 = 19x2 (1:19)

5- Novel Coronavirus

14,15,22,5,12, 3,15,18,15,14,1,22,9,18,21,19 = 19x74,485,532,797,463,954,801,535,901.00 (a multiple of 19, and 28 digits both sides) (N=14, O=15, etc.)

6- Provisionally called 2019-nCoV forms a number: 2019 14 3 15 22 = 19x1062706922.00 (a multiple of 19) (1:19)

7- Also called SARS-CoV-2, from a previously identified beta coronavirus, SARS-CoV-2 (1:19)

19 (1+18=19) 19 … 19x19x19 = 6859 (6+8+5+9) = 28

8- Wuhan (23 21 8 1 14 = 19x1222006.00) (1x19) (W=23, U= 21, h= 8, a=1, n=14),

a. Is the biggest city on earth with the name that starts with the letter 'W' and has the biggest population in the W-group.

b. If we investigate all the countries with the biggest population for all the other alphabet letters, we will find out that the only one country that has a name with an concatenated alphabetical sequence value (23 21 8 1 14) that is a multiple of 19 is Wuhan. It is the only city in the world with the sequential value of its letters that line-up to be a multiple of nineteen with all the facts considered above. For instance, Jakarta has the biggest population in the J-group and it has a sequential value of (10,1,11,1,18,20,1) which is not a multiple of 19, New York for the N-group, is (14,5,23,25,15,18,11) which is not a multiple of 19, etc.

- There is a total of 4,416 cities on planet earth with populations greater than 150,000 people, and there is a total of about 50,000 cities on planet earth; However, let us say that Wuhan is only 1 in 4,416 cities.

9- The lockdown on the City of Wuhan, where the spread of the COVID-19 virus began lasted 76 days, as reported by the Media (from January 23, 2020 to April 8, 2020). 76 =19x4 (1:19)

10- The coronavirus is easily identified by the shape and look of the Spike Glycoprotein (S) which forms the outermost part/structure of the coronavirus. The letter "S" is the 19^{th} letter in the English alphabet. (1:19)

11- Mar 19, 2020 - Governor Gavin Newsom on Thursday ordered California's nearly 40 million residents to stay home, making it the first state to impose that strict mandate on all residents to counteract a looming surge of new infections.(1:30)

12- A 57-year-old Northern California woman whose February 6, 2020 death has become the first known coronavirus-related fatality in the US had been in relatively good health, her brother told CNN. 57=19x3 (1:19)

Of course, there are more facts and events that are connected to this big event, but I will stop here. It is my estimate that the probability "P" of this event "A," P(A), with some margin of error is as follows:

P(A) is $1:19x19^2x19X19x19^2x19^2x19x19x19x19x19x19x4{,}416x19x19x30x19$ or $1:19^{18}x4{,}416X30$ or 1 in $1.379479137x10^{28}$

P(A) = 0.000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,07249112896 …, or $7.249112896x10^{(-29)}$ (28 zeros after the decimal). This event is statistically undeniably designed to have these facts embedded in it. The names, the dates, the city, etc.

Note: The method of estimating the probability P(A) of the COVID-19 event is a very simplified one. The event is improbable and an incredibly unique event. The event of COVID-19 is coded so that we know that GOD exits. There are other events and countless mathematical miracles in the Final Testament that supply multiple of irrefutable evidence and proof of GOD's existence. Praise be to GOD the Lord of the Universes.

Here is what GOD says in The Final Testament, The Holy Quran:

57:22 Anything that happens on earth, or to you, has already been recorded, even before the creation. This is easy for GOD to do.

74:30 Over it is nineteen.

74:31 We appointed angels to be guardians of Hell, and we assigned their number (19) (1) to disturb the disbelievers, (2) to convince the Christians and Jews (that this is a divine scripture), (3) to strengthen the faith of the faithful, (4) to remove all traces of doubt from the hearts of Christians, Jews, as well as the believers, and (5) to expose those who harbor doubt in their hearts, and the disbelievers; they will say, "What did GOD mean by this allegory?" GOD thus sends astray whomever He wills, and guides whomever He wills. None knows the soldiers of your Lord except He. This is a reminder for the people.

72:18 The places of worship belong to GOD; do not call on anyone else besides GOD.

2:62 Surely, those who believe, those who are Jewish, the Christians, and the converts; anyone who (1) believes in GOD, and (2) believes in the Last Day, and (3) leads a righteous life, will receive their recompense from their Lord. They have nothing to fear, nor will they grieve.

3:55 Thus, GOD said, "O Jesus, I am terminating your life, raising you to Me, and ridding you of the disbelievers. I will exalt those who follow you above those who disbelieve, till the Day of Resurrection. Then to Me is the ultimate destiny of all of you, then I will judge among you regarding your disputes.

3:56 "As for those who disbelieve, I will commit them to painful retribution in this world, and in the Hereafter. They will have no helpers."

3:57 As for those who believe and lead a righteous life, He will fully recompense them. GOD does not love the unjust.

3:58 These are the revelations that we recite to you, providing a message full of wisdom.

3:59 The example of Jesus, as far as GOD is concerned, is the same as that of Adam; He created him from dust, then said to him, "Be," and he was.

3:60 This is the truth from your Lord; do not harbor any doubts.

This is what Jesus will say to GOD:

5:116 GOD will say, "O Jesus, son of Mary, did you say to the people, `Make me and my mother idols beside GOD?' " He will say, "Be You glorified. I could not utter what was not right. Had I said it, You already would have known it. You know my thoughts, and I do not know Your thoughts.

5:117 "I told them only what You commanded me to say, that: `You shall worship GOD, my Lord and your Lord.' I was a witness among them for as long as I lived with them. When You terminated my life on earth, You became the Watcher over them. You witness all things.

5:118 "If You punish them, they are Your constituents. If You forgive them, You are the Almighty, Most Wise."

CONCLUSION

This global event (COVID-19) should be considered as a warning from GOD and a turning point in our history. By GOD's grace, mercy and will, it will fade away soon, and we will recover from it.

We should all unite in faith and in trusting in GOD. The Religion of GOD is based on the truth. The only religion authorized by GOD is Submission. It means, to submit to the will of GOD and worship Him alone. It is to believe that GOD is our only Savior.

We should not worship GOD's messengers and prophets (Jesus and Mohammad, etc.), and we should not worship statues and idols. The only One who can help us or harm us is GOD. The religion of GOD is based on monotheism and worshiping GOD alone. It is the religion of Adam, Noah, Abraham, Jacob, Isaac, Ismail, Job, David, Solemn, Jonah, Joseph, Moses, Jesus, Mohammad, and all the other prophets and messengers of GOD.

The foundation of the religion of truth "Submission" is based on worshiping the one and only GOD alone. Idolatry is not acceptable in GOD's religion. Refer to the first commandment in the scripture - I am the Lord your GOD. Thou shall not have other gods before me, and to the second commandment - Thou shall not make or setup idols to rival GOD.

We are dealing with a national and a global crisis right now, but if we find the cure and the vaccine for this virus in the near future and, GOD willing (Insha'Allah) we will, are we going to go back to our old ways? Are we going to break the commandments and forget what happened to us? Is this the only crisis out there we expect to face and know of? We all know that there are tens of scenarios of crises that we have heard of in the past; for instance, asteroids and super volcanoes that can wipe out life from this planet. Wars with weapons of mass destruction such as chemical, biological, and nuclear, etc. Have we not learned from the scripture that when warnings start coming, they come in intensity increasing order? Have we not learned about the nations that were destroyed before us? Were they not human like us? All the hatred and idolatry must stop. Here is the invitation from GOD:

3:64 Say, "O followers of the scripture, let us come to a logical agreement between us and you: that we shall not worship except GOD; that we never set up any idols besides Him, nor set up any human beings as lords beside GOD." If they turn away, say, "Bear witness that we are submitters."

Let us worship GOD alone and stop worshiping humans that were created inside their mother's bellies; First in the form of cells, then they turned into hanging embryos, then became fetuses and were given life, then settled in the wombs for a predetermined period by GOD; Then were brought out as infants, and their mothers cleaned them every day and fed them for a long time until they were able to walk. To live, they had to drink, eat, and use their intestines. GOD then put them to death and raised them back to Him. Are they worthy of worship? Of course not! Stop this plague. Stop the idolatry virus that is destroying everything. Stop the outspread and prevailing massive idol worship.

31:13 Recall that Luqmãn said to his son, as he enlightened him, "O my son, do not set up any idols beside God; idolatry is a gross injustice."

Idolatry is the only unforgiven sin if maintained till death.

4:48 God does not forgive idolatry, but He forgives lesser offenses for whomever He wills. Anyone who sets up idols beside God, has forged a horrendous offense.

Finally, the LORD's name in English is GOD, ALLAH in Arabic, ĚLĀHĀ or ALAHA in Aramaic (The Language of Jesus), DIOS in Spanish, DIEU in French, El/ELOHIM/YHWA in Hebrew, etc. Of course, GOD has more names in each language like in English; The KING, The SACRED, The PEACE, The FAITHFUL, The SUPREME, The ALMIGHTY, The POWERFUL, The MOST DIGNIFIED, The CREATOR, the DESIGNER, The MERCIFUL, The GRACIOUS, etc.

(Please deliver this message to Dr. Fauci.)

Dear Dr. Fauci - Please tell the people of this great nation to worship GOD alone. If you do, GOD will help us during this crisis and will prevent future events from hurting us. God will let you return to Heaven. Do it in the way of GOD. Do it and see how great GOD is. If you do not, things may get better, but not for a long time. Please do not ignore this message.

Please also deliver this statement to Dr. Deborah Birx, President Trump and Vice President Pence. Do it in the way of GOD!

All the praise and all the glory be to GOD alone.

Peace be upon you,

I want to know how any of you go about your business when we now have over 60,000 Americans dead, enough names to fill a football stadium. What really upsets me is that you stand there with the President and say nothing. Dr. Brix says nothing. Today I read that a teacher has died, she tried in vain to get a test, but was denied. And yet today Vice President Pence bragged on Tv that he didn't have to wear a mask because he gets tested often as do people around him, well, isn't that nice! That tv appearance was a disgrace, being he was in medical facility. After I finish this to you Dr. Fauci, I will be sending a letter to Mayo Clinic on how they handled the Vice President not wearing a mask, I have to wear a mask to go in any store or pharmacy , or in my Oncologist office, yes you see I have cancer and I can't get a test either, I have cancer and on (b) (6) I had a stroke, was in hospital the rehab, no visitors allowed, I was scared, anybody care?
Just my family. Or do you even care that Dr. Bremen killed herself over depression, the man in charge never remarks about those who have died, NEVER. Neither do you or Dr. Brix (all she worries about is what scarf she'll wear in front of the camera) was . As soon as the TV interrupts that briefing coming on with you, Dr. Brix and Mr Trump, we change the channel to Cartoon Network. Don't believe either of you anymore. As for Trump telling people to use Clorox and inject it into themselves for cleansing, and Dr. Brix just sat there, why didn't she walkout? Afraid of Trump? Sad situation. Lives lost on your watch and Trumps watch, with more to come, and then the suicides by health care workers will be next. I am retired, I am a health care worker, with over 40 years experience, I am disappointed in you, Dr. Brix and watch others stand there and lie to all of us. I would be a volunteer in a second if I didn't have cancer fighting for my life.
As for Dr. Kelli Ward of Arizona (head of the Republican Party), making a statement for protestors who want to open everything, telling protestors to wear masks and scrubs to next protest, her license should be revoked, mocking a real nurse who stood in front of protestors, never saying a word, she just stood there to show her support against the stupid protestors (trump followers)sticking up for nurses and doctors, cleaning staff, aides, lab techs, X-ray techs, who are the real hero's during this pandemic.

Subject: Important medical notice about enclosed spaces and efficacy of face masks

Dear Dr. Fauci,
You have done a outstanding job under the most trying of circumstances a person could ever be under. You have my sympathy and admiration.

I have been the President of a small vaccine research vaccine research and manufacturing company since 1995. (b) (6), (b) (4) [redacted]

I am not writing because of that but because of two seriously overlooked scientific principals that are causing Covid-19 to spread exponentially. Please read my entire article. It is written so a power point presentation could easily be made from it for the lay audience like governors to convince them bars, restaurants, churches etc. must immediately be closed.

I originally wrote this as an OpEd for the Washington Post due to the emergency we face and hoped to get maximum exposure. The scientific principals are sound and are not motivated by politics. I also want to remind you that NIH has a recommendation that 5000 IU of Vitamin D3 be taken daily to help prevent Covid-19 and to decrease the severity of the illness.

https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/32252338/

This information is crucial to publicly spread due to the disparate impact COVID-19 has had on person of black and brown color. As stated in your finding due to the extra two layers of epidermis they have they have lower amounts the hormone cholecalciferol, I.e. V D3.

There is an extremely high danger of infection when not wearing a mask in enclosed spaces like bars, restaurants, gyms, school class rooms, college cafeterias, political rallies and etc. due to the clouding effect of Covid-19. This happens because in enclosed areas a large portion of any ill person's shed COVID-19 particles are shed by breathing in a process known as being spread by aerosol. Studies estimate persons ill with a respiratory virus shed during the course of the virus 39% of their total viral particles through breathing alone which excludes coughing and sneezing which are shed with mucus, is much heavier, the person tends to project them toward the floor and generally they are heavier than the surrounding air and do not float.
The principal way the COVID 19 virus is spread when persons are congregated together inside a Church, political rally, a bar, restaurant, the Senate, House, White House, hospitals, schools, funerals, weddings, sports venues and the like by the breathing out of viral particles, shedding, called aerosol shedding. The amount of the virus particles each ill person sheds in a room is in direct proportion to how ill person is with the virus, their stage of illness and how long they are in the closed confinement.

The immune system's first line of defense does not depend on memory cells to stop COVID-19 from infecting the body it uses "non specific defenses" like your skin. As you breath in the virus the following defenses spring into action. The mouth catches some of the virus and destroys it. Viruses inhaled through the nose are partially trapped by the internal hairs, which act as a physical barrier to the virus. Mucus also traps some of the virus before they can enter the lungs. When the nose is blown or there is a sneeze, mucus is removed and pathogens are removed or swallowed into the stomach which destroys COVID-19.

The trachea has cell hairs called cilia, (ciliated cells) Which move mucus COVID-19 upwards towards the throat where it is swallowed into your stomach and destroyed. Goblet cells also create the mucus in your airways which creates a physical barrier that takes the Covid to the stomach. Finally the stomach's acid is not used for digestion but as an immune defense and in this case the hydrochloric acid kills the Covid-19 that has been drained into it.

It is obvious this first line of defense is not perfect or no one would get ill from COVID-19. But there is a synergistic effect when face masks are worn that makes it highly effective in blocking the virus from entering the lungs. If that were not true every doctor and first line worker in hospitals would be extremely ill or dead from Covid-19.

Trump's political pressure has caused scientists to make a serious error in over emphasizing social distancing in confined spaces and overlooked the much more key protection provided by face masks. It is true a cough spreads a huge amount of virus about 6 feet and it is estimated there are on average 250 million viral particles per cough spread. Sneezing is only slightly less.

There are so many viral particles because they are so small, in fact nano size. They cannot be seen by the human eye. The COVID-19 virus can only be seen under an Electron Microscope (TEM). WHO identifies its size to be particles <5μm in diameter, that can remain in the air for long periods of time and it can be transmitted over distances.

It is estimated that a mere 5000 viral particles inhaled or ingested will make the average person feel sick and that as the number of particles you are exposed to increases the greater the chances are you will become increasingly sick.

The Covid-19 virus is a stealth virus. You see and feel someone cough or sneeze mucus but not the virus. Instinctively you know that's bad when they hit you with the mucus but you neither see or feel the ones you breath that are floating in the air. It is estimated that a person that is ill with the Coronavirus virus will shed 39% of their total viral load by exhaling it through their breath while they are sick.

As they exhale the virus is mixed with the moisture in the lungs and leaves the body at the body temperature of 98.6 (97.6) or higher if they are ill. At 98.6 degrees, the temperature far exceeds The room temperature. Gravity causes the virus and moisture in the aerosol, being lighter than the surrounding air, to rise because it's less dense than cold air, and gravity causes virus to fall as it cools off because it's more dense than air that surrounds it. Each breath that is exhaled begins its journey upward in the confined room and the air currents the higher it gets cause them to commingle with everyone else's COVID-19 virus particles which could be easily total in the hundreds of billions to trillions. As they become heavier than the air, gravity pulls the COVID-19 particles down surrounding everyone, even Trump at the podium. We have strong antidotal evidence of this from countless churches where a few infected members have infected 60% or more of the entire congregation along with a staggeringly high death rate. The death rates are so high it appears due to the high number of viral particles they inhaled in the confined space compounded by the length of the services exposing them to a very high viral load in the air.

Masks provide far superior protection than socially distancing. There is a highly synergistic effect between the use of the masks and the bodies "non specific immune defense." The non specific immune defense works in a far superior way if it is not overwhelmed with the COVID-19 particles and when they do not have to a higher wind velocity as they travel over each one of protective barriers.

Secondly the masks themselves, if worn correctly and depending on the type of material, should be able to trap a significant percentage of the Covid virus. There should worn two masks or two layers in one mask. It should be made of a natural fabric like cotton which would swell when damp. It should, when worn (if you do not have a filter) be lightly dampened by spraying a light plain soap and water mist on it on the outer layer if you are in a confine facility for an extended time with a large group of people.

To make a mist the person should use plain soap like ivory (avoid soaps with alcohol, antibacterial substances, lotions or perfume). Mix a small amount of soap with water and put into a bottle that you can easily carry and which will spray a light mist. Water will cause the cotton to swell catching more virus and for those virus particles not stopped by the cotton, it they touch the soap and water it has the potential to be lethal and dissolve the lipid envelop on Covid-19.

But in the end until we have herd immunity there will not be a safe way to have mask free bars, restaurants and etc. where people are partying and forgetting their personal and social obligations.
One hundred years from now Trump history will say he has killed more of our black, brown citizens and our poor white citizens and foreign neighbors than did Adolf Hitler and it was because he believed in white supremacy. The crisis is on us and the House and Senate has grounds for immediate impeachment. Pence should have the courage to have the cabinet force his impeachment.

It is only a few days until the mass slaughter of the brown and black Americans begins when there are no more ICU beds and we start an astronomical death toil. A mass message about Vit D3 needs immediately broadcast on all major television and cable networks.

I ask nothing for this advice except that I be given recognition for any helpful impact these suggestions have. I am a gifted speaker and if power point slides were made for me along with travel arrangements and appointments I would be honored to do this for my country and especially for you. I would make presentations to governors, mayors, evangelical church leaders, Chambers of Commerce, colleges and etc. urging the mandatory closures of bars, churches, restaurants, bowling alleys, etc.

Good luck. Please stay with your job and keep speaking out for as long as you possibly can as you alone have the confidence of the American people to save this great country if this snowballs into a health and financial meltdown down. Please call if I can be of any help. If you email me please have someone call me or leave me a text message as I am receiving about 300 emails per day and I have no staff to sort through the email that is sorted to spam to find ones I need to pull out.

Subject: Coronavirus: FOREVER?????

Cu <copper: Element 29 on the periodic table eradicates coronavirus literally but only localized!> But the virus mutates in other animals, especially in the lungs of bats and pigs and etc ... . In case you are already infected (symptoms are having extremely hard time to breath and coughing and not being capable of breathing or feeling super tired all the time and not being capable of functioning normaly. In case you show symptoms, You must lay in the bed head down position, in addition you must take multivitamins containing Cu, additionally one could drink water from Cu containing pipes, to help more, which has to be installed by professional plumbers, these are options to choose from and you don't have to apply all at once. The sooner you treat the infection the sooner your body builds up immunity! This immunity lasts about 3 to 4 years and needs to be renewed before this time expires!
If you are coronavirus infected, which means your lungs are slowly filling up with alveoli.water, which needs to be emptied via a body inclination of 7/8 degrees laying down (head MORE down and legs in the air position <[,~`] exaggerated image)> in addition to the body position one must treat the coronavirus sickness by taking multivitamins containing Cu.
One must lie in the treatment position for emptying the alveoli.water gathered in the lungs, which takes about 3 weeks and it is great idea to take multivitamins containing Cu <copper> during the first 90 days. The immunity last about 3 to 4 years AND needed to be renewed after 3 years via taking multivitamins and laying in the mentioned position and going through all again, this is required only the next 7 years (pandemic years)<note; this is a suggestion and I CAN'T be hold responsible for suggestions>. One must keep his/her body position in the bed/bedroom in the before mentioned inclination for the next several years! (Especially during the summer times the virus seems to have gone through summer sleep (similar to bears sleep in winter), ofcourse due to X-Rays, gamma rays and Beta rays, which can intrude many depths, if one could have the sun next to themselves, which is never the case or too hot :)
This virus travels via air circulations and can get into any person through eyes or just breathing air or through body cuts, through sex; both genders.... The virus could get into anyone through any body openings, such as through wounds, eyes, nostrils, etc...
However, once immune, after which lasts about 3 to 4 years, one must go through the mentioned various stages and treatments again to immunize again. The virus mutates through suns coronal ejections, which repeats itself every 500 years or so, referring to history, that is why the virus mutations happening! In addition human bodies are susceptible to other viruses mutations initiated by coronal ejections of the sun and furthermore the human gene are open to mutations every 500 years or so via human multiplication in genetics, observe or study pandemics occurrences last 2000 years!
PLEASE be prepared for the upcoming Fall and Winters, because the virus mutations lives also in the upper atmosphere and around the world in other sections of the world and wind makes it traveling and seasons will change around the world and Fall and winter will bring the coronavirus or it's mutations back due to its travel through earth's atmosphere via winds IN upper atmosphere.

So, to answer the question; next 5 to 7 years will be going through of coronavirus again and again and the virus is going to take some people and its going to visit us next 5 to 7 more years! Remember if you or loved one gets sick, to incline your body for water drainage from the lungs, in addition to use copper as shield and eradicate the coronavirus and stay six feet apart from the sick people.

PLEASE remember to forward and distribute ....

Subject: Protestors are 100% responsible for Increase

Dr. Fauci,

We trust you will tell the truth on why Corona virus cases are up so much. No sorry, it wasn't the small Trump rally in OK where people were pre-screened (the media's excuse).

I believe it is 100% due to the Democratic Mayors of at least 20 Major Cities who let thousands upon thousands of people "PROTEST" during a major Pandemic in their cities to promote their own sick political agenda.

I also believe AG Barr should file a lawsuit against the Democratic Party and these 20 Mayors for their carelessness and also file a lawsuit against the "Democratic Puppet controlled media" (CNN, NBC, ABC, CBS, MSNBC) for "urging on" these Protestors who did not social distance and spent many hours "chanting and spitting particulates" on each other as they yelled out their demands. I did not mention Fox because they are addressing this issue. Protestors spent a couple of weeks infecting each other and then they visited bars, restaurants and stores spreading the infection. Americans knows the truth, please confirm this is the primary reason for the increase and please do not try to "sway" the agenda and trying to be politically correct by not stating the obvious.

Finally, to bring this point home, I came up with an idea for the next cover for the New Yorker, Fortune, Time or Newsweek magazines: An innocent four year old black girl walks up to a group of Protestors still holding their signs and says: "Everyone knows you can't protest during a pandemic, you killed my Grandma!"

Respectfully, (b) (6)

Dr. Fauci,
There is that old method of training a dog. When they misbehave, the rolled up newspaper or magazine to the nose might teach a lesson. I have a puppy now, and I don't do that, however it seems the American public needs a smack in the face to wake up.

I respect all that you do. You're pragmatic and usually right about where COVID is heading. If you look at the USA and Europe, we're really not doing well. NY was hit first and they're doing much better than the rest of the country.

You're interviewed on TV all the time. Pence is useless. Trump is well, you know, no need to say it. Next time you're on TV, I want to see you mad. Mad at the country for being lazy about social distancing. Mad at local governments/mayors etc for not enforcing guidelines. You have the attention of America, and America needs a kick in the ass. This administration won't do it. You should do it. Get fired, cause a ruckus, and get the public to get their head on straight. Hit them in the head with the newspaper. If you get fired, people will still listen to you and you will be un-filtered. Just don't sign anything that prevents you from speaking your opinion.

A leader leads by example and our President doesn't do that. Our VP is in the shadows. You're the guy we listen to. Get pissed off. Yell at us. Most of the public hears the message that we're succeeding and everything is going to be ok. The data says otherwise. Come on man, wake people up. Drop a mic, bang something, curse at an ignorant reporter. You're too nice about this. You seem disappointed at how we're doing, but you're not stressing the social responsibility. You need to put the tail between the legs of everyone out there. Get angry. Take your tie off and let us have it. Angry Fauci.

PS. After reading this, it's obvious that this needs to go to our leader, dumbass President who has everyone's attention. That is a waste. Who else can have a positive impact?

Here are some notes for capturing content on your cell phone:

1. Always hold your phone horizontally.
2. Hold your phone with two hands for better stabilization.
3. Watch your head room! Don't cut off the tops of your subject's heads or leave large gaps between the top of the screen and a subject's head.
4. Do not zoom in if possible. If you want something bigger, move closer if you can, but keep your social distance!

Good Morning –

I'm writing on behalf of Mark Lerner, Managing Principal Owner of the Washington Nationals.

Mark would like to invite Dr. Fauci to record a short video message congratulating the 2019 World Series Champions on their victory that will be used in a video program on May 24th honoring the team. It can be a quick congratulatory sound bite OR if he has a Nationals history or postseason story he wants to share, that is great too. I have included step by step instructions below. Once completed, you can simply send the video back to me via email.

Thanks so much for your consideration!

Here are some notes for capturing content on your cell phone:

1. Always hold your phone horizontally.
2. Hold your phone with two hands for better stabilization.
3. Watch your head room! Don't cut off the tops of your subject's heads or leave large gaps between the top of the screen and a subject's head.
4. Do not zoom in if possible. If you want something bigger, move closer if you can, but keep your social distance!
5. Avoid capturing in dark spaces or with very bright backgrounds when possible. We want to see your face!

Nelson is focused on community engagement re trial participant and enrollment, with a specific emphasis on barriers to trial participation in various populations. There is a whole strategic plan for this, very involved. All of that work should ultimately inform future plans to encourage uptake of vaccine when it's available – ie the PSA campaign that Caputo has discussed with Dr. Fauci and us. It's not like there's a bright line dividing these things. Why deny that this engagement and planning is under way? It's not like ASF just made this up!

So I thought Nelson was focused on engagement re trial participant enrollment, not education and promotion of an available vaccine to people. On the interview it seemed like he was talking about vaccine uptake and vaccine hesitancy and the need to use trusted voices like using sports figures, community heroes, etc.

Please see below. There seems to be a disconnect here. I spoke with ASF just now. He was referring to the role being played by Nelson Michael, who is Community Engagement Lead for Operation Warp Speed's Vaccine Development Team.
It might be a good idea to connect Nelson and Caputo.

Fauci said the government has a vaccine education program to counteract anti-vaccine messages.

"We have a program right now that's going to be extensive in reaching out to the community," he said. "They may not like a government person in a suit like me telling them, even though I will tell them. They really need to see people that they can relate to in the community -- sports figures, community heroes, people that they look up to."

But there's no indication that such a program is in place.

The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention runs many federal health education programs, but agency spokeswoman Kristen Nordlund referred CNN to the US Department of Health and Human Services, which runs Operation Warp Speed, the Trump Administration effort to develop a Covid-19 vaccine.

In an email, Michael Caputo, an HHS spokesman, did not confirm the existence of a vaccine education campaign, adding that "I'd hate to see CNN put out [a] wildly incorrect story."

Hi Tony,

I was honestly not expecting a response - you are a class act, just as I had concluded from watching your interactions with Anderson Cooper, Chris Cuomo and others.

And yes, you did speak those words after Mike Pence's ridiculous introductory comments - but those warnings are constantly being undermined. It is extremely infuriating to observe that the actions and intent of those who stand beside you, and who represent the leadership of the nation, are in complete contradiction to the recommendations you and others are making as respected, competent physicians/scientists. And recent experience has shown that any association with Trump/Pence is having serious adverse effects on the public image and reputation of sensible people around them....Generals McMaster, Kelly, Mattis and Milley are just a few who come to mind.

Being a foreigner, I can only imagine the agony of the American medical community as they watch what you must endure.

Wishing you the best of health, peace of mind and a hasty end to this storm!

Pierre

Pierre:
Thank you for your note. Please take a look at the words that I spoke at the press conference immediately after the VP spoke. Listen to my entire few minutes discussion. I do not believe that I diluted anything. I made it explicitly clear that we are dealing with a very serious situation that could ultimately engulf the entire country.
Best regards,
Tony

Dear Dr. Fauci,

Let me first state that we do not know each other. I remember you from back over 30 years ago when I bought my first edition of Harrison's Principles of Internal Medicine and read the credentials of its editors with admiration.

I have been practicing critical care medicine in Montreal's largest academic medical center for 24 years now, and I was greatly relieved when you and Dr. Birx were propelled onto the US national stage to help educate a divided and unfortunately gullible public.

Contrary to those first weeks when your voice of reason had managed to largely drown out the politics surrounding this issue in your country, things have since deteriorated significantly. Both in the pandemic's progression and in the influence you and Dr. Birx are exerting on the public perception. From what I saw in today's televised briefing, VP Pence has lost all semblance of reality and cannot utter a single relevant phrase with respect to what is really happening and what needs to be done. This is where I was relying on you and Dr. Birx to clear the fog and light the way. But instead you seem to have succumbed to the pressure of having to dilute your message and allow irrational politics to take control of the agenda.

Bending over backwards to avoid laying blame (when much of the blame is clearly at the WhIte House's doorstep) will only result in blame being placed squarely on your own shoulders when all is said and done. I understand how difficult this situation can be, but please do not allow this to happen - it would be a terrible and unjustifiable price to pay for trying to appease a cult of ignorant politicians.

I am hoping that within your inner circle of trusted colleagues, there are a few voices that are echoing these same thoughts and that they somehow resonate with your obvious desire for rational thinking and less avoidable deaths from COVID-19.

Warmest regards,

Pierre Aslanian, MD

Subject: Why We Should Unite for the Common Good

Good Evening Professional Contacts, Friends, and Family,

I hope that all remains well on your end. Where are all of the so-called Black leaders? Mitigating the impact of systemic racism should be a major discussion piece within all of our organizations; Especially during these troubled times in America. I wonder why our Black leaders are not making monthly or weekly addresses to America. Youtube is available. I scratch my head bewildered about why there are no committees created to address both racism and police misconduct. On that note, Black leaders should have been addressing systemic racism and police misconduct long before the images started taking emotional tolls on white folks. Black men have been dealing with systemic wealth, health, and safety disparities...like forever.

White folks are protesting in response to the trauma and psychological distress caused by seeing us being killed on TV. Their goal is to stop the police killings in response to seeing it, but as Black people, our immediate goals for members of our culture span far beyond White people's emotional responses. It's a crying shame that our leaders wait on white folks to protest. We can't achieve any degree of normalcy in our country unless we understand the problem. To really understand what is currently going on in America and actually implement solutions, I highly recommend that you study the information via these links and forward them to at least 10 or more people:

We should all help President Trump; Here's why: https://www.slideshare.net/ElihuEl/presidential-appointment

Social responsibility means that businesses, in addition to maximizing shareholder value, must act in a manner that benefits society. Social responsibility has become increasingly important to investors and consumers who seek investments that are not just profitable but also contribute to the welfare of society and the environment.

Question: African-Americans pay taxes equal or more than any other racial demographic in America. African-Americans make-up 13% of the population. Fifteen of my bring-home pay goes towards retirement and savings. Thirteen percent is not very much. What really gives? We have to deliberately end this 400 year hatred that plagues America. Is there a social responsibility for every agency, department, or company that receives tax-payer dollars to hire 13% African-Americans and treat them fairly?

Social Responsibility: https://www.slideshare.net/ElihuEl/equity-bill-template

I would like to setup a Zoom meeting day and time to speak with you all. What is a good number to call to schedule the time(s)? If you have any questions, do not hesitate to call me (b) (6)

Good afternoon- I wanted to remind Governor Murphy to see if he can deliver the $500,000 check as promised to me in this week by mail or via the Mayor of Millburn Short Hills Lieberberg and their team.

Checks can be mailed to (b) (6) .

One of the reasons he said he wanted to pay is because my prior work in higher ed at Union County College as Director was never compensated at all, and I paid my own money for legal action with good lawyers who could not monetize this when employees both lied and could not remember information. His good work with this is appreciated. Governor Cuomo also requested this since he had personal financial problems and would like colleagues to help. If funds are obtained soon from Bloomberg or Trump or Goldman Sachs or Bank of America (or Lagarde / Carney / others), I will reimburse him in full and see if I can add more immediately, within one or several weeks, assuming those funds received are $10 million or more.

Bank of America account Info is also attached. I am also including Dr. Fauci who offered his own $100,000 similarly to be reimbursed.

Thank you,

Dr Fauci.

Did you not learn anything from our dear friend Larry Kramer?

I am sure if he were still alive he would be giving you an earful.

The other day you got up on stage…yes a stage with Mike Pence.

Just by you being there…you give credence and credibility to a man who is…let me be polite "troubled."

I am not going to tell you what to do…but I would like to request that you really think about your actions…and how they have serious consequences.

I know you are under a tremendous amount of pressure…but this is when great men rise to the occasion.

If you are going to get up on stage with Pence or Trump…do so…only under the conditions that you get equal or more time. If not, you are a no show.

I am sure Dr. Brix aka Dr. HPD Histrionic Personality Disorder and her many scarves will be more than glad to show up.

OK…so you might not like what I have recommended…but if so…why don't you meditate and think about Larry Kramer and what guidance he would give you?

Now is the time for you to be of greater measure.

Dear Governor DeSantis,

I consider (b) (6) my true home. I and many other citizens are calling for the FIRING ,(replaced with an honest top scientist/doctor named Dr. John Ioannidis) investigation and arrest of "Drs." Anthony Fauci , Deborah Birx , as well as Bill Gates for crimes against humanity. This scam must end- today! The whole world is affected. This is insanity and these evil people have ruined the public's lives. They are trying to crash the economy deliberately. This is New World Order stuff and it must be fought. .

What is going on here with the virus is Deep-State fraud. This Fauci guy is the "devil incarnate" (said a commenter and I agree!) , a weaselly little liar with a very shady history dating back to 1984. What Fauci says publicly , which is all lies, is very different from what is in the scientific literature. Masks, including N95 are NOT at all effective in stopping influenza or this current virus SARS-CoV-2 has a size of 80 to 120 nanometers. The mask pores size is many, many MANY times larger and the virus will travel on through there like a mosquito through a chainlink fence. If masks work (and they do not) why are we all not back to work ? If they do not work (and they do not work!) why are "they" telling us to wear them? It is all about control. Deep -State population control. These people are criminals!!!!!!!!! We The People MUST ACT.

Please read Anthony Colpo's brilliant article exposing this entire charade and the links to documents that show various transactions or PROF of fraud. .I am so glad he did this as he is an excellent investigative detective. Fauci and his cohorts , in these records, have it under the category of "bioweapon." What Fauci and those above him are doing is DISGUSTING to humanity. Bill Gates is the worst.Fauci's stubborn refusal to acknowledge that hydroxychloroquine, being a zinc ionophore, WORKS resulted in old sick people dying. He should have learned from all the United States doctors using it SUCCESSFULLY as well as SOUTH KOREA who used it MOST successfully and aggressively of ALL.This Fauci guy's sick agenda is to profit and patent a vaccine and get rich. He doesn't want a very effective cheap treatment stealing his thunder.The man is DISGUSTING.

There is a deep financial relationship between Anthony Fauci and The Wuhman Lab. he absolutely funded them to the amount of about $ 3.7 million The Nobel winner Luc Montagnier says this virus absolutely has elements of HIV and malaria in it with very odd uncanny insertion points. Such a virus would take at least 800 years to develop. We have found no intermediary strains and it came out of nowhere. Very respected, elite Indian virologists came out with a paper (linked to by Anthony Colpo) that shows the support of what Luc Montagnier said. They were pressured politically to remove it. There is something very shady going on and it is almost certain this virus was man-made/manipulated by man.

Fauci is wrong about the distance the projectile can travel- it is 32 feet approximately. Wearing masks is BAD for health, increases blood acidity, is a haven for germs and bacteria, does nothing to keep out such a small virus, plus the ears and eyes are exposed. This is Security Theater. Please do something. We all must resist this. We all must STOP being little sheeple. This will never end,. It is totally out of control and Fauci must be exposed. Bill Gates has an obsession with vaccines for all, connections with Epstein- he is a shady, shady man. Gates has talked of depopulation on numerous videos. Fauci, Gates , Birx all exhibit strong "duper's delight". They are all CONNING US. WE ARE BEING PLAYED. PLEASE WAKE UP.

COVID- 19 magically disappear when racist hate groups like BLM (who Muhammad Ali's own son said he would hate) march in tens to hundreds of thousands packed clsoely elbow to elbow or the thugs who rioted and looted get together and toppel statuyes. No mention of the virus or the made -up spike." But regular citizens cannot get haircuts, hang out with friends at the beach or celebrate holidays... Are you effing kidding me? These DISGUSTING DEMOCRATS. President Trump is our only HOPE.

Fauci has a long history of shadiness and fraud. He cosnpired with fellow raud Dr Robert Gallo (who has committed scientific miscoduct inthepast_) Fauci has the weight of all the deatsh of gay men with AIDS taking high dose AZT (that kills cells) on his shoulders. There was nos scientific evidence for that. He quelled all dissent especially from a far superior virologist who disputed his erroneous HIV claims named Dr. Peter Deusbeg from University of California at Berkeley.

Are you aware recently the President of Brazil wanted to get to the bottom of this COVID-19 hoax and had police dig up graves of those claimed to have died of COVID-19 and found those coffins were EMPTY???? Are you aware of five members of Bralzian Parliament , under the encouragement of the President of Brazil, forced entry into a hospital that was "claiming" to have 500 infected people and 200 deaths from VOCID-19? It was all lies.. Lies, lies, and more lies,.

ALL LIES.This CVID-19 is a worldwide DEVIOUS PLAN. .More than 99.7% of the population RECOVER from it and it has a case fatality rate of ONLY 0.1% in the dubious Fauci's own paper in The New England Journal Of Medicine linked below. Fauci tells the public LIES. HIS OWN PAPER shows , in his own words, this is "nothing more than a bad influenza season."

PLease open up Florida to residents from New York, end this senseless quarantine that numerous top scientists from Sweden do NOT agree with.

Please SEE what is going on here. What has been going on here with COVID-19 IS PROVABLE FRAUD and a well planned PLANdemic and Event 201 exposes them for who they are.

Subject: suggestion

TO THE GATEKEEPER: please make certain Dr. Fauci receives this; thank you!

Dr. Fauci;
I live in a small town in North Dakota up by the Canadian Border. I have tested positive for COVID-19 and am in my third month. I have no idea how I caught COVID-19 however would like to give you some suggestions.
When I tested positive, I felt fine; two weeks later my entire GI tract felt horrible; I endured terrible stomach pain; ran a fever of 102.8, had extremely painful headaches, also had diarrhea, my entire body ached, my legs felt as though they weighed 500 lbs each, I felt fatigued & weak all the time, had constant chills, my appetite disappeared, I was always nauseated, my legs became swollen, when I would attempt to eat I would even throw up; I felt as though some monster had taken over my body. This has continued for three months now; the symptoms are the same as when the symptoms hit me very hard.
One problem is that our state of North Dakota never received the CDC's recommended "COVID-19 laboratory test kits; no blood tests. Our government let us completely down when it comes to the proper testing.
I have my master's degree in journalism, thus am an avid reader & researcher. As I have been so very sick I have for the last 3 months on a daily basis checked the CDC's site, NIH.gov's site, as a past Mayo Clinic patient, I check their site daily plus check WebMD's site for all the latest information on this very lethal disease.
In our very rural community we have to drive over 150 miles one way simply to get tested. This is wrong! Instead of our government spending trillions of dollars on the PPP & the Cares Act which turned out to be very botched, that money should have instead been invested making certain that every county in every state be supplied with the proper kind of testing kits.
We have opened up the economy too soon & now are paying for it.
Please do not try China's "pool" testing. China cannot be trusted; there are too many lives at stake here.
My life has completely changed as I still am living with the symptoms that came on after I tested positive. Please do not rush on a vaccine. The stakes are too high; the symptoms way too varied.
I have emailed President Trump on this; our country needs a medical leader such as yourself to give weekly press briefings concerning the truths about COVID-19; I certainly hope President Trump received my email after it went through the gatekeepers. Thank you so very much for being open & honest in all you know & are daily learning about this lethal virus. The public desperately needs a medical professional leader; too many are ignoring COVID-19 completely. I am made fun of when I wear my mask out in public & most in this small town ignore the 6' spacing. This will only end when all states & counties have the proper testing kits & when our political leaders realize this will be catastrophic if the general public continues to ignore the ugly truth about this lethal virus.
Respectfully,
Debra Bamford

Subject: An idea to save the nation

June 27th, 2020

To my elected officials: Congressperson Dean Phillips, Senator Tina Smith, Senator Amy Klobuchar, Vice President Mike Pence, and President Donald Trump

CC: Anthony Fauci, Francis Collins, and Robert Redfield

BCC: Local and national media outlets

I have a simple idea that I believe is worth consideration. Give every American N95 masks to stop the spread of SARS-CoV-2. Cloth masks have unproven benefit and have become a lightning rod for controversy. N95 masks actually help both directions of transmission.

We could stop COVID-19. We could open the economy. Kids could go to school. We could celebrate birthdays and weddings. We could be with loved ones for births and funerals. The healthcare system could focus on treating diabetes, cancer, and heart attacks. And we could do it together.

Yes, production is not magic. It will require extraordinary public-private partnership to ramp up production. But look, we are spending trillions on questionably effective stimulus. Some of that money could be spent to provide grants to every great American production facility to deliver a moonshot goal of 30 billion N95 masks (roughly 100 for every American). That would be a great American feat.

As a feasibility gut check, I ran some napkin math to start. N95 masks retail for about $2. That would be $60b dollars in aggregate. You could quadruple that to drive the manufacturing urgency and equal $240b dollars. Even adding another $260b in long term grants to provide the machinery would put you at a grand total of a half trillion dollars for a real solution.

Yes, some people will not wear them correctly. But education seems plausible to save the nation. Further, because N95 masks prevent transmission in both directions, you would still get population level benefit even if not everyone wore them correctly. And yes, some people will refuse to wear anything. But I believe a historic advertising campaign along the lines of "America in this Together" could increase adoption and it would be a beautiful thing for our country.

The best time to do this was 4 months ago. The second best time is now. Please consider this option. If you need it, I will help in any way I am able.

Sincerely,

Dr Fauci,
I've been watching the press conferences run by Trump and Pence. With the situation getting worse, I'm so disappointed that you're not immediately contradicting them when they say repeatedly that "things are getting better" and "things are opening up" and they're constantly not wearing face masks, etc. It's not enough to allow them to speak false statements, then - if they allow you to say anything - you seemingly quietly say that masks are so necessary and things will get worse.
As a lifelong (recently retired) MICU nurse, I'm so painfully aware of all that it takes to care for a critically ill patient with a covid-like illness....even IF their families are there to support them. All of our lives are in danger right now.
PLEASE speak up forcefully in these press conferences...and insist that you lead the conference...or else please quit working with the president and independently hold your own conferences...so you can tell the people the truth and forcefully warn them about not doing whatever it takes to stay well. They need the truth - from a reliable source!
I sincerely hope you think about this email - and do what's best for the American people. You're a phenomenal physician, and the world needs to constantly and forcefully hear your medical wisdom.

Thank you for reading this email...and good luck!
Confronting Trump and Pence takes a lot of courage and strength....and they'll probably try to fire you...but being fired by them would be a badge of honor to me! ☺...it means you're putting the health if the American people ahead of their selfish and all political interests.

Dear Dr. Fauci: It is time for you (and Dr. Birx) to break away away for all restrictions, and from Trump/Pence, and make it unequivocally clear that masks are absolutely required and that the federal government must coordinate and fund mass testing and tracing. The Pence show was a ridiculous insult to the facts, science, and common sense. I believe in science. The longer you and Dr. Birx tacitly agree to be muzzled the both of you will be (rightfully) blamed. Careers and staying to work on the inside are no longer worth it. You can be as big a hero as the doctors and nurses that are sacrificing their health, families, and lives to fight this pandemic.

Congresswoman Cheney:
You are right on the money implying our imperative is to address C19 as a public health issue first so our economic issues may rebound. The reverse order won't work.

I likewise admire your defense of Dr. Fauci while we attempt to gain increasing certainty of the science underlying such an infectious virus.

Enjoy the summer with your family. Hopefully Ambassador Fox and Jack Oliver will let me know when you swing through St. Louis in the future.

Liz Cheney posts photo of former VP in face mask and says 'real men wear masks'

Caroline Kelly

Liz Cheney, the No. 3 House Republican, posted the photo her father as lawmakers push harder for their constituents to wear face masks to limit the spread of coronavirus. Trump has been loath to wear a mask, despite the advice of public health experts.

"Dick Cheney says WEAR A MASK. #realmenwearmasks," the younger Cheney tweeted Friday along with a photo of her father wearing a mask.

Masks remain a sticking point for some politicians, most notably Trump, even as the number of coronavirus cases climbs past 2.4 million, according to data from the Johns Hopkins University Center for Systems Science and Engineering. The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says that everyone "should wear a cloth face cover when they have to go out in public, for example to the grocery store or to pick up other necessities."
But Trump has continued to defy health recommendations and has been reluctant to be seen wearing a mask in public. He recently told The Wall Street Journal that masks are "a double-edged sword" and also suggested that masks are being worn as a political statement, rather than a health precaution, to show disapproval of him.
Some Republican governors, such as Texas Gov. Greg Abbott and Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis, have resisted mandating face masks be worn in public in their states despite new coronavirus peaks in their states. Experts say wearing a face mask or other face covering could reduce the transmission of Covid-19 by as much as 50%.

Cheney's comments on Friday were not her first to run counter to the President's decisions in combating the coronavirus.

Cheney said in March that the US must address its health care crisis in order to restore the economy, as some of Trump's allies pushed to reopen the country despite the threat of the coronavirus pandemic.

"There will be no normally functioning economy if our hospitals are overwhelmed and thousands of Americans of all ages, including our doctors and nurses, lay dying because we have failed to do what's necessary to stop the virus," Cheney wrote on Twitter.

In April, Cheney pushed back against a false claim by Trump that he has "total" authority to decide to lift restrictions governors have imposed amid the coronavirus pandemic.

"The federal government does not have absolute power," Cheney tweeted at the time, though she did not mention the President explicitly.

The Wyoming Republican invoked the 10th Amendment to the Constitution in her tweet, saying, "'The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.' United States Constitution, Amendment X."

Cheney is not alone in calling for mask-wearing. Republican Sen. Marco Rubio, whose state of Florida has seen a recent surge of coronavirus cases, said Wednesday that "everyone should just wear a damn mask."
Presumptive Democratic nominee Joe Biden said Friday that if elected president, he would make wearing a face covering in public mandatory. Last month, Trump and the White House had mocked Biden for wearing a mask outdoors to a Memorial Day event, leading Biden to fire back in an interview with CNN, calling Trump "an absolute fool."

CNN's Alex Rogers, Clare Foran, Veronica Stracqualursi and Sarah Mucha contributed to this report.

Subject: Covid-19 Today

Good morning Dr. Fauci,

Since the early days of our Covid-19 journey I have looked with great satisfaction and hope toward you. You were our ray of light in a confused world of lies and bullshit coming from Donald Trump and Mike Pence. I thank you mightily for your participation in their Task Force and the seeming truth and direct comments you shared.

That was then. Times have changed. The continued and deepening lies and lack of helpful leadership, guidance and direction from Trump/Pence and the Task Force is beyond belief, hurtful and destructive. At this point you are allowing yourself to become a part of the deceitful message coming from Trump/Pence. By not directly giving us the truth and calling them on their gross misstatements and interpretations of the facts and the best course of action… you are becoming their enabler and a part of the bullshit conspiracy.

To what end?

I believe CNN and MSNBC would happily offer you and a team of knowledgable doctors and scientists the opportunity to share your understanding of the truth as well as best practices and recommendations with us.

While you may not have the power to correct the paths of Trump and Pence, you still do have the opportunity to give the American people good, solid, factual understandings of our present situation and best paths forward.

While I am not confident that you will ever see this note, I am hopeful that you may, and that you will indeed find a way to help us everyday Americans to a better understanding of this mess.

Thank you for all you have done and are doing.
Wishing you much peace and good health,

Subject: Pandemic

Dear Dr. Fauci,
I am writing this in response to the Coronavirus Task Force presentation this afternoon.
Your work in the medical field is to be commended for your vast knowledge of infectious diseases, and I truly admire you for your dedication. You are truly an American Hero.
Time and time again I have listened to you implore the American public to adhere to the CDC guidelines in order to keep ourselves and others safe. However, there are those who feel that their constitutional rights are being trampled on and refuse to do the right thing. Many of those individuals stand by President Trump and follow his lead as he also refuses to wear a mask while in public.
Our country has become a laughing stock to the entire planet because of a rise in cases that should have been prevented.
When I watch and listen to you speak, I am humbled by your unbelievable self control. You are desperate to get the word out about the urgency of the situation, but the current administration constantly undermines your experience and knowledge.
It's obvious to me that your diplomacy is getting you nowhere at this point, so maybe another strategy is needed.
It's time to ask where your loyalties lie... to a President who cares only about himself, the economy and the importance of preserving the statues of dead confederates, or to the American People?
I say LET IT OUT! The next time you have a chance, please honor our country by speaking out and say what's on your mind. Diplomacy is something this President doesn't understand, so don't waste your breath. What is he going to do? Fire you from the task force? He obviously doesn't care what you have to say. He's making a mockery of you and your profession, and he's brought our country down to its knees.
For everyone's sake, please kick diplomacy out the door and let him have it.
Your country will thank you for it

Sincerely,

I have never been more disappointed in you like I have been today. Sorry, you said nothing constructive but a bunch of gobbolygoop. Your hedging your position .in my opinion
Firstly if you really cared about the American people, you would have told Pence to put on a mask. Where was the social distancing and mask wearing suggestion by you here. By being quiet you are an enabler. You were showing everyone that you dont care if another mask less person threatens your health. Time to stop licking his and the other fellas boots and show that you have a pair., You have the power
Second , you didn't stress the importance of masks and how wrong it is to have large gatherings like the one Trump had.
Third, this is not a second amendment thing, this is about life or death and you should have said so. Both you and that other lady with the scarves are really wasting Americans time as you don't take it upon yourself to step in and say...this is wrong pence or trump What your pushing and doing is wrong
My tears have not stopped since the first person was taken away by this virus. I weep every day when I see people around and about without masks being infected and or infecting others. And just cant believe it when people say they dont care, are not concerned, it doesn't concern me, or it's my right to not wear one and behave like I want because I AM AN AMERICAN. I mostly blame the administration but you two are helping to carry their bucket.. You should be pounding on the table saying....listen to the medical advice all you Americans and dont " drink the bleach or shove lights up your rectum." It doesnt work Again, Holding rallies in a pandemic should have had both of you standing on a rooftop yelling NO.
Your only here once ...make your mark. Many of us would like to be in your shoes but cant
This problem would be a lot smaller if only the president and vice would have stood up and said....from today forward, All must wear a mask and keep social distancing .They should be stressing this over and over again. Maybe its unpopular in his mind, but more people would listen. You have to know this is true.
I would rather be a one term president with no deaths to my name than a two term man with 200.0009+ pinned on me.
Anyway, tks for taking time out to read this ,if you do
. At least it made me feel better.

Subject: Shared Observations

Dear Dr. Fauci,
Please believe me when I say and share my total respect for you and your service to our country. Few men or women have brought so many skills to the service of others.

Yet now I must turn, having just witnessed the sham of an update given by the "Task Force" today. I think you know how empty it truly was, particularly given the previous two months without an update. Empty of urgency, and as always, so Trump congratulatory, until Redfield mentioned "face covering", none of you, least of all the VP, even mentioned the single most important element, wearing a mask. The abdication of responsibility implicit in the repeated weak phrase "follow the advise of your state and local governments", despite Pence's pretentious intonations, only underscores the committee's CADD continuing lack of leadership. I cannot believe you were happy with the message sent or more important, the message left unsent.

This is not the first time I've wondered why capable men and women in this administration bend themselves into pretzels to avoid stating what is clear and obvious to most of us. I think what is common among these people, despite their skills and hard won knowledge in their fields, is that they have all fallen in the same, Trump set, trap. This trap expressed as; "If I go, this guy will really make a mess of it! I know I alone can keep this on the tracks."

I suggest this is not your highest purpose. I actually have faith in the systems our society has constructed. None of us are so important that the system would collapse without us. Watching today's update, I could not believe I just saw Anthony Fauci stand at the podium and not say to America "wear your damn masks". It is painful to watch you, of all people, pick words so carefully. When it gets to the point you cannot say what you need to say, it may do us all a bigger service to break ranks, and if that means they let you go, so be it.

You are not the first to fall into this trap. So many inside the Oval Office have done the same. You may be the last, but only because I'm hopeful this man will not be re-elected. I know your interviews tend towards stronger words, but there is no more important place to share truthful words than that podium. Walking the tightrope may no longer be in best service of patient needs.

With sincere respect and thanks for all you've done,

Subject: Communicating about Covid

I realize you're the medical expert, but I'm a communications expert, so let me just share some communications advice with you and the task force. I was a health care reporter, a communications professional at (b) (6) and a communications professor during my 45-year career. I spent a lot of time developing health communications strategies, including work with local communities in the US and abroad, including messaging on AIDS and family planning. You need a clear (accurate) message, a consistent message, and a credible messenger. The covid effort has none of these. I just watched the VP's press conference. My 87-y-o mother said Pence looked like a kid who hadn't studied for the test. People are dying, going to die. If the task force's goal is to save lives, you're going to have to be honest and firm. If your goal is to please Trump, I'm sorry for all of us.

Dr. Fauci,
My husband and I have always believed that you would be the one person we could trust when the Covid 19 Task Force would speak about why we are experiencing community spread. We just heard you say that it is the young people and the Blacks, who don't want to talk to the government, that have caused the spikes in recent weeks. Have you betrayed the American trust too?

We know that we can't trust VP Pence, Dr. Burke's, or pretty much anyone who speaks for Pres. Trump. Let's blame young people and the Blacks rather than the President, who has politicized the whole process; the Governors, who opened their state despite not having met the guidelines; Mayors, who couldn't hold their people accountable because of outside pressure, and all the selfish people who obviously don't care about their fellow citizens.

We know so many people in our county who are suffering from cancer, other mitigating factors and who are elderly like us. Look at what (b) (6) has done for cancer research in the years since we began our Relay for Life. As a two time Relay Ambassador to Washington, DC and Chair or Co-Chair of the Relay for several years, I can tell you first hand the grief and sorrow we all have felt as so many of our loved ones have died. We have many beautiful children and adults fighting right now to beat cancer in our community. (b) (6) has just built a multi-million dollar cancer center.

This disaster can be laid right at the feet of our President who has mismanaged the pandemic from the beginning by lying and not having a national plan that was consistent across all 50 states. As the United States, we would have united together to save our country from this terror like other countries, who have met this unseen virus together. Are we just condemned to fight this pandemic with Politics and Spin Doctors?
PLEASE HELP US !!!

Most sincerely,
(b) (6)

I listen only to you in regards to the pandemic in this country. I know you are honest and don't try to scare, but also aren't playing any smoke and mirrors games.
I commend your straight-forwardness, and not being intimidated by Mr. Trump.
If I could thank you in person some day, I would seize that opportunity in a minute.
I was a RN for 42 yrs. I lived through the AIDS epidemic in the late 70's, in Chicago. Then many other viruses throughout the years. Though my license is retired yet active, due to my age and pre-existing health conditions, I'm fearful to offer my skills in the hospital, a place that was home for most of my career.
I did spend a brief 3yrs+ in public health. The misuse of government funds for those (both women within and outside of) the USA, to cover the costs of birthing their babies, caused me great duress. We weren't allowed to be whistle blowers, if we wanted to keep our jobs. So I returned to the bedside.
I admire you for your ability to speak the truth. Thank heaven you are a man of integrity and morality.
Sincerely, (b) (6)

You have no backbone to contradict a Trump, nor to correct him. I see you are having a press brief today- on the virus, Pence no mask, Republicans in senate and house no masks, cases over the top Florida, Arizona, Texas, Carolina, etc, why because of the trump governors, so innocent people dead, because you can talk but you don't speak the truth as to the failures this administration has done to us, while you and your task force stay quiet.

I was thinking I'd ask some new questions on the call and that clearing the quotes over email might be easier. I could read them back to him on the call and clear them there if that's preferable, though. And in either case, I don't need the quotes cleared prior to the call if that's too tight a turnaround or if Dr. Fauci would rather speak again first – just having them cleared sometime next week would be great.

Does that make more sense? Apologies it was unclear earlier.

Hi again,

I wanted to get these quotes I was hoping to clear with Dr. Fauci to you ahead of time. I've pasted them below with a bit of context for each. Please let me know if there's anything additional I can provide here, and have a great Friday/weekend!

Best,

"It was almost like an 'aha' moment sort of thing. I remember sitting at my desk and going, 'Holy smokes, this is in an infection, and I decided to do something." -- on reading the journal articles about early AIDS cases

"I saw it as an opportunity to expand on what I felt was that emerging disease that would dominate the field. And unfortunately, I was correct." -- on switching lab's focus to HIV/AIDS research

"I had no therapy, and every one of them died. It was the darkest years of my medical career and of my life where I went from this successful guy who developed therapies that were saving lives, and I was a big hero, to a guy who was trained as a healer and was healing nobody. Everybody was dying. It was an unbelievable experience." -- *on treating early AIDS patients

"provocative, iconoclastic, abrasive, outlandish" -- adjectives used to describe ACT UP protesters at NIH/elsewhere

"The fact that they attacked me so viciously made me say, 'Wow, I didn't do anything bad to them. For them to do that, they must really be hurting, and they must really have something that is a profoundly important issue.' So I kind of blinded myself from the theatrics." -- on deciding to engage with the activists/invite them to office and later dinners

“It was the first time that anybody sat down with them and spoke to them in a way where you were listening to what they were saying, as opposed to what most scientists did, which was run for the hills.” -- same as above

“Even many of the scientists would not be involved, either because they thought it was a strange situation, or there was some inherent prejudice against disenfranchised people, who at the time were predominantely injection drug users and gay men.” -- on bringing scientific community around to giving AIDS patients a seat at the ACTG table

“I had to essentially force them to do it. I even had to fire a couple of people who were so adamant that they didn’t want anything to do with the activists. I said, ‘Sorry, but the future is dealing on an equal basis with people we’re supposedly trying to help as opposed to dictating to them.” -- same as above

“They got it, because they’re smart, these scientists, and they said, ‘Now, well, Tony is right. If we really want to get a trial going, we have to sit down with the people who are gonna be in the trial.” -- same as above

“Reagan was very gentlemanly. He was nice to me. He knew I was very interested in HIV, but he wouldn’t come out in a public way and use the bully puppet to start talking, to say, ‘Hey, we’ve got to do this.’ He wasn’t homophobic. He, for political reasons -- he was surrounded by very conservative people -- chose not to do it. Only in his second term, he finally mentioned the name.” -- on political challenges in early days of HIV epidemic

“I always say jokingly, when in Washington be nice to everybody, because you never know where they’ll end up. Well, my friend the vice president wound up being the president.” -- on forging a relationship with GHWB

“He told Wyngaarden, who was the director at the time, ‘I want to visit NIH and spend some time with a guy named Tony Fauci, who I’ve been hearing a lot about. He did. He came out with Barbara, and I showed him around my patients. It was the first time he ever was in the same room with an AIDS patient.” -- same as above

“During the debates, they asked Dukakis who his heroes were, and poor Dukakis gave some garbled answer that he didn’t look too well. Then Ann Compton turned to the vice president and said, ‘Who are your heroes?’ And he gave a name or two, and then he gave me, ‘He’s my hero.’ And that’s when things all exploded that I’m the vice president’s hero.” -- same as above, and also on establishing a more prominent public profile

“You should make yourself a promise that when you walk into the door, you say to yourself, ‘This could be the last time that I’m gonna walk through this door, and the reason I say is some people get so enamored about the headiness of being in the White House that there’s a temptation to tell the president what they want to hear as opposed to what the scientific truth is. And I decided very early on, because that’s my nature but because I got this little hint from this friend of mine that said it, that that’s exactly what I would do: every time I went in there I said, I’m gonna speak the truth, and I am going to talk to the president and the public not overselling, not underselling, not panicking people but at the same time not being afraid to tell them when you don’t know something.” -- on building trust with the president and public over administrations

“The problem with scientists is they feel like they’re letting people down when they said, ‘I don’t know the answer to that question.’ I have no trouble saying I don’t know the answer to that question.” -- same as above

“If you really want to communicate with the public, the goal is not to show them how smart you are. The goal is to get them really to understand what you’re talking about. People go around trying to be all-encompassing in their knowledge. To communicate with the public the most important thing is to a) be honest and b) be understood. You can show you’re brilliant at another time. It’s not the time in front of the camera or with the president or public to show how bright you are.” -- same as above

“Important transforming things happen when you have a number of stars aligned in the right place at the right time, kind of like in the universe the stars are aligning once every one-thousand years together in a certain way.” -- on what it took to make PEPFAR come together

“The lesson of that is that a visionary president who feels he wants to do something that has great impact on the world can do it.” -- on PEPFAR

“Now I’m back in the White House again, doing research, trying to develop a vaccine, but also being a spokesperson and trying to articulate to the American people what the facts are. And don’t oversell things, and don’t undersell it, and say when I don’t know something. It’s what I started doing way back during HIV 36 years ago. I’m still doing it now, with the sixth president, with a disease entirely different than HIV.” -- on what involvement in response looks like now

“It’s evolved because the the intensity changed. In the beginning I was running on fumes because we were down there seven days a week with the taskforce meeting, and then when president got involved not only taskforce meetings but trying to get information out to the public. We had those very lengthy press conferences, I think you remember.”

“The president has always listened to me respectfully.” -- on President Trump and coronavirus taskforce

“Sometimes there are things that go a way that looks like it’s not agreeing with me, but that’s okay. I’m not that president. I’m one of several advisers, and he makes up his mind, but our relationship is a good relationship.” -- same as above

“The press made it seem like there were some ups and downs, you know what I’m talking about. They’ve made it seem like one day he’s upset with me, but we actually have quite a good relationship.” -- on relationship with President Trump and public reaction to it

“It’s a very politically charged situation. There’s some people who think I’m wonderful for what I say and some people who trash me and think I’m the devil incarnate.” -- on public reaction to coronavirus response

“There are people who when I say something just trash it, and people who say, ‘My goodness isn’t that wonderful that he’s saying that.’ That’s an unusual situation, because I’ve never seen anything like this.” -- same as above

"There's always partisanship in every administration that I've ever been in. The intensity of it and the harshness of it is unprecedented today. And it's both sides. It isn't just one side. There's just a lot of divisiveness, and I've not seen it like this. I've seen partisanship because there will always be partisanship. I've seen divisiveness." -- same as above

"It was a natural evolution because when it was clear what we were dealing with very very early on I got involved -- in first week in January after cases were first reported in China." -- on the beginnings of involvement in coronavirus response

"Right now, since there's big attempt to try to get the economy back in line and reopening America, there's much more emphasis placed in those [medical] aspects, which is a reason why you probably haven't seen me as often in front of cameras and press conferences." -- on the slowdown in media appearances in early June, though accompanied by acknowledgment but with cases spiking again appearances have increased

"There's a delicate balance where you're trying to open the country, you're trying to make sure you get the economy back, but you also have to be careful because there are public health implications and you don't want you trigger a resurgence. We're talking a fine line right now: How do you open up a country in a way that doesn't trigger a rebound?" -- on what the taskforce has to figure out now as the pandemic progresses

Hi Patty,

Thank you so much for coordinating this a few weeks ago.

I had discussed with Dr. Fauci the possibility of a quick follow-up; I have a few things that I would like to check with him for accuracy, as well as some quotes from our discussion that I was hoping to send to him for clearance. I was wondering what the most efficient way would be for him to review those.

I was also hoping to schedule 10 to 15 minutes on the phone for a few final questions. Would this be possible?

Thanks again for all your help, and I hope you're well.

Best,
Molly

Hi Tony,

Michael Duffy here at the Post, where I edit op-eds and our longform Opinions Essay section. I am writing to introduce you to the very smart and sure-footed Molly Roberts, who writes editorials and a regular column here.

Under my (probably-over-watchful) eye, Molly has been reading and talking to folks about how you have guided administrations on public health issues through four decades, and brokered what I like to think of as a generational "truce between science and politics."

I am writing to ask you to talk to her off the record or on some basis with which you are comfortable about some of these lessons. Perhaps there is a way for you to answer questions and offer guidance on issues and challenges that were particularly nettlesome and complicated. I doubt that are any other kind.

I will be editing the essay. Happy to discuss this with you at any time.

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I wanted to write and thank you profoundly for being the face of science and integrity and leadership during this pandemic. I have never before sat in my own home, watching a story like this unfold, and literally feared for my life (I have 3 conditions making me high risk for complications). It's not a feeling I ever want to experience again. YOU were the one voice who could calm my anxiety and make me see that we could fight this together.

To be honest, often I watched the Task Force briefings, but I sat here thinking Pres. Trump is going to get us all killed. Then you would speak bluntly and re-assure, as would Gov. Pritzker in my state. America trusts you, we believe in you. Please stay (safely) in the forefront out there...we NEED to hear your voice. Covid scares the doodoo out of those of us with intelligence. Don't let the president silence you!

On another note, I have heard you and other scientists use the phrase "uncontrollable outbreak." What does that really mean—by definition what is that? Can't any outbreak eventually be brought under control? What conditions would bring that on, and make it uncontrollable? Are there any historical examples?

I know you are beyond busy, but hopefully you have an assistant or aid who can help answer my questions. I'm very curious!

Thank you again for everything you do. You are truly an American hero. Stay well!

Dr. Fauci

I have the utmost respect for you and I have listened very closely to your valuable advice about the coronavirus over the last few months. It is very obvious that President Trump not only ignores your advice but that he has decided to eliminate the ability of the Coronavirus Task Force to communicate with the public. I understand that many people who work for the president are faced with a dilemma: whether to quit or to stay in their positions hoping that they can mitigate the damage of the president's disastrous policies. I believe that for the sake of the country and in order to best prevent future loss of life due to the pandemic, it is incumbent on you at this time to resign from the Task Force. Please free yourself from any constraints imposed on you by the president so that you can speak freely. Our country deserves an independent task force which can guide state and local governments without politically-driven, anti-scientific bias.

Thank you again for everything you have been doing for our country.

Hi Patty,

Thank you so much for coordinating this a few weeks ago.

I had discussed with Dr. Fauci the possibility of a quick follow-up; I have a few things that I would like to check with him for accuracy, as well as some quotes from our discussion that I was hoping to send to him for clearance. I was wondering what the most efficient way would be for him to review those.

I was also hoping to schedule 10 to 15 minutes on the phone for a few final questions. Would this be possible?

Thanks again for all your help, and I hope you're well.

Hi Patty,

I'm off next week and was hoping to square this away beforehand; is there any time at all today, tomorrow or Thursday that could work? I can be available as early or as late in the day as needed – I understand Dr. Fauci is very busy and now especially is a tough time to coordinate something.

Please let me know!

Best,
Molly

Hi Molly – I am so sorry – Dr Fauci has to be at the White House for a meeting now this afternoon so I am afraid we need to move your call yet again – we are truly sorry.

Is this possible to do next week? I don't recall your deadline…

Let me know and I will send you possible dates and again our apologies.

Hi Molly

I sent Dr. Fauci your quotes but he will likely not get to them till the weekend or by your Monday call. He may just wait till he speaks to you on Monday. So we can confirm your call at 3 pm ET – 330 pm ET and please call (b) (6)

Many thanks and have a good weekend.

I was thinking I'd ask some new questions on the call and that clearing the quotes over email might be easier. I could read them back to him on the call and clear them there if that's preferable, though. And in either case, I don't need the quotes cleared prior to the call if that's too tight a turnaround or if Dr. Fauci would rather speak again first – just having them cleared sometime next week would be great.

Does that make more sense? Apologies it was unclear earlier.

Hi again,

I wanted to get these quotes I was hoping to clear with Dr. Fauci to you ahead of time. I've pasted them below with a bit of context for each. Please let me know if there's anything additional I can provide here, and have a great Friday/weekend!

Best,

"It was almost like an 'aha' moment sort of thing. I remember sitting at my desk and going, 'Holy smokes, this is in an infection, and I decided to do something." -- on reading the journal articles about early AIDS cases

"I saw it as an opportunity to expand on what I felt was that emerging disease that would dominate the field. And unfortunately, I was correct." -- on switching lab's focus to HIV/AIDS research

"I had no therapy, and every one of them died. It was the darkest years of my medical career and of my life where I went from this successful guy who developed therapies that were saving lives, and I was a big hero, to a guy who was trained as a healer and was healing nobody. Everybody was dying. It was an unbelievable experience." -- *on treating early AIDS patients

"provocative, iconoclastic, abrasive, outlandish" -- adjectives used to describe ACT UP protesters at NIH/elsewhere

"The fact that they attacked me so viciously made me say, 'Wow, I didn't do anything bad to them. For them to do that, they must really be hurting, and they must really have something that is a profoundly important issue.' So I kind of blinded myself from the theatrics." -- on deciding to engage with the activists/invite them to office and later dinners

"It was the first time that anybody sat down with them and spoke to them in a way where you were listening to what they were saying, as opposed to what most scientists did, which was run for the hills." -- same as above

"Even many of the scientists would not be involved, either because they thought it was a strange situation, or there was some inherent prejudice against disenfranchised people, who at the time were predominantely injection drug users and gay men." -- on bringing scientific community around to giving AIDS patients a seat at the ACTG table

"I had to essentially force them to do it. I even had to fire a couple of people who were so adamant that they didn't want anything to do with the activists. I said, 'Sorry, but the future is dealing on an equal basis with people we're supposedly trying to help as opposed to dictating to them." -- same as above

"They got it, because they're smart, these scientists, and they said, 'Now, well, Tony is right. If we really want to get a trial going, we have to sit down with the people who are gonna be in the trial." -- same as above

"Reagan was very gentlemanly. He was nice to me. He knew I was very interested in HIV, but he wouldn't come out in a public way and use the bully puppet to start talking, to say, 'Hey, we've got to do this.' He wasn't homophobic. He, for political reasons -- he was surrounded by very conservative people -- chose not to do it. Only in his second term, he finally mentioned the name." -- on political challenges in early days of HIV epidemic

"I always say jokingly, when in Washington be nice to everybody, because you never know where they'll end up. Well, my friend the vice president wound up being the president." -- on forging a relationship with GHWB

"He told Wyngaarden, who was the director at the time, 'I want to visit NIH and spend some time with a guy named Tony Fauci, who I've been hearing a lot about. He did. He came out with Barbara, and I showed him around my patients. It was the first time he ever was in the same room with an AIDS patient." -- same as above

"During the debates, they asked Dukakis who his heroes were, and poor Dukakis gave some garbled answer that he didn't look too well. Then Ann Compton turned to the vice president and said, 'Who are your heroes?' And he gave a name or two, and then he gave me, 'He's my hero.' And that's when things all exploded that I'm the vice president's hero." -- same as above, and also on establishing a more prominent public profile

"You should make yourself a promise that when you walk into the door, you say to yourself, 'This could be the last time that I'm gonna walk through this door, and the reason I say is some people get so enamored about the headiness of being in the White House that there's a temptation to tell the president what they want to hear as opposed to what the scientific truth is. And I decided very early on, because that's my nature but because I got this little hint from this friend of mine that said it, that that's exactly what I would do: every time I went in there I said, I'm gonna speak the truth, and I am going to talk to the president and the public not overselling, not underselling, not panicking people but at the same time not being afraid to tell them when you don't know something." -- on building trust with the president and public over administrations

"The problem with scientists is they feel like they're letting people down when they said, 'I don't know the answer to that question.' I have no trouble saying I don't know the answer to that question." -- same as above

"If you really want to communicate with the public, the goal is not to show them how smart you are. The goal is to get them really to understand what you're talking about. People go around trying to be all-encompassing in their knowledge. To communicate with the public the most important thing is to a) be honest and b) be understood. You can show you're brilliant at another time. It's not the time in front of the camera or with the president or public to show how bright you are." -- same as above

"Important transforming things happen when you have a number of stars aligned in the right place at the right time, kind of like in the universe the stars are aligning once every one-thousand years together in a certain way." -- on what it took to make PEPFAR come together

"The lesson of that is that a visionary president who feels he wants to do something that has great impact on the world can do it." -- on PEPFAR

"Now I'm back in the White House again, doing research, trying to develop a vaccine, but also being a spokesperson and trying to articulate to the American people what the facts are. And don't oversell things, and don't undersell it, and say when I don't know something. It's what I started doing way back during HIV 36 years ago. I'm still doing it now, with the sixth president, with a disease entirely different than HIV." -- on what involvement in response looks like now

"It's evolved because the the intensity changed. In the beginning I was running on fumes because we were down there seven days a week with the taskforce meeting, and then when president got involved not only taskforce meetings but trying to get information out to the public. We had those very lengthy press conferences, I think you remember."

"The president has always listened to me respectfully." -- on President Trump and coronavirus taskforce

"Sometimes there are things that go a way that looks like it's not agreeing with me, but that's okay. I'm not that president. I'm one of several advisers, and he makes up his mind, but our relationship is a good relationship." -- same as above

"The press made it seem like there were some ups and downs, you know what I'm talking about. They've made it seem like one day he's upset with me, but we actually have quite a good relationship." -- on relationship with President Trump and public reaction to it

"It's a very politically charged situation. There's some people who think I'm wonderful for what I say and some people who trash me and think I'm the devil incarnate." -- on public reaction to coronavirus response

"There are people who when I say something just trash it, and people who say, 'My goodness isn't that wonderful that he's saying that.' That's an unusual situation, because I've never seen anything like this." -- same as above

"There's always partisanship in every administration that I've ever been in. The intensity of it and the harshness of it is unprecedented today. And it's both sides. It isn't just one side. There's just a lot of divisiveness, and I've not seen it like this. I've seen partisanship because there will always be partisanship. I've seen divisiveness." -- same as above

"It was a natural evolution because when it was clear what we were dealing with very very early on I got involved -- in first week in January after cases were first reported in China." -- on the beginnings of involvement in coronavirus response

"Right now, since there's big attempt to try to get the economy back in line and reopening America, there's much more emphasis placed in those [medical] aspects, which is a reason why you probably haven't seen me as often in front of cameras and press conferences." -- on the slowdown in media appearances in early June, though accompanied by acknowledgment but with cases spiking again appearances have increased

"There's a delicate balance where you're trying to open the country, you're trying to make sure you get the economy back, but you also have to be careful because there are public health implications and you don't want you trigger a resurgence. We're talking a fine line right now: How do you open up a country in a way that doesn't trigger a rebound?" -- on what the taskforce has to figure out now as the pandemic progresses

Hi Patty,

Thank you so much for coordinating this a few weeks ago.

I had discussed with Dr. Fauci the possibility of a quick follow-up; I have a few things that I would like to check with him for accuracy, as well as some quotes from our discussion that I was hoping to send to him for clearance. I was wondering what the most efficient way would be for him to review those.

I was also hoping to schedule 10 to 15 minutes on the phone for a few final questions. Would this be possible?

Thanks again for all your help, and I hope you're well.

Best,
Molly

Hi Patty,

I was wondering, though, if it might be possible to get an hour of Dr. Fauci's time -- either then or at some other hour. I can do as early or as late as convenient for him.

Also, might it be possible to ask some follow-up questions after the interview, either over email or in another scheduled call? Please let me know!

Hope you have a good weekend.

Hi Tony,

Michael Duffy here at the Post, where I edit op-eds and our longform Opinions Essay section. I am writing to introduce you to the very smart and sure-footed Molly Roberts, who writes editorials and a regular column here.

Under my (probably-over-watchful) eye, Molly has been reading and talking to folks about how you have guided administrations on public health issues through four decades, and brokered what I like to think of as a generational "truce between science and politics."

I am writing to ask you to talk to her off the record or on some basis with which you are comfortable about some of these lessons. Perhaps there is a way for you to answer questions and offer guidance on issues and challenges that were particularly nettlesome and complicated. I doubt that are any other kind.

I will be editing the essay. Happy to discuss this with you at any time.

Thanks for considering this and all best to you and (b) (6)

P.S. Dr. Fauci….

I just read Trump is stopping funding of testing. This comes after promising the nation anyone who wanted to be tested could get it.

BUT HE CLEARLY DOESN'T UNDERSTAND THE CRITICAL, LIFE SAVING IMPORTANCE OF TESTING.

Those who get tested and are found to be positive now know it and they sit out for a while until they're no longer infested. They don't run around infesting others. IT'S THAT SIMPLE. Contact tracing is another advantage.

Those who don't test positive now know it and live with some peace of mind. They can tell people to get tested so they too can live in confidence.

But tell him this:

Japan has under half our population and got it the same time we got it. They've had under 1,000 deaths while we have 120,000 and on our way to 200,000. The big difference is they wear masks and are more disciplined to doing their national duty. We have leaders who have confused and denied this. IT'S KILLING PEOPLE.

We need to stop the PC, stop the weasel words, stop being nice, and start being firm.

Thank you for being the adult in the room. But I believe it's time to gather with the world's experts as a group and become the adults in the world to demand action and maturity from our president.

Sincerely,

I don't envy your position. But it is time for a revolution. Every level headed doctor in the world is on board with you. But we have a president who is making the much needed directives to the nation impossible. So many obstinately disbelieve the serious nature of the virus. A strong campaign to change that is absolutely required.

As a result people are reckless and don't take this seriously. We must have bold and emphatic direction to the president and to the nation.

We're going in the wrong direction. It's not an option.

Dear Mr Fauci ,

I hope this email finds you in good health.

I am writing with an invitation for you to join us at the Oxford Union in our forthcoming Michaelmas term. I would be delighted if you were to consider and accept .

Founded in 1823, the Union is the largest society at the University of Oxford and one of the most famous student societies in the world. In the past we have hosted visits from US sitting Presidents Reagan, Nixon, and Carter, to celebrities such as Morgan Freeman, to leaders like the Dalai Lama, to name but a few. It would be an honour to add your name to this list.

Though the University is guaranteed to return to in-person teaching this Autumn, we appreciate that the current restrictions on international travel may continue for some time. For this reason, we will be continuing our inaugural series of online events, available to our thousands of members, which facilitate talks at the Union by those who might not otherwise have been able to make the trip. However, should circumstances change such that travel to Oxford is possible, we would be delighted to welcome you in-person.

We would be honoured to hear from you about your decades of experience advising US presidents on matters of health policy. We are particularly interested to learn about what it was like to orchestrate the American response to the coronavirus crisis.

Our upcoming term runs from 5th October to 4th December , during which time we would be delighted to welcome you on any weekday.

I have attached a formal invitation from our President, which contains further information. Please don't hesitate to contact me with any further questions.

Very best wishes,

Dear Mr Fauci,

Invitation to speak at the Oxford Union

I am writing to invite you to speak at the Oxford Union in our coming term. It would be a great privilege to host you as a guest, and I sincerely hope you will be able to accept this invitation.

Over the two centuries since our foundation, the Oxford Union has become the largest society at the University of Oxford and arguably the most prestigious debating society in the world. We have played host to leaders in every field, from former US Presidents Reagan, Nixon, and Carter, to Madeleine Albright, the Dalai Lama, Mother Teresa, and, recently, Theresa May. We take pride in having welcomed great visionaries to share lessons that have echoed for decades after, such as Malcolm X, whose words have reverberated around the world in recent months. It would be an honour to welcome you, to continue this fine tradition.

As one of the lead members of the Trump Administration's White House Coronavirus Task Force addressing the COVID-19 pandemic in the United States, you were tasked with the delicate challenge of saving American lives whilst protecting the economy. We would love to hear your insights on what measures countries should take to prepare for other diseases as well as how countries should cooperate to mitigate the risk of future pandemics.

Traditionally, our events take the form of an individual speech, Q&A, or informal conversation with the President or the Vice-President, located within our prestigious buildings in Oxford. We recognise, however, that the ongoing pandemic makes it difficult to commit to an event at this time. As our term does not begin until October, we expect to be able to hold in-person events once again - albeit modified, for a socially distanced world. Should the situation worsen, we will return to the online format to which we adapted successfully this term.

The Union offers a unique combination of tradition, prestige, and excitement, thanks to the engagement and enthusiasm of our student members. Last year, our events attracted coverage from the BBC, Channel 4, CNN, all major British national newspapers, and international publications including the New York Times and the Economist. All events are professionally filmed for our YouTube channel, which has attracted over 150 million views. The level of media coverage is, of course, entirely at your discretion.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any queries.

Yours sincerely,

(b) (6)

Beatrice Barr

Subject: Artemisia annua

Hello Dr Fauci

My husband and I are nurses and too many people are losing their lives. We live in California and would like to protect our children and our parents. Dr. Pamela Weathers has been studying artemisia annua for 30 yrs. A 2000 yr. old plant, discovered by Dr. TU YouYou during the Vietnam War to cure malaria. According to her research, artemisia annua is a polytheraputic herb if used in it's whole form. The whole leaf needs to be used. What studies are being carried out regarding artemisia annua by the USA? There are many anti malarial drugs being tested to fight coronavirus. Artemisia annua is the strongest of them all and the safest. Why are we not trying this in the fight against coronavirus? This is a war. Why are we trying so hard to discredit Madagascar's findings, when they are just trying to save lives? Artemisia is not new. It's been around and studied over and over. Studies show that when artemisinin alone is extracted from the plant it becomes less effective according to DR Pamela research. Can you please contact DR Pamela Weathers and German scientist Peter Seeberger to get the information we need to get a preventative treatment and treatments going using artemisia annua. Trump was allowed to spread too many lies about coronavirus and now we all suffer for that. Africans and their children should have been given artemisia annua in its natural forms many many years ago to cure malaria. The WHO claims it's a mono therapy when it's actually a polytheraputic according to DR Pam and several other research papers. Her research also shows that malaria will not become resistant if the artemisia annua is used as a whole. I am a nobody. I can't sleep at night knowing so many people are dying. I can't sleep at night worrying about my family and friends getting sick and dying. My husband was taking care of our friend in the ICU for weeks and didn't realize it because she was intubated. She's 27. 5 total in her family were sick. Her grandmother died. I have watched you tell the truth and stand your ground. Please continue to fight for us all. Please research what I am asking you. This is war. People need to be making the herbs tea at home now.

Subject: The Right Side - Americans Are Dying - You're the Only One Who Can Fix This - Sorry!

Dear Dr.,

I'm a middle aged, college educated, female from Sacramento. I had a successful removal of an astrocytoma in 2011. As a result of that surgery, I can no longer speak or walk. I mention this because I want you to understand how much I value living. Money, power, property don't mean much when you're dead! However, cancer taught me a lot. I know a few things: (1.) You are trusted. You speak science and facts simply, directly, in a way everyone hears and can understand. (2.) The President is not believed, not trusted. (3.) You are missed. Those briefings were the only real information we received. People relied on those briefings. The country relied on those briefings. I found Trump's presence both extremely annoying and inappropriate. Please resume your briefings without POTUS. We'll all thank you, he doesn't bring anything to them anyway.

I'm so sorry this falls on you but there it is. On the bright side you'll be a world superhero! I'm from AZ and seeing those young, happy, innocent faces about to crowd into a Corona Tent in Phoenix is heartbreaking, I know you're a busy person and you won't see this but I hope someone will read it because I'm not alone. There are millions of moms out there who want the unvarnished, untrumped, truth. Forget "Trump's Force". He's trying to use you. People are scared and we need the facts from Dr. Fauci.

Sincerely,

I do know the voice of reason when I hear it, and it's pretty clear you are it. Please don't let anyone tell you your opinion doesn't matter, we believe in you. Subject: Vaccine

Dr Fauci I worked for a public health department during H1N1. It was so efficient I received thousands of vaccine either syringe ,vials , pediatric and etc. supplies to match without any problems. I had a Medical supplies that matched whatever vaccine was sent. Syringes, sharps containers, needles, alcohol swabs and etc, never did I not get what was needed for each dose of vaccine sent. We did ten clinics starting with high risk on down. It was amazing. My storage area was covered with thousands of packs of supplies for the administration of the vaccine. Why are you not just using that model when the covid vaccine is ready. This was a well organized machine. Why do a new model when this was successful all across our nation! Never once did I have a shortage of supplies or vaccine! The testimony today suggested someone picked to develop a plan after vaccine is a go ahead! Why when we had a successful model! During that time the CDC was on every day national television giving updates and progress! The CDC has been criminally negligent during this covid pandemic. CDC needs to direct states on reporting deaths and not relying on some way coding is done! I am sure we have 200,000 deaths and the reporting has been hidden. There would be a national code for reporting. I don't think the Doctors are reporting deaths accurately. Anyone who dies in hospital with covid is a death! Sepsis, cardiac, renal failure whatever is related to the person with covid who died! The CDC IS A FAILURE. Now the Governor of Fla won't allow hospitals to report their ICU PATIENTS WITH COVID! I know that Trump who is a complete delusional sociopath is not allowing information to be released! The CDC SHOULD BE IN CHARGE! Trump would not allow the reopening guidelines to be given out ! This is a failure! You are the only person I respect through all of this! My daughter is an ER Dr and still has PPE SUPPLY ISSUES! It is your job and the CDC TO PROTECT US REGARDLESS OF TRUMP ! The threat of being fired is not a reason! You took an oath and so did the CDC director who is incompetent! This will be a genocide! Everyone who is involved needs to speak up and demand TV to allow experts to report every day! Trump does not care how many of us die! You should and the CDC NEED TO DEMAND TO BE HEARD AND GIVE US INFORMATION SO WE CAN SURVIVE! Thank you for your efforts!

Dr. Fauci
Is there anything the health professionals as yourself and the team at the congressional meeting today to stop the President from holding these rally's and talking down masks and distancing. I agree that terms being used by Everyone such as: we recommend, suggest..etc does nothing. I live in a red state Texas, this is now all political, Governor Abbott and all his team following Trump behavior and refuses to mandate anything. No one wearing masks or distancing and he is waiting again 2 more weeks to look at the situation and suggesting and recommending. I have never seen anything like this. I am a retired nurse of 25 years. Who can take charge or do we just wait to die. I am slowly slipping in deep depression and giving up. My son is stuck in Brooklyn and cannot get tested, has a rash for months, if he dies I don't want to live. No one is helping and it is all political and crazy. Can the scientists take a stand to overcome this crazy Trump behavior. This is public endangerment. Can you and your team help. We can't drink and drive because it endangers the public, but this behavior is no different. God bless you, our only sense of reasoning.

Subject: Sustainable pandemic preparedness

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I sent the legislative proposal below to Speaker Pelosi and a copy addressed to Senator Schumer. The chances of it being read by these legislators is small. I am sending this idea because I believe you would find it essential to ensure pandemic preparedness is sustainable going forward. Please excuse the lack of formatting, as I composed it on my iPhone directly into a message text box on these legislators websites. If you find this proposal worth pursuing; do you believe it may gain currency if a petition along these lines were to be signed on to by scientific investigators that may be interested in evidence based public health execution that is immune from political delay? Your review and comment is very welcome.

Proposed pandemic preparedness legislation to Speaker Pelosi:

Dear Madame Speaker,
Thank you for entertaining my humble suggestion in advance. In order to be able to act on the best science it appears to me that lives could be saved and economic consequences minimized if legislation were to be enacted that would create the public health version of the federal reserve. That is, a Pandemic Preparedness Agency with similar autonomy to the federal reserve to buffer it from political influence. Upon review of data summarized in a paper in the March 2018 edition of the American Journal of Puplic Health, "'Delays in Global Disease Outbreak Responses: Lessons from H1N1, Ebola, and Zika", it was pointed out that the days from an index case (the first confirmed case of an infected individual with a novel or known pathogen with the potential for ensuing epidemic or pandemic) to detection of an outbreak is far less than the number of days from detection of the outbreak to previously issued PHEICs (public health emergencies of international concern) declarations from the WHO. Reforms to the WHO are necessary as evidenced by the ability of a member state to delay the reporting of a case index and outbreak resulting in unnecessary delay to the declaration of the PHEIC in the COVID-19 pandemic. However, member states have the responsibility to surveil and act upon detection of a first case index and detection of human to human transmission by their own agencies. According to a Washington Post analysis, "2 months in the dark: the increasingly damming timeline of Trump's coronavirus response": in the case of the COVID-19 pandemic in early January of this year, Dr. Redfield at the the CDC, relayed the outbreak detection to HHS Secretary Alex Azar; the National Center for Medical Intelligence and other intelligence officials offered warnings to the President, including in the President's Daily Brief; in early January; a report from the State Department epidemiologist warned that the virus is likely to spread across the globe and could result in pandemic. The Post analysis points out multiple sources of this dire warning reached the President independently confirming their assessment that human to human spread of a novel respiratory pathogen with a reproductive number estimated to be in the range of 2.5 and a mortality rate on the order of 3-4 percent was spreading in China in early January of this year. Please conduct an investigation into the officials involved to uncover who, when, and what, specific warnings were relayed to the President. The implication that a pathogen profile that is tantamount to a 5 alarm fire was ignored by the president. A detailed account of the timelines reported by the paper sited above from the American Journal of Public Health, and the timeline reported in the Post's analysis piece of the COVID-19 events demonstrate there is a clear and present danger to the public health from the political delay in response to outbreak detection of previous and the current COVID-19 pandemics. If left unaddressed, appropriate and timely future response to epidemic and pandemic is unlikely. I believe that it will not be adequate to only address our indigenous supply chain and stock piles of necessary equipment, medications, and trained work force capacity. The evidence, historically and currently, demonstrates the delayed political responses to outbreaks has been the rate limiting factor to initiating appropriate and timely responses to the threats, and has accounted for unnecessary mortality, morbidity, and economic devastation. My proposal is to legislate a Pandemic Preparedness Agency to buffer politics from impeding appropriate and timely responses to outbreaks. Accordingly, all governmental departments and private sector entities capable of detection of a case index and outbreak of a novel or previously recognized pathogen with the potential for epidemic or pandemic would be obliged to immediately report its findings directly to the Pandemic Preparedness Agency. Its mandate would be to act on and make public all available information of credible threats to the public health. While the authority to act would not exceed constitutional limits regarding quarantine and mitigation, it would have the mandate and authority to maintain readiness vis-a-vis directing research to fulfill its mandate, maintain up to date stock piles of necessary equipment and indigenous supply chain capability, inventory, distribution of resources, work force training, mobilization, and deployment, etc. The momentum created by the Pandemic Preparedness Agency through publicizing the detection of case indexes and outbreaks of pathogens with potential for epidemic or pandemic, and with the authority and mandate to direct immediate response through testing and contact tracing, and workforce deployment in coordination with local health departments will increase the whole of government response while preserving those measures constitutionally reserved for elected officials to fulfill their responsibility.

The Pandemic Preparedness Agency would not require funding of duplicative work accomplished by other governmental agencies.. Only that it have the authority to direct response through existing governmental entities as needed to fulfill its mandate. The funding for the Pandemic Preparedness Agency would meet the requirements to fulfill its mandate and reviewed along the lines of the federal reserve to maintain autonomy. The return on investment for pandemic preparedness in terms of lives and economic welfare has been well understood for decades. It is more than past time that evidence based public health be made immune from political interference going forward. I believe this is too important a concept not to explore. As nowhere that I'm aware of,,has any proposal along these lines been discussed.

Sincerely,

Anthony Fauci, the top U.S. infectious disease specialist, said he's been mistakenly painted as an obstacle to the National Football League's upcoming season and only gave its officials advice after they requested it.

The director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases said he was consulted by the NFL as it searches for a way to preserve the safety of players and the public during the pandemic.

"I haven't set any strict conditions or other directions for the football league," Fauci said in an interview. "They have come to me and asked me from a medical standpoint a bunch of questions about risks. They are a very competent group of people and they will make up their own minds."

Fauci told CNN last week that the league's season may not be played if there's a resurgence in cases, unless players are essentially kept in a "bubble" isolating them from others and tested almost every day. U.S. President Donald Trump said later in a tweet that he told the scientist that he has "nothing to do with football."

The football league is "planning a very safe and controlled opening," Trump said in another tweet. Football is the most popular U.S. professional sport by fan viewership.

Trump has consistently sidelined health officials, including Deborah Birx and others on his handpicked coronavirus task force, while pushing for businesses and schools to return to operation. He's minimized the impact of the pandemic, employing a racist slur in calling it the "Kung flu" in a rally in Oklahoma on Saturday, and saying that the high number of U.S. cases is primarily due to aggressive testing.

The NFL incident was one of several in which Trump openly disagreed with Fauci, who has led NIAID for almost four decades, overseeing the government research response to HIV, infectious hepatitis, Ebola, and other outbreaks and epidemics. Fauci said he simply answered questions about the coronavirus rather than giving the league directions.

In response to Fauci's comments, the NFL Chief Medical Officer Allen Sills responded with a statement saying the league is taking necessary precautions and measures in preparation for a 2020 season.

The league has access to other experts as well, and its players will have a say in how the game resumes, Fauci said. Representatives of other sports -- professional baseball, hockey and soccer -- have also asked for his consultation, he said.

"It's unfortunate that it's been somehow spun that I'm the person in the way of a football season," he said. "Absolutely not."

Subject: Best trial test for covid-19 spread

To whoever screens Dr. Fauci's emails: PLEASE LET HIM READ THIS REQUEST, IT WILL ONLY TAKE 1 MINUTE OF HIS TIME!

Dear Dr. Fauci,
Trump's Tulsa rally of ~6,200 people (according to the fire marshal) is a once-in-a-virus lifetime opportunity for a massive test on the spread & tracing of covid-19 in that EVERYONE who got a ticket to enter is known by name & an email address/text or phone number!! Plus everyone allegedly was screened for temperature.

Surely the NIH can get access to this data base (not for release to the public) for extensive follow up with each individual as to any symptoms for them, their family and/or close contacts. With such a small number they could all be furnished with an expedited no-charge test over the next couple of weeks. And from the TV camera scans of the 6,200 attendees it would be easy to calculate the number not wearing masks to compare with the test data over some medically dictated period of time.

Dr. Fauci, there is no time to waste, you will most probably never get such another opportunity in your remaining life to obtain such a controlled data base!

Dear Tony
There have been countless times over the past several months since I last wrote to you when I wanted to reach out and tell you how much I admire how you have carried yourself through this entire pandemic experience (and give you a hug for that matter -although I know we don't do that at the moment ☺). But I know you are totally swamped and let me assure you that if this email does actually reach you, there is absolutely no need to respond.
However your recent comments on the diminishing role that science seems to play in the life of our society and in informing public policy resonated so strongly with me that I had to write. In my "Banquet Speech" linked above at the 2012 Nobel Banquet I spoke of precisely this phenomenon. The speech text is only 5 minutes long but the relevant paragraph is pasted below. You will see that we are totally simpatico on this point. And clearly this trend precedes the rise of Trump. (But of course this is his base)
Tony, please take good care of yourself. You are a treasure for our country
Warm wishes
BOB

"But of course the annual award of the Nobel Prizes has significance that reaches far beyond the individual experiences of the Laureates. For those of us in the sciences, we watch with delight as every October the eyes of the entire world focus, if only transiently, on the power of discoveries in chemistry, physics, medicine, physiology, and economics to shape our lives.. However, as an American Scientist, and now Nobel Laureate, I have never been more aware or more appreciative of this effect of the Prize announcements. We have just had a Presidential election in the United States. One of the fault lines in the campaign was the role that science plays in shaping public policy decisions. A clear anti-science bias was apparent in many who sought the presidential nomination of one of our major political parties. This was manifest as a refusal to accept for example, the theory of evolution, the existence of global warming, much less of the role of humans in this process, the value of vaccines or of embryonic stem cell research. Each of us Laureates aspires in our own small way to do what we can to counter these pernicious anti-scientific trends."

Anthony S. Fauci,. M.D. (b) (6) (phone) (301) 496-4409 (fax) Email: (b) (6)

Dear Dr. Fauci ,

I need your help. I have Covid-19 products (for all viruses) these products are dry not wet product and will protect and attach itself to any surface we are the only ones who make this product.

My product line will keep Hospitals and any place with a surface 99,9% safe. This line of products will save everyone from hard to get cleaners that are hard to come by right now. The cleaners are harsh and they are "wet " they are ruining your computers, phones and other electronics and high end surfaces in time.

Our protect will protect those surfaces and save lives at the same. Every time someone sits down in the food court chairs some one has to be there around the clock to wipe down the chair all day to keep it germ free. Not with our product set on the chair and forget it it will clean its self all day long.

Example- When the product is cut and laid down on any surface like a counter in the food court at the Cowboys AT&T Stadium when hands touch that surface, those hands that have bacteria on them will not transfer on to our protective surface cleaner fabric. The virus will die and stay virus clean 24 hours around the clock. That means that know one will pass the Virus or any virus around with our products.

These products we have are "dry" and easy to install. They will help everyone to save on cleaners etc, and cut back cleaning time. Right now everyone has "Quarantine Resistance " People are forgetting to clean and burned out letting their guards down to getting sick.

Keeping everyone's family employees, and company and hospitals, travels planes and cars safe is big job.

Please help me to get this into Presidents Trumps hands and all the Governors hands. I know they want to re-open as soon possible. All orders will be a first come first serve order basis. I cannot possibility get in touch with everyone in time and ask for President Trumps help in a meeting with them all.

With my products it is easy simple to install and walk away until you need to reinstall the New Covid -19 Product . We are the only ones that have this product!

We have two lines of fabric products that will protect your surfaces and then the other products will be for every day items we use like cell phone and pads etc. The product is a NEW Nano-Silver fabrication made 9.9% safe it can attach it self to any surface and easy to put up. It will help save lives.

Q: How long does the product last for surface?

How long does the nano silver last?

How long does the micro band last?

A: The Nano Silver and Micro ban are em-bedded into the material during manufacturing.

The Nano Silver and Micro ban do not lose their effectiveness for the life of the material it is in. So the fabric will wear down with time like T shirt before the effectiveness of the Nano Silver keeps working to keep people safe. This will save the companies money and protect customers and thier employees and get our world open again.

My team has been in quarantine. We are not out so we are all healthy. I need your help I will never be able to reach everyone in time to help them I need to get this to President Trump right away to set a meeting with the States Governors. Please advise and thank you for your time! Dr. Fauci I have a product that is going to help save lives I need to step forward and get this to our leaders of our country.

Subject: the reckless and irresponsible health risk of the Trump rally in Tulsa

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I am truly grateful for all that you do. I admire the way that you have tried your best to be politically correct in your relationship with the President, thinking of the more important need to protect the health and safety of all Americans as being the most important thing to focus on.

After seeing the current spectacle of the Trump rally in Tulsa, with no social distancing, no wearing of masks, within a crowded indoor arena, my feeling is that event is outright totally reckless and irresponsible, and I am absolutely certain that you are as concerned as I am about the health risks of what is happening in Tulsa at this moment.

I watched a show called "Coronavirus: Facts and Fears" show on CNN last Thursday night, and I understand that the White House would not give you permission to even appear on that show, and I thought it was deeply concerning that the only person on the Coronavirus Task Force whose opinion I felt was trustworthy was very clearly being "muzzled" in front of a stunt that is every bit as irresponsible as the event the other day when the present tear-gassed peaceful protestors outside the White House merely so he could do a photo opportunity for the sake of "displaying dictatorial power".

My feeling is that if one of the most senior health officials is not even allowed to speak in front of this extremely dangerous event in Tulsa, my feeling is that it might be wise that you could speak most loudly and clearly by submitting a resignation letter. I think that Mary Elizabeth Taylor did the right thing by resigning a few days ago, and I appreciated that I was able to read the reason why she resigned, as conveyed in her letter.

https://www.washingtonpost.com/context/resignation-letter-of-mary-elizabeth-taylor/299bb85a-9e92-4a65-957f-a9c044232ec7/

It is strangely ironic that I am absolutely certain that you could be of much greater benefit to the health and safety of Americans if you were to resign from your position as Director of the NIH, than if you stay in that position and are "muzzled" while reckless and irresponsible behavior is encouraged by the President.

I am one of your biggest fans, and deeply grateful and respectful of all that you do, but I think that you cannot allow yourself to be muzzled at a time when we definitely need to hear from you.

If you were to resign in protest, my opinion is that the message that you would be sending to all of America would be loud and clear and powerful.

I enjoy seeing Dr. Scott Gottlieb on television literally every day, and one of the best things about you resigning in protest from your current position is that you could be far more effective in having a chance to have your voice heard each and every day, and I would certainly hearing your knowledge and perspective as often as Dr. Gottlieb's, and that would be of greater service to all of us, while America tries to navigate getting through this pandemic.

Please consider the idea that perhaps the best way to be of the highest value to the most people is to "make a statement" by officially turning in a public letter of resignation to protest behavior coming from leaders in the White House that is outright reckless and irresponsible and a danger to the health and safety of all of us.

With deep respect and gratitude,

Subject: WHO/Fauci/Gates

Since the emergence of HIV in the early 1980s, Dr. Anthony Fauci has acquired decades of experience being the front man for a network of powerful Big Pharma and Big Medicine interests. This network (one of the most conspicuous members of which is Fauci's friend and patron Bill Gates) profits handsomely from regularly declared epidemics and pandemics via the unending flow of cash that such events inevitably direct to pharmaceutical interventions—and especially vaccination.

Fauci's father was a pharmacist, and Fauci himself has specialized in the pharmacological "regulation" of the human immune system. He hitched his professional wagon to vaccines early on, and his agency's single-minded focus on vaccine "solutions"—and simultaneous denial of serious vaccine-created problems such as vaccine failure and pathogenic priming—has long threatened to suffocate other avenues of exploration, whether for prevention or treatment.

Although Fauci has never been able to deliver on the promise of an HIV vaccine made when he took the helm of NIAID (the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases) in 1984, he has been highly successful—for decades—in attracting billions for HIV vaccine research. And as new threats like Ebola and Zika have emerged, the groundwork laid during the HIV era has allowed vaccines to continue to monopolize both attention and funding.

Fauci is not only a productive agency fundraiser but also a prolific publisher. The National Library of Medicine search engine (PubMed) pulls up nearly 300 publications that he has authored or co-authored over the last two decades. And many of these—like Fauci's 2017 remarks at Georgetown University that the Trump administration should expect a "surprise outbreak" within "the next few years"—not only foreshadow future events but also provide major hints of his network's vaccine bias.

In 2003, for example, Fauci and coauthors (including then-CDC-director Julie Gerberding) spelled out a vision in Science for a "global vaccine enterprise." Although their focus back then was on HIV, the proposed measures sound eerily similar to what many of these same players have called for in conjunction with COVID-19 vaccines—including "quickly measuring the effectiveness of vaccine protection as prototype vaccine candidates are identified," expanding manufacturing resources "to speed [vaccine candidates'] use in human trials" and "systematically explor[ing] . . . delivery systems for vaccines." It should probably come as no surprise, then, to discover similar fortune-telling tendencies in some of Fauci's other publications.

In other words, the high mortality was the result of poorly understood viral-bacterial interactions rather than of a virus on its own.

The 1918-1919 pandemic

A century before COVID-19, the Spanish flu was one of the most famous—and society-scarring— pandemic episodes in global history. In a 2007 analysis in The Journal of Infectious Diseases, Fauci and NIAID co-author David Morens examined some of the "unusual epidemiologic features" and patterns associated with the deadly pandemic. The 1918-1919 pandemic differed from current events in terms of the age groups affected, with the Spanish flu responsible for "extraordinary" excess mortality in healthy adults in their twenties and thirties, while COVID-19 has targeted older adults and individuals with underlying chronic conditions. Nonetheless, several of the NIAID authors' observations are intriguing in light of the phenomena being observed today. For example:

The 1918-19 influenza pandemic presented a number of "seemingly new and severe clinical forms of disease" that frequently proved fatal, including an "acute aggressive" type of pneumonia and an "acute respiratory distress-like syndrome" (ARDS) involving cyanosis (lack of oxygen in the blood). Individuals with COVID-19, too, have displayed numerous symptoms considered "unusual" for classic respiratory viruses, including the "emergency warning signs" of cyanosis and ARDS-like breathing difficulties.

In 1918-1919, cytokine storms ("a deleterious overexuberant release of proinflammatory cytokines") may have contributed to the mortality seen in young and otherwise healthy adults. Cytokines are cell signaling proteins that play an important role in the immune response but which, in some circumstances, can apparently "go rogue." Researchers writing in March in The Lancet argued that patients with severe COVID-19 illness, too, are showing signs of "virally driven hyperinflammation" or what they call "cytokine storm syndrome." In their 2007 publication, Fauci and Morens offered little explanation for cytokine storms other than to suggest that they might be triggered by "unappreciated host or environmental variables."

Based on the events of 1918-1919, Fauci and Morens speculated in 2007 that an individual's response to a new virus might "depend on the history of previous exposures." Although the two authors did not consider vaccine exposure as a form of "previous exposure," a January 2020 Pentagon study indicates that they should have. The study found that members of the military who received an influenza vaccine had a 36% increased odds of going on to develop a coronavirus infection. Other studies have likewise pointed to increased risks of viral respiratory m infections —both influenza and non-influenza—from flu shots. Shouldn't researchers be taking vaccination history into account when examining the "staggering" number of COVID-19 deaths that have occurred in nursing home residents subjected to annual influenza and pneumococcal vaccine requirements?

In 2008, Fauci, Morens and another NIAID author published an even more exhaustive analysis of the 1918-1919 pandemic, reviewing still-available postmortem samples as well as information from published autopsy series. Although their analysis excluded nonpulmonary causes of death, the three authors concluded that it was influenza virus infection "in conjunction with bacterial infection" that led to most of the 1918-1919 deaths. In other words, the high mortality was the result of "poorly understood" viral-bacterial interactions rather than of a virus on its own. "Without this secondary bacterial pneumonia," the three wrote, "most patients would have recovered."

… doctors treating the more severely afflicted would likely disagree with Fauci's casual 2007 assessment that increasing medical knowledge about treatment and prevention is unimportant.

Treatment implications

Describing a hypothetical future pandemic, Fauci and Morens wrote in 2007 that "The most difficult challenge would probably not be to increase medical knowledge about treatment and prevention," but rather "to increase medical capacity and resource availability." Echoing the prognostications of disgraced pandemic modeler Neil Ferguson, Fauci stated at the time, "Health-care systems could be rapidly overwhelmed by the sheer volume of cases." Thirteen years later, guided by this perspective, the U.S. has spent over $660 million to set up nationwide COVID-19 emergency field hospitals, most of which, with the exception of New York's, have never seen a single patient.

While the general consensus now seems to be that at least "80% of patients can ride COVID-19 out at home," doctors treating the more severely afflicted would likely disagree with Fauci's casual 2007 assessment that increasing "medical knowledge about treatment and prevention" is unimportant. Around the world, doctors have practically been begging for effective treatments, fighting uphill battles to gain more attention for inexpensive therapies such as intravenous vitamin C, vitamin D and the "triple-combo" of zinc, azithromycin (an antibiotic) and the off-patent drug hydroxychloroquine. The vaccine-focused Fauci has been dismissive of hydroxychloroquine from the outset and briefly seemed to be vindicated when The Lancet published a devastating critique of the drug's effectiveness in early June—until the high-prestige journal was immediately forced to retract the article because it could not "vouch for the veracity of the primary data sources." The same day, the New England Journal of Medicine also retracted a COVID-19 study, having ill-advisedly rushed to publish the same dubious data.

Reminiscent of the bacterial pneumonias that wreaked such havoc during the Spanish flu, researchers are currently issuing urgent pleas to pay more attention to COVID-19 co-infections, pointing out that many of those who die appear to have secondary bacterial or even fungal infections. They note that the role of these co-infections in mortality is "understudied" and that important information about underlying bacterial infections is "not being reported."

In their 2008 paper, Fauci and co-authors presciently described other factors that might "change the profile of morbidity and mortality during a future pandemic," including "the increasing number of persons living in nursing home facilities, and the number of persons who are immunosuppressed or affected by cardiac disease, renal disease, and/or diabetes mellitus." Thus, they argued, "pandemic planning needs to go beyond addressing the viral cause alone." In 2020, however, the Gates-influenced calculus has taken center stage; suddenly, it's all about the virus—and the corresponding vaccine—to the exclusion of all else.

… Fauci noted that he relishes his public relations role, describing mass communication as being as important as the science that we do …

Science or public relations?

In a 2002 interview, Fauci noted that he relishes his public relations role, describing mass communication as being "as important as the science that we do" and stating, "that's part of what I like to do and I know I'm good at it." In light of the climate of fear in which many Americans are currently dwelling, his remarks (made during the same interview) about the post-9/11 anthrax attacks are also interesting:

You know, bioterrorism is two things: It's a biological impact, and the terror that results from it. The disruption that Anthrax brought to our society was enormous compared to what the biological damage was: eighteen people infected and five dead. That's unfortunate, obviously, and tragic for the people who died, but just look at the effects: It shut down the postal system, it shut down the Senate. It cost hundreds of millions, if not billions, of dollars in expenses for cleanup. It was a major disruptor.

It is clear that the drastic actions taken in response to COVID-19 also constitute "a major disruptor." In a just-published letter to the editor of the journal Toxicology, Polish and German scientists summarize a new analysis showing that coronavirus infection "runs its course, peaks at about 7-8 weeks and then falls off, regardless of what public health measures are taken." Stated another way, the data do not support the conclusion that lockdown measures halted the spread of the virus. Will this compelling information prompt Fauci to admit that his rushed mRNA vaccine is dangerous or that the narrative that vaccines are the answer for all diseases is fatally flawed? It's probably best not to hold our breath for that kind of "retraction."

Dear Dr Fauci
I sincerely hope you enjoy this short tune, a parody of the famous Bob Dylan song.
(b) (6) (You will be receiving Chapter two in about 5 minutes!

I wrote this and recorded it last week. It's about 1 minute long.
The recording is me on vocals, and playing three guitar tracks.
The lyrics follow, then the tune.
(b) (6)

Subterranean White House Blues

Trump is in the basement
Hopin' to avoid all the People on the pavement
Marching for George Floyd.
Crowds on the streets,
Masks on, masks off,
A cop has got a bad cough.
Everybody's laid off.
Politicians lyin'
Temperatures are risin'
Maybe warmer weather
Will make the Covid better?
But opening the streets
Might cause it all to double.
Another Burger King burned
And the "so-called President"
Trump's still in his bubble.
You don't need a Fauci to know that we're in trouble

Dear Dr Fauci
Here is Chapter 2, by popular demand, with lyrics.. Same musical accompaniment, second set of lyrics. I SINCERELY hope this is IT!

Subterranean White House Blues (chapter 2)

Trump crawled from the basement
Waddled 'cross the street
Like a self-anointed king,
Thinking we would kiss his feet…
Army cleared the crowds
Trump held up a bible,
"Prayed" that his tribe'll
Make his problems go away.
Then Mad-Dog Mattis… well,
I really swear he had us
Hopin' things would change
Although Trump is deranged
Is the country calming down?
…the people all maturing?
Will Trump be leaving town…
While the cities are still burning?
And we are left to deal
With the costs he's been incurring
While Fauci cures the Covid…which is STILL enduring.

Subject: Why we don't trust you

Dr. Fauci:
Recently you openly criticized Americans saying that they are "anti-science and anti-authority". This slap at we average Americans indicates your elitist bias against the people of the United States. Permit me to explain to your bigoted self just why we don't trust you.

1. You lied! You misled President Trump and hyped the "lethality" of COVID19. Even before that virus hit the US there was clear evidence that it was no more lethal than the annual flu virus. In case you have forgotten, official statistics indicate we suffer some 60,000 or so deaths annually from influenza yet we don't shut down the country for it. We, the people, understood that and openly question your actions and conclusions. Hence, we don't trust you!
2. Your science was all wrong. Your models were grossly off-target as to how many Americans would die from this disease. Because of your models, we shut down the economy costing millions their jobs. As Japan's experience and the experience of other countries show, this was not necessary. Hence, we don't trust you!
3. You advocated that the US could not go back to "normal" until a vaccine was developed and universally applied. We, the people, are well aware of your close association with Bill Gates. Bill Gates has serious ownership in each and every vaccine maker in the US. Hence, if your vaccine was universally required, he would have stood to make billions. So, just who were you serving, Dr. Fauci? Us or Bill Gates? Hence, we don't trust you!
4. Your push for mandatory and universal vaccination and even suggestion of internal vaccination passports show that you are more in tune with the globalist elites who seek a dictatorial control over the population of this earth. Your stance violates one of the most private and personal decisions a person makes and that is what goes into their own body. If a woman can argue that she is entitled to an abortion because it's her body, we can argue that we are entitled to refuse your unproven and unsafe vaccine because its our own body. Hence, we don't trust you!

You should resign, but you won't because your masters want you right where you are in order to further their evil designs against this country and against humanity. You, sir, are guilty of crimes against humanity! And that is why we don't trust you!

Subject: Trusting Science vs KGB Political Correct!

Dear Dr Fauci et al,

I take issue with Dr Fauci coming on TV and castigating Americans, who ignore science. https://www.cnbc.com/2020/06/19/dr-fauci-frustrated-americans-are-ignoring-science-amid-coronavirus.html

Because, Dr Fauci has never gone after Bill Gates for harping the Global Depopulation Agenda via use of vaccines! Bill Gates is causing the anti vax science on covid 19. Bill Gates should be the target of Dr Fauci! No, he is not and I allege it is because Dr Fauci is both Evil and a Manchurian working for the global communist conspiracy(Link below Yuri Beshmenov KGB)!

Just like Yuri Beshmenov says on Youtube, Political Correctness is the tool of the KGB! Essentially, Dr Fauci is not saying that he really is upset people dont listen to science as everyone does listen to good science, Dr Fauci is upset there are people who dont flow with the KGB "Political Correctness," in his KGB/CCP treason scheme.
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bX3EZCVj2XA

It is Dr Fauci, who is clearly using scientific authority like a scientific dictatorship as predicted by Aldous Huxley! It is not that people don't listen to science. It is that Dr Fauci and his ignorance and filth in science led to the unnecessary deaths of over 100,000 Americans and counting. Fauci himself funded the Wuhan lab! While Fauci doesn't appear to make it up for CCP Wuhan Lab, the Mainstream major journals do and put forth nonsensical theories like a non optimized receptor to human ACE2, meaning it wasnt lab made. We all know a more deadly virus will fizzle before it gets international and that would be to assume the goal is quick death, not global spread. The tool of the communist is disinformation and subversion, and they don't care what Fauci's misinformed notions are, just that he has them and can be exploited.

What's shocking is Fauci not calling out the Chinese or the Wuhan Lab he was funding for "antivirals." Zero promising antivirals in the works, par for the course in the Political Correct NIH funding game where legit researchers get zero funding. We see Why! China is the proximate cause and locked down its nation while unleashing it on the world.! I guess that isn't politically communist correct though!
https://www.sirfnews.com/british-intel-unearths-evidence-chinese-lab-released-coronavirus/

What's further shocking is if the smart mouth Fauci followed science we wouldn't be using the virus to specifically target poor and elderly. Fauci knows the virus will quickly infect apartment buildings as we saw in NY! Fauci has known this since 2004 at least on the Coronavirus!

" Residents of the floors at the middle and upper levels in building E were at a significantly higher risk than residents on lower floors; this finding is consistent with a rising plume of contaminated warm air in the air shaft generated from a middle-level apartment unit."
https://www.nejm.org/doi/10.1056/NEJMoa032867

So one can make a legit science argument that Dr Fauci is a captured Manchurian working for the KGB/CCP against the American People to kill us, and he uses "Political Correctness" as his weapon of scientific subversion!
He backs up China, Bill Gates and goes after those with legit concerns about science.

Dr Fauci, I am sending this to you and two of your peers. I challenge you to prove me wrong or retire!

If you want to get people to take the vaccine, do the opposite of Bill Gates and talk about the safety of the new vaccine!

I challenge you to be a truthful scientist Fauci, not a hack for the wealthy Manchurain elite and China! Thats what you appear as Fauci! I ask you to address my concerns in good faith!

Concerned Citizen,
(b) (6)

PS: For the military and Congress copied, we must take notice of how CCP/KGB uses political correctness, subversion and disinformation in its designs. They appear to own and run the media. Yuri Beshmenov and many others warned us about being soft as the KGB subversion strengthens. Aldous Huxley warned about the "scientific dictatorship," that appears to not be scientific at all, and does appear to be more of a dictatorship! I am very concerned. When and if Donald Trump is defeated, I see no opposition to the politically correct dystopian KGB wave coming next! I pray Congress and the Military gets wise fast! We need major legislation and the men leading the way is Tom Cotton, Marsha Blackburn and Ted Cruz in addressing the dystopian and biased social media for KGB/PLA political correctness and the China/Russia spy agency issues!
Yuri Beshmenov discusses our clear holes, that now with AI and social media, can be used as Adlous Huxley has feared!
Individuality, Education (no dogma) and American Honors are part of the fix it solution!
Obviously, the whole NIH needs to be gutted and overhauled if you believe my accusations!

(b) (6) thank you for the follow up. Today is Day 40 clean and I'm gratified to know ALRP is recognizing Juneteenth. I'm scared by Trump and his supporters and what's occuring tomorrow in Tulsa.

Harvey Milk said, "I don't need politicians, give me a hundred fighters in the street." Our efforts in the street since George Floyd's murder May 25 of this year, and recent supreme court decisions are making our nation better, more equal, more just and safe.

I would be grateful for the medical malpractice Refferal. I REALLY want a balanced symmetric face, there is no food reason UCSF should have left me looking like this at all, or for so long. There continues to be obstacles to obtaining my medical records which is a concern.

I'm applying for a volunteer position at positive resource center and contacting a friend who works in their Housing Planning Department. My generous subsidy from SFAF pays up to $2100 a month and Corona Virus has resulted in a lot of people having to leave San Francisco; while unfortunate for them, lower rents and more availability could mean an upgrade to my housing; PRC can help me with that. A daily meeting and working with my sponsor not only keeps me clean and sober; i get excited about life again.

Hope you're well, it's always a joy and comfort hearing from you. Thank you.

I know that you have an appointment coming up next week, so I'll be sure to provide you with an update before then (either way).
Also, please know that our office will be closed tomorrow in observation of Juneteenth, however I remain available the rest of the work day today should you have a any follow up questions. Otherwise, I'll be in touch early next week.

Good morning Dr. Fauci,

Hope this email finds you safe, healthy and hydrated.

My name is Jake Turx, senior White House correspondent for Ami Magazine, the largest Orthodox Jewish publication in the US, and the only Jewish media outlet with a full-time team covering the Trump White House.

The Orthodox Jewish community, as I'm sure you're aware, has been especially hard hit by this pandemic. And there's widespread fear that things are only about to get worse.

I cannot imagine how swamped you are these days, and I've always been careful not to encroach on your valuable time. That said, with so much uncertainty and misinformation going around -- especially as states ease restrictions while positive cases are on the rise in many areas -- your voice, knowledge and expertise are more important than ever. I pray you'll be able to grant us a few minutes of your time to set the record straight, thereby helping save many additional lives.

Time is of the essence, kindly let me know how we can make this work. A few minutes over the phone is all we ask, any day next week (except Saturday) should work from our end.

Much respect,

Jake

Mr. Trump-

The people who have worked for you have it absolutely correct! You are the biggest jerk in the world. You are a humiliation to the Office of President of the U.S. to put it mindedly.
The mere fact that you would be so ignorant and selfish to subject humans to a public experiment in Tulsa, OK shows just how stupid an individual you really are to disregard science and well educated individuals (which you are not) with facts and proof that the pandemic has and will continue to kill individuals is deplorable. I can't wait until you are out of office. You are truly appalling.

I wish you no harm, but I hope you get Covid to find out the truth of what front line workers have said about the disease.

Importance: Normal

Dear Dr. Fauci, Does having ones tonsils keep people from dying of the virus? Do most of the people who have died, have had their tonsils out? This should be an easy thing to find out.
Could this fact help with the demogaphics of those who get it and those who don't? I am 71 and because my mother was a nurse she insisted I keep my tonsils when all of my 1st and 2nd grade classmates were getting them out. I think in the 80's ? the medical idea became to keep tonsils in children and not take them out? Is that the theory now?
I hope this idea helps find things out about the virus and who is most vulnerable to it.
I want to thank you for being the voice of reason in this Pandemic. Can't you have a daily press conference (without Trump, of course) (maybe with Dr, Birx) and tell us what we need to know. Do you have to have the permission of the president for that?
Are you letting your wife play bridge yet?

Subject: Xenon

06/17/2020

Hi, Dear learned scientists:

1st please know, you are 'Great' and I am 'nothing'—let us begin there: Seeing the 'Great' spin in a BH, 'nothing' has to spin, too, and get the 'Great' out of BH.
2nd please read my comments, below—I know, it is hard to see or read while spinning in BH—give a try?

"It could be a key to the secret of the universe"—really? Where is the key..

"A team of scientists hunting dark matter has recorded suspicious pings coming from a vat of liquid xenon underneath a mountain in Italy"—really? Hope it's not virus..

"They are not claiming to have discovered dark matter"—OK, then where did 95% dark-matter go? Is it turning into 'white-red matter' to Blow Bubbles to play with..
That's the way it is… per our Hero, CBS Cronkite (have anyone of you heard that before?)—maybe not, busy playing with Bubbles…

"axions — long theorized to play a crucial role in keeping nature symmetrical but never seen — streaming from the sun"—really? How do these 'champs' theorized if never seen ?
Of course, disciples of Einstein.. can't see. O', I get it "it may be evidence of a species of subatomic particles called axions"—whatever happened to "photon", the little-guy, brain-child of Einstein?
Looks like you, the 'Great', are 'totally lost' in the BH (black-hole), no chance to rise-up..?
Gone with the wind.. in Blowing Bubbles of white-red matter with $.....
We can see NYT-Overbye are still floating in the Bubbles. Then, here, comes "slippery ghostly particles called neutrinos"—so, the drama continues.. for more $... Bs, Ts…

So, is this 'good' or 'bad' "Dr. Weiner and others, including the Xenon authors themselves, cautioned that both the axion and the magnetic neutrino hypotheses conflict with astronomical observations"?

Am I spinning in a BH.. with you, the 'Great'.. ? Please do me a favor—"listen, see, speak" to me, soon, we can stop this spinning BH.

Look at this "Dead stars, like white dwarfs, that have used up their nuclear fuel fade and cool off over time as they radiate their energy away. If they were emitting axions or these magnetic neutrinos like the sun, Dr. Weiner pointed out, they would be losing energy and fading faster than what astronomers see. He called this problem "a big tension" that he and other theorists will be brainstorming"—wrong, wrong.. this never, ever, happens—no wonder, we are spinning in BH, that turns into white-red and Blows Bubbles in which the 'Great' (like Overbye, my dear old pen-pal) and NYT plus all media-Moguls going.., going.. gone singing 'me, me.., da, da..' with great-Drum (do we mean Trump..?). Also, it 'helps' Reds in China to be civilized and treat 'neighbors' with respect or get destroyed sooner than later...

OUT THERE

Seeking Dark Matter, They Detected Another Mystery

NYT: By Dennis Overbye June 17, 2020

Do signals from beneath an Italian mountain herald a revolution in physics?

It could be a key to the secret of the universe. Or just annoying background noise, another item to be calibrated in future experiments.

A team of scientists hunting dark matter has recorded suspicious pings coming from a vat of liquid xenon underneath a mountain in Italy. They are not claiming to have discovered dark matter — or anything, for that matter — yet. But these pings, they say, could be tapping out a new view of the universe.

If the signal is real and persists, the scientists say, it may be evidence of a species of subatomic particles called axions — long theorized to play a crucial role in keeping nature symmetrical but never seen — streaming from the sun.

"It's not dark matter but discovering a new particle would be phenomenal," said Elena Aprile of Columbia University, who leads the Xenon Collaboration, the project that made the detection.

In a statement, the collaboration said that detecting the axions would have "a large impact on our understanding of fundamental physics, but also on astrophysical phenomena."

But there are other explanations for the finding. Instead of axions, the scientists may have detected a new, unexpected property of the slippery ghostly particles called neutrinos. Yet another equally likely explanation is that their detector has been contaminated by vanishingly tiny amounts of tritium, a rare radioactive form of hydrogen.

The collaboration posted a paper describing the results to its website on Wednesday.

Or it could all just be a statistical fluctuation that will go away with more data. Members of Dr. Aprile's team conceded that the best explanation they had right now — that axions were to blame — has two chances in 10,000 of being a fluke, a far cry from the "5-sigma" criterion of less than one chance in a million needed in particle physics to certify a "discovery."

"We want to be very clear that all we are reporting is observation of an excess (a fairly significant one) and not a discovery of any kind," said Evan Shockley of the University of Chicago in an email.

Frank Wilczek, a Nobel laureate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who was one of the first physicists to propose the axion, noted the collaboration's own caveats in the paper. But he said it was "certainly intriguing, and the physics community will be eagerly awaiting further developments."

Other scientists responded with cautious excitement, or excited caution.

"I'm trying to be calm here, but it's hard not to be hyperbolic," said Neal Weiner, a particle theorist at New York University. "If this is real, calling it a game changer would be an understatement."

Michael Turner, a cosmologist with the Kavli Foundation in Los Angeles, called the Xenon collaboration "a beautiful experiment."

"I really want to believe it, but I think it will probably break my heart," he said. "But for now, I am excited that it could be something new and important that cheers us all up."

Wishing on a WIMP

Dr. Aprile's Xenon experiment is currently the largest and most sensitive in an alphabet soup of efforts aimed at detecting and identifying dark matter, the mysterious substance that astronomers have concluded swamps the universe, outweighing ordinary atomic matter by a factor of five to one.

In modern cosmology, dark matter is the secret sauce of the universe. It collects in invisible clouds, attracting ordinary atomic matter into lumps that eventually light up as stars and galaxies.

The best guess is that this dark matter consists of clouds of exotic subatomic particles left over from the Big Bang and known generically as WIMPs, for weakly interacting massive particles, hundreds or thousands of times more massive than a hydrogen atom.

The Xenon Collaboration is a multinational team of 163 scientists from 28 institutions and 11 countries. In a tunnel a mile under the rock at the Gran Sasso National Laboratory in Italy, Dr. Aprile and her colleagues have wired a succession of vats containing liquid xenon with photomultipliers and other sensors. The hope is that her team's device — far underground to shield it from cosmic rays and other worldly forms of interference — would spot the rare collision between a WIMP and a xenon atom. The collision should result in a flash of light and a cloud of electrical charge.

So far, it hasn't happened.

The latest version, called Xenon1T, ran from 2016 to 2018 with two tons of xenon as the target.

Luca Grandi of the University of Chicago explained that in its most recent analysis of that experiment, the team had looked for electrons, rather than the heavier xenon nuclei, recoiling from collisions. Among other things, that could be the signature of particles much lighter than the putative WIMPs striking the xenon.

Simulations and calculations suggested that random events should have produced about 232 such recoils over the course of a year.

But from February 2017 to February 2018, the detector recorded 285, an excess of 53 recoils.

Dr. Grandi said, "We have seen the excess more than a year ago, and we have tried in any way to destroy it," referring to the measurements.

The collaboration is in the final stages of preparing a bigger, more sensitive version of its experiment. It was delayed by the coronavirus lockdown in Italy but could now start up by the end of this year.

If the excess is real, it should show up within a month or two after it starts running, Dr. Grandi said.

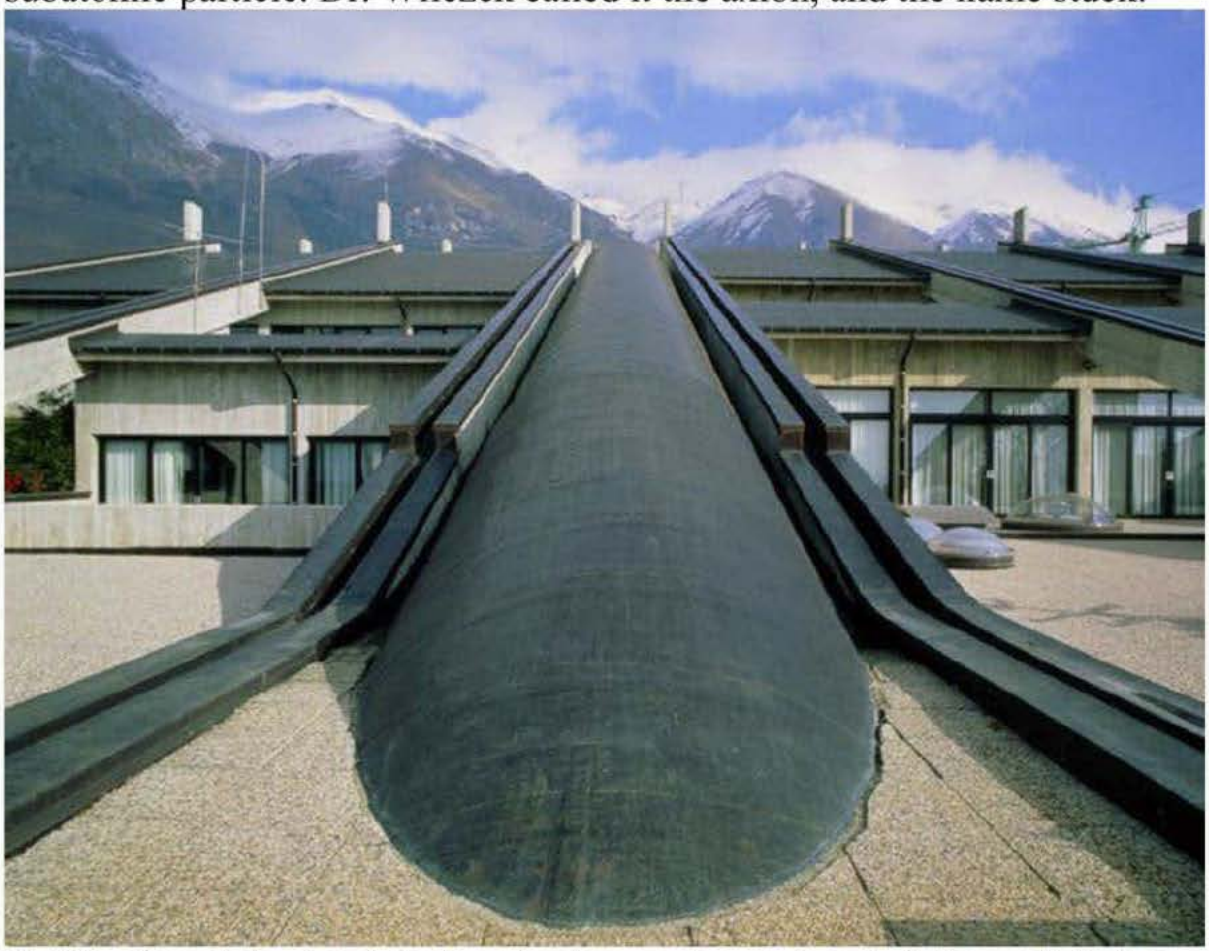
So for now, all three possibilities — axions, neutrinos or tritium — are still alive, he said.

Subatomic Laundry

And so axions could be about to enter onto the main stage of cosmology.

The story of axions begins in 1977, when Roberto Peccei, a professor at the University of California, Los Angeles, who died on June 1, and Helen Quinn, emerita professor at Stanford, suggested a slight modification to the theory that governs strong nuclear forces, making sure that it is invariant to the direction of time, a feature that physicists consider a necessity for the universe.

Both Dr. Wilczek and Steven Weinberg of the University of Texas at Austin independently realized that this modification implied the existence of a new subatomic particle. Dr. Wilczek called it the axion, and the name stuck.



The Gran Sasso Laboratory is the largest underground research center in the world, buried more than 4,500 feet underground.Credit...Tommaso Guicciardini/Science Source

"A few years before, a supermarket display of brightly colored boxes of a laundry detergent named Axion had caught my eye," he related in a recent essay in Quanta. "It occurred to me that 'axion' sounded like the name of a particle and really ought to be one."

When he realized that the Peccei-Quinn theory implied a particle, he saw his chance.

Axions have never been detected either directly or indirectly. And the theory does not predict their mass, which makes it hard to look for them. It only predicts that they would be weird and would barely interact with regular matter. Theorists have imagined many versions of axions that could play different roles in the universe, including being the dark matter that, rather than WIMPS, fills the universe and binds galaxies. And although they are not WIMPS, they share some of those particles' imagined weird abilities, such as being able to float through Earth and our bodies like smoke through a screen door.

In order to fulfill the requirements of cosmologists, however, such dark-matter axions would need to have a mass of less than a thousandth of an electron volt in the units of mass and energy preferred by physicists, according to Dr. Turner. (By comparison, the electrons that dance around in your smartphone weigh in at half a million electron volts each.) What they lack in heft they would more than make up for in numbers.

That would make individual cosmic dark-matter axions too slow and ethereal to be detected by the Xenon experiment.

But axions could also be produced by nuclear reactions in the sun, and those "solar axions" would have enough energy to ping the Xenon detector right where it is most sensitive, Dr. Grandi said.

Solar axions would not be dark matter, but verifying that they actually exist would be a major step toward opening up the possibility that another kind of axion could be dark matter, according to Dr. Wilczek.

Other experiments are underway to try to detect cosmic dark matter axions directly. Among them are the Axion Dark Matter Experiment at the University of Washington, which uses a strong magnetic field to detect the axions by watching them turn into microwaves. And an experiment at CERN in Switzerland, CAST for CERN Axion Solar Telescope, has also looked for axions from the sun.

Scientists at the Gran Sasso Laboratory working on the photomultiplier tube array.Credit...Xenon Experiment

The other exciting, though slightly less likely, possibility is that the Xenon collaboration's excess signals come from the wispy particles known as neutrinos, which are real, and weird, and zipping through our bodies by the trillions every second.

Ordinarily, these neutrinos would not contribute much to the excess of events the detector read. But they would do so if they had an intrinsic magnetism that physicists call a magnetic moment. That would give them a higher probability of interacting with the xenon and tripping the detector. According to the standard lore, neutrinos, which are electrically neutral, do not carry magnetism. The discovery that they did would require rewriting the rules as they apply to neutrinos.

That, said Dr. Weiner, would be "a very very big deal," because it would imply that there are new fundamental particles out there to look for — new physics.

However, Dr. Weiner and others, including the Xenon authors themselves, cautioned that both the axion and the magnetic neutrino hypotheses conflict with astronomical observations.

Dead stars, like white dwarfs, that have used up their nuclear fuel fade and cool off over time as they radiate their energy away. If they were emitting axions or these magnetic neutrinos like the sun, Dr. Weiner pointed out, they would be losing energy and fading faster than what astronomers see. He called this problem "a big tension" that he and other theorists will be brainstorming.

Tritium remains another fly in the ointment.

Hydrogen is the lightest and most abundant element in the universe. Tritium is one of its isotopes, radioactive with a half-life of 12.3 years. It is mostly produced by cosmic rays interacting with the atmosphere and is used in hydrogen bombs to help increase their explosive power.

If the isotope is the cause of the excess, the amount that would cause the readings is about "3 tritium atoms per kilogram of xenon, really an insanely low number," Dr. Grandi said. That is almost impossible to measure except with an instrument as sensitive as the Xenon detector, he said.

It may turn out, he admitted, that tritium explains the excess and that tritium contamination will just be one more detail that has to be considered or calibrated in future detectors.

"But of course we are really excited about the possibility that these are actual signals," Dr. Grandi said.

He added: "It's pointing towards physics beyond the standard model, so it's a big deal. So I think it would be an important discovery."

Dr. Grandi is now in Northern Italy and is anxious to get back to Gran Sasso and start the work of getting the next phase of the Xenon experiment online.

Dr. Aprile, who is leaving New York for Italy in a few weeks, said, "I am mostly excited, but the really the excitement is it makes you feel so good that you have a new detector coming up."

The universe is waiting for an answer.

"We need to push," Dr. Grandi said, "And now I think that, you know, we might be sitting on something that might be really exciting."

Subject: Tulsa GOP rally

My Dear Dr. Anthony Fauci,

I trust this inquiry finds you well in these trying times.

I write to you today with the hope to induce you to intervene with any and all measures at your command in the proposed GOP rally scheduled for this Saturday.

As I write, an appeal goes to the Oklahoma State Supreme Court to mandate CDC guidelines be implemented and enforced at Saturday's GOP rally.

This simple concession on the part of the GOP and the Trump Administration has the potential to set a national example of responsible public health consideration, and seems an appropriate safety precaution, given what we know of SARS CoV2. As I feel you must certainly agree, I implore you to consider all avenues of intervention on behalf of the residents of Tulsa, the citizens of Oklahoma, and also on behalf of the best interests of these United States of America.

I realize this is no small task that I ask of you, but the consequences of inaction, as I feel you'll agree, as fraught with grave peril, potentially putting many lives at risk.

I admire your courage, Sir, and wish you all the best going forward. May God watch over you and yours in these difficult times.
Thank you for all that you do.

Sincerely,

Subject: Dr. Anthony Fauci questions for Thursday - with regards to Trump Rally - can anybody stop this madness by legal means

DR Fauci - Y U G E F A N.
With the person called President planning this Tulsa Rally (or maybe should be called PETRI DISH), can a local government leader call for the rally to be halted. The Gov is for it, the Mayor not. Courts are saying go ahead. Could a police chief order some sort of halt? This not being political but for safety sake. If the Superdome is socially distanced down to approx 13,000, why would anybody not wanting to be Dance with Covid 19 go into this PETRI DISH of the B O K Center. Could the Arena Manager have second thoughts and pull it knowing it might her (Casey Sparks) job/ career?
Masks are supposed to be worn and maybe given out. What about the Eager Beavers lined up already to get in? No socially distance, no masks, No testing, No advance quarantine?
Could the rally be pared down by testing all before they get in. Trump has that elsewhere and is it even possible?
Could the Mayor take names of those attending similar to restaurants in various states and then insist on 14 day quarantining?
Can these folks attending be given henna tattoos or some wrist band which could not be taken off so they can know where this infection came from ?

Dr Fauci, keep up the Great Work to Keep America 6 feet apart instead of 6 feet under.

In Arizona , we have a Governor that can't give a straight answer on MASKS let alone where we are with ICU beds or accurate positive tests results. Its a game to control the narrative and the politics. Arizona should probably be on the look out for the locust soon as we have the Plague(Covid), 5 Y U G E forest fires, penance level heat waves all over. the early heat wavescould roast the cockels of anybodies heart.

STAY STRONG DOC. WE Believe - (b) (6) over 65 and T H A N K YOU AND GOD BLESS

Subject: Corruption under trump

I have known about aerosols for such a long time that I cannot remember how I acquired the information. I began wearing a mask and gloves weeks before my doctors and their personnel began wearing masks, etc, because you lied, saying masks weren't advisable or necessary or whatever word you used.

I believed the CDC was lying to the people in the matter of masks and you have admitted the lie. If I had not protected myself when I did, I would possibly have been one of those killed by the virus and the inadequate care available to old people under a triage regime.

I believe the CDC and you, by being lying and untrustworthy authorities, have demonstrated that you are trump's minions. People died who may have lived if you had been honest and spoken the truth so people would have done what I did - and protected themselves - and doctors had protected their patients.

I remember when an MIT student or researcher got the word out on aerosols, late. I hoped that person saved some lives. You abdicated your responsibility.

I hope the incoming president will not be trump. I further hope the new head man will clean your offices of tainted persons and that the new people understand that when trusted people and organizations lie, it means they have been corrupted, as you have been.

You knew ppe supplies were low in the past. Perhaps you now know how corruption in the present government has affected supplies at this time. Who has trump paid back with contracts? Who provided junk supplies to nursing homes? Who will remedy the problems?

I see you work at the NIH. I have used those sites when doing research. I shall no longer regard or suggest the NIH as an authority.

I do not want a reply.

Subject: Covid-19 and lies

Dear Dr. Fauci:

I am writing to you with concern, due to Vice President Pence's statement concerning fearmongers. Currently, I am a senior care professional, and a frontline worker. In addition, I am a volunteer victim advocate with the (b) (6) PD Safety and Justice Department. Currently, we are responding to domestic violence and sexual assaults on scene with the officers. Our victim advocate team is comprised of selfless volunteers, and most hold full-time jobs. In addition, we each volunteer to 40 hours per month to help others.

Senior care professionals must wear masks and maintain social distancing of 6'. Victim advocates must do the same when helping a crime victim. I love what I do, and I keep one phrase in mind, "Do no harm!" Today, I am asking you to remember this phrase, "Do no harm!"

I am a well-Jesuit educated woman, and I know firsthand that people die from COVID-19. On the one hand, President Trump and Vice President Pence are concerned about the economy. On the other hand, they refuse to wear masks to prevent spread. Believe me wearing masks works. The administration's arrogance is harming to others, and a rally without requiring attendees to wear masks is asking for COVID=19 spread, and the economy will tank. The people at the Trump rally's are older and they are venerable. I am not a fear monger: however, I am a sensible, practicable, and caring healthcare worker.

Thus, I am asking you to "Do no harm!" Please speak out. My town just opened a bit, and I have worried about all of our small business owners. I worry about the people I help each day, and I love my seniors. They are amazing! I have been supportive of the President; however, I do not agree that wearing a mask shows weakness. It shows strength, respect for others, and plain common sense. Great economy = masks. All say they will not shut down again, but how are they going to remain open if everyone is sick. No brainer; no workers. Thank you for your time! Stay healthy!

Sincerely,

Subject: Anthony Fauci Lied To Public About SARS-CoV-2 Fatality Rates (NEJM Paper He Authored Contradicts Narrative)

Hello Tony Fauci,

I am very angry about this VERY MUCH MAN-MADE bioengineered con job called SARS-CoV-2. Nobel RECIPIENT for the discovery of HIV , Luc Montagneir has commented this virus is MAN-MADE and very respected esteemed Indian virologists note this SARS-CoV-2 was of MAN- MADE ORIGIN but were POLITICALLY PRESSURED by the fraudulent W.H.O. to retract their VALID PAPER. . it has odd insertion points, elements of malaria and HIV and we would see intermediary strains if it were natural- It appeared out of NOWHERE- this is a virus that could take 800 years to develop naturally.

Enough is enough!!!!!! ENOUGH!!!!!!.We have all been played. This entire COVID-19 thing is a deep state PLANdemnic dating back to Event 201 with Gates and Fauci behind it. This Fauci man is a crook and a FRAUD with his HIV and AZT dogma which killed thousands of gay men,. Dr. Peter Deusberg and colleagues refuted his and Gallo's HIV nonsense.This fraud mistreated Dr Judith Mikovits

Fauci LIED about hydrioxchloriquine and chloroquine. SEE HERE. He KNEW in August 205 that it was a "potent inhibitor of SARS-1" because it is a zinc ionophore. This fraud deliberately omitted ZINC from his study so it would fail and he used it inappropriately late in the game. South Korea and other nations who used this drug PROVED it works in spades. Fauci LIED about the fatality of SARS-CoV-2. It is a MEASLY 0.1%.

Fauci LIED about the financial relationship between WUHAMN LAB and NIH

Fauci LIED about masks. No they are NOT effective even N95. Cornaviruses are ~80 to 100 nanometers and will go right n through those pores like mosquitos through a chainlink fence,. Further, they lower blood oxygen and immunity, have contaminants all over inside and even more so outside.

The planners of this HOAX are telling hospitals to mark EVERYTHING COVID-19. DISGUSTING! Hospitals and doctors are PROFITING. The citizens will NOT take this deep state psyop ANY MORE. They will go about their lives again .

Honestly , this is a SCAM and many people know it now. Build herd immunity like SWEDEN did- Many scientists are critical of this phony.It is NOT bad to catch this thing- most or many do not even know they have it. What is the big deal? This is POLITICAL - leftist bullshit.

PLEASE OPEN Florida for New Yorkers. NO REASON NOT TO. THIS VIRUS IS NOT that bad.It is NOT a big deal=- INDEPENDENT SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH SUPPORT THIS. Fine- keep old people away- but the young need to get on with it. BUILDING HERD IMMUNITY IS THE CORRECT MODEL AS SWEDISH SCIENTISTS ADMIT.

I will NOT EVER quarantine myself. There is NO EVIDENCE FOR IT. This is no worse than a fairly bad influenza season, as FACU HIMSELF ADMITS ,in an NEJM paper DESPITE his public LIES. As Swedish scientists said, when a virus is very contagious (most contagious ever likely) yet ALMOST relatively harmless- quarantining is NOT the strategy. Where were you fools with EBOLA? SARS-2 is NOTHING- case fatality rate of 0.1%. ALL THIS UPHEAVAL FOR THE FLU? AGAIN: SARS-2 CANNOT be contained- what's more- what does it even matter? It is NOT deadly. It only affects some compromised old people.

This Fauci fraud should be fired by the President right away. He, Birx and Gates are all in on this DISGUSTING hoax of the century.

HISTORICAL FACT:

Black people were ALSO ACTIVE participants in the slave trade. One of the originals in the modern era. Just about every race did it. throughout history dating back thousands of years.

I have friends , whom I love, and a few of them happen to be black. I so happen to be white. I am ME more than I am white. People are individuals. I love people , my friends. Whatthe hell is a "black life'? or a "white life' MEDIA CREATED PHONY NARRATIVES= THE MEDIA ITSELF IS RACIST.

Back to the PLANdemic: I will IGNORE quarantine- IGNORE it and I will REFUSE to wear a mask. Masks lower blood oxygen. , lower immunity, cause distress on the respiratory/metabolic systems,. and are FULL OF CONTAMINANTS more on the outside than the insides even- people fiddle- they harbour all sorts of bacteria and increase carbon dioxide and acid in the blood. . They do NOTHING I reason by interpretation of EVIDENCE (and good explanations) VALID SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE NOT FAUCI deep state PROPAGANDA. I REJECT so-called "authority."Especially when they ISSUE DECREES WITH ZERO EVIDENCE BEHIND THEM. When pressured that little scammer Fauci CANNOT DEFEND scientifically these ridiculous rules. PLENTY OF NOTABLE SCIENTIST WOULD DEBATE HIM. THIS ENTIRE POLCITY HAS BEN A DISASTER- FREE AMERICA AGAIN. OPEN THE HELL UP. KIDS HAVE ALMOST TOTAL IMMUNITY TO THIS AND ARE VERY SAFE. Wearing a mas is equivalent to the first grader who puts on a super hero outfit on with a cape to protect his family LOL. IT IS NOTHING MORE than security THEATER,.

What we have here with the MAN-MADE virus situation/HOAX "straight out of WUHAN LAB" is FRAUD not something genuine. You are trying to take away PEOPLE'S FREEDOMS, Fauci for your own personal gain- to get rich off a vaccine with scumbag Bill Gates. YOU were the guy who could have PREVENTED the loss of old people's lives by not IGNORING SOUTH KOREA'S and several other nations') SUCCESSFUL USE OF HYDROXCHLOROQUIINE/ YOU , Fauci, are who is to blame - NOT the President.TYou, Fauci also cause MANY HIV positive gay men to pass on from your insistence of high dose AZT.

What scumbag Bill Gates (who is obsessed with vaccines, sues human as guinea pigs and talks of depopualtion all the time over the last decade) , Fauci, Birx, and even you have done are crimes against HUMANITY. They have ruined people's lives as well as their livlihoods! Yet, citizens can congregate in DROVES by tens of thousands (and be applauded by the lockdown imposers???? WTF!!!!!) at Floyd's funeral (a man who was an armed robber and had a rap sheet- shame he died- but he was NOT a good man) and protest in L.A in tens of thousands all together no room for elbows even? The left is DISGUSTING and hypocritical. This is a HOAX. it is obvious to many people now. Hospitals are EMPTY arouind the world. The JIG IS UP!!!!!

So....We can martyr a guy who was a career criminal (big , large drugged out, violent history and uncooperative) and armed robber and march for him and congregate in tens of thousands CLOSE together but ordinary public citizens cannot get haircuts? ARE YOU KIDDING ME? CAN YOU SAY LEFT AGENDA!!!!!????????????

MSM and their disgusting racist hateful anti-white people narrative and propaganda ....NO such thing as white privilege exists. Try seeing how typical white trailer trash fare when trying to get a job versus black celeb LeBron James (who is not even remotely as talented as the legendary Michael Jordan) RICH Privilege EXISTS. POOR PEOPLE OF ALLL races are SCREWED.Rich black athletes have NOTHING to complain about. They lead OVER THE TOP DECADENT LIVES. WELL PROVIDED FOR. POOR white people DO have lots to complain about - and other poor people (of all races) . These WHINY militant SISSY BULLY outspoken and closet racist black athletes get PAMPERED with special treatment.

Poor people of all races WOULD get treated much worse and not get the job over a rich black celeb or a celeb of ANY race. By the way, Pigs do that knee move to EVERYBODY and for many years this has gone on. Nobody can say Floyd was racially motivated UNLESS they KNEW Chauvin well. Many black cops are racist against whites. The knee move has been done by minority cops to white citizens and of all races. America and the MSM FUELS this bullshit.I GUARANTEE MANY minorities are racists I see it EVERYDAY IN MIAMI - SO many racist Latinos and blacks. I will challenge them. and NOT take a back seat to their nonsense. They will NOT bully me, I will give it right back.

Regarding the phony MSM narrative ,: black cops and Hispanic cops are more likely to shoot blacks. . Pigs are out of control and a danger to ALL-EVERYBODY-ALL people, of ALL races. WHERE was Al Sharton wih the death of Tony Timpa who was killed the SAME WAY as Floyd was and these minority cops LAUGHED at him after he duied. WHERE was BLM or racist militant Sharpton after the death of Daniel Shaver gunned down by a pschyo cop in 2017? Apparently Shaver did not play Simon Says that well. It was AWFUL. WHAT'S WORSE, this PIG GOT OFF. NO OUTCRY? IF ANYTHING EXISTS it is BLACK PRIVILLEGE..... I SO am so tried of these BULLIES (a small segment f the population that dictates to others and MSM caters to these THUGS) . SMART black people of the right do NOT agree with glorifying their lowest common denominator- I know many African blacks want no part of American black losing victim rap culture. And good for them. BLM is a disgustingly racist militant organization (although some well intention but misled peopel are involved) . The KKK is too,. PEOPLE matter- Human lives matter. If anything, these minorities are the ones with racist mindsets. Race itself is sketchy scientifically. There is debate if it really exists. Only features that are different and genetic predispositions exist.

Are you aware:

*African kings sold their citizens to Europeans who landed there on the Ivory Coast area for opium?

*RICH American blacks themselves OWNED AND BRREEDED!!!!slaves and the conditions for slaves these rich BLACK save owners provided were WORSE than what the white owners provided .And these white slave owners felt kind of sorry for the slaves who had rich American black owners. Common thug racist " hoodrat" types cannot handle or swallow that info...It destroys their racist and victim narrative and identity.

*Native Americans participated in slavery and enslaved black people including a famous actor's ancestors

*Greeks and Romans participated in slavery and had black AND white slaves

*Currently ,today, some Arabs own slaves in areas of the world

*Slavery has nothing to do with white people it is something ALL RACES DID. SHAME on all hoodrats for promoting nonsense and maintaining a victimization mentality. If anything there is black privilege. These thugs bully everybody else and everybody caters to them. I see more racism from BLM than I ever have from most whites. Minorities are EVERY BIT as racist if not even more. I was a victim in Miami and Puerto Rico of hate filled Hsp[ainc and black people Screw them!.

Nothing that is popular is true and nothing that is true is popular.

Slavery AS IT REALLY HAPPENED! Official narrative DEBUNKED for good. Can these BLM thugs handle that?

MY TV is THROWN AWAY AND I WILL GO ABOUT MY LIFE AS NORMAL AND IGNORE YOU SICK DISGUSTING DEEP STATE PSYOP SCAM. Citizens are taking BACK their lives!!!!!!!!!!

To Fauci: STOP shoving this up our assholes everyday 24/7 on commercials- ENOUGH!!!!! Take your sick agenda and sick,.disgusting ritual (mask wearing is a bizarre , disgusting symbolic Pagan transformation ritual) and shove it up your butt. Elitist scumbags.

Honeslty, Fauci, UP YOURS! What you have done is disgusting. ANYBODY involved in this HOAX IS EVIL and needs a CONSCIENCE CHECK. Fauci has "DUPER'S DELIGHT" , so does Deborah Birx- they are laughable con artists. LIARS. It sickens me to see their face.on TV. That is why I got rid of my TV

It is in the evil NATURE of (many) human beings to conspire- it only needs two people. Your interest in this scam is OBVIOUS. You have financial interest. No, this is NOT a conspiracy theory, Fauci , it is a FACT. Your actions, fraud in studies, lies, duping delight expressions and more. They all prove your agenda. You knew of this back in January 2017. People THINK FOR THEMSELVES. You have always wanted to QUELL DISSENT dating back to 1984 where you and the crook Gallo put forth your DOGMA and disallowed ANY DISSENT from Dr Deusberg..

P.S. Dr. Stefan Lanka even wonders if viruses even exist. NONE of the photos are the actual thing- SARS-CoV-2 "image" or photo is ONLY an interpretation by an artist. It could just be GENETIC MATERIAL.

I NEED TO GO TO FLORIDA OR PUERTO RICO AGAIN FOR SOME BEACH TIME- OPEN THE HELL UP. STOP RUINING LIVES AND THE YEAR 2020. These knockdowns SHOULD be IGNORED TOTALLY BY ALL. Alcoholism, suicides and more are all UP. What you did is REPREHENSIBLE.

STOP THIS NONSENSE TODAY!!!!!!! THE PUBLIC NEEDS TO SPEAK UP AND NOT EVER comply or this invisible FRAUDULENT "boogie man virus" will never end..... THIS IS AN EXTREME OVERREACTION AND EXAGGERATED RESPONSE AND TOTALLY UNREASONABLE FOR THE FLU=-ALL POLITICAL!!!!!!!

WE WILL TAKE OUR LIVES BACK COLLECTIVELY. I PRAY FOR A TRUMP 2020 WIN! A VICTORY! LOSER LEFTISTS ARE FILTH!!!!!!

I will NEVER use the Nazi deep state language of "flatten the curve" or "the new normal "- that is INDOCTRINATION. We must resist this New World Order CRAP. The public must WAKE UP and is slowly waking up.

The citizens- WE THE PEOPLE HAVE SPOKEN - " JUST GET THE HELL OUT OF OUR LIVES.!" OR WE WILL IGNORE YOU AND YOUR UNETHICAL UNSCIENTIFIC BASELESS DECREES . I speak for MILLIONS- MILLIONS FEEL THIS WAY.

VERY Sincerely,

Hostile

A hostile takeover allows a bidder to take over a target company whose management is unwilling to agree to a merger or takeover. A takeover is considered hostile if the target company's board rejects the offer, and if the bidder continues to pursue it, or the bidder makes the offer directly after having announced its firm intention to make an offer. Development of the hostile tender is attributed to Louis Wolfson.[citation needed]

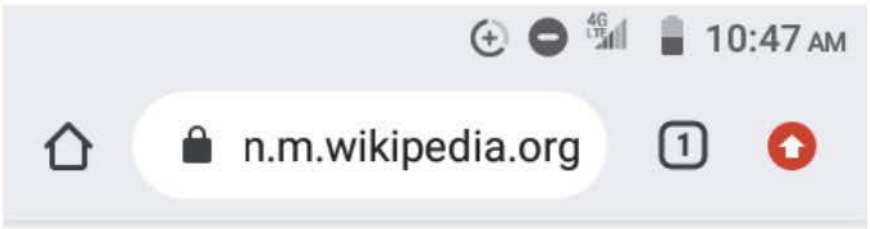
A hostile takeover can be conducted in several ways. A tender offer can be made where the acquiring company



In the United States, a common defense tactic against hostile takeovers is to use section 16 of the Clayton Act to seek an injunction, arguing that section 7 of the act would be violated if the offeror acquired the target's stock.[1]

The main consequence of a bid being considered hostile is practical rather than legal. If the board of the target cooperates, the bidder can conduct extensive due diligence into the affairs of the target company, providing the bidder with a comprehensive analysis of the target company's finances. In contrast, a hostile bidder will only have more limited, publicly available information about the target company available, rendering the bidder vulnerable to hidden risks regarding the

The Clayton Antitrust Act of 1914 (Pub.L. 63–212, 38 Stat. 730, enacted October 15, 1914, codified at 15 U.S.C. §§ 12–27, 29 U.S.C. §§ 52–53), was a part of United States antitrust law with the goal of adding further substance to the U.S. antitrust law regime; the Clayton Act sought to prevent anticompetitive practices in their incipiency. That regime started with the Sherman Antitrust Act of 1890, the first Federal law outlawing practices considered harmful to consumers (monopolies, cartels, and trusts). The Clayton Act specified particular prohibited conduct, the three-level enforcement scheme, the exemptions, and the remedial measures.

REVIEW ARTICLE on EVERYBODY WANTS TO GO TO HEAVEN BUT NOBODY WANTS TO DIE...BIOETHICS AND THE TRANSFORMATION OF HEALTH CARE IN AMERICA...by Amy Gutmann and Jonathan D. Moreno...

open access by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist June 2020

The book is an outstanding up to date, comprehensive presentation of the ethical, bureaucratic, administrative, social, financial destruction of the Hippocratic Medical Profession and replacing it with the enslavement of remaining patients, physicians and caregivers. As a practicing physician for over fifty years, I lived the transformation the book details. All will be enlightened by this stunning history of the replacement of the Hippocratic Medical Profession by corrupt politicians, wordy bioethicists, actual legal malice, and traitors to Hippocrates, all honestly and gratefully presented by Gutmann and Moreno. I cannot add or correct anything to their scholarship except add to the title "...LIKE MEDICINE WENT TO HELL..." after "...TO DIE" in the title. I think reviewers of this book can only add what was not written about how the Medical Profession can be rescued for the benefit of all.

1. "Health Savings Accounts" (Social Justice Review July August 2011, pp 111-113--attached). HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNTS are the answer and I am stunned it was not mentioned in the book. It returns health care to the doctor patient relationship. It will teach patients how to stay healthy and determine their health care needs with their doctor instead of third party administrative parasites. It will remove poverty as medical funds will be given to the people as savings accounts instead of to third party crooks. It will stop the outrageous profiteering by third party thieves of government bureaucracies and insurance company administrations (The pseudo-medical clerks of government and insurance companies GET MORE MONEY FOR ADMINSTERING HEALTH CARE NOW IN TOTAL THAN OUR DEFENSE BUDGET and none of them change a bandaid--THIS IS GROUNDS TO OVERTHROW THE GOVERNMENT--The Founders would have hung, or shot, them all). Health Savings Accounts will turn most of the money into assets owned by each citizen who, no longer in poverty or victimism, will be taught how to save and use the money to remain healthy and productive citizens. The problem is that our politicians and journalists are so corrupt and make so much money from insurance companies and those others now pretending to provide health care, that our corrupt politicians will not write any laws to correct the system because they have to correct their corruption by my CommonSense III Amendment (attached); and they will never do that because they are SICK AND CORRUPT FASCISTS and need to have my "Healthy Government" proposals which are not jokes (My "Healthy Government", attached, is to do to the government what they have done to the Medical Profession). Any one not demanding the attachments is a fraud and unworthy of listening to except to correct them ("Correcting them" will not work either because they will rage and prohibit "free-press" publicizing your critical free speech--which is another reason to treat them as the Founders would have). Health Savings Accounts will put a lot of parasitic government and insurance employees out of work which will need to be addressed, but the current system is "fatally flawed." If you do not want the attachments, you are lying to yourself about wanting an effective and efficient health system and you, in error, do not want to get rid of a corrupting law system which is enslaving the people.

2. "Bioethics As Biobunk" (November 2, 2006, attached). Bioethics is a monster conceived in Nazi Germany, gestated in Big Government and the Insurance Industry and fully birthed when abortionists euthanized Hippocrates, Nature and Nature's God. Without the Nazis giving the seminal idea, without Big Government intruding into medical care creating a health care dollar disbursement crisis aggravated by the Insurance Industry, and without abortion destroying the Hippocratic Tradition of medicine, there would be no bioethics. There were none in my medical school in the 1950s...only a Roman Catholic Medical Ethics Course and exhortation about the Hippocratic Tradition. That was all physicians needed. That is all any physician needs now. Today, for 99% of medical practice bioethics is unnecessary and actually is a mere parasitized garrulous replay of Roman Catholic Medical Ethics except as distorted for "end of life" issues, i.e., killing by abortion, euthanasia, and sophisticated high-tech utilitarian dehumanizing non-treatment at its worst needed to banalize evil by which journalists exalt themselves. Basically, bioethics is unnecessary unless a human creature is needed to be dead. Bioethics exists so killing can be done for the alleged needs of the State. And bioethicists have figured out how to kill "legitimately" outside of war and capital punishment. Logorrhea is their forte. The taking over of evolution is not evolution.

3. Unnatural Sex as "the common bad" which destroys Love and health. Human sexuality today is pollution and against "Nature and Nature's God". Human sexuality today destroys personhood and Transcendence. Forgotten and suppressed is that "Nature's sexuality is between adult mature opposite-sexed members of the same species at a time consistent with reproduction." In Nature, pheromones control sexuality as traditionally understood--granted that there are infrequent biochemical disorders and erratic exceptions consistent with the nuances of nature's innumerable creatures. Regardless, the norms of Nature for sub-human animals are overwhelmingly limited to biochemically controlled sexual intercourse between adult and mature opposite-sexed members of the same species at a time consistent with reproduction (Got a cat?). It is obvious that animal species would not well survive without the species protecting limits of pheromone controlled sexuality. As Shakespeare noted: "Unnatural deeds do breed unnatural troubles", something obvious in every example of human pollution, which now includes the destruction of "gender". In addition, it would be animal cruelty if current human genderlessness metastases were also forced onto the animal kingdom by the current U.S. "established religion", better known as the U.S. Supreme Court, as it continues to destroy the other learned professions: Medicine and Divinity. On the other hand, the lack of biochemical pheromones for humans allows humans to have love which does what biochemical pheromones do--limits sexuality to the unity and procreation of marriage, now finally recognized to be the "psychosocial pheromone" for humans keeping humans in synchrony with Nature and Nature' God. If biochemical pheromones controlled human sex, there would be no love. Indeed, every human culture with love has adopted marriage-psychosocial-pheromone-like limitations on sexuality--except now wherein gender is determined by masturbation preferences of genital maniacs rather than genuine nature-based identity with one's innate biology. Thus, today's gender/genital manias presented as legal categories must include all people and not just the emotional masturbators redefining themselves by political expertise and so-called "free press" advertising by gay cult controlled editors who are First Amendment frauds by printing only what they want you to think and do. Indeed, all categorizing or mentioning of gender must include the chaste--which naturally encompasses most people for most of their lives, certainly during childhood, adolescence and traditional marriage (attached is "Chaste--The Missing Gender" 2016 and "Liberal Culture of Masturbation" 2017).

4. The Earth as Opus Dei. "Health" depends on an accurate scientific understanding of the earth without which is the disease of ignorance and all its sequelae. I attach my Scientific Proof of God--SUMMARY (from Cosmic Dei--In God We Trust 2019. I offer twenty scientific probabilities for humans and life on earth....The probability for each fact, compared to its occurrence elsewhere in the universe, is reasonably "one in a billion"--1/1,000,000,000 =1 to 10 to the 9 (ninth) power (There are more, but these 20 probabilities at the same time on one planet are sufficiently overwelming. The earth won the lottery at least 20 times in a row.). I here mention two of the impossibilities: "12.

All amino acids in nature are formed equally right-handed and left-handed, rendering "impossible" that all living creatures including humans are all composed of only left-handed amino acids. 13. presence of all 118 elements of the periodic table on one planet (the earth) is another "one in a billion" probability for each element because all other planets have only one or two elements." Being on earth, means you are a thinking being miracle living on a miracle so you can live Love for all and return to God at the recompression known as "death." The earth itself is a "Holy Communion" into Eternity. It is unscientific and unhealthy to say "Life is meaningless" when the earth is scientifically impossible without God. Once scientifically understood, there is A NEW MEANING OF "HEALTH" as well as "gravity" and all on earth,. (Attached is "New Ideas".)

5. Medicine as educated guessing impossible to legislate beyond the doctor-patient interaction. Medical practice is the educated guessing about the physio-chemistry of body organs about which no laws can be rationally offered. In the human brain, there are about one billion neurons with about two hundred trillion synapses, all interconnected with about more than a thousand interrelated routine reflex pathways, all responding in various ways to outside and inside stimuli. To issue laws regulating the management of the brain (and any other body organ actually) is irrational and should be illegal because it is not medical--Only physicians can impose their flexible rules for medical care. The third party system of non-medical decision makers must be shut down and boycotted by patients and physicians. The third party system is stealing health care dollars and disrupting the efficient practice of medicine providing health care. The law does not care except to maintain its power-mad evil and grandiose public relations. In contrast, and for the government, the medical profession must take over to ensure the health of all in the government at every level and action, in law and government processing which one of my attachments (Healthy Government) begins to do. The return of Hippocratic Medicine to maintain normal natural function (health) is necessary. Physicians, without Hippocrates, are the primary target for lawsuits based on false-evidence creating legalisms which are irrational and inappropriate for Hippocratic Medicine between doctors and patients. Whoever employs a physician should first reimburse each for all costs of one's medical education.

6. "Health" and "Heaven" defined. "Health" is the normal natural functioning of any living creature and of each and every organ in its body. For humans, conscious-of-consciousness (C^2) enables a Spiritual supra-natural healthy existence giving freedom to choose synthesis or entropy for all behaviors on earth. Awareness of being aware (C^2) is the super-nature human soul. As stated by the Founders, "Nature and Nature's God" (Natural Law) determine the common good as exemplified on Earth created by God. When in doubt, figure out what is the God-given routine in nature and act/choose accordingly. "Health" is being in tune with the only planet capable of life. "Heaven" is the Eternity for those who have not destroyed themselves by entropy which excludes one from fully entering the non-space, non-time Statimuum , which is the scientific term for the UnRestricted Act of Transcendence, known as "God" for thousands of years. "Heaven is Eternity is the Statimuum"--the immediacy of all being as Transcendent and re-experienced in ultimate concentrated perpetual thought not rejected on earth--(The best

I can do is: an unrestricted immediate reliving the winning of every Super Bowl game ever played). When in doubt, C^2 must choose Spiritual Transcendence of being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good, and beauty to follow Catholic Human Ultimate Purposes of life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom and natural death without fear. "Heaven" is Love in the Statimuum.

7. Oxygen.

HEALTH IS PROMOTED BY OXYGEN--S A M MORE OXYGEN (SAMMO), Copyright c 2018, Samuel A. Nigro,MD, universal design. Learn and practice the acronym "SAM": Shut mouth; Air in&out nose; Mouth shut (or cough if choking or clearing throat) or just exhale (preferably by nose with mouth shut). <THIS IS LIKE THE INVENTION OF THE TOOTHBRUSH, BUT MORE IMPORTANT FOR GOOD HEALTH> HELP YOUR LOVED ONES AND YOURSELF BREATHE MORE EFFECTIVELY: build up more oxygen before your sport event and recover faster afterwards! Stay healthy...You will save money by no longer needing as many health care treatments. BEST BREATHING: When things are going bad or tense, and someone says "Take a deep breath", they really should say: "Do the SAM twenty times!" And athletes should be trained to do their "heavy breathing" by repeating the SAM. Every athlete needs a reminder to improve performance and recovery. Learn to do the SAM all the time and your health will be better (Attachment elaborates).

8. Journalism and the First Amendment. "OUR POISON IS WORKING!" is the motto of the disease of SUGGESTISM ("journalism" is no more--the "profession" is the press&media disease of SUGGESTISM--getting all others to know, think and do the unnatural which the editor wants). SUGGESTISM--other than sports and weather forecasts, most journalism is unreal, non-being editor fantasies and manipulations--CONFABULISM--PATRONISM--JOURNALISM is the SUGGESTIBILITY "ME-FIRST" PROFESSION OF NON-BEING and "evil is the unhealthy promotion of non-being" (which is most journalism and press&media--Call them "the Filth Estate", not the Fourth Estate). "Journalism" has failed everybody. The "free press" must be licensed with consequences for lies and non-compliance with the Founders. "Journalism" is nothing but a pseudo-profession of "how great I am to lead you by the nose into unhealthy barbarianism and unhealthy paganism." Basically, "journalism" has confused "freedom" with lies, fragmentation, unnaturalness (pollution), ugliness, and disease...and journalists' first and only real aim is self-promotion by having something sensational to report. Their ethics are gone. Journalism is the worst most evil "estate" in the world when without truth, oneness, good and beauty. PRESS&MEDIA ARE "DICTATORS" IN THE WORST MEANING OF THE WORD--they all are public health cancers. ("Journalism Responsibilities" attached).

9. The metastases of insurance, third party, and government. Health will be provided if all persons other than one's physician are required to answer the attached "Health Insurance Company Questionaire."

10. Transcendence. Other than oxygen by the SAMMO, 7 supra, health is promoted by knowing, living and demanding the Transcendentals: being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good, and beauty. Attached are the basics for all health therapy--"NEW IDEAS" and "IMPLEMENT THESE PUBLIC MEASURES."

HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNTS: THE REAL ANSWER TO QUALITY MEDICAL CARE

SAMUEL A. NIGRO, M.D.

INTRODUCTION

At this writing, the health care budget is said to be $2.3 trillion dollars. In almost all discussions of such budgetary matters, completely overlooked or excused is the waste of $700 billion dollars on the medical third-party mega-bureaucracy—which includes both the CEOs of insurance companies and the army of desk jockeys and phone artists who pretend to be necessary to the health care system. The figure of $700 billion may be debatable, but the reality is that administrative costs, fully and honestly calculated, approach 30 per cent. of the total amount allocated for "health care". Most "administrative" money is wasted—it doesn't change a single Band-aid. The third-party health care megabureaucracy will naturally protest, self-servingly, but it is destroying health care like a cancer. If that $700 billion dollars were added to the dollars now used for direct care, everyone could be covered by the best health care system in the world, to which patients from around the world come for treatment, even now, when they are able to.

At $700 billion dollars, the cost of administering health care in this country is about equal to the defence budget. This cannot be sustained. It is counterproductive; it is anti-doctor and anti-patient. It is a kind of Big-Brotherism that flies in the face of the Declaration of Independence's call for limited government. It is obstruction of care, and represents the purchase of "who" rather than "what"—that is, the purchase of a bureaucratic "word salad" rather than health care itself. It is prejudicial to physicians and patients to say, on the one hand, that there is not enough money for health care, and then, on the other hand, to give billions to non-medical administrators and insurance company CEOs. Alternatives are needed to eliminate the third-party parasites who are killing medical care. I shall now discuss three of these possible alternatives: Health Savings Accounts, the boycott of insurance companies, and the elimination of non-medical overseers.

HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNTS (HSAS)

The first alternative to the megabureaucracy of insurance companies and non-medical overseers of medical care should be Health Savings Accounts (HSAs). HSAs can be made available by the private sector, with non-HMO high-fluctuating deductible backup. The ultimate goal should be that physicians would deal only with HSAs and with crisis-care backup insurance. Each citizen could be allocated $3000 annually, to be kept in an unattachable tax-free HSA, usable only for health care by qualified providers with all accounting and administrative costs assumed by the banks holding the money. There should be no administrative use of health care dollars. Also, an additional $1000 dollars for each citizen would annually purchase crisis-care insurance policies.

For most non-crisis care, payment would be by PIFATOS (Payment in Full at Time of Service), using the HSA (or negotiated out-of-pocket by those able to do so who want to preserve their HSAs). Physicians must practise according to the once-routine Hippocratic Oath, with the medical profession itself monitoring and correcting those not in compliance. Fee recommendations would be made per free-market supply and demand, to guard against the exploitation of patients. If there is proof of mischief and abuse of the system by providers, they would lose their qualification, with all disbursements blocked. There should also be an income ceiling for providers (say, $1 million per annum), with excess monies returned to the system with tax credits provided for the physician. By computer monitoring, patients found to be "doctor-shoppers" or drug-seekers would be disqualified, losing their HSAs for controlled meds. The patients themselves will be taught by physicians to use their health care dollars responsibly, and any waste that might still occur would be much less that what is wasted now. This waste, if any, would be the patient's responsibility to correct on his own, and not that of some remote administrative employee.

BOYCOTT INSURANCE COMPANIES

Second, physicians should demonstrate their solidarity, to prove their full commitment to re-establishing their control of their own profession. Physician unity will be needed to implement a total boycott of at least one health insurance company at a time, by physicians and other providers. Whichever company is chosen for the boycott, there will be difficulties for some physicians, but it must be done, and all must help those who need assistance because of their supposed dependence on the boycotted company. Physicians must unite, and absolutely boycott a selected major third-party insurance company, and then do it again and again, until only Health Savings Accounts are left, with major-crisis backup. Accordingly, the Health Insurance Industry will shrink to nothing, except for major medical, non-HMO high-deductible backup for Heath Savings Accounts. The HSAs will be owned by individual citizens, who can then be really free, responsible, and independent, and not medically-poor, uninsured and controlled by the government.

ELIMINATE OVERSEERS

Third, medical records must be completely protected, as was always the case until about 1970, when physicians were duped into giving medical records to judges so that abortions could proceed in accordance with new laws. This opening of medical records to facilitate abortion has turned medical care over to a grotesque army of overseers, authorizers, auditors, and investigators. This is a far cry from the situation in 1968 when, as a psychiatric resident about to testify, I was told by my supervisor to bring a toothbrush with me in case I was sent to jail for refusing to turn over my patient's medical records. No one had access to medical records in 1968; now everybody does. (Privacy protections under HIPAA are almost a joke, and would be unnecessary if the Hippocratic Oath were still being followed.) With access to medical records, non-medical overseers have taken power. This is a calculated scheme of administrative extortion and exploitation, which the economist Milton Friedman called ". . . a socialist-communist system of medical care". It is time to eliminate this intrusion into medical care, limit government in a way consistent with the Declaration of Independence, and limit other non-medical intruders in a way consistent with the Oath of Hippocrates. Only by total medical-record confidentiality can physicians preserve their independent medical practice.[1]

Almost everyone has forgotten that the Oath of Hippocrates offered a "curse" on those who did not follow it. Today, that Curse of Hippocrates has been embodied in the non-medical parasites who have stolen health care. It is the third-party medical megabureaucracy of overseers from third-party and government "Quality Care", and obsessive/compulsive insurance workers. The re-establishment of absolute medical-record confidentiality will be enough of a return to Hippocrates to remove the curse.[2]

RESULTS OF THE RECOMMENDED ALTERNATIVES

1. The HSA concept provides more than efficient and effective universal health care. It gives assets to all and eliminates poverty. A reasonably healthy fifteen-year-old will have accumulated about $45,000 dollars. At 25, his HSA will likely approach $100,000 dollars. At a certain point of accumulation, an individual should be able to use some of his saved money for tax-free payment of housing or education for self and family members. If the account owner dies, the money in his HSA will be transferred into the HSAs of his immediate family members or, if there are none, then back into the HSA payment system. Thus, almost all dollars will be used for health care. It is possible that, at a certain point of earnings, an individual's HSA will become self-funding without further contributions.

2. HSAs also remove the psychology of poverty. Everyone will have assets, even though these be limited to the purchase of health care. But the mere awareness that if one stays healthy, one will have $45,000 by age fifteen, imbues one's outlook with the desire to plan, protect, work and accumulate more. Most people will learn to protect their health-care dollars far better than do the present-day bureaucrats. In addition, HSAs foster freedom and independence by providing a sense of ownership—the evidence for which can easily be seen by looking at one's own assets. More specifically, freedom and choice are fostered so that providers are no longer indentured servants; patients will have real choice, and no longer have to beg their insurance companies for the care they desire.

3. No doubt there will be some waste, but nothing like $700 billion dollars. And, most likely, some very sick individuals will end up with nothing, but that is what everyone ends up with, now. The real problem is that politicians are obsessed with control, so that they can preen as if they are giving citizens something; and the bureaucrats want their cuts. Under a system of HSAs, they will have to settle for their own HSAs, and leave everybody else alone.

4. Physicians will serve notice that they are in charge of their profession. If any physician is legally persecuted for following the Oath of Hippocrates (an ever-present contingency), all physicians will shut their offices for a week, at the same time referring patients to their congressmen's or judges' offices for care. And the offices will stay closed as long as any physician is being penalized for following the Oath. If physicians do not own their profession, no one else shall own it, either. Medical practitioners must prepare for this contingency with a professionally-established Intermittent Temporary Retirement Fund, to provide money to assist those physicians who are injured by the boycotts and legal oppression. In addition, no physician shall provide non-emergency care to any politician, judge, or administrator who interferes with physician-control of the medical profession.

5. Third-party and government "Quality Care" representatives will stop destroying the Art of Medicine as they replace it with alleged "quality control" documentation—a one-idea prison of bureaucratic enslavement that has little to do with the actual provision of care (unless record-keeping is more important than therapeutic interaction with the patient). This tendered "quality" is an enslaving ruse which ignores the spontaneous and unscripted personal style of the individual physician—long known to be necessary for encounters which provide therapeutic success: "Hippocrates in action". This "quality" is a code word meaning "we own you and you have sold out". (Only a non-practising physician, a traitorous physician working for the megabureaucracy, a non-medical bureaucrat or an ignorant politician could believe that the "quality" of medical care delivered by a physician dedicated to the Hippocratic standard could be improved by the politicized International Classification of Diseases and Related Health Problems [10th Revision], or the presence of recording devices in the doctor's office, or the presence of a court reporter documenting everything.)

NIH 001694

CONCLUSION

Health Savings Accounts would provide efficient and effective medical care for all, and reverse the trend toward an unfree deprivation of the Art of Medicine wherein patient-centred emphasis is distorted and fragmented into paperwork and documentation requirements, falsely labelled "quality". Medical records will again have no place outside of doctors' offices, unless validly sought by the patient. Physicians will refuse to provide records to those who don't have any proper need for them, and reserve their option of closing down their services when any physician is legally attacked for following Hippocrates. (This is not to say that patients cannot review their own records.) Health Savings Accounts will remove the plague of bureaucracy from medical care, and allow patients and physicians to be in charge. Most importantly, all health care dollars will go for health care.

COMMON SENSE III (I wrote Common Sense II in 1976)-ANTI-CORRUPTION AMENDMENT!

CORRUPTION CORRECTION--AND JUSTICE….to prevent the establishment of "Royalty" and the "hand of King Herod" (our government demons and enslavers at work). ALL COVERED BY THE SECOND AMENDMENT MUST HAVE A "MARCH OF THE MANY MILLION MILITIA" IN WASHINGTON, D.C. --Bring your arms and be prepared to camp out for 3 months or until the "royalty" in charge pass this amendment--The Revolution must be repeated...and it is not against King George but today's tyrannical fascist royalty politicians in all three branches of Enrichment (nee "government"). Today's "law" creates tyrannical fascist royalty (and neither they nor their families serve in the military)!

(a "deplorable "ad hominem" pamphleteer" and Kafkaesque Malicious-Law Criminalization-Hoax Victim--If it were not for the honor of the thing and all that I learned from criminals, I would regret it happened.)

Charles Dickens said, "The law is an ass." I have discovered that government law is a capitalist system scheme to control and extort citizens under the guise of "promoting the common good." "Equal Protection Before The Law", on the Supreme Court Building, is a joke (If the Clintons are excused, everybody is excused). The law makes money for politicians and all in the law system, selected favored groups and individuals, all employees of the metastatic law megabureaucracy, and for their dictating bosses in the press and media. Seeking a veiled totalitarianism as an unConstitutional established "religion", government law manages occasionally to be virtuous, but overall, it seeks neither truth nor justice, but inflated preening self-righteousness of arranging legalisms (Lego block equivalents) into an outhouse of sorts (The law is a "Scrabble Game" of legalisms thrown together by lawyers to coordinate evil so it is not chaos as the judges arrange the legalisms to spell "guilty" or "innocent". The law is a game of bullies throwing hoaxes at each other.). Totally unconstitutional, the government law is an "established religion" with pompous courtroom rituals and dogmatisms second to none in authoritarianism (There is no more pretentiously and dogmatically "high priest" than a judge (a god) at the "bench"--make that "at the stool"--"stool" is more accurate because they all are sitting there "passing gas and more" from every place possible). Legal processing is an opiate for those in power. It is insulting to the Founders. The worst are not the police but the politicians and all in government bureaucracies (except military, firefighters, most police, postal services, and garbage disposal services). The law deserves neither respect nor admiration but fear and contempt pretending safety, respect and admiration, for your own safety. The best way to understand government law, and those in it, is by the New Testament metaphors of "scribes and Pharisees" (and add Herodians and Pontius Pilate too). The following corrective measures are needed. Until implemented, all government law is a capitalist tyranny in every country wherever it is; and government laws only differ on whom and how destroyed. Robert Schumann started out in law school. "It was nothing but cold words," as he left to compose beautiful music. I believe I am writing what he would have written had he stayed another year in the law. The law is a contemptible disaster.

As an aside, any physician who goes to law school or cooperates with the law concerning medical matters is a turn-coat traitor to their Medical Profession. Physicians who practice forensics are not doctors. They adore judges. They formulate, not medicate. They litigate, not operate. They indoctrinate, not educate. They ruminate, not commiserate. They incarcerate, not liberate. They freeze, not treat. There is no art or science in law, just an epidemic of self-enriching pseudo-messianic suggestibility diseases. Law is a necessary evil...or, at best, a money-making sport providing victories--who has the most legalisms, wins. It can never regulate the Art and Science of Medicine.

LEADERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

True Justice requires all political systems to have an ANTI-CORRUPTION AMENDMENT for all political leaders of any nature (elected, appointed, appropriated--No leaders are worth defending unless they do the thirty rules):

1. All citizens will be covered for all legal matters by a third party system as is health care. There are more laws than illnesses and "Legicare" (legal care comparable to medical care by Medicare) must be provided for all. Insurance and third parties must take over the practice, record keeping, and payments of attorneys.
2. All in government and law (and family members) are not exempt from any laws including libel.
3. All in government and law (and family members if employed) are to be paid only by a base salary determined by procedure and service codes which will be the only source of paying for personal benefits received when in office. All procedure and service codes will be equally required for plaintiff and defendant in all litigation in search for "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" as sworn by all parties (including judges and lawyers); and in all government administrative procedures (including Internal Revenue Service) such that "equality before the law" requires government provided services "on behalf" of citizens to equal those actions "against" citizens.
4. All in government and law (and family members) will be prohibited from any investment in prison or prison support industries. All incarcerations will be overturned whenever this has happened in the past.
5. All in government and law (and family members) will study, review and sign-off annually on Suggestibility Diseases such as Solomon Asch Groupthink, Stanley Milgrim Suggestibility, Stanford Penitentiary Experiment, Nifong Prevention Programs, Male Antivirtue Sexism, HaremFeminismSexist Selfishness, Abortionismo, and Gay Cultism.
6. All laws, whenever mentioned in any legal proceeding, will be completely read into the record each time with all parties in attendance so that the defendant is assured that all parties know the law.
7. "Plea bargains" will be prohibited, because they deprive trial by jury which is constitutionally guaranteed. Plea bargains are capitalism benefits for those in the law: more money for less work by all; no jury trial as Constitutionally required; "free trade" of charges for reduced cost for both prosecution and defense. For equality before the law, the state must equally fund jury trials for both plaintiffs and defendants. In order to stop the plea bargain (actually is usually "plea perjury") manipulation, prosecutors must prove ALL initial charges and counts, for "guilt" to be found (Each initial "count" is to be a "juror" equivalent declaring "innocent" unless all counts PROVEN guilty). "Plea bargains" make "innocent until PROVEN guilty" to be a joke.

8. All in government and law and their family members' retirement, health care, travel without specific government mission, job security & protection, and any other benefits are determined by the same laws and rules which govern the common citizen and will be paid for as common citizens pay from personal finances. ( Children of Congress members do not have to pay back their college student loans. Staffers of Congress family members are also exempt from having to pay back student loans. Members of Congress can retire at full pay after only one term. Members of Congress have exempted themselves from many of the laws they have passed, under which ordinary citizens must live. For example, they are exempt from any fear of prosecution for sexual harassment. And as the latest example, they have exempted themselves from Healthcare Reform, in all of its aspects. We must not tolerate an elite class of such people, elected as public servants and then putting themselves above the law.--comments from Edward R. Nigro infra.).
9. New taxes are needed: a politician/law/bureaucracy tax. Politicians, those in the law and bureaucracy are "bought and sold" every day, and they should be taxed. All in government and law and their family members will be taxed at a 90% rate for any and all increases beyond salary based assets accrued while in office and for five years after leaving government employment.
10. All in government and law, and all with over 5 million dollars in assets, must have served or serve 4 years in the military and have their children and grandchildren serve in the military for 3 years without special consideration (to preserve themselves all that they stole--If they have not "defended" it by military service, to hell with them. To die for these corrupt politicians and their sycophant families is insane).
11. All in government and law and family members' estates will be taxed at 90% at death for all assets over 3 million dollars accumulated during government employment and for 5 years thereafter. This is to pay off the national debt they created.
12. All laws will be repealed which give any government employee or person in law any benefit not given to the common citizen.
13. No remuneration of any kind is to be received for enhancing reputation, business generation, client and associate management, civic activities, bar association activities, pro bono activities, speeches, appointments to corporation boards or equivalents. There will be no origination fees, referral fees, fiat retainers, or name value payments or any other payments unless appropriate to the legal work actually performed.
14. All members of law firms can bill only for work personally performed and documented, time and service, by open records.

15. Immediate members of politicians' families are prohibited from practicing law.
16. Appearances of impropriety and conflicts of interest are to be avoided, disclosed immediately, undone, and prevented.
17. All legal and financial records of all in government and the law (and employed family members) are open to the public...This enables "truth to reign."
18. The right to privacy and prohibition of unreasonable searches require that all medical records for all citizens are absolutely confidential and confined to the doctor-patient relationship.
19. All in government and law (and family members) are prohibited from any financial remuneration from or investment interest in any press and/or media business.
20. All in government and First Amendment editors at all levels must wear cameras and recorders for all government related activities with permanent retrieval forever, including all finding of evidence used by prosecutors. The First Amendment is for the people and the press must publish any and all writings from the people which are consistent with the Constitution's "Nature and Nature's God."
21. No politician can be re-elected to the same office more than once.
22. The First Amendment does not allow lies and is to preserve the integrity and decency of the people consistent with the Ten Commandments believed and followed by the Founders. All judges, lawyers, editors and journalists guilty of lying will face mandatory three months imprisonment for each offense. (It is ridiculous in courts that only those who take an oath "to tell the truth"are the only ones subject to laws prohibiting false statements.)
23. All in government (except military, postal, police, fire, and garbage services) should be called "authoritarians" rather than "workers" to more accurately identify and remind them as related to the Nazi, Soviet, and Chinese fascist authoritarianisms (governments). The bureaucracy makes citizens to be administrative slaves to rules, meetings, phone calls enabling the employment of voters who will vote only for the politician employing them. The bureaucracy must be completely computerized without human corruption potential.
24. All in government, before formal prosecution for non-violent allegations, must make a six month minimum "mercy and forgiveness" attempt to "correct" those responsible by informing of the laws being violated and assisting in re-establishing compliance with the law rather than punitive "conviction" or "entrapment" efforts. "Conviction rates" are to be prohibited because those are the only thing prosecutors really care about.
25. Malpractice penalties will be retroactively imposed on the estates of all involved in unjust imprisonment--judges, prosecutors, investigators, and plea-bargain accepting defense attorneys cannot get away with the conflict-of-interest profit-making overcriminalization epidemic they have created. The penalties will start at $1million dollars per year (or fraction thereof) of unjust incarceration malpractice from the estates of all responsible and the law bureaucracy. (Over 300 men have been released because of DNA clearance after accumulating over 6000 years of unjust imprisonment thru 2014. Not released were another 11 men already executed. Another 149 were freed in 2015 for false imprisonment averaging 14 years in jail. Another 14 had already been executed! Eight centuries of accumulated unjust imprisonment and twenty five murdered by the law. And nothing happens to those responsible. And we are supposed to "respect the law"? --And check the Central Park Jogger case--the law is contemptible.)

26. Dismissing cogent criticisms of the law by labeling them "contempt of the law"is totally irrational and proof that the law actually is "contemptible"--argumentum auctoriate or argumentum ad legis deserve contempt. The "contempt" dismissal is actual proof of the validity of the contempt. "Contempt of the law" dismissals must be prohibited.
27. Without a "right to natural death", the "right to life" and "created equal" become meaningless. Thus "lethal force" must a legal procedure used whenever an "unnatural death" is imposed as by euthanasia, assisted suicide, abortion, or capital punishment. That is, judges, prosecutors, politicians, and attorneys in that Justice Center's sphere of involvement would be required to rotate performing the procedures (on a full average week load basis?) so that income will be reasonably distributed. Clearly, the procedures have been confirmed as safe, simple, easily done with low probability of complications. Easily accessible (almost "drive through") clean, comfortable, warm, quiet, relaxing rooms at the Justice Center with good social-service-like attorneys offering support and assistance while the judges et al demonstrate the acme of their legal powers--lethal force. All procedures are to be routine courses in all law schools--(only 4 days would likely be required--one day for euthanasia, assisted suicide and capital punishment; 2 days for abortion), with one day of observing practice at the Justice Center. Naturally, those with conscientious objection would be excused, but teachers at local law schools would be required to perform all unnatural death procedures to help implement justice at the Justice Center as well as get their share of the income, i.e., Legal ethics require equal obligation and opportunity--the Supreme Court justices in Washington, D.C. should do their share (Stanley Milgrim would be pleased--the Eichmanns ordering the deaths would be the ones doing the killings).
28. All restrooms, showers, and toilets must be open to all genders at all times at all Justice Centers, all government facilities, and all press&media facilities everywhere.
29. To be Americans, all Muslims must certify:

    CITIZENSHIP CERTIFICATION FOR MUSLIMS:

    I reject completely and forever that all nations who have not acknowledged the authority of the Quran are sinners; and that it is not my right and not my duty to make war upon non-Muslims wherever they are found or to make slaves of all I can take as Prisoners, and that every Musselman (Muslim) who should be slain in Battle was sure to go to Paradise. I pledge allegiance to America as it is; I reject its surrender to Islam; and I will fight to defend this country's independence, culture, leadership and laws. If I break this promise, I will voluntarily leave, within six months, to go live in an Islamic country in the Middle East.

add from Edward R. Nigro, 2018: OUR PRESENT SITUATION ! Children of Congress members do not have to pay back their college student loans. Staffers of Congress family members are also exempt from having to pay back student loans. Members of Congress can retire at full pay after only one term. Members of Congress have exempted themselves from many of the laws they have passed, under which ordinary citizens must live. For example, they are exempt from any fear of prosecution for sexual harassment. And as the latest example, they have exempted themselves from Healthcare Reform, in all of its aspects. We must not tolerate an elite class of such people, elected as public servants and then putting themselves above the law. I truly don't care if they are Democrat, Republican, Independent, or whatever. The self-serving must stop. Governors of 35 states have filed suit against the Federal Government for imposing unlawful burdens upon their states.It only takes 38 (of the 50) States to convene a Constitutional Convention. IF??? Each person that receives this will forward it on to 20 people, in three days most people in The United States of America will have the message. Proposed 28th Amendment to the United States Constitution: "Congress shall make no law that applies to the citizens of the United States that does not apply equally to the Senators and/or Representatives; and, Congress shall make no law that applies to the Senators and/or Representatives that does not apply equally to the Citizens of the United States ..."

CLOSURE:

To SERVE THE PEOPLE is a privilege to be paid for…SERVING THE PEOPLE is not a method of becoming tyrannical fascist ROYALTY as is now the case. Rules are needed to prevent the corruption in the legal system because attorneys especially have innate conflict of interest in that the more they complicate and aggravate the problem, the more fees they can charge. Recording and documentation of federally defined and fee-fixed procedure and service codes are needed for every attorney, judge, and federal bureaucracy member ("authoritarians"), except those in military, postal service, garbage disposal, fire-fighting and police. Essentially, now THE SYSTEM only works well for those IN it i.e., politicians, judges, attorneys, and those in the bureaucracy. They love it. For the rest of us, THE SYSTEM is basically anti-freedom and anti-independence because it exerts fascist-like control almost automatically oppressive. The people are entitled to EQUALITY before the law. This basically means that the Legal System for attorneys and politicians must be equivalent to Obamacare or Medicare for physicians. All legal and bureaucratic services must be defined as "service procedures" with identification numbers and are paid only as allowed for each procedure. This includes all executive, congressional, judicial, legal, bureaucratic and political payments and income. This is done for Medicine now and must be done for all in the Law--Legicare, just like Medicare. Like medicine, the government law has become a capitalist money making business with Soviet style fascist powers rather than a profession truly for the Common Good. The tendered rules will correct this and prevent the corrupting influence of "power." All government law--every government law--is a tyranny in every country where ever it is; and government laws only differ in whom and how destroyed. At best, government law is a necessary evil masquerading as the common good but only preventing anarchy, so all suffer the same except those in the law. No government is worth supporting until the above twenty-seven principles are the laws of the land before all other laws. Until then, the law is not only an "ass", but it is an outhouse filled with legalism ordure thrown around by money-making fascist royalty whose most important job is to force fear-hiding "respect" for the law rather than the "contempt" it truly deserves as a "necessary evil."

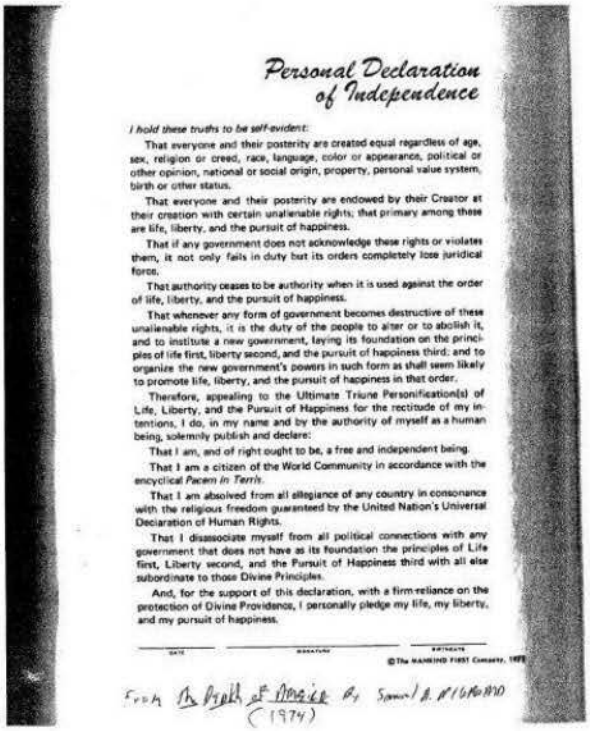
Addendum:
I wrote "Personal Declaration of Independence" in 1974. Today, it is time for all citizens to repeat the American Revolution by my Corruption Amendment.

I wrote "Common Sense II in 1976. Copy available by email: Sam@DocNigro.com. Thomas Paine wrote the first "Common Sense--addressed to the inhabitants of America" in 1775-76 to help create an independent free citizenry.

I wrote "The Liberal Declaration of Dependence" in 2011 when I realized America really did die.

I wrote "Walt Whitman and the Politician" in 1999 with many other poems on America.



Personal Declaration of Independence

I hold these truths to be self-evident:

That everyone and their posterity are created equal regardless of age, sex, religion or creed, race, language, color or appearance, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, personal value system, birth or other status.

That everyone and their posterity are endowed by their Creator at their creation with certain unalienable rights; that primary among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

That if any government does not acknowledge these rights or violates them, it not only fails in duty but its orders completely lose juridical force.

That authority ceases to be authority when it is used against the order of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these unalienable rights, it is the duty of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on the principles of life first, liberty second, and the pursuit of happiness third; and to organize the new government's powers in such form as shall seem likely to promote life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness in that order.

Therefore, appealing to the Ultimate Triune Personification(s) of Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness for the rectitude of my intentions, I do, in my name and by the authority of myself as a human being, solemnly publish and declare:

That I am, and of right ought to be, a free and independent being.

That I am a citizen of the World Community in accordance with the encyclical Pacem in Terris.

That I am absolved from all allegiance of any country in consonance with the religious freedom guaranteed by the United Nation's Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

That I disassociate myself from all political connections with any government that does not have as its foundation the principles of Life first, Liberty second, and the Pursuit of Happiness third with all else subordinate to those Divine Principles.

And, for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, I personally pledge my life, my liberty, and my pursuit of happiness.

EXPLANATION OF THE "PERSONAL DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE"

The "Personal Declaration of Independence" is a combination of the ideas contained in three important world documents: The United Nation's Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the United States Declaration of Independence, and the Catholic Encyclical of Pope John XXIII: "Peace on Earth".

By combining all three, one is able to declare his/her own personal religious freedom to work for the world above and beyond any national purpose that is not consistent with the now religious priorities of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

This is made possible by identifying the concepts of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" with the ancient religious construct of the "Trinity": A total energy force of three persons. First is Life (The Father) from whom all proceed. Second is Liberty (The Son) who is the personification of freedom as well as the price one must pay for it. Third is the Pursuit of Happiness (The Holy Spirit) who personifies the interactional mode of human relationship based on love and gentleness. All Three are inseparable as well as distinct -- dare one say "three persons in one God"?

Regardless, this Trinity provides infallability -- the infallability of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" as social policy and moral ideal, even though no individual or group can ever fully implement them on a practical level.

Note should be taken of the fact that the Declaration does not prevent one from having an allegiance to a nation, but any such allegiance is always secondary to the historically proven world policy ideal of the Trinity of Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. One may even espouse a national cause, but only if it is considered in good conscience to be in the best interest of the world and consistent with the Trinity.

In any case, the Declaration launches genuine social evolution into a higher mental-spiritual level. Higher and higher! Upwards and forwards! One may even sense the spirit that drove original Americans: to do the courageous in the face of great censure and danger when they proclaimed their own Declaration of Independence. Clearly, such action is (or rather was) the American thing to do.

THE LIBERAL DECLARATION OF DEPENDENCE

By Samuel A. Nigro, MD September 2010, updated August 2011.

We hold these truths to be self-evident:

That all men, women, healthy wanted children, and creatures intermittently personalized and adored, are created as selfish as they can get away with,

and are genetically endowed by DNA to have unalienable materialist-crooked-politician and self-serving-judge determined RIGHTS:

the Right to LIFE as authorized by evolutionary dogmatic liberal numerologists, the Right to LIBERTY as confirmed by the scientific bosses of the liberal race, and the Right to the PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS as imposed by imperial liberal"prior restraint" using editors & journalists in obedience to their infallible owners.

This is where we are now. It is a massive contradiction to evolution, and it absolutely rebuts all claims that man has improved over the past 10,000 years in spite of the glitz. The prehistoric people are back in charge—They are the AMERICAN ROYALTY (the liberal US Congress, Executive, Judiciary, all elected and appointed public officials, and editors and journalists of the liberal Press&Media). Here is how they CORRUPT themselves:

-making and promoting laws and rules for others which they do not have to follow (And that IS ROYALTY, for sure!);
-funding their own retirement and health care plans not available to lesser citizens;
-building financial empires while in public office
-imposing procedure and service codes on everyone except themselves
-without conscience, superego or decency (Never ever wrong!);
-refusing to resign when guilty as hell about damn near everything (Deny! Deny!)
-incapable of disgrace or embarrassment even when found conspiring on the internet;
-destroying the 2500 year old Hippocratic Oath and turning the Medical Profession into a state of Indentured Servitude ruining health care;
-suppressing, offending and depriving people of the free exercise of religion, especially Catholics and other Christians;
-selecting the material, applying the tone, and presenting disproportionately to misuse the facts in order to manipulate the people any way possible;
-suffering from arrogant ignorance and intellectual pride by refusing term limits;
-self-righteously contemptuous of all but their own points of view (Lie! Lie!);
-deforming the Constitution into a joke;
-protesting what was done to "victims," only doing it themselves to those disliked;
-infantalizing citizens (socialism) i.e., doing what America, up to now, avoided doing (and thereby achieved and maintained greatness—which she could not have done with socialistic dependent, irresponsible, lazy, incompetent, parasitic citizens who get paid to vote and not to work.);
-and humping away in sexual activity rejected by the animal kingdom—

The liberal US Congress, Executive and Judiciary and the liberal Press&Media are anti-Transcendental self-proclaimed ROYALTY without Truth, Oneness, Good or Beauty, and haven't got a clue except their own grunting solipsisms—royalty cavemen for sure—as selfish as they can get away with and traitors to the American Dream!

WALT WHITMAN AND THE POLITICIAN

O Politician! My Politician, our election is done,
The lies can go forgotten, the prize was stolen not won,
The people all cheering, trumpets blare and puff,
The time for robbing is near, all psychopathic gruff;
But O fart! fart! fart!
O stinking soiled pit,
On stage is my Politician,
Chock full o'shit.

O Politician! My Politician, give answers for every thing;
Speak charming prince, the bells go ting a ling,
For you the press and media brought the crowds to the edge,
For you the editors and journalists became the electoral college,
Here Politician, dear whore!
This money into your sock!
It is no doubt forever,
You'll be sucking someone's cock.

My Politician does not answer, his mouth is just too full,
My whore does not feel the money, his mind is full of bull,
The election is over safe and sound everyone can be bossed,
From lead by the nose to voting, the people again have lost;
Exult O editors, and uncross the eyes!
Open the billfold for a money pit,
On stage is my Politician,
Chock full o'shit.

A CASE REPORT OF MEDICAL OVERCRIMINALIZATION, CONTEMPTIBLE LAW LYNCH MOB VICTIM...never needing rehabilitation...

by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist, copyright c July 2018

Biography update July 2018 for Amazon ....barest description....a deplorable pamphleteer since basement "newspaper" of Lyons Hall at Notre Dame in 1955...

Samuel A. Nigro, MD is a retired physician and Eagle Scout who prayed the Hippocratic Oath at every Mass ever attended since St. Louis University Medical School; was a "point man" for World War III as first Rickover trained physician for first nuclear missile submarine USSGEORGEWASHINGTON, holding world record for non-rosary Hail Marys during "battle stations missile" as counted down to fire missiles to kill 250 million Soviets, payback if they nuked America (It was nothing like the movie "Crimson Tide."). In his sick bay in Missile Compartment, he was comfortable most of the time in a chair leaning back on the side of missile 7 with his feet resting on the side of missile 5. After finding hematuria in several of the crew because of paint, his reports led to the prohibition of all evaporating solvents on nuclear submarines. While touring the new second missile submarine with its medical officer, he noticed "white stuff" on a large pipe in a remote place; it turned out to be sea salt due to a faulty weld which, when completely failed, would have sunk the sub; it was frantically replaced (No medals, but they deserved one each for preventing the loss of a $200 million dollar submarine and it 120 crewmembers). He was one of few physicians "Dolphin qualified" in US Navy Submarine Service and therefore sent on many spook and secret missions needing medical support during the Cold War in the 1960s as Chief Medical Officer for Submarine Development Group 2, Submarine Squadrons 2 and 8, the USS HOIST (as featured in the movie "Men of Honor"), the bathyscaphe TRIESTE, and others including the search for the USS THRESHER. After military service, he became a kindergarten dad five times while in residency for child&adult psychiatry and the ten-year full time and later clinical assistant professor at Case Western Reserve School of Medicine and University Hospitals in Cleveland. There at Rainbow Babies & Childrens Hospital, he began the reintegration of psychiatry into medicine by participating as a psychiatrist in routine pediatric clinic and then was invited to make routine pediatric hospital rounds, all made possible by his past hospital, emergency room, and pediatric clinic experiences at the Submarine Base Hospital when not at sea. A psychiatrist making regular hospital rounds with all other specialties was unique and found beneficial. While in psychiatry residency in 1966, he got a call from researchers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology who were working on the planned trip to the moon and space travel--They had read his research on the atmospheric variables affecting the mental state of submariners while in prolonged submarine missions (To earn his Medical Dolphins for submarines, a research paper was required by the Navy)--They had many questions and all he could tell them was that "Negative ions made for smiling faces" and "Remind that in the military, boredom is good especially doing maintenance." In addition, he ran a general hospital emergency room as a psychiatrist with cover-featured article in the Journal of the American Medical Association in 1970 further helping psychiatry-medicine reintegration. Since college at Notre Dame, he has been a "deplorable" ad hominem free spirited free-speech good-citizen (he fancifully thought, "a voice crying in the wilderness" after being called such by a Jewish physician at an abortion debate in the 1970s) pamphleteer, learning the "hard way" Machiavelli's warning that those in power will retaliate and destroy those who cogently criticize. He published "A Scientific Critique of Abortion as a Medical Procedure" (which included the first scientific promotion of fatherhood training) in Psychiatric Annals in 1972 following other Right to Life publications. He "created" the editorial board of the Journal of the American Medical Association by filing a complaint of incompetence for its publication of an un-scientific pro-abortion article. In the mid-1970s, he was treated to a personal lunch from Federal Judge Frank Battisti at his lunch-routine crowded restaurant; at a prominent table-for-two, Judge Battisti somewhat loudly asked several times "What does Doctor Sam Nigro think about..." (issues were general medical care and race, and "abortion" never discussed); Doc Sam was really shocked, and could only imagine that the Judge was sending a message to support Doc Sam's continued position at Case Western Reserve School of Medicine where many openly found the Catholic Church objectionable and abortion welcome--Doc Sam firmly believes he was not terminated because of the unsolicited support of Judge Battisti (famous for his anti-racism rulings). An unethical unprofessional anti-Catholic sexist feminist supervisor-colleague sabotaged publication of his defining "Squiggles" as a valuable drawing treatment technique for children, and he was never invited to parties of department colleagues, probably because of his Right to Life and "traditional" thinking (typical "tolerance" by liberals). Regardless, even though uninvited, he went to a party for the Department by his new Chief of Child Psychiatry--Colleagues were cordial but the Chief somewhat avoidant and rejecting--another interesting experience of being a target of prejudice. A cogent intellectual and calm academic challenger, he was asked by a tolerant later head of the Department of Psychiatry to please attend Grand Rounds so they were more than boring placid tea-parties for presenters. Even though never personally attacking, his academic questioning and intellectual offerings were not well tolerated by some; he was occasionally unprofessionally anti-Hippocratically mocked, bullied and finally prohibited from attending psychiatric department meetings because speakers were manipulated to complain about being academically challenged ("Grand Rounds" were really "Comfort Rounds" when presentations are blandly accepted). He also discovered, "Act like a lamb, get eaten by wolves"--that is, criticized government bureaucracies will retaliate and lie to each other by legalisms enabling false evidence creation. The law was found to be a self-protective gang when all in it collude to retaliate against those who cogently criticize the law as an unConstitutional "established religion." Incredibly Kafkaesque, never earning a criminal dime, he was fined a quarter of a million dollars and spent five months incarcerated after false loudly magnified coercive incriminations by a bad-faith Pharmacy Board which pretended cooperation for years in accepting his strong complaints about pharmacists mistreating patients (After formally criticizing Pharmacists for ten years, he finally wrote a law prescribing good pharmacist behavior. Three months after he sent his law to the Ohio General Assembly and to the press and others, he was formally accused of drug trafficking and criminal activity by the Pharmacy Board. Obvious to the rational, no criminal would so persistently criticize any legal body whose laws he was knowingly breaking.); not meeting any criteria of "pill mill;" no due process by Medical Board; incompetent and totally wrong record review by Pain Specialist consultant for prosecution (There were 80 OARRS, not "none," in the ten original cases and 7 had been terminated, not "none," for medication misuse.); prosecuted by exhumation of an irrational never-used law (The law was an unreasonable, dormant, ignored-for-decades law which required "physical exams" on even old injuries and "pain specialist consultations" every 3 months on patients given opioids--The legalism irrationally stated that without such in the records, the activities were "drug trafficking" and "corrupt activity." No doubt, the retaliating Pharmacy Board got the law reissued to "get" Doc Sam.); by false evidence creation; by prosecutorial violation of plea bargain by loud slanderous theatrical contempt from investigators glibly shouting their lawyer-bully lies to readily-colluding government colleagues; no mitigation considerations; and by injudicious judge who was manipulated into snarling non-objective non-impartial injustice because the judge did not recognize the maliciousness of slander, defamation, plea bargain violations, total lack of mitigation considerations, subornation of evidence, and subornation of primary prosecution witness who was a terminated patient who told Dr. Nigro that he "would get" him; ignoring an amazing set of character positive testimonial letters (from two Catholic bishops, two directors of Catholic seminaries, four directors of major different across-the-country university departments of psychiatry, political science, social studies, and ophthamology, the founder/director of a major science museum, the owner of a major sports team, and the director of an international intellectual organization); the judge was obviously colluded by loud defamatory lying co-government-tyrant "let us stick together as good government comrades do" with the prosecution and retaliating hateful Pharmacy Board both preening the acme of law school intense "believe me" histrionic lies and bullying theatrics about the "evil" of Dr. Nigro; all because his "defense" attorney advised silence, never defended but just "voluntarily" terminated his medical license as part of an arranged plea bargain (Plea "perjury"--"bogus" and "hoax" are the best words really for this whole experience; plea bargains are unequal, guilt imposing, easy money-making scams for all lawyers involved. "Inflated numbers of initial counts" are false evidence creation and make jokes of "Equal protection by the laws" and "Innocent until proven guilty"). Also ignored was Dr. Nigro's "Treatment Agreement", signed by all patients, which stated that the patients terminated him as their doctor if they misused or abused medications. Believing everything in life is a gift, he uniquely studied the hundreds of prisoners he lived with and wrote cogent articles and unique books which are beginning to prevent racism, "cure criminality", prevent drug abuse by a "Right To Childhood," Education Programs, fatherhood/motherhood/family integrity, and suggestions for prevention and rehabilitation. His writings have already had positive impacts over the past several years. His books, 2 volume Everybody For Everybody and one volume Soul of the Earth, as do all his writings, provide thousands of truisms for a truth, oneness, good, and beauty filled life, and provide civilizing childhood information most criminals never got. Every criminal and every child not getting a decent childhood should study these books daily which tell what they should have been taught. He refuses to pursue "expungement" no longer trusting the legal system after discovering it to be a contemptible and unConstitutional "established religion" providing the "common good" and enrichment mostly for judges, lawyers, politicians, and other scribes, Pharisees, and Herodians tyrannizing, extorting and surreptitiously enslaving the people. "Equal protection of the laws," "Innocent until proven guilty" and other law school slogans are jokes proving the contemptibility of the law as an evil, consistent with a Great Course on evil which stated, "The law does not care about truth or justice but about legalisms." The law is a contest of who has the most legalisms or a Scrabble game of the judge spelling "guilty" or "innocent" with a tab for each legalism offered. After experiencing the law, he proposed that a high tech exhaustive comprehensive "computer game" be developed for all litigation to ensure truth and justice instead of the corrupt, self-enriching, self-righteous, arrogant, pseudo-religious (with judges as gods), unethical, non-professional business which is the law now. The only differences between the laws of different governments are who enriched, who destroyed, and how. The law is an evil consistent with the un-Catholic content of the people. Of the U.S. government, only trustworthy are the military, the police, the firemen, the postal service, and garbage disposal men, considering all others colluding in government to be "royalty", fascists, crooks, and police state enslavers by administrative whips and bureaucratic chains. Internet MEDCRAVE, Facebook, and LinkedInPublishing and others have many of DocSam's pamphleteerings, books and writings.

HEALTHY GOVERNMENT

As the Law has assisted the practice of medicine and all else more and more for the alleged benefit of society, so it is necessary for Medicine to monitor law, politics, and government for the benefit of society. To these purposes, this bill is formulated and offered.

As a physician, I have visited the White House. I have seen legislators in action. I have witnessed the judiciary at all levels. I have seen attorneys everywhere.

Without hesitation: the health of each member of the executive, judicial and legislative branches of governments and of each member of the legal profession is in doubt and needs to be guaranteed.

Because of the potential detrimental impact on society, each individual in law and in the executive, judicial and legislative branches of government must be healthy. Thus, citizens have an absolute right to healthy law and government officials at all levels. Period.

Corruption is unstoppable, but ill health affecting government and law operations can be remedied.

Indeed, the President of the United States has a physician with him almost all the time. Lesser individuals in the government should not be so discriminated against! And citizens should be protected.

Only by such medical monitoring of members of government and law can good government and law be assured.

The following outline of a proposed law is submitted to implement this essential step for healthy government officials.

The medical profession must attend to this and citizens must demand that each member of the government and law have their health care guaranteed for the successful and effective operation of society.

An outline of a bill:

1. A physician will be paid to be in attendance at all official government and law operations including all meetings, trials, hearings, sessions, and any other deliberations.
2. The physician will attend to ensure that a urine analysis is done each day on all officials participating in these operations. Urine analyses will be for general study, drug and alcohol screening, and pregnancy tests.
3. The physician will obtain documentation of or provide a proctoscopic examination within seven days prior to any legal or governmental event for all lawyers and officials participating.
4. The physician will obtain documentation that a psychiatric interview (in English) has been completed thirty days prior to any legal or governmental event by all participants.
5. The physician will be authorized to break hypnotic spells by physical or chemical methods should any participant be unduly controlled by the press and media.
6. The physician will have elementary resuscitation equipment available including pain medicines and anti-cramp medicines for menstrual disturbances.
7. The physician will monitor all for the paramenstrual affective disorder making available the latest treatment approaches found effective including hearing protective devices for others.
8. The physician will ensure that advance directives are completed for each individual.
9. Health care records will be accessible and available with the physician attending to all dimensions of care needed to insure the proper functioning of the government employee's brain, bladder and bowels especially, but also of all other pertinent systems affecting deliberative capacities.
10. Each operative government group will allocate sufficient funds to provide for the implementation of this bill.

As the Law has intruded itself in all areas of society to ensure the rights of citizens, so Medicine must intrude itself into all government operations to ensure the health of members of the legal system and government.

BIOETHICS AS ORWELLIAN BIOBUNK

By: Samuel A Nigro, M.D.
November 2, 2006

"The hour has come to kill the Hun."
-- Winston Churchill at the start at WWII

Bioethics is a monster conceived by Nazi Germany, gestated in Big Government and the Insurance Industry and fully birthed when abortionists euthanized Hippocrates. Without the Nazis giving the seminal ideas (in such crude form that only a Princeton philosopher could modernize and accept), without Big Government intruding into medical care creating a health care dollar disbursement crisis aggravated by the Insurance Industry, and without abortion destroying the Hippocratic Tradition of medicine, there would be no bioethics. There were none in my medical school...only a Roman Catholic Medical Ethics Course and exhortations about the Hippocratic Tradition. That was all any physician needed. That is all any physician needs now.

Today, for 99% of medical practice, bioethics is unnecessary and actually a mere parasitized replay of Roman Catholic Medical Ethics except as distorted for "end of life" issues, i.e., killing by abortion and euthanasia and whenever sophistical utilitarianism at its worst is needed to banalize evil. Basically, bioethics is unnecessary unless a human creature is needed to be dead. Bioethics exists so killing can be done for the needs of the State. Only bioethicists have figured out how to kill "legitimately" outside of war and capital punishment. Logorrhea is their forte.

Obviously, Clintonesque contemporary Nazis have learned to use slick words and sweet poisons rather than overt power and brutal cannibalism. The paradigm of corrupting evil is the movement from courageous Dutch physicians defying the Nazi's euthanasia programs in World War II to contemporary Dutch physicians killing their patients willy-nilly. Overall, bioethicists have become Stanley Milgrim experts using clever smooth word games to authoritatively manipulate the public and overwhelm busy physicians adrift without Hippocrates. The suggestibility of people, especially physicians, is preyed upon by casuistry using prejudged stories which provide paradigms and models for the imposed killing behavior. These fantasy based themes and fictional tales promote concepts comparable to "Garbage in, garbage out."

The goosestepping principles to the current bioethics movement are: The Georgetown Mantra; speciesism; megabureaucracy medicine; futility; animal rights; contingent personhood; eugenics vs. natural evolution; proportionalism; paternalism, and 1984. (A good summary of bioethics as described is Wesley J. Smith's Culture of Death, Encounter Books, San Francisco, CA 2000).

The Georgetown Mantra

The Georgetown Mantra consist of four guidelines for bioethics which are couched in relativism rationalizing death as justifiable for the tough cases. The four words of the Georgetown Mantra are: autonomy, beneficence, nonmalfeasance and justice. The hidden agenda is the "best interest of bioethics serving the State."

1. Autonomy is "respecting the decision making capacities of autonomous persons" as long as in agreement with the bioethicist. Dignity is linked to autonomy not as the absolute value of a human life, but as an individual's right to choose self, self and more self until diluted and superseded by bioethical relativism and passivity. To read the decision making efforts of most bioethicists is to realize they mean "autonomy" for themselves in service of justice for themselves.

2. Beneficence means "providing and balancing benefits against risks and costs," meaning "the end justifies the means". Basically, "saving money" and "exploitation" become tautologies for "goodness" in service of autonomy.

3. Nonmalfeasance means "avoiding harm" or secundum non nocere with exceptions as needed in service of beneficence.

4. Justice is "distributing benefits, risks and costs fairly" for government/insurance needs with consideration perfunctorily given to the individual in the service of nonmalfeasance.

By these four words in circular reasoning, bioethicists decide on just about anything. These four words are feeble echoes of the Hippocratic Tradition and secularized religious values which have stood the test of time until applied to tough cases calling for death at which time all four principles in action result in self decreed justice for society, with a pretense of nonmalfeasance especially of avoiding harm to society, with ersatz beneficence rationalized by society for itself, all offset by fantasized token autonomy suggested or imposed as the individual's supposed competent choice.

The four words of the Georgetown Mantra are unnecessary unless someone is needed dead sooner than Hippocratic Tradition and traditional Roman Catholic Medical Ethics would allow. When the Georgetown ("George Orwell" is more like it) Mantra is heard, call the undertaker.

Speciesism

Speciesism is "a prejudice or attitude of bias in favor of the interest of members of one's own species and against those members of other species." This is a flagrant intellectual canard designed to minimize mankind as natural to the planet! Defined as something to be against, "speciesism" is the most arrogant and ignorant concept unworthy of any consideration.

Actually, being against speciesism is sheer fantasy if not delusion. In all nature, every species has a bias in favor of its own kind and when necessary against other species! Being against "speciesism" is against nature; against the planet; against the animal kingdom; and against evolution. Being against speciesism is anti-environmental and a supreme example of intellectual pollution. My article, "Ecological Manifesto" (in The Death of America on pg. 222-227) covers the natural hierarchy of the planet consistent with scientific understanding of mankind as part of the planet. The biological superiority of the human species as existent and as the leading shoot of the evolutionary process (if you believe in evolution) is incontrovertible. If this be speciesism, so be it, and welcome to evolution and science of the earth. Mankind has taken over the earth, even too much so as it begins unevolutionarily and unwisely to dabble with the evolutionary process, a dabbling which mankind has no right to do for itself because to do so is to arrogantly subvert and pretend to be able to over take and know better than the process that got us here. Environmentalists are fakes if they do not protect the gene pool as much as air, water and land. That mankind is the latest supreme creature is too damn bad for them who think they know better as they mumble how great the earth is but yet refuse to accept it as it is with mankind as its highest product in the physical universe. A case can be made that only those who see speciesism as an evil like racism, etc., are themselves examples of mistaken creatures out of the loop of the planet, nature, and their own species.

Speciesism is a biological truism: to reject one's own species is a sign of a fool, an outlaw, or a creature not belonging on the planet. It is specious to be against speciesism.

Megabureaucracy Medicine

Megabureaucracy medicine refers to massive government and insurance company administrators wastefully destroying the practice of medicine today. In the United States, dollars wasted are an amount almost equal to the U.S. defense budget. The number of health care dollars that do not provide health care but administer health care is outrageous. The administrative waste of health care dollars is the most basic cause of bioethics because if all those health care dollars paid for health care, the expensive bureaucratic interferences between patients and doctors would not exist and it would not be necessary to kill as cost/benefit supposedly requires. Bioethics is as much a parasite on the megabureaucracy as the megabureaucracy is on medicine. Bioethics exists to support the megabureaucracy, both being symbiotic epiphenomena for medicine. In medicine, there is no greater cost/benefit failure than government administration and insurance profit, both of which should be aborted, euthanized and treated as Winston Churchill suggested about his prime enemy: "Hang, shoot, cremate and bury 'em... take no chances!"

Futility

The Futility Flim Flam is well described in Culture of Death by Wesley J. Smith, pg. 125-143. Pointed out is that futility "is a value judgment, not a medical determination" and "Determinations about futility involve paternalism" in the most perverse and futile way. Futility decisions are based on prejudice and bias against disabled people and minorities. In addition, "Futile care theory gives some of medicine's most important health care decisions to strangers." Futilitarians are quoted as calling the murderous Kevorkian approach to be "utopian utilitarianism" (I think these bioethicists are bragging, not complaining). Futility theory is a manipulation accelerating death spuriously meeting the desperate bewilderment of those who have run out of things to do. Interestingly, while bioethicists talk about "futility in medicine", they manage to overlook the greatest futility in all medicine: health care administration, health care insurance, and bioethics, all three of which should be rationed and then the plug pulled.

Animal Rights

The animal rights movement is idolatry, i.e., animal worship. Basically, animals cannot have rights because they have no responsibilities. Furthermore, they do not have the "awareness of being aware", or the "consciousness of consciousness" (what I call C^2 to be described and mentioned in my "Ecological Manifesto"). There is no tangible evidence which demonstrates that animals have C^2, and no judicial based rights can exist without reciprocating judicial based responsibilities. Subhuman animals have no basis for personhood as do humans.

Contingent Personhood

In bioethical discussions, the only sure "person" according to bioethicists is the bioethicist, all others not so certain. In contrast, my article, "Personhood" (to be published), proposes the concept of personhood as not merely awareness, choice, capacity, or the ability to make some sort of value judgment. Personhood is "awareness of being aware", "consciousness of consciousness" (C^2) with the potential capacity to transcendentally engage on behalf of the species. Actually, the most fundamental basic indication of personhood is the creature's potential willingness to wear clothes, an elementary act definitely indicating an "awareness of being aware" to the degree of personal dignity, unity, integrity, identity and spirituality. At the most simple extreme, "I want to wear clothes and cover my body" is the most basic demonstrable "aware of being aware" factor for personhood. At the most complex extreme, transcendental engagement on behalf of the species (mankind) is the ultimate exposition of identifying a person. Obviously, examples of "unpersons" are often bioethicists themselves.

Eugenics v. Natural Evolution

If one believes in natural evolution, the process must be respected as sacrosanct! The evolutionary process apparently has established and created an animal called man as its leading product. To reflect with environmental awareness on this process is to realize that it cannot be wantonly tampered with. As a product of evolution, mankind cannot even pretend to know how evolution has occurred or how it will and should proceed. To claim that evolution has ended with mankind is absurd and basically unscientific and anti-evolutionary. Not to trust the process that got us here is ultimately anti-evolution, anti-environment, anti-planet and anti-nature. To take over the genetics of mankind is to kill the evolutionary process. Life cannot be second guessed in the random configurations, interactional vicissitudes and the multitudinous interdigitations of increasing complexity. In such light, eugenics and the unpersons responsible for it, by whatever method and for whatever reason, must be defeated. The self righteous individuals who would clone, do embryo stem cell research and manipulate genes for the creation of individual human creatures are to be seen as malignant cells in the human family and in the life process itself. They are "unpersons" in their lack of self awareness and commitment to the species.

Proportionalism

Proportionalism weighs the benefits against the harm only. It is the ethical arm of modernism (or what it really is: "absolute relativism" -- which is a contradiction in terms). Proportionalism is arbitrary and imprecise ipsedixitism: one thing is better than another because I say so. Bioethicists tend to dilute their faulty proportionalism with allusions to consequences but the nature of human acts and proportionality between ends and means are not faithfully considered. Actually, the older concept of ordinary/extraordinary is sufficient when properly understood in terms of benefit and burden. What bioethicists do not like about the old way is that they cannot kill as easily and the State is secondary.

Paternalism

Basically, bioethicists reject the concept of paternalism denigrating those who would assert authority especially against a bioethicist. For bioethicists, paternalism is when someone (usually a physician) knows more about the treatment needs and is attempting to control by offering medical judgments without knowing bioethical lingo sufficient to achieve relativistic conquests. Bioethicists seem to reject paternalism as feminists reject anything "male". Of course, bioethicists are paternalistic when they authoritatively decree their perspectives just as feminists imitate maleness when masculinely asserting themselves. It is amazing how the thoughtless are unable to catch the similarity. Nevertheless, paternalism should be unapologetically embraced and supported within the Hippocratic Tradition. Genuine paternalism is gentle and engaging. Genuine Christian paternalism is open and freeing (Know any feminist movements in non-Christian, non-paternalistic societies?). Finally, one truly finds how paternalistic one should have been when one is facing a medical lawsuit.

1984

Physicians are living out George Orwell's 1984. For medicine, the megabureaucracy system misuses the Hippocratic Tradition in flagrant Orwellian fashion. To re-read 1984 is to become aware of the politicalization of medicine by bureaucratic power and abuse with most citizens paralyzed, intimidated, and uncomplaining about official authority and big monied pseudo-sophisticated ideologies of torture, murder, thoughtcontrol, brainwashing, unpersonhood, doublethink, thoughtpolice, Big Brother and all else found in 1984, and to which should be added: NewYorkTimesFIT, unkilling, nutrihydrotreatment, assistedsuicide, HealthMaintenanceOrganizations, regulationsaves, and medi-care. As in 1984, truth is not an objective reality, but relativism managed politically and bureaucratically. "WAR IS PEACE/FREEDOM IS SLAVERY/IGNORANCE IS TRUTH," says 1984; and to which should be added: BUREAUCRACY IS MEDICAL CARE. Oldspeak (Oxford English Dictionary) and Hippocrates are gone. Newspeaks dominates and diminishes the range of thought. Vocabulary, A, B and C of 1984 predominate. As in 1984, authority is truth; killing for the State is not violence; relativism is moral; and might is right. 1984 is a paradigm for the Health Care Finance Administration (HCFA) and bioethicists who traduce natural law and tradition by HCFA functionaries and bioethicists. Medicare is the human ant hill with mindless drones coached and whipped into an Orwellian managed care utopia which is unfree, robotile, controlling, subhuman, and goodthink wise. The American Medical Association's theme song is right out 1984: "Under the spreading chestnut tree, I sold you and you sold me." Biobunk is the provisional wing of HCFA. Read 1984 and see American medicine. Make no mistake about it, Government medicine and the lives of physicians are Orwellian. IT IS HERE! Right now.

NIH 001716

Closing

Bioethics is the thanatismo means to the end for difficult cases. Ninety-nine percent of medical cases need no bioethics. Only in cases where death is desired do bioethics achieve any sort of significance. The bioethical phenomenon is a tireless self promotion and self-protection racket filled with self righteous convenient white lies and clever words. Bioethics is a house of cards and a word salad. It is an intellectual guillotine for those who want others dead or not cared for. Most of it is harmless except in the tough cases when all erring is on the side of death, big government and insurance profit. Bioethics is out to defeat the individual doctor/patient relationship which needs no bioethics if the Hippocratic Tradition were embraced. And whatever good results have come from bioethics would have and can still come from the appropriate application of the Hippocratic Tradition.

The use of the six admonitions of the Hippocratic Oath is sufficient.

1. "To teach" means that there is something reasonable and worth teaching in the Science and Art of medicine. Science gives a technological know-how. The Art has to do with making that interaction count with effective treatment for diseased states with relief of pain and suffering. The Art of Medicine also means the physician is a learned man (male or female) and not a science fool or an Orwellian drone. One does not teach death.
2. "No death" means that killing must never be undertaken by the medical profession for any reason.
3. "Moral law" is to be followed which means that natural law is followed because we are committed to the planet and life on the planet, especially the most supreme creature of the planet today, i.e., mankind. Especially physicians are to DO GOOD AND AVOID EVIL and all that follows from such.
4. "Look to others" to help and help others when asked to do so in the treatment of patients.

5. "Keep in confidence" all that is unseemingly.

6. Treat all equally with transcendental (body, identity, truth, oneness, good, beauty) awareness of an individual's humanity.

To extricate from co-dependency with bioethicists, the megabureaucracy and current Orwellian procedures, the following must be recognized:

1. The Hippocratic role is for physicians and patients to the exclusion of the megabureaucracy. Often, following the Hippocratic Tradition enables the megabureaucracy to get away with all its administrative depredations. Shaming physicians into providing care "regardless" by Hippocratic reminders and exhortations is not only outdated but paradoxically destructive of genuine traditional medical professionalism. PROVIDING CARE SO JOBS IN THE MEGABUREAUCRACY CAN EXIST IS ABSURD. No medical provider should ever call for patient care. The patient or patient's family must do it (or find a doctor who will call if need be, but that will not last long as he finds that is all he is ever doing).

2. Providers should get paid at the time of service with patients given a receipt so they can fight for reimbursement themselves until, having enough, will quit the insurance company to start their own medical savings accounts (see appendix A).

3. Once the megabureaucracy claims hegemony, physicians are no longer Hippocratically responsible. All professional medical organizations must move to the standards of "the megabureaucracy will do it all and provide all, so call them" and "call your insurance company to take over further care". Never return phone calls to megabureaucracy agent. Make them write. They want paper, make them give paper. Demand to know who they are (see Appendix B which ought to be written into law.)

NIH 001719

4. Medical organizations including licensing boards must degrade Orwellian collaborators to a non-M.D. status. Any physician spending more than 21 hours a week with a megabureaucracy will be designated as an "M.O.", (Medical Orwellian) rather than an "M.D." For all patient care provided by an M.O., a real M.D. must supervise and sign on. Excommunicate all M.O.'s from all medical organizations.

5. To provide medical care so administration and non-providers can get paid IS ridiculous! Tell patients and families to call them (provide them with the phone numbers) for their care and get everything in writing. Let the physician reviewers get their own history and do their own examinations -- tell them to take over -- "You take care of him." Then hang up.

6. Needed are specific laws which require the megabureaucracy (insurance companies and HCFA, etc.) to deal only with patients and not physicians. Real doctors should avoid the megabureaucracy system like the plague it is.

7. If the Hippocratic Tradition is dead (outside a real doctor's office), physicians must be protected by law from Hippocratic expectations and responsibilities and be able to refuse care to anyone under control of the megabureaucracy.

If it is rebellion, so be it. Unfortunately, organized medicine is run by ignorant, arrogant, pompous, subservient, traitorous, having "sold out" cowards, almost always smart-ass, petty, jealous glib, but without any understanding of the Orwellian mess into which they have put their colleagues. The first step is a massive nationwide boycott of at least two groups: all Workers Compensation Programs and Aetna. The only way to really reestablish the Hippocratic Tradition is by demanding the megabureaucracy be fully responsible for all the care claimed to be willing to provide, but not with the providers helping the bureaucracy. Absolutely, physicians' co-dependency with the megabureaucracy must end.

The murder of the Soul of Medicine by the secretive replacement of the Hippocratic Tradition by the megabureaucracy and Roman Catholic Medical Ethics by bioethics is administrative malevolence and smiling Nazism with evil motives, slickly denied and get suppressed by public relations and show-biz. Instead, Medicine must embrace the Catholic Guide to Medical Ethics, Catholic Principles in Clinical Practice by Eugene F. Diamond, M.D., The Linacre Institute, Palos Park, Illinois, 2001. To be framed and placed in every medical office along side the Oath of Hippocrates are pages ix and x: The Bioethical Principles of Medical Practice of The Linacre Institute. (See Appendices C and D).

Even extreme efforts to correct this should be considered. The chemistry of repetitive know-it-all well-meaning evil must be identified. It must become known why some humans are actual carcinogens willing to kill other humans for their own lives and the lives of others. If they really believed what claimed, bioethicists and supporting philosophers, mouthing the Georgetown Mantra all the way, would donate their brains and bodies to science now. Hitler and Stalin were missed and Sadaam Hussein is uncooperative, so megabureaucrats and bioethicists themselves should donate their bodies so we can find the basis for man's inhumanity to man. Such tendencies could then be outgened (to coin another Orwellian word) and mankind will have peace at last.

The evil coming from the bioethics movement needs to be understood for what it is and loudly identified to the public. All those supporting bioethics should be removed from the field of medicine. Bioethicists are morticians, not clinicians. Take no chances. MORE THAN

CURSORY CONTACT WITH BIOETHICISTS OR MEGABUREAUCRACY SYCHOPHANTS IS MALPRACTICE AND AGAINST PATIENT CARE.

"CHASTE" --THE MISSING GENDER--the missing sexual orientation...

Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine ad hominem deplorable pamphleteer

"Feelings" now determine "gender"--which means that "you are what you feel you are." Gender is no longer biologically and reproductively defined as the Oxford English Dictionary did for 500 years: male--the producer of sperm...female--the producer of eggs. Instead, almost all gender is now the emotional psychosocial presentation of one's identity as the preferred way of masturbating--any way, any place, any time, with any other or any thing. Your gender is "how you squirt and how you slime." Resulting are now over 100 "genders", no doubt to increase as other genital based novelties become so emotionalized and legalized (see Addendum). However, "gender" must also include those identified as CHASTE : sexual privacy and naivety for developmental integrity of children/adolescents with traditionally married men and women committed to virginity before marriage and faithfulness thereafter. Chaste too is an absolute gender as currently understood, promoted, and needs legal protection from suppression, harassment and violence which occurs whenever other genders impose themselves. Instead of "chaste gender," one could use "natural gender."

Against chaste, and nature, genders are now taught detrimentally influencing suggestible youths immature and insecure in their biological development and psychosocial identity (chaste-phobia). Thus, educationally and informationally, gender options whenever offered must include chaste--which still is the most common gender for most lives, is the gender all are born with, and it offers the best childhood leading to a "best" adulthood and overall better life. Chaste offers the healthiest childhood and thus the healthiest adulthood. This should be common knowledge for everyone. (Actually, the sexualization of childhood is not merely the destruction of the definition of childhood but is the creation of post-traumatic stress disorders in the children so abused--violating the rights of the chaste is discrimination.)

The most common "gender", as defined in Nature, cannot be overlooked or ignored: the chaste --those psychosocially committed to reproductive consistent sexual intercourse consistent with "Nature's sexuality--which is between adult mature opposite-sexed members of the same species at a time consistent with reproduction." In Nature, pheromones control sexuality as traditionally understood--granted that there are infrequent biochemical disorders and erratic exceptions consistent with the nuances of nature's innumerable creatures. Regardless, the norms of Nature for sub-human animals are overwhelmingly limited to biochemically controlled sexual intercourse between adult and mature opposite-sexed members of the same species at a time consistent with reproduction (Got a cat?). It is obvious that animal species would not well survive without the species protecting limits of pheromone controlled sexuality. As Shakespeare noted: "Unnatural deeds do breed unnatural troubles", something obvious in every example of human pollution, which now includes "gender". In addition, it would be animal cruelty if current human gender metastases were also forced onto the animal kingdom by the current U.S. "established religion", better known as the U.S. Supreme Court, as it continues to destroy the other learned professions: Medicine and Divinity.

On the other hand, the lack of biochemical pheromones for humans allows humans to have love which does what biochemical pheromones do--limits sexuality to the unity and procreation of marriage, now finally recognized to be the "psychosocial pheromone" for humans. If biochemical pheromones controlled human sex, there would be no love. Indeed, every human culture with love has adopted marriage-like limitations on sexuality--except now wherein gender is determined by masturbation preferences rather than genuine nature-based identity with one's innate biology. Thus, today's gender/genital manias presented as legal categories must include all people and not just the emotional masturbators redefining themselves by political expertise and so-called "free press" advertising by gay cult controlled editors who are First Amendment frauds by printing only what they want you to think and do. Indeed, all categorizing or mentioning of gender must include the chaste--which encompasses most people for most of their lives, certainly during childhood, adolescence and traditional marriage. Chaste should always be listed first because it is most common, most developmentally sound and natural, and deserves equal rights and respect as all other genders (even in bathrooms). It just may be that to promote one "gender" is to discriminate against another "gender"--a contradictory outcome typical of all laws offered to regulate medical care, which is so changeable and complex that even medical textbooks are filled with exceptions and alternatives (It is irrational and impossible to regulate each brain's trillion synapses, three billion neurons, thousands of interconnecting neuroregulatory systems, hundreds of neurochemicals, and millions of variable stimuli. Medical care is artful educated guessing and the law could better regulate the weather).

The chaste protect childhoods from adult sex and adult violence, avoiding the "yuk and work" of adulthood until sexual hormones are maturely present (Genuine pro-social developmentally intact "childhood" is love filled without adulteration). The chaste commit themselves by love to marriage, to unified personhood and to family integrity consistent with unition and procreation. The chaste have real (loving developmentally sound) childhoods undestroyed by press and media suggestibility and advertising for adult sex and adult violence. The chaste develop adulthood with occasional hormonal "wet dreams" (day and night) for nature based physiologic relief (a neologism of "sexcretion" is proposed) but with preservation of innocence and virginity (and not manic/obsession with genitals). The chaste understand the loss of dignity when exploited by those promoting sex so money can be made by doing abortions (Planned Parenthood school chaste-abusing sex ed programs). The chaste understand the loss of unity when fragmented by lesser human functioning ("jaculasis--squirting and sliming obsessions" from the gay cult). The chaste understand the loss of integrity when immorally treated ("Eight is too late" and anti-chaste "The Homosexual Manifesto" read to Congress in 1987 by the gay cult). The chaste understand the loss of identity when deviant unnatural sexuality is promoted (the need of street drugs by age 12 to "escape" from adulterated un*chaste* childhoods). The chaste understand the loss of spirituality when only the material life is embraced (as in pornography--Sigmund Freud pronounced and taught that "perversion" was anything other than traditional intercourse! Today's "genders" do comprise what Freud called the "polymorphous perverse."). The chaste understand the Catholic Mantra of "Life, Sacrifice, Virtue, Love, Humanity, Peace, Freedom, and Natural Death without Fear", knowing that unnatural sexuality can make you crazy--better to understand "why you are you" by repeating the Mantra over and over--which is the chaste gender.

The chaste embrace transcendence: Being--confluence with existence. Matter--confluence with corporeal body. Identity--confluence with humanbeingness. Truth--confluence with reality. Oneness--confluence with reality-self and integrating/unifying with desirability. Good--confluence with the Laws of Nature and Nature's God as in the Declaration of Independence. Beauty--confluence with ascendancy. (See my article "Male/Female Differences in Natural Law, 1993--available from me at (b) (6)

CHASTE is the missing gender as "gender" is currently presented. All intellectually and emotionally honest people will promote and protect chaste because it is the healthiest gender for all. Chaste is not pollution. To describe genders without chaste is pollution and unnatural.

Addendum: Soon to become a "gender" is "minor attraction"--what used to be known as "pedophilia" (consistent with today's Planned Parenthood teaching masturbation to first grade children--which is obviously to be able to do abortions when these kids get pregnant.). Websites delicately induce and rationalize "sex with children" as a right for those needing such allegedly for their mental health and psychosocial identity, i.e., their gender. "Minor Attracted Persons (MAPs)" have already been genderized by university informally-affiliated groups such as B4UACT. Universities and physicians have not yet been compelled to do so by the contemptible U. S. Supreme Court pontificating another irrational contemptible law outside law's area of professional expertise, i.e., denying the medical professions' definition of disease as "chronic abnormal functioning of body organ or part" which can be applied to most genders today. Finally, the gay cult and ILLs (Incorrigible Liberal Loons) of our courts, press, and media are very effective Adolf Eichmanns (ala' Nazi days) eager to convince the people that "evil is good" when politicized and legalized as "obedience to the law". "Minor attracted gender" clearly falls into that category as can most other non-chaste "genders" imposed as the greatest pseudo-social delusion of all time. Meanwhile, chaste are the most ignored, suppressed, harassed, and discriminated against.

The Liberal Culture of Jaculasis (eros - Masturbation-WEINSTEIN-HEFNER)--dirty minded schoolboys, dirty old men, haremfeminists, journalists, and pagans take over--MILLENIANS: suggestibility escapists from reality into non-being fantasy-spoiled brats.

Abstract: In nature, sexuality is a reproductive consistent act between adult opposite sex members of the same species. Sex organs are genitalia and not hands, extremities, tongues, mouths, anuses, or any other part of the body. In nature, while biochemical abnormalities can occur, sex is biochemically ruled by pheromones, especially in higher creatures, but nature really controls all sex--except in humans now, which makes human sex to be mostly "pollution". In subhuman nature, there is no "love" but biochemical confluence resulting in copulation of high reproduction probability. Contemporary sexuality of non-reproduction consistent activities are unnatural deeds for the planet, and the animal kingdom. Current "sexuality" for humans is pollution in nature being out of synchrony with the planet, the animal kingdom, and full human nature.

(Somewhere in Nazi literature is that statement that following brutal orders increased and religious traditions faded as deviant sexuality was promoted. Shakespeare says the same: "Unnatural deeds do breed unnatural troubles. Infected minds to their deaf pillows will discharge their secrets. More need they the divine than the physician"—Macbeth)

Masturbation is a basic theme of American culture today as created and promoted by the polluting press and media imposing abortion with loss of respect for children and childhood--Against nature, sex became removed from reproduction. Overtly and covertly, self-stimulation is usually the beginning and end of whatever liberals want and promote, especially in the media and advertising. It is a gross social psychosis at worst, and a social obsession at least. It is the manifestation of "body dysmorphic disorder" wherein any body part can become the focus of obsessional stimulation to obtain pleasure and relief associated with a preoccupation that something needs to be done to improve whatever body part is being obsessed about. Thus almost everything is "ejaculation" prone, from music to fighting—identified as "jaculasis" i.e., "a pansexual psychosis of unnatural repetitive ejaculation sought obsessively. Non-marital ejaculation is 'sexcretion' with sex as excretory 'relief' rather than 'reproduction consistent'"(1).

SELF

Basically, jaculasis and its excretions are the results of Masters and Johnson's (2) teaching vaginal and clitoral stimulation to women. With abortion dismissal of reproduction, sex has become squirting and sliming any way, any where, and with any one or any thing, i.e., jaculasis. This has resulted in the epidemic of body dysmorphic obsessions out of synchrony with genuine femininity and femaleness on the planet, i.e., no other animal has its female members copying the ejaculatory sexual act of males. The feminist movement (more accurately called "the women's selfishness movement") embraced Masters and Johnson's female imitation of the male ejaculation response. Anatomically related and neurodevelopmentally analogous to male ejaculation, the masturbatory response for women offered a comparable habit forming phenomenon. In fact, this is androgyny of women, not freedom. Regardless, the traditional role and pleasure of genuine femaleness on the planet, was subverted and replaced by male sexuality and its seeking. And it spread, because all humans are susceptible to habit patterns, obsessive compulsions, and body dysmorphia about almost anything capable of being stimulated, because of the lack of biochemical control by phermomes.

In nature, with biochemical disorders excepted, sex is nothing like what humans do today. If animals were forced to do sexually what humans do, it would be illegal animal cruelty. Like with oil, chemical, waste management, and so many other activities, humans are out of synchrony with the planet. Indeed, today, most human "sex" is pollution pure and simple. Manipulated by the Adolf Eichmanns of the press and media dictating to people that "evil is good," as was done in Nazi Germany, people are easily convinced and made to obey authority when traditional (nature based) sexuality and related mores are rejected.

GENDER

The jaculasis epidemic deformed males too, as "sex" became "any way anywhere with anyone or anything." Male-female unitive-reproductive nature-based sexuality no longer exists for growing numbers. This really means that "sex" no longer exists for those with jaculasis. Instead, sex is replaced by "gender" – an intellectual, anatomical, philosophical fantasy that there is a "gender" identity with whatever masturbation style is preferred and thus becomes one's body dysmorphic disorder.

Until the desexualized pseudo-genderization of women, sex in nature for humans was basically as it was for the rest of the planet's animal kingdom: copulation between the mature opposite sexed members of the same species at optimal reproductive-unitive times. Sexuality on the planet was quite well defined. But it has been distorted by the masturbation mob: the liberal press & media, the gay cult and the multiple gendered polymorphous perverse. Thus America's masturbation mentality is now an epidemic of body dysmorphic disorders wherein a body part has become an obsessional preoccupation to satisfy by compulsive masturbation, even with gadgets and animals.

Jaculasis can happen with about any body part if manipulated. It is routine for the anus of homosexual males, just as it often is for the vulva and vagina of lesbians.

"Fisting" is what it is called—no doubt declared normal as "fist-gendered" persons claiming to deserve "marriage" as they perform. It has reached the point that a television celebrity held his right hand up saying "Take a picture of my right hand which my girlfriend loves most about me"--He went on to say that he has pictures of his right hand to give to his girlfriends.

Body dysmorphic disordered people become maniacs about their preferred obsession. Male homosexuals are penis maniacs and vagina-phobics. While lesbians are vagina maniacs, but penis phobics. Indeed, most of the genital maniacs now, are "advertising" apples of liberal editors' eyes, whether in Hollywood or the New York Times. For humans, any body part is fair game for the culture of masturbation. Everyone now claims that their particular form of masturbation is their specific "gender" to be respected, as another word is murdered by sick people fighting any awareness of their illness.

Regardless, non-planetary, non-reproductive consistent and non-pheromonal sex is an excretory function ("sexcretion"). If habitual, it is a disease or disorder (In medicine, a disease or disorder is the persistent abnormal functioning of a body part). This fits well with the "pollution" label for most contemporary sexual activity.

PHEROMONES

The most accurate way to understand sexuality for the animal kingdom, the planet and nature is to observe your cat. When the cat's pheromones take over, there will be reproductive efforts. Indeed that paradigm is the pattern for all the animal kingdom (of which humans are a part), recognizing that exceptions exists as biochemical abnormalites. The case can be clearly made that any animal which deviates from the pattern of the animal kingdom, is essentially out of synchrony with the planet, with the animal kingdom, with the universe; and, again, such "sex" can justifiably be called "pollution".

Pheromones control sexual behavior of higher developed subhuman animals preventing masturbation, pseudo-gender creation and all other sexual habituations. Emphatically, pheromones determine that copulation will be for reproductive-unition between opposite sexed adult mature members of the same species. In nature, there is no copulation equivalent activity other than determined by pheromone compatibility. This is evolutionarily salutary and understandable in that if animals did not have pheromones, all they would be doing, day in and day out, is masturbating anywhere and everywhere as humans are tending to do now. There is wisdom to evolution's pheromones for animals.

THE GAY CULT

The gay cult is the prime mover of those with jaculasis and pseudo-gender diseases and disorders.

Specific biological human acts have always been considered "private". Respect for self and society have always mandated the right to have one's biological acts in private and also mandated the obligation to keep one's biological acts private, so as to not to intrude and impose on other people's private biological awareness. Unless one is a liberal editor, most would be offended by public toileting and exhibitionism, especially with six feet long penises and innumerable phallic objects as in gay cult parades. The promoting, praising, seducing by gays is as close to public toileting as pornography—like another pack of wild dogs licking each other's rear ends. In contrast, in the past, humans preferred privacy norms for natural sexuality in marriage.

It seems that most with jaculasis do what the gay cult does: promote, advertise, and demand their abnormal functioning be called "normal." This includes seducing and habituating children into homosexuality by gay's longstanding term "chickenhawking," by which insecure developing youths are deformed into homosexuals. Knowing there is strength in numbers, gays recruit by good times with alcohol and marihuana, creating sexual excitement, eagerly giving sexual relief, and thus seductively habituate their victims into the gay disorder too. They will work on you until they have you. Talk about stalking—gays do it all the time, or are eager to show you their latest gender identity with any body part of your choosing. Gays are maniacs.

Finally, the violence of gays is naturally censored by liberal editors. Check out the Uganda Martyrs and the Florida dentist who gave some of his patients AIDS. And by the worst obscenity ever, gays purposely stalk and provoke others by muscularly carrying on in churches and businesses, just to cause grief, from emotional stress to litigation. And you better believe the evil gays try to do to those of us who see them accurately and write about it. Nowhere has Machiavelli been proven more correct in his statement that the politically active will destroy those who criticize. Thus gays are an anti-Catholic hate group and anti-Christian terrorists as proven by the movie "Philomena" which is a malicious anti-Catholic fraud (3); and the same condemnation applies to those in the press and media who made and promoted this flagrant propaganda movie reminiscent of what was done to Jews in early Nazi Germany. Gays want Christians degraded, silenced and wearing yellow arm bands.

There is a "homophobic" component to gays, which is felt as one sees, day in and day out, the hateful gay cult manipulating the so-called "free" press to shameless, without principle, totalitarian oppressive imposition of their disease which destroys the tradition, culture, and society of the Founders of America.

In contrast, normal, not "gay," homosexuals have struggled with their disease and are resigned to it and want to live normally in society, which they can do by privacy and virtue. Normal homosexuals generally only "come out" when intimidated or shamed into doing so by the gay cult exploiting them. "Normals" want to "fit in" without being identified, just as those with other disorders who have diabetes, epilepsy, et cetera go about their lives, without in-your-face demanding agreement with a lie that they do not have a disease state. The gays' need to demand "normal" is perhaps the clearest proof of the severity of their abnormality, especially when they are hatefully intolerant of others.

The main two pathologies of gays are their denial of their disorder and their denial of traditional marriage as the natural psychosocial pheromone for a normal society with normal families and normal togetherness—impossible to achieve in a masturbatory culture.

LOVE

It is significant that there could not be the phenomenon of "love" if biochemical pheromones controlled human sexuality. But for millennia, even without biochemical pheromones, humans remained true to nature's unitive-reproductive sex by the psycho-social pheromone of "marriage" accompanying transcendental love of self and others. In these senses, it is fortunate that humans are not governed by biochemical pheromones. Without pheromones, spirit, rather than chemistry, can determine human relationships.

Traditional marriage has been the psychosocial pheromone for humans in some way for every social group, culture and tribe that was capable of surviving. Marriage or its equivalent was understood as required for the copulation of humans. The ancient secret is that marriage became the pheromone for mankind, partially free of biochemistry by spirit.

Without animal kingdom nature-consistent “marriage” as pheromone control of copulation, it is obvious that planetary human evolution would not have advanced, because cultures would deteriorate into a selfish, boring, masturbation conflagration accomplishing little but silly panting routines and requiring government laws rather than cultural mores based on love and development as humanbeings. This reminds of what has happened to the United States since pseudo-gender has replaced natural sex over the past fifty years.

CLOSURE

Contemporary sex, due to the unprincipled pathological exploiting press and media and abortion rendering children irrelevant, has become self-stimulation anyway, anywhere, with anybody or anything. Promoted by the gay cult, a jaculasis (masturbation) mentality rules America, ignorantly imposed by the press and media to sensationalize the “look at me” selfish advertising arrogance of celebrities including journalists and editors who actually are self-righteous dogmatists and brutal emperors second to none in human history. All "feelings" have been delusionally ruled to be "reality" by the U.S. Supreme Court in extending the masturbation phenomenon into many unreal and unnatural "genders."

The promulgation of "In God We Trust" began in the 1950s and it has become used more and more used recently, which I attribute to the spreading scientific understanding of the earth as statistically impossible without being created by a Loving God. The Founders lived "In God We Trust" without specific statement but their considering the "common good" to be following "Nature and Nature's God" is close enough. Scientifically, the earth is a Divine miracle enabling life, human spirituality, and Divine Spirituality (the latter being "Religion" as belief in a Loving God in Whom we must trust if you understand the earth, and must respect, if not love, all on it.

THE EARTH AND OUR UNIVERSE: Science has made clear that the universe began as the Big Bang about 13.8 billion years ago in a precise heat/time ratio so exact that any minute deviation would result in a universe lasting not billions but only a few million years. The EARTH needs understanding with its lovelution of synthesis and entropy. In the Universe (Nature and Nature's God), all transcend through stages of entropy/synthesis from elements to microbes to human beings. Sentience is not enough. Animals as food are part of it all. And sentience should not mean animal worship or abortion. Resulting was a planet with all 118 elements of the periodic table, from hydrogen with atomic weight of 1 to ununoctium with atomic weight of 294, instead of a few elements as on all other lifeless astral bodies filled only with ice, gas, and rock. Also, synthesized amino acids always form in equal amounts of mirror-image structures termed "left handed" and "right handed". Amino acids that comprise the proteins found in living things, including plants, animals, bacteria, moles and even viruses, are essentially all left handed. The mathematical probability that chance processes can produce just one tiny protein molecule with only left handed amino acids is virtually zero. Another also: For humans, with 30,000 genes, a 20 year generation and one in a million genes mutating, 6×10^{11} (600 billion) years are needed to develop those 3.3 billion base pairs operating as human genes. Or needed from “mitochondrial Eve” (about 150,000 years ago) are 5.33 positive mutations per year! That is just the genes. Of course, the process needs duplicating for each person’s 10 trillion human cells, which are filled with trillions more subgenetic proteins, all errorlessly stably communicating by pathways of more trillions of fairly complex proteins all needing to be capable of instantaneous perfect compliance. To find another planet duplicating the earth with the periodic table elements allocated in the right life-supporting quantities begs belief. And Darwinian species evolution is pure imagination with scientists censoring scientific critiques of evolution. Thirteen billion years ago, we all were there as punctate dots waiting to expand. Earth is a miracle: Fourteen elements synthesize plants. Eleven major elements and fourteen toxic-unless-trace elements synthesize humans. The planet is 70% water and elements warmed nicely for eons between life-killing freezing and boiling, protected further from anti-life bombardments present everywhere else in the universe. Also provided is a nontoxic delicate iconic atmosphere of 78% nitrogen, 21% oxygen, 1% argon, and 0.04% carbon dioxide with toxic chemicals isolated and secluded so life can be. There is a molten core creating a geomagnetic field protecting all life from lethal rays flooding the universe. The geomagnetic field creates gravity which is necessary for life and human health--Gravity is a pretty awesome fundamental precise life force. If it wasn't for the Earth's comfortable 1 g, which causes objects to fall towards the Earth at a speed of 9.8 m/s^2, we'd all float off into space. And without it, all us terrestrial species would slowly wither and die as our muscles degenerated, our bones became brittle and weak, and our organs ceased to function properly--just another impossible physics miracle on earth. Returning astronauts are so weak without gravity that they can hardly move until recover over three years--the precision of gravity on earth is as improbable as the minute exactness of the Big Bang. Rotating at a nice 24 hour basting, the earth vertically spins around the sun in a perfect circle at a precise life-allowing distance, enabling stable life conditions for billions of years. After being hit by a massive planet creating space for the oceans, about one-tenth of the earth as debris condensed by perfect gravity forces into the moon which causes the 23.5 degree tilt of the earth and also gently stirs the earth's chemicals into creating life. THEN THERE ARE THE PRECISE FORMS OF FIRE: combustion of oxygen, heat, fuel giving water and carbon dioxide, enabling life and love--between exterminating heat with it to freezing cold without it, mostly manageable on earth by humans. The probabilities of random origin of all the just simplistically described scientific basis for life-on-earth are impossible and are spiritualizing just as the simplistic ecstasy of sports gives hints to each person's potential return with elation to the pre-BigBang from which we came. All is held together by the Love of God, from subatomic particles, electrons, protons, et cetera on up into increasingly complex synthesis. If you are conscious of your consciousness in the context of understanding the earth, you are "spiritual" and filled with Joy. However, you are missing spirit if you do not understand the earth, because there are "burning bushes" everywhere with God speaking to you. If not astonished at the earth, you are spiritless and subhuman. If not astonished at everything, you are not religious with a Loving God waiting for you as a human person. Sentience is important, but not enough--Human rationality is more. The earth is a miracle and a mathematical impossibility--live it for the Catholic Human Ultimate Purposes of life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom, and natural death without fear. The statistical probabilities of random origin of the incomplete simplistically described scientific basis for life-on-earth are impossible and are Spiritualizing just as the ecstasy of sports gives hints to each person's potential return with elation to the pre-BigBang from which we came. The more we understand, the more we trust in God, Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Transcendence.

All the statistical impossibilities are overcome and held together by the synthetic-attraction Love of God, from subatomic particles, electrons, protons, et cetera on up into increasingly complex synthesis of human beings. If you are conscious of your consciousness in the context of understanding the earth, you are "Spiritual" and filled with Joy. However, you are missing Spirit if you do not understand the earth, because you are overlooking "burning bushes" everywhere with God speaking to you. If not astonished at the earth, you are spiritless. If not astonished at everything, you are missing religion with a Loving God waiting for you. Once you grasp the incredible improbability of the life and earth, reverence for all must occur with "In God We Trust" for sure. Every breath is a Divine event.

SPIRITUALITY is the sense in humans of more than space/time-continuum material existence beyond awareness by the rest of the animal kingdom, the earth and the universe. Spirituality is enabled by humans having Consciousness-of-Consciousness or "Consciousness squared" to the degree of awareness that "there is more" for humans than material existence on earth. We sense ourselves beyond matter and "know that we know" which hints to more beyond space/time and above nature, i.e., "supra-nature" (spiritual) or "supernatural" (Divine--Religion of a Loving God). To have the sense of "consciousness-of-consciousness" is to have a soul and think of "why you are you" and "what is your being?" "Spirituality" is a touch of exhilarating self-awareness-of-awareness that gives a glimpse of one's Eternal origin and destiny. On earth, we just get it in momentary doses, usually unrecognized.

Spirituality is beyond matter and is most commonly felt in sports, but it can be discerned from all matter in terms of synthesis/entropy or "win/lose" experiences unable to be reflected upon by subhuman animals even though reflex-experienced by subhuman animals. The spirituality felt and observed in sports, and with successes and failures elsewhere, are not duplicated any where but by human beings interrelating at a conscious-of-consciousness level beyond matter. We have it automatically even if we do not realize what it is when experienced in our space/time continuum. The mental activity which creates sports and human celebrations/accomplishments are not duplicated in other animals any more than subhuman animals have self-awareness with birthdays or other human self-consciousness events which give spiritual celebrations of spiritual events--which include not only sports, but all other mental awareness in and of the human universal purposeful ("There is more!") relations of life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom, and natural death without fear.

Awareness-of-being-aware or conscious-of-consciousness or soul-being or humanbeingness are tautological identities which distinguish human beings by "spirituality" so obvious in sports--and in music, poetry, education, science, family, community, country, earth, universe--and all existence properly understood and well described by the words of Henry Van Dyke to Beethoven's Hymn of Joy: "All thy works with joy surround thee, earth and heaven reflect thy rays, stars and angels sing around thee, center of unbroken praise. Field and forest, vale and mountain, flowery meadow, flashing sea, chanting bird and flowing fountain, call us to rejoice in thee." Consciousness-of-Consciousness for sure and a glimpse of the Love Transcendence between subatomic particles, molecules, microbes, organisms, plants, animals, humans, angels, and the Ultimate Act of Thinking Transcendence--all of which give the joy of self-awareness-of-awareness-being, even when, paradoxically, we are not aware of it.

Many overlook their spirituality or spiritual acts, taking conscious-of-consciousness for granted to the degree of denying their spirituality--a phenomenon often in scientists who are so engaged with their study of matter that they do not realize that what their own studies on matter are spiritual and beyond matter. Many others, especially immature, independent, inconsiderate, and incompetent youths openly reject spirituality because they believe it interferes with their juvenile ersatz-freedom to do what they want including what is actually evil. In addition, the press and media flood the world with distractions of prurient unnatural sex and sensational violence which make one crazy and kidnapped by the flamboyant anti-spiritual secular culture of masturbation and fantasy which are the main obsessions of non-spiritual materialism promoted by the dirty old men, harem-women editors, and others who replace love with power. To deny spirituality is to replace existence ("being") with evil (non-being). Most who do not want spirituality do so because it identifies "evil as the promotion of non-being" (which is the converting of energy into useless entropy--"suffering"); and/or the converting energy into the sense of "immorality" (which is when the "good" in nature is converted into useless entropic pollution--"sin"), all of which occurs when spirituality is willfully rejected. While spirituality suggests the human ultimate purposes (supra--life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom, natural death without fear), it is easy to assert entropy rather than synthesis of humanbeingness (Compare "losing" with "winning"), and it is part of the freedom on earth--i.e., "wrong" (entropic) choices can be made biochemically and mentally. Personal selfishness eagerly rejects that which stops and corrects spiritual entropy (the false "freedom" to do whatever you want--instead of the right to do what is transcendent) in the universe.

Real Spirituality is synthesis as one consciously or unconsciously embraces the Transcendent elements in the universe (being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good, beauty). Transcendental acts are TRUE--confluent with reality without untruths. Transcendental acts are ONE--confluent unifying with self, family, team, opponents, community, earth, universe. Transcendental acts are GOOD--confluent with Nature and Nature's God. Transcendental acts are BEAUTIFUL--confluent with uplifting ascendancy. Sport and all Spirituality teach the Transcendentals (Baseball should be taught to all children in every country--In time, there would be peace on earth). Spirituality is the transcendent JOY found everywhere in the Universe properly observed and lived--It is felt most intensely in sports, human celebrations, and especially participating in the Catholic Mass celebrating the Jesus Story, the latter being a "2X4 up side the head" to "Do Transcendence and avoid evil" and to respect life, liberty, and pursuit of transcendence (the three Learned Professions respectively: medicine, law, and divinity).

Thus, to limit oneself to "I am spiritual but not religious" is to deprive oneself of one's Full Spirituality. To embrace the universe, the earth, and humanbeingness is to find Spirit, a Loving God, and Eternity, from which we get transcendent glimpses by sports, music, science, the Sacraments, the Last Words of Christ, and the Mass. Religion spiritualizes you more. St. Hildegard (on the Holy Spirit and the Big Bang, the pre-Big Bang, the Statimuum, and Eternal Life): I am that supreme and fiery force that sends forth all the sparks of life. Death has no part of me, yet do I allot it, wherefore I am girt about with wisdom as with wings. I am that living and fiery essence of the divine substance that flows in the beauty of the fields. I shine in the water, I burn in the sun and the moon and the stars. Mine is that mysterious force of the invisible wind; I sustain the breath of all living. I breathe in the verdure, and in the flowers, and when the waters flow like living things, it is I. I found those columns that support the whole earth...I am the force that lies hid in the winds, from me they take their source, and as a man may move because he breathes, so doth a fire burn but by my blast. All these live because I am in them and am of their life. I am wisdom. Mine is the blast of the thundered word by which all things were made. I permeate all things that they may not die even if they seem to die. I am life...Eternal Life. (The earth revealing glimpses of the Statimuum: the Immediacy of All Transcendence Ever-- The Unrestrained Act of Thinking Transcendence--God! or "U AT" only obtained by Religion of a Loving God--and only on earth in our universe). St. Hildegard was just saying, "In God We Trust."

RELIGION is belief in and embracing the sense of a Loving God as an Unrestricted Act of Thinking Transcendence in a nonspace/nontime Statimuum, i.e., Eternity with full embracing of Transcendence (the transcendentals (basic physics of Stephen Hawking/Sacraments) present in all matter.: Being (dimension/Holy Orders and force/Grace), Matter (event/Baptism), Identity (spectrum/Reconciliation), Truth (field/Baptism), Oneness (quantum/Confirmation), Good (uncertainty/Matrimony), and Beauty (singularity/Extreme Unction), all of which are compatible with Eternity. Every human Spirit has Catholic Human Ultimate Purposes (CHUPs): life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom, and natural death without fear, which glimpse the Statimuum--known as Eternity--All Transcendence of All Immediately by return to I AM WHO AM--An UnRestricted Act of Being Thinking Transcendence Love (UR-A-BTL) from Whom we came. Spirituality shows there is more to life than physics, and Religion of a Loving God shows there is more to BEING than life. These are Amazing Messages that can only be known and lived except by the startling impact of a Spiritual man rising from the dead preaching "love" on a unique planet enabling human life. One cannot imagine anything else that God could have done to tell us what life and being are all about. To deny Jesus is impossible as is denying Spirit in our daily lives. You are there when spirit happens. Seek it. Enjoy it. Love. God created this at the Big Bang from the Pre-BigBang to which we shall return unless we choose evil. The Bible and Gospels provide messages which are thousands of years old given by God to humans using words, metaphors, and parables which lead to Spirit better than any substitutes or alternatives. To celebrate the Mass by oneness with the priest, ministers, servers, and choir is to levitate in Spirit un-duplicated any where else--It is a "sway/pray concert" of ancient words and secrets giving reverent solemn levitation and ensoulment with billions of people over thousands of years--better than a rock concert, as you enjoy being who you are with Love and "In God We Trust."

I hope my contemporary metaphorical words help the synthesis of Spirituality with the Religion of a Loving God in whom we trust most cogently by embracing His Church. If you do not understand Life, you cannot understand death.

SO YOU DO NOT BELIEVE IN GOD?

THEN, STUDY THE EARTH WHICH IS AN INCREDIBLE MIRACLE WHEN COMPARED TO THE REST OF THE UNIVERSE....by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist, copyright 2019, (open access)...Each of the twenty listed scientific facts (There are more...) are incredibly improbable but absolutely necessary for life and love on earth. That all occurred is a massive improbability documenting the Creating God of Love. Being on earth, means you are a thinking being miracle living a miracle so you can live Love for all and return to God at the recompression known as "death." The earth itself is a "Holy Communion" into Eternity. It is unscientific to say "Life is meaningless."

Scientific Proof of God--SUMMARY (from Cosmic Dei--In God We Trust by Samuel A. Nigro, MD copyright c 2019 open access): Scientific probability for human life on earth....The probability for each fact, compared to its occurrence elsewhere in the universe, is reasonably "one in a billion"--1/1,000,000,000 =1 to 10 to the 9 (ninth) power (There are more, but these 20 at the same time on one planet are sufficiently overwelming. This is to win the lottery 20 times in a row.).

1. Big Bang 13.8 billion years ago--a punctate energy dot containing all space-time continuum--from "somewhere," and "you" were there somehow in the Eternal Statimuum of URAT (UnRestricted Act of Transcendence known as God).

2. The earth at precise exact functionally elliptical-circular stable orbit about the sun for billions of years-necessary for life.
3. The earth spinning at a precise 24 hour daily stable life-enabling basting from the sun for billions of years. (Spin faster, freeze; slower, burn up.)
4. The earth being at a precise stable distance from the sun so that life temperature is routinely between life-incompatible freezing and life-destructive boiling for billions of years as it is not in the rest of the universe. (The earth averages 93 million miles with 7% four-season-causing variation around the sun.)
5. Today's earth began 4.5 billion years ago being struck by a massive planet creating huge earth gaps for oceans with one-tenth of the earth from the collision becoming debris condensing into the life promoting moon. Other huge isolated cavities also resulted to be filled with oils, uranium, and other toxic chemicals prevented from contaminating and destroying the life-giving salt water oceans and the rest of the earth. (Fantastic.)
6. Liquid hydrogen-oxygen combined fill the huge gaps with oceans resulting in the earth being 70% life-necessary sodium sea water.
7. The right density of the molten core of the earth results in electromagnetic field protecting earth life from lethal rays flooding the universe.
8. The earth core exerts a precise gravity enabling stable movement and interaction of all creatures. (It takes months for astronauts to recover muscle strength after returning to earth.)
9. The moon causes the 23.5 degree life-promoting tilt of the earth necessary for stable liquid water temperature and flow changes stirring-mixing life as occurred for billions of years.
10. The atmosphere becomes a delicate and iconic 78% nitrogen, 21 % oxygen, 1% argon, and 0.04% carbon dioxide--necessary for life so evident as we cope today with pollution induced atmosphere-climate changes.
11. The astonishing life-required forms of "fire" on earth enable molecular entropy into pollution/sin and/or synthesis to molecular attraction/spiritual love everywhere on earth.
12. All amino acids in nature are formed equally right-handed and left-handed, rendering "impossible" that all living creatures including humans are all composed of only left-handed amino acids.
13. The presence of all 118 elements of the periodic table on one planet (the earth) is another "one in a billion" probability because all other planets have only one or two elements.
14. The organization of 14 elements molecular attraction (nature's "love") into plants is another "impossibility" necessary for life.
15. The organization of 11 elements and 14 toxic-unless-"trace" elements molecular attraction (nature's "love") into humans and animals is another "impossibility" for life.
16. The accumulation of 3.3 billion amino acid base pairs for the human genome since first monomolecular life began 3.5 billion years ago cannot be proven by evolutionary scientific calculations. Darwinian evolution is scientifically unsound.
17. The creation of humans, with their Spiritual and Religious supra-natural Consciousness-of-Consciousness seeking the common good from Nature, Natural Law, and Nature's Loving God, is inspired by 1-in-a-billion ancient parabolic messages and instructions from God to Jews and Christians--enabling life being aware of itself and able to go beyond confinement to materialism.

18. The arrival of Jesus with enlightening Transcendental messages on life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom and natural death without fear, is a one-in-a-billion historical fact, helping life as spiritual love returning to its origin.

19. The 1-in-a-billion creation of the Roman Catholic Church brings the Love of God (URAT--UnRestrictedActofTranscendence) and awareness of the scientific multiverses of the Universe, Heaven, Purgatory, and Hell (The Church identified "multiverses" thousands of years before science postulated them).

20. The creation of all the Transcendence of being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good and beauty in today's world consistent with Sacramental Life and the Last Words of Jesus on the Cross are 1-in-a-billion Spiritualization and Deification of the earth undeniable by humans.

Closure: The probability of our lives from the Big Bang is the remote 20 listed probabilities each at "1 over 10 to the ninth power" (multiplied sequentially by itself nine more times to total '9 squared'--for each of the 20)." To combine "probabilities," the denominators are not added, but multiplied--The multiplications of probability denominators to the ninth power will actually be 1 followed by 9 zeros. To continue to multiply itself fully by 9 twenty more times is to get improbabilities in the millions of digits that all 20 probabilities for the earth could randomly occur at the same time at the same place in the universe, and billions of years of time would still not be enough.). Anyway: Thank God. Savor the earth. Savor life. And savor the messages from Jesus who told us all this in parables and metaphors given to the ancients who did not have the science to really understand, but somehow knew there was Spirit in their thinking beyond just the material. The probabilities mean Earth, Life and Humanity are unique in the Universe and must be gifts from God who reached out to us by Jesus so that Love (which is God) would return us to Him. This is a scientific understanding from the statistical "impossible" probabilities required for our existence. And if you do not know and live this, you are an ungrateful, unhumble pollutant who needs to study the earth more and throw off the childhood learned evils and embrace the Divine Creation in which you are gratefully born. The improbability of one life offering planet in the universe means we should take care of it by caring for each other as the Creator has enabled love, obvious once seen. The earth is a one-time statistical miracle and we should respectfully care for it and all on it by Love--not easy to do because we have the freedom to choose, without which, the Love would mean nothing. The best way to live is with God as we have been informed thousands of years ago.

GENESIS POSTSCRIPT: To parabolically expand the "six days of creation" in Genesis to include my 20 scientific improbabilities gives understanding to the bewildering presence of superficially "different" humans arising everywhere from Africa to Hawaii to Australia to Mongolia to Asia to Europe to Americas (As all animals, all original humans exploded in Biblical creation explaining the subtle human differences inconsistent with only one pair of Adam & Eves--It is impossible that all variations and locations of humans could have come from only one geographical point.). With Consciousness-of Consciousness potential in every human (and not subhumans), the Adam and Eve parable indicates the capacity for freedom from subhuman neurochemical reflex automaticity, and humans were given consciousness-above-nature Love-potential to return to Eternity with God---You cannot "earn" it, but you can screw it up. Humans are free to choose right or wrong--synthesis or entropy--Transcendence or evil--Love, or not. The early humans were enabled to be intrinsic to my 20 miracles of earth as the Body and Blood of Christ (Hair length, shoe size, skin color, eye color, and other dimensions are irrelevant when compared to the Spirituality now mentally available only to humans--The "Heartbeat of God" is the "Body and Blood of Christ", not the color or any other dimension of humans or Christ.). As human, supranatural Spiritual development happened, and Jews (including projected Christians) obviously were first capable of understanding more messages from God which were well received and promulgated by Jews and the Roman Catholic Church for over 2000 years. You on earth are living a miracle earth with Eternal Statimuum potential. Savor the miracle day-in and day-out. Do Transcendence and avoid evil.

THE UNJUST DEMISE OF THE LEARNED PROFESSIONS

SAMUEL A. NIGRO, M.D.

Traditionally, the "learned professions" were divinity, law and medicine, because each was a carefully defined area of expertise which impacted the community towards the common good as a whole. Each profession developed its core knowledge, offered its unique service, specifically taught its subject matter, and jealously protected its boundaries in almost complete autonomy with each discipline mutually respectful with each other and reciprocally deferred to by each other. Divinity, law and medicine were almost completely independent ... self creating, self developing and self perpetuating ... and civilizing.

However, in the mid-1970s in the United States, the increasing commercial elements in medicine and law[1] resulted in a series of legal challenges based on the anti-competitive aspects of the profession's ethical codes. These so-called anti-competitive practices became illegal and the walls protecting each tumbled down, turning law into a Leviathan Vulture, medicine into a record-keeping secretarial service for law and society, and divinity into a passive non-entity because it had no "community impact" not undone by the contemporary press and media. (In addition, divinity was generally not worth parasitizing economically such as medicine was to be exploited by law.)

LAW POTPOURRI

Law began the self-destruction of the learned professions by the Sherman Antitrust Act. All of a sudden, lawyers could now "advertise" (which really is electronic ambulance chasing). As a result, law subverts all around it by promoting a myth of justice which often is nothing more than prevarication, confabulation and extortion. By advertising and all that follows such, law has created an atmosphere of gouging society in whatever way possible. Law schools have become dumping grounds for any bright person who does not know what he wants to do. Naturally, law must expand to incorporate all these new lawyers. Indeed, law has become a self-creation institution on a "system witch hunt" needing to find new ways to extract legal fees for all new lawyers. Lawyers have become contract hit men, and law is now a genuine "self-protection racket" — in Ohio, one will lose one's license to practice anything if you get behind on alimony or child support payments — except the lawyers! (who wrote the rules so that they were excluded from them). Many family therapists have been verbally assaulted by divorce attorneys unhappy at the loss of fees when the expected nasty divorce did not materialize because of the effectiveness of the marital therapy. Lawyers are pretty free to do whatever they want — to try to retaliate against frivolous lawsuits is to go nowhere and to find oneself awash in legal fine print which renders impotent any effort to penalize those who file frivolous lawsuits (of which almost 60% of all medical malpractice suits turn out to be). Lawyers feed each other and they do it eagerly with or without justice. Lawyers are tighter than doctors ever were — when they get together over a drink and reflect on their profession, all they must do is laugh. The ramifications of law today are so bad that soon, just as one has a family doctor, one will need a family lawyer. In fact, just as one has a guardian angel, one will need a guardian lawyer to be by one's side in all that one does beginning with pouring one's coffee. This is a far cry from Alexis de Tocqueville's comment on the little need for law for Americans in his day:

> While the law permits the Americans to do what they please, religion prevents them from conceiving, and forbids them to commit what is rash or unjust.

Obviously, the need for law is inversely proportional to the moral standards of the people. So when the people are no good (that is: Divinity has failed), laws will be needed for everything. Furthermore, bad laws will have bad effects because whatever law allows, will be promoted and encouraged, be it abortion, divorce, unnatural sexual activity, or mercy killing.

The judiciary is not much better. While one can believe that almost all lawyers start out with altruistic motives, such is not the case for judges who have been in the system long enough to know how to work it. The judiciary is a joke if not contemptible. Supreme Court Justice Stevens, in Atkins v. Virginia, based his opinion on a "national consensus" as reflected in "polling data!" Justifiable is the contempt due this type of judge and judiciary. Almost all are political hacks, products of nepotism, or public relations flim-flam artists doing the bidding of the local press and media. A decent judge is a rarity because as a group they seem to be sophists playing word games rather than seekers of transcendental justice.

Overall, law is not only dead as a profession, but has been converted into a Leviathan Vulture pillaging society.

MEDICINE POTPOURRI

Medicine has been deprofessionalized by the abortion decisions with the Hippocratic Tradition gone.[2] The Hippocratic Tradition with its clear cut confidentiality theme has been replaced by HIPAA (a 3000 page Health

DR. NIGRO is a practicing psychiatrist and resident of Cleveland, OH.

NIH 001744

Information Portability and Accountability Act) — a lawyer based boondoggle (HIPAAcratic medicine'). While law has expanded and become the Frankenstein Scourge of Society, medicine has hatefully shrunk to less than a trade; i.e., physicians could not even strike if they wanted. In fact, physicians are neither "doctors" nor " physicians" any longer, becoming "health care providers" (an insulting demotion to non-entity). As a learned profession, medicine cannot deal any longer with physician scoundrels in its midst because the latter will leap to lawyers who will rescue them, enabling them to continue to practice.

As physicians have been replaced by health care providers, medicine has been replaced by the "middleman" mega-bureaucracy of insurance companies and Medicare-Medicaid sinkholes. "Middlemen" for health care are public health hazards. Slickly, almost all medical leadership has been co-opted, if not corrupted. The medical profession has been ruined by "inept" physicians unable to be successful practitioners, assuming administrative roles creating regulations and guidelines for the very medical care which they could not do well themselves. That these failed "Docs" are involved in writing rules for real Docs is an outrage. Health care as a personal, professional engagement is no longer, having been replaced by third party pseudo-care hokum. Meanwhile Medicare and Medicaid promote themselves as ignorant self-employment cartels whose personnel save their jobs by destroying physicians.

As cursed by the betrayal of Hippocrates, the opening of medical records has been a total disaster leading to unjustified litigations, impossible demands for perfection, lawyering from witch hunts to search and destroy missions, and total loss of control of the profession. Indeed, physicians now are nothing more than recordkeepers for lawyers and secretaries for the mega-bureaucracy of middlemen between patients and physicians. Most physicians practice medicine in a succession of intensely focused episodes the paradigm of which is the following: relate for the patient's best interest; focus on the problem; arrive at a reasonable judgment and conclusion; and implement treatment; then get it out of your mind so you can focus on the next problem or case. When one does that scores of times a day and hundreds of times a week and hurriedly scribbles notes so that one has some "key word" to evoke a memory for the next visit to maintain a continuity of care, the idea that in the sterility of a deposition, one can be reoriented enough to be able to fill in the blanks to attorney satisfaction begs belief. That one has to write a total narrative for possible review of these records is ridiculous. The idea of perusing physician's notes is nothing but an exercise contributing to the description of the law as a vulture. Besides the operational futility of this, busy practitioners should be able to write without intent or need to consider them to be part of legal proceedings. Quite frankly, one cannot practice medicine very well if notes are required to be kept for the purpose of this increasing scrutiny. Very similar to what physicians do, lawyers and judges have their own personal notes and writings in order to help them deal with their cases. In legal parlance, their notes are called "work product." These work products are supposedly excluded from purview of the legal proceedings. For medicine to be the only profession in which work product is not excluded is a de facto deprofessionalization of medicine and a violation of equal standing before the law. Unless lawyers and judges do likewise, physicians must stop. In a real sense, physicians no longer care for patients, but care for paper.

Making the medical codes and procedures available to those not part of the medical profession is a complete sell out to the mega-bureaucracy. While the American Medical Association (an Agean stable really) makes millions of dollars as publisher of these codes, procedures, and general treatment guidelines, physicians have been impoverished by becoming the robotile manipulators of all these numbers when utilized by non-physicians. With only 21 percent of practicing physicians as members of the American Medical Association, it is inconceivable that the remaining 79 percent of practicing physicians could not refuse to accept anything from the AMA. Indeed, practice by "codes/procedures" becomes ridiculous if one is only allowed, as is the case, to get paid for one sole procedure at each visit. For example, treating the eye infection for which the patient primarily came can be billed while quickly attending to incidental requests of the patient as a bruised toe nail or reassuring after a quick exam that the inguinal hernia does not need an operation, cannot be billed. (Try doing something like that when the plumber visits the house.... "Oh, would you mind checking the sink while you are here too?" — and not having to pay for it.)

The factors resulting in the destruction of medicine as a profession include: Over 1/4th of health care dollars are conceded to the mega-bureaucracy as insurance company profits or administrative costs (approximately 400 billion dollars). Responding to requests for medical records or information, it seems everybody wants a piece of paper signed by the doctor telling them something, from laboratory tests to lawyers unable to afford a television ad. To that, malpractice insurance payments and so-called provider discounts make incontrovertible the fact that physicians work for everyone but themselves. Physicians pay the wages, of not only excessive office staff necessary to shuffle papers to get paid but, of the middlemen of insurance companies and government agencies. More and more, medical decisions are at the disposal of untrained and uncaring government or insurance bureaukooks. Because of HIPAA, hospitals can no longer release information to clergy wanting to visit the sick and doctors cannot either without special efforts. Pretending "they can do better" some physicians testify against other doctors in a field where perfection is not possible — In the old days, all of us knew how difficult the practice of medicine was and no one would set themselves up to bear witness against what another conscientious physician had done. Also, people have forgotten that health care itself is a property which every free man (male or female) must own for themselves in order to be free.[5] To maintain control, the government and insurance industry calculatingly make the buying of basic insurance difficult, complicated and expensive.[6] Simplicity is needed and the only universal medical system tenable must enable each individual to be in charge of his own health care dollars and to make his own health care decisions (Medical Savings Accounts or equivalents are the answer — the middleman mega-bureaucracy must go). Real doctors do not serve sick patients well when physicians are beholden to the government or other third parties which survive and profit by manipulating the doctor with the denying of payment for services rendered to unfree patients.

Overall, medicine is not only dead as a profession but is merely a gaggle of the disorganized trying to save what they can (a fool-hearty effort, because "saving what you can" never works).

DIVINITY POTPOURRI

The learned profession of divinity has fallen on hard times and not only due to the practical stress of the current so-called sex pedophile crisis of the Catholic Church.

Fifty years of sociological stress has overwhelmed divinity because it has been subverted by the press and media. The ghastly spiritual impoverishment due to contemporary press and media is undeniable. The Church has failed to recognize this problem or address it courageously.

The press and media basically present a lonely, hollow, loud, glitzy, guiltless anxiety which is non-being. It distracts from all but superficialities. There is no God; no sin; no transcendentals; no soul; no suffering; and no history. Instead of truth, oneness, good and beauty, the world is engulfed by lies, diversity, bad and ugly. The press and media are the non-being machines engulfing the world with anti-transcendental glitz blinding the people with Christ neutralized. And the closest one gets to suffering is the false sentimentality of liberals who are paralyzed by their alienation from nature and their insufferable belief that they can get rid of suffering by their liberal "feel good" usually counter productive solutions.

The hard times divinity has fallen on has to do with the philosophical basis and understanding of the world. Until religion re-identifies the universe as created by a personal God such that it is known to be a personal universe, the public will be enchanted and enthralled by all lesser ideas foisted on them by the press and media. Divinity has overlooked the scientific findings of the last fifty years which are overwhelmingly specific, contingent, and personal. All the atoms and molecules necessary for the universe would not exist had the universe been created in any other way. At the moment of creation, 40 million photons were needed for every electron, proton and neutron. The ratio of anti-protons to protons had to be 10 billion plus 1 to 10 billion. (Read my article "Why Evolutionary Theories are Unbelievable"[7] — SJR.) The more one studies the universe, the more one finds it to be an extremely personalized event. To consider a chance no-created-beginning is not only fanciful but sheer anti-science. The improbabilities are overwhelming. Divinity must recapture the personalized state of the universe and shout it from the roof tops.

Divinity as a learned profession has forgotten about sin. And sin only makes sense in a personalized universe with persons potentially able to return to the Creator Himself. By freedom, sinful choices can be made which offend the Creator. Think not that the Creator misses anything from one tear to one ovum, from one proton to one planet. This awesome universe is understandable by contemporary physics in the most cogent way which cries out to believe in God, to choose rightly, and to get your freely made sins forgiven. In this regard, one must find God's reaching out to mankind through Jesus Himself and the messages that He left through His Church.

Until the learned profession of divinity reclaims a personal creation, a personal God, personhood as transcendental life incarnated by Jesus and the Church, it will lose the only meaningful message for all mankind and by default allow the satanic press and media to foist its continuous unreliable, fraudulent, over determined nonsense on the universe.

Overall, divinity has not died as a profession (as law and medicine have killed themselves) but has failed to see reality and failed to promote it vis-à-vis the press and media.

NOTES, Nigro

1. According to the Oxford English Dictionary, a "profession" is:

   > "a declaration of promise, to be skilled in a particular vocation of professed knowledge of learning or science — applied specifically to the three learned professions of divinity, law, and medicine, and also to the military profession."

   The U.S. Department of Labor Code of Federal Regulations, 29 C.F.R. 541.301 Learned Professions, defines learned professions as:

   > Those requiring knowledge of an advanced type in the field of science or learning customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction and study as distinguished from a general academic education and from an apprenticeship and from training in the performance of routine, mental, manual of physical processes.

2. Naturally, such would begin with the law. The U.S. Supreme Court in Bates v. Arizona State Bar, 3433 U.S. 350 (1977), ruled a Bar Association's Canons of Ethics to be unconstitutional when attorneys were prohibited from advertising the prices at which routine legal services would be performed. In Goldfarb v. Virginia State Bar, 421 U.S. 773 (1975), the Sherman Act was directly applied to regulations set by professional associations holding that a Bar Association's promulgation and enforcement of a minimum fee schedule was price fixing in violation of the Sherman Act.

Review Article for MAN'S SEARCH FOR MEANING by Viktor E. Frankl Beacon Press, Boston, 1959-2006, 165 pages.
by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist, copyright c 2020, Open Access

This book, Man's Search For Meaning, is a great introduction to pro-social self-understanding and functioning. As a psychiatrist myself, I remembered the adversarial qualities of the psychoanalysts in charge of my residency when Frankl's "logotherapy" was being introduced in the 1960s. I personally, and discretely, welcomed it because I was a follower of Teilhard de Chardin's "noosphere" ideas which were so helpful in maintaining the spirituality of humanity in those days of increasing atheistic evolution. In the book, Frankl mentions "noogenesis" and Teilhardian words without referencing him. That was wise because anti-Catholicism reigned as much then as it does now and an overt "Catholic" component of logotherapy would have hindered its acceptance.

Teilhard's "consciousness-squared" or "C^2"--"awareness of being aware" demonstrated the "super-natural" soul dimensions of humanity in being cognitive at spiritual levels not present in subhuman creatures. Humans can "think about thinking" and reflect on themselves in living and pursuing Spiritual Eternity. The "search for meaning" concisely generalized by Frankl was consistent with Roman Catholicism doing so for thousands of years since Jesus. Reading Frankl, I remembered the good nuns in St. Elizabeth Grade School in Kansas City in the 1940s telling us to "Figure out why you are you?" and "You were created and are here for a purpose!" And the Catholic Human Ultimate Purposes rang loud and true: Life, Sacrifice, Virtue, Love, Humanity, Peace, Freedom, and Death Without Fear. We were told to study, learn, and live for all the world--"meaningful" existence for sure--Again, "Why are you, you?--You have a purpose beyond this earth!" Spirituality and Religion as meaning.

Frankl's first half of his tome are memories of being in Nazi concentration camps and he holds readers in tense attention to the subhuman abuse of power and absence of love. Without saying so, to this reader, the Suffering/Jesus/Joy Sequence subliminally rings meaningfully true over and over in Frankl's description of those undergoing Nazi evils. This evoked memories of my own criminalization-hoax-incarceration--which was five months of dehumanized-living nothing-like Frankl in a Nazi camp surrounded by thousands of other innocent good people being victimized to death. My unjust imprisonment was to be surrounded by thousands of disturbed, uneducated, unemployable, hateful, violent, evil, real-criminal, not-good fellow prisoners now forced to comply with imposed civility--and those in charge of us were often needing their abusive power to maintain calm days instead of chaos always ready to erupt from real criminals, but unlikely to erupt from Nazi victims. Such is an interesting contradiction. But I learned meaning too from the evil ones who were not victims although one reads monthly about another innocent incarcerated man being released after decades of unjust imprisonment in American prisons. The many incarcerated innocent by American law is contemptible even though minute in comparison to the universal innocence of the Nazi imprisoned. But there was much more meaningful to be learned from real criminal fellow prisoners.

As the "old man" of 76 who could neither hurt nor help any of the prisoners, I became the recipient of hundreds of tragic stories of men deprived of true childhood in which one learned nothing but abuse, deprivation, violence, and drug use beginning regularly by age 12 "to escape" their horrible un-family home lives--and thus became uneducated, unemployable, and automatically anti-socially acting out what they learned and lived in their first six years of no childhood. Drug "highs" were the "best" feelings replacing horrible family life. If they had to fight, steal, beg for everything as a child, then they were going to fight the police, the law, other gangs, or whatever whenever steal and beg during the rest of their lives. In addition, they became suggestible to anti-social means of survival by gangsterism and crime lives or homeless poverty. This reminds of those who ran the Nazi camps--and I feel were likely unwittingly acting out their childhoods too or were vulnerable to doing evil when authority declares it to be done. Authority creating evil doers brings to mind the Suggestiblity Diseases of Adolf Eichmann benign SUGGESTIBILITY and immunity to unnatural evils, and of Stanley Milgrim SHOCKMACHINE OBEDIENCE to the immoral (Both diseases metastasize onto suggestible even good people easily which is why the German people obeyed the Nazis in charge just as American people follow journalism's suggesting into our unnatural liberal culture of masturbation).

Regardless, informed of co-prisoners' lack of civil decent childhoods, I have been promoting a Right To Childhood ever since and condemning all ads, movies, and acts which destroy the childhood of children (I take pleasure in witnessing the reduction of such on television over the years, but constant reminding of the press and media to stop killing "childhood", by destroying developing brains by what they shock with, is needed--Indeed, the dirty old men in charge of the press&media must also act out their perverted childhoods). What people learn in the first six years of their lives is continuously acted out throughout adulthood, unless a rare some-thing-else overcame their behavioral plague. The advertising and programming of adult violence and sex burns up the developing brains of children. You will live and treat yourself as you were treated. Your childhood is programmed into your brain. The Right to Childhood of virtue and humanbeingness is an absolute necessity throughout the world. All must search for spiritual meaning instead of reliving and acting out the abuse learned in a perverted virtueless childhood.

Which brings me back to the Roman Catholic Church, which has been giving meaning to the world more than any other organization ever for thousands of years. There are Jewish First C^2 Chosen People; the Ten Commandments; the Gifts of the Holy Spirit; the Last Words of Christ on the Cross; the seven Sacraments; the twenty Mysteries of the Rosary; the fourteen Stations of the Cross; the Old and New Testaments with the parables and metaphors of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit; the Virtues; and, more than anything else, the participating in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass (Hoc est enim corpus meum... and Hic est enim calix sanguinis mei...). Contemporary additions are my Twenty Scientific Impossibilities of the Earth (which prove God's creation of the earth and thus changes all to see the world in a salutary way by giving global meaning to all we do). Also newly added are the Seven Material Existences of Stephen Hawkins; Basic Being Humanbeingness (Natural Law in Action by the Theogeocalculus); WordAngel Hierarchy; the Community Universals; The Trinity Expansion; Suggestibility Prevention Programs (Turn on EWTN and savor meaning instead of sensational non-being); the Transcendentals of being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good, and beauty; Make That Interaction Count; the Ensoulment Lovelution; and the Statimuum understanding of Eternity. There is a God and our world of Love for synthesis with the rest of the Universe for entropy.

After reading Frankl's generalizations about man's search for meaning, readers can find the specifics from the Roman Catholic Church which has been giving MEANING to the world more than any other group ever. Not perfect, but the Church wins the "meaning" contest with many menus for salutary synthetic living instead of entropy.

In closing afterthought, I must offer my books, the two volume Everybody For Everybody and the one volume Soul of the Earth which contain hundreds of meaning messages for all and can perhaps restore the missing childhood of prisoners (and victimizers too) if excerpts are read three times daily over prison loud speakers--call it "salutary punishment" if protested; call it "the childhood you missed" to all others. If my books are read daily to children, the Right to Childhood may be restored. MEANING needs specifics beginning with the Twenty Scientific Impossibilities of the Earth which give meaning to all (and, in spite of being sent around many times to many groups, atheists have yet to rebut their meaning).

HOW TO TRAIN YOURSELF TO BE HEALTHIER BY BEST BREATHING!

by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist, ad hominem pamphleteer copyright c 2018

Abstract: Breathing is so natural that the "best way to breathe" has never been identified or promoted as such. Having episodes of life-threatening laryngospasm prompted research and study on breathing, resulting in the discovery that nasal inhaling is "best" by shutting one's mouth and concentrating on getting more oxygenation. "SAM More Oxygen" describes the "best way to breathe: SHUT your mouth. AIR in and out nose. MOUTH SHUT or exhale or cough harshly to clear throat and lungs" (but when doing a series of SAMs, cough harshly every third and fourth time to help clean your lungs and larynx)." The discovery occurred while in laryngospasm. Intensely aware of the miserable duration of previous barely effective horrible mouth clearing trying-to-breathe efforts, a conscious decision of "I am not going to go thru this again because it is torture", the mouth was shut against all natural impulses to use mouth breathing to clear my choking laryngospasm; and, amazingly, air inhalation thru the nose occurred enabling a strong cough which opened the airway; repeating the sequence many times enabled calmer more efficient return to normal breathing. The process was quickly called "SAM" (Shut mouth; Air in nose; Mouth cough and it worked every time ever since preventing choking and laryngospasm. It went into medical publication and many grateful letters were received from people who found it giving relief never before as fast or effective. Since then, research and study of breathing clearly shows the SAM More Oxygen will help many medical problems and maintain good health. But you need to practice it over and over to remember to do it. Regular breathing automatically returns but it is not "best breathing." When relaxing watching T.V. or on your computer, best breathe by gentle SAMs. Do a few when you wake up every morning--get a little more oxygen to help wake up and energize for the day. Remind each other too to SAMMO.

There is a best way to breathe (as in attachments). Every one needs to know how to do it and how it helps as "more oxygen" helps every thing. You might do it by chance, but you WILL do it if taught and reminded. It will be the most healthy simple inexpensive health promoting activity you can do. Best breathe when ever you think of it. Shut mouth; Air in thru nose; Mouth whatever--shut, exhale or cough. Before you start anything, SAM More Oxygen.

1. Children should be taught to breathe the SAM More Oxygen when able to follow directions. They will be healthier and have more energy. "Every body stand straight and let's do the SAM ten times. Stand straight. Shut your mouth; Air in deeply thru the nose and feel the oxygen flow thru you everywhere; Mouth exhale or nose exhale slowly." Repeat this ten times, standing straight each time. Do it slowly. Do with the cough occasionally. Tell yourself, "I can do more good with more oxygen!" Practice breathing in and out the nose with mouth shut.

2. Athletes need more oxygen more than anyone. Observing athletes in every sport reveals occasional unwitting use of the SAM, but nothing ever as specifically planned routine pre-,during-, or post-, events.

They do not use it enough to feel its benefits. Most athletes mouth breath. The intense concentration on their sport activity excludes all but breathing as it comes naturally to them, unless specifically coached to SAM. As part of pre-event exercises, the entire squads should stop at relaxed military "SAM attention" which aligns one's musculature into natural composure and then be led doing the SAM ten times about every 15 to 30 minutes throughout all preliminaries. Coaches will need timers to remind them. It is about a 30 second re-oxygenation each time--it will help on the field of play too--Today, winning in sports are about millimeters and microseconds, and a few extra oxygen molecules make the difference. (About every third or fourth SAM, cough harshly--you will be surprised at the crud you have inhaled while breathing heavily.) The military and every organization should teach it to improve all activities. Teach yourself to do the SAM with any exertion or activity because you will need more oxygen--even before straining when constipated--you may be surprised to find it goes easier but only if you stop to think about it which you usually do not bother to do...but if you do, you will say to yourself, "Wow, the SAM More Oxygen really works."

3. For leg, arm, muscle cramps, do the SAM as rapidly as one can for 3 minutes or until the cramp subsides. Same for body contusions, head injury and concussions. Unless you practice it, you will not remember to do it when hurting. More oxygen helps!

4. To sleep soundly without snoring (and to prevent snoring related pulmonary problems), have anyone hearing you snore, gently shake your shoulder, gently moving your chin up saying "Shut your mouth and breathe through your nose" until you do so. It will take many times but once learned will become automatic like Pavlov's dog. By the SAM, you will stop snoring and not develop sleep apnea, obstructive pulmonary diseases, need for breathing machines, obesity, and other conditions related to hypoxic sleep. Do the same for others you hear snoring. Snoring is not good for any body and it means you are not best breathing and need to shut your mouth!

5. Pulmonary hygiene is as overlooked as the SAM. Exhalation is the expulsion of unhealthy components in the lungs. A cough is the body telling you something needs to be excreted from the lungs. Doing the SAM 10 times after each tooth brushing, when awakening every morning, when going to bed or taking a nap, will help reduce the crud inhaled from the atmosphere. Once your lungs get used to being cleaner, it will send you more coughing tickles, because it likes being cleaner. If you feel that need or tickle to cough, do the SAM 10 times but cough hard each time. Get rid of that inhaled crud. Cleaner lungs will transmit more oxygen too.

6. Medical use of the SAM should be in emergency rooms, recovery rooms, and hospital routines with every visit by every doctor, nurse, and other staff. Every one doing it will be helped. "Hello, I am---. Let's SAM 10 quick times for more oxygen." Then conduct your business with the patient. The SAM will improve health.

7. If you feel a cold coming on, sore throat, or have been around coughing or possibly ill people, do the SAM as in pulmonary hygiene (5 supra) and gargle with salt water a few times (Salt kills most microbes). I haven't had a cold, flu, or whatever's going around, since I started this several years ago. Whenever, I have felt "the cold (or whatever)" still "coming on" after being around people with the flu or whatever, I doubled the SAMs and salt gargles without getting the ten days of misery the others had. If you do not do it, you will get the virus or whatever. Your symptoms will resolve faster with the SAM & salt even if you get infected. Most infectuous diseases (pulmonary and gastrointestinal) invade by the mouth, which is another reason to best breathe all the time because your mouth is shut.

8. Anxiety, panic, anger, rage, confusion and emotionality in general are signs of needing oxygen. The SAM will provide it and also help distract from the negative psychological components of one's mental states. By doing the SAM, one has a better chance to work through the feelings instead of acting them out which is usually ineffective and habituating.

9. Absolutely use the SAM to clear your throat or to stop choking for the M. You will/may save someone's life by telling them to do the SAM if you notice them choking, but you should know the Heimlich Maneuver and use the SAM afterwards which will be the best way keep their airway open once the Heimlich was used. Teach the SAM to them right then and there. They will be forever grateful.

10. Beneficial effects of the SAM include stimulation and recovery of degenerating unused muscles when SAMs are combined with paraspinal exercise techniques such as Yamuna Ball Rolling. Extra oxygen will benefit one's body by affecting capillaries, nerves, all body tissues, the brain pain filter, general healing, and improving the state of adult stem cells which repair body tissue. The SAM's intense focusing on one's body helps deflect and exhale negative mental states--"blow and cough them away". Thinking of best breathing also helps buffer all the sensational advertising and suggestions from the press & media which have created an unnatural culture of non-being fantasy and lies--Best breathing will help you be true, one, good and beautiful, and be more immune to the suggestibility imposed by fascists of the press & media!

2. Utility Patent Pending: Acronym and equivalent words to Best Breath by S A M MORE OXYGEN: "SAM": Shut mouth; Air in nose; Mouth cough (if choking or clearing throat) or just exhale (by mouth or preferably nose).

Learn and practice the acronym "SAM": Shut mouth; Air in nose; Mouth cough (if choking or clearing throat) or just exhale (preferably by nose with mouth shut).

<THIS IS LIKE THE INVENTION OF THE TOOTHBRUSH, AND AS IMPORTANT FOR GOOD HEALTH>

HELP YOUR LOVED ONES AND YOURSELF BREATHE MORE EFFECTIVELY: build up more oxygen before your sport event and recover faster afterwards! Stay healthy...You will save money by no longer needing as many health care treatments.

BEST BREATHING: When things are going bad or tense, and someone says "Take a deep breath", they really should say: "Do the SAM twenty times!" And athletes should be trained to do their "heavy breathing" by repeating the SAM. Every athlete needs a reminder to improve performance and recovery.

IT DOES NOT COME NATURALLY...YOU NEED A HEALTH BAND REMINDER for priceless info!

Make no mistake, there is a "best" way to breathe. "Nasal inhalation" is the best way--It is more diaphragmatic requiring less muscle effort and thus more of the inhaled oxygen is available elsewhere in the body. However, "shutting your mouth" is obligatory for efficient and effective "nasal breathing"--laryngeal reflexes open better with "air into the nose" than with "air into the mouth." More oxygen by nasal breathing enables:

1. Athletes can better build oxygen before and better recover oxygen after events. For the military too!

2. If choking or coughing, the SAM allows expulsion of whatever is interfering with mouth/larynx such that the Heimlich may not be necessary. The SAM is definitely indicated to clear one's throat after the Heimlich was used to clear the blocked larynx.

3. The SAM stops snoring. Gently say the SAM as you nudge the snorer's shoulder emphasizing "shut mouth and breathe thru the nose." All snoring is through the mouth. SAM will Pavlov-condition a shut mouth which stops snoring and reduces related sleep apnea disorders by nasal breathing.

4. The SAM is essential for good hospital care where best breathing should be taught especially in intensive care units. It should be taught in every first aid course and in all grade levels of teaching health information in schools.

5. The SAM works as a panic attack/temper/rage/confusion stopping technique by detachment from the source of emotionality to calmer self-awareness and improved oxygenation--"Panic" and all related stresses are linked to unconscious "breath holding" making one low on oxygen. So if having an emotional spasm and stressed, do the SAM ten times and try to think it through. Shut your mouth; Air in nose; Mouth shut as you exhale (exhale through your nose too! Breathe nasally in and out!). Keep on doing it.

6. Do the SAM 10 times before any straining (even when toileting) to help prevent heart attacks. More oxygen helps everything.

7. Do the SAM as the first universal promotion of "pulmonary hygiene!" The lungs never quit. They discretely expel unhealthy molecules and microbes inhaled so effectively that pulmonary-"excretion" is taken for granted and overlooked as necessary body cleansing. Mild coughing and throat clearing is the body's way of expelling something definitely foreign and unwanted from throat and lungs. The SAM should improve lung cleansing just as mouth cleaning improved when someone invented the toothbrush. If you feel a chest cold, the flu, a sore throat coming on, do the SAM often and vigorously (and salt water gargles will help disinfect the inhaled germs). If you feel that slight cough, do the SAM to help clean better the lungs. At the first sign of a "cold", it should be done four times a day for several days. It should be done after every cigarette or cigar by smokers. It does not take much to conclude that lungs need help with "cleaning" the crud now being inhaled from our polluted atmosphere. This should help prevent the accumulation of lung cancer junk and most infectious diseases which enter the body through the lungs and mouth. To really keep your body "clean", you should SAM MORE OXYGEN as pulmonary hygiene every day--The extra oxygen molecules cannot do any harm.

Learn, practice, and teach the SAM--you will be "best breathing," more hygienic, and healthier if every way with more oxygen. Every loved one should have a S A M Health Band for sure. Make a more healthy world!

"OUR POISON IS WORKING!"--THE MOTTO OF SUGGESTISM (journalism is no more--the "profession" is SUGGESTISM--getting all others to know, think and do what your editor wants)---or THE COMEDY SECTION NOW BEGINS ON PAGE 1.

SUGGESTISM--First Amendment Responsibilities and Need For Certification and Licensure--other than sports, most journalism is unreal, non-being editor fantasies and manipulations--CONFABULISM--PATRONISM--JOURNALISM is the SUGGESTIBILITY "ME-FIRST" PROFESSION OF NON-BEING and "evil is the promotion of non-being" (which is most journalism and press&media--Call them "the Filth Estate", not the Fourth Estate). "Journalism" has failed everybody. The "free press" must be licensed with consequences for lies and non-compliance with the Founders. "Journalism" is nothing but a pseudo-profession of "how great I am to lead you by the nose into barbarianism and paganism." Basically, "journalism" has confused "freedom" with lies, fragmentation, unnaturalness (pollution), and ugliness...and journalists' first and only real aim is self-promotion by having something sensational to report. Their ethics are gone. Journalism is the worst most evil "estate" in the world when without truth, oneness, good and beauty. President Trump should have the military close CNN, MSNBC, ABC, Hollywood, New York Times, Washington Post, et al who have destroyed the ex-profession of journalism, turning it into suggestism which has destroyed all the Founders created and wanted.)

Editors are enslavers of the press & media so it does not belong to the people. "

Luigi Panzini, MD

THE LIBERAL PRESS CANNOT CENSOR ANYONE'S "HEART OF LIBERTY"--THE "FREE" PRESS ARE REQUIRED TO FREELY PROVIDE THE FREE PRESS FOR AND BY THE PEOPLE...the First Amendment, like all Amendments, is for THE PEOPLE and not just what editors or the owners decide...

Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy: "At the heart of liberty is the right to define one's own concept of existence, of meaning, of the universe and of the mystery of human life." The First Amendment explicitly gives all citizens the right to express their "heart of liberty". Therefore, prohibited is the censorship of anyone's "heart of liberty"--such is "unConstitutional." Thus, the outrageous exclusion, over and over by the liberal press, of "unwelcome" information coherently expressed must stop. All views must be fairly and equitably available to the people.

The Founders made the First Amendment FIRST so the people would be informed for the common good which was basically the Ten Commandments. Their expectations and hopes were for Truth, Oneness, Good and Beauty--TRANSCENDENTAL messages so the citizens could freely live well the together without a bunch of laws. But today's "free press" (and so-called "art experts" do not know the difference between real "art" and "immorality" or "disturbances of the peace". Today's "free press" has no ethics, no morality, no values of transcendence, no standards or allegiance to Natural Law of the Founders, so necessary for genuine civilization from citizens FREE from evil. Today's "free press" is just the emotional biases of the editors and their owners. The "free" press as selfishly existing is EXCLUSIVE of the people and thus unConstitutional...The Founders would have hung most of today's "free press" for making the world a "worse place" rather than a "better place."

The First Amendment was given to the people and not just to priests, ministers, or rabbis, nor just to broadcasters or celebrities, nor just to editors or journalists, nor just to assembly hall owners. The people have the right for their words to be prayed, broadcast, printed, and announced to assemblies, provided their words are logical, rational and consistent with the Founders' Principles. The First Amendment makes those mentioned responsible to serve the people and to promulgate the words of the people and not just the words of the owners of communication methods. The goal of the First Amendment was to teach virtue and the Ten Commandments to the people so they could keep a civil society not needing laws. Those freed by the First Amendment have an absolute duty to be true to the Founders Principles as manifest by the first thing the new Congress ever purchased--20,000 Bibles (Will the "separation" people please be quiet and pray as the Founders did.).

The First Amendment was given first to keep the people informed with Truth, Oneness, Good and Beauty (the "transcendentals"), consistent with the hope and expectation that the people could be transcendent citizens not needing many laws or government controls. The Founders knew that if the citizens were "no good", nothing would work well and law after law would be needed. The Founders hoped for the common good which in their mind basically was the Ten Commandments, which in those days were the themes espoused by all. The Judeo-Christian principles of the Founders was why religion was first in the First Amendment. The First Amendment was to promote good citizens living democratically by free religion, then free speech, then free press, and then free assembly. "Religion" was first because without some elements Judeo-Christianity, the people are no good and nothing will work well for a decent culture. The Founders knew, believed, lived and defined "religion" as overt or indirect belief in a Loving God, specifically naming "Nature and Nature's God." That is what they wanted by free exercise. Hoped for and expected was allegiance with Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness ("Happiness" is best understood as meaning "transcendentals"). This implied the "learned professions" providing directions for the common good: Medicine for Life. Law for Liberty. Divinity for Pursuit of Transcendentals ("nee "Happiness"). All three professions were given "transcendental" freedom (It was not "anything goes" pseudo-freedom).

Unfortunately, electronocelluloid technology has made the free press into a "disturbance of the common good" tyranny not available to the common man (although the World Wide Web may correct this when all journalism dies). The "free press" does not belong to the people but to editors and owners who only promulgate what "fits" as the New York Times exploiting logo documents. Today's "free press" has no ethics, no morality, no values of transcendence, no standards or allegiance to Natural Law of the Founders, necessary for genuine civilization for citizens to be FREE from evil ("Evil" is the "creation of non-being"). Today's "free press" does not know the difference between true "art" and "disturbing the peace" or "destroying the common good." Journalism today is just manipulation and suggestibility, and not worth a dime. No way did the Founders want culture-destroying anti-Ten Commandments pollution to come from the First Amendment. The Founders listed "religion" first for good reason--the Ten Commandments--which have been replaced by Ten Thousand Legalisms. The Founders would have applied capital punishment to the editors and owners of the "free press" of today because of their culture-destroying advertising, dehumanizing promotions, anti-family and polluting pretenses of "art," "entertainment," and "information." The Founders would not have allowed the Law's destruction of the free and independent professions of Medicine and Divinity. The Founders would not have allowed the Law to become an "established religion" which it now is.

Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy: "At the heart of liberty is the right to define one's own concept of existence, of meaning, of the universe and of the mystery of human life." That is what the First Amendment is all about explicitly giving all citizens the right to express their "heart of liberty" (which, if it is genuine "freedom" or "liberty," must be consistent with Natural Law --"Nature and Nature's God" as mentioned in the Constitution, which means "transcendent--being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good and beauty"). The First Amendment gives rights which also means "responsibilities" i.e., the "transcendentals."

The results are protests and riots from the Losers (nee' Womens) March to Berkeley--ALL raging rioting protestors NEED (from the press over and over) Octavio Paz' "San Ildefonso nocturne":

Good, we wanted good:
to set the world right.
We didn't lack integrity:
we lacked humility.
What we wanted was not
innocently wanted.

Precepts and concepts,
the arrogance of theologians,
to beat with a cross,
to institute with blood....
Some became secretaries to the secretary to the General Secretary of the Inferno.
Rage
became philosophy,
its evil has covered the planet.

AND JOURNALISTS NEED TO BE LICENSED WITH TRANSCENDENTAL ETHICS AFTER CERTIFICATION IN PRINCIPLES OF THE FOUNDERS--OTHERWISE IT IS "PATRONIZM" (1)...The "free press" cannot mean lies, sedition, treason, or ugliness by journalists. The "death" of journalism began with Roe v. Wade which not only destroyed journalism's Ethics of Sigma Delta Chi, but the Hippocratic Oath of physicians replacing traditional social mores with abortionismo, manifest by destruction of childhood, loss of Judeo-Christian family norms, and lack of good faith interactions (2).

(1) "Suggestism"--contemporary Journalism (From my article "The Results of and Psychological Causes of Contraception," Social Justice Review December 1993, 209-213... http://www.catholicculture.org/library/view.cfm?recnum=721):

Today, the practice ("charade" really) of journalism is the patronizing of one group or another and the censoring of the rest—thus "suggestism is the most accurate description of today's press and media is: Suggestism,, not journalism. Suggestpaper, not newspaper. Patron press, not free press. Suggestist, neither journalist nor reporter. For those described, the First Amendment does nothing but give them immunity to truth, justice, the common good and trustworthiness. Most of today's "journalists" are self-promoting perverters of the First Amendment who have aborted those who gave them the First mendment. Do not trust what you see or hear in the press and media. Most is "pretend." And, suggestism (nee' journalism) does not believe in equality because the fraud press do NOT treat all with equal coverage or consideration.

(2) Moral authority is gone...the First Amendment people fail the Founders by not helping the people know Life, Liberty and Pursuit of Happiness,the Ten Comandments, and Nature and Nature's God---all mentioned many times by the Founders and the basis for deTocqueville's bewilderment that the early Americans needed no laws for their righteous civility. Fascist lying editors instead have given the people abortion and all its subliminal spinoffs and results: ABORTIONISMO. The Fraud Press needs to look in the mirror to find what happened to "the people". If the people are no good, nothing works well for very long. The Press and Media are run by dirty old men, dirty minded schoolboys never grown up, the gay cult genital maniacs, and haremfeminists manipulating the people into absence and suppression of virtue. Deny all you want. Rationalize all you want. America is dead. The Fraud Press killed it. The people act out and live "abortion" routinely--life is meaningless; all culture is sexsational violent fantasy; non-reality is all there is; and power rules. Forgotten is "the creation of non-being" is the definition of evil. The Founders would have hung you all responsible for the Suggestibility Diseases which killed America.

An Example of he fraud press elected him by not informing the people....Clinton yes; Trump no. What Unethical Unjust Unfair Unprofessional, unAmerican dictators, editors are!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!journalisms failure to inform the people has destroyed the America of the Founders....

: Subject: BILL CLINTON'S AMAZING MILITARY/POLITICAL CAREER

OOh! You didn't know he had a military career?

Bill and Hillary got a combined $20 million for their to-be written memoirs.
Here's some help for them since their memories are getting old.
Bill Clinton registered for the draft on September 08, 1964, accepting all contractual conditions of registering for the draft. His Selective Service Number was 326 46 228.
Bill Clinton is classified 2-S on Nov. 17, 1964.
Bill Clinton is reclassified 1-A on March 20, 1968.
Bill Clinton is directed. to report for induction on July 28, 1969.
Bill Clinton refused to report and was not inducted into the military.
Bill Clinton is reclassified 1-D after enlisting in the U. S. Army Reserve on August 7, 1969, under the authority of COL. E. Holmes
Clinton signed his enlistment papers and took the oath of enlistment into the Army Reserve.
Bill Clinton failed to report to his duty station at the University of Arkansas ROTC, in September 1969.
Bill Clinton was reclassified 1-A on October 30, 1969, as his enlistment with the Army Reserve is revoked by Colonel E. Holmes and Clinton now is considered AWOL and subject to arrest under Public Law 90-40 (2) (a) - " registrant who has failed to report .. remains liable for induction.
Bill Clinton's birthdate lottery number is 311, drawn December 1, 1969, but anyone who has already been ordered to report for induction is ineligible!

Bill Clinton runs for Congress (1974), while a fugitive from justice under Public Law 90-40.

Bill Clinton runs for Arkansas Attorney General (1976), while a fugitive from justice.

Bill Clinton receives a pardon on January 21, 1977, from President Jimmy Carter.

Bill Clinton becomes the FIRST PARDONED FEDERAL FELON ever to serve as President of the United States.

All these facts come from Freedom of Information requests, public laws, and various books that have been published, and have not been refuted by Clinton.

After the 1993 World Trade Center bombing, President Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1995 bombing in Saudi Arabia, which killed five U.S. Military personnel, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1996 Khobar Towers bombing in Saudi Arabia , which killed 19 and injured 200 U.S. Military personnel, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1998 bombing of U.S. Embassies in Africa, which killed 224 and injured 5,000, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 2000 bombing of the USS Cole, which killed 17 and injured 39 U.S. Sailors, Clinton promised that those responsible be hunted down and punished.

Maybe if Clinton had kept those promises, an estimated 3,000 people in New York, Washington, D.C. and Pennsylvania who are now dead would be alive today.

THINK ABOUT IT!

It is a strange turn of events.

Hillary gets $8 Million for her forthcoming memoir and Bill gets about $12 Million for his memoir yet to be written.

This from two people who spent 8 years being unable to recall anything about past events while under oath.

Sincerely,

Cdr. Hamilton McWhorter USN (ret)

P.S. Please forward this to as many people as you can!

HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANY QUESTIONNAIRE

-to be provided quarterly by any health insurance third party medical organization by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, copyright c 2017, retired, , deplorable ad hominem pamphleteer, clinical psychiatrist, Case Western Reserve University and University Hospitals of Cleveland, Kafkaesque Malicious-Law Criminalization Hoax Victim.

If covered for health care by a health insurance third party medical organization, you are entitled to the following information: The following numerical categories must be provided and explained by every health insurance company on a quarterly basis:

1. DOAR - Days on Accounts Receivable: On average, how many days does it take to pay bills?
2. IDR - Income/Disbursement Ratio: What is the company's annual income compared to the annual payments for health care?
3. PPIFFS - Percentage Payment in Full First Submission: What is the percentage of payments in full for first time received billings?
4. PTTP - Percentage Transferred to Patients: What is the percentage of billings transferred to patients and not paid by the insurance company?
5. PRB - Percentage Reworked Billings: what percentage of bills require re-work?
6. ARTR - Average Rework Time Required: What is the average rework time required for payment?
7. PDPR - Percent Denials Phone Repair: What percentage of denials require phone call to repair?
8. PDWR - Percent Denials Written Repair: What percentage of denials require written repair?
9. TDP - Time from Denial to Payment: What is the average time from initial denial to full payment?
10. APP - AveragePayment Time: What is the average time to pay bills after initial receipt?
11. PL - Percent Lost: What is the percentage of claims "lost in transit" or "not on file?"
12. AT - What is the administrative time for subscriber payment versus provider payment?
13. PPZ - Percent Paid Zero: What is the percentage of claims not paid or paid at zero dollars?
14. PAPPP - Prior Authorization Percent Performance People Profit: How is "prior authorization" managed - Percent used? Performance type and efficiency? Qualifications of people involved? Profit provided to company by obstructing health care with sham "preauthorizations" or reviews prior to care? Curriculum vitae of all involved?
15. PD/SC-R - Provider Disbursement/Subscriber Collection Ratio: What is the ratio of administrative staff and time to pay bills from physicians versus administrative staff and time to collect monies from subscribers?

16. IE - Incentive Equality: Are incentives for prompt payment to physicians also offered in the same way for prompt payment by subscribers?
17. ASSO - Alter Stable Systems Opportunities: How often is the payment system changed besides whenever most physicians have figured it out?
18. PIG - President's Income Grab: What is the health insurance company's president's income grab, i.e., how many health care dollars does the president of the company take for salary?
19. EVIL - Executive Value Insurance Loss: What is the executive value insurance loss, i.e., how many health care dollars are spent on administration and all non-medical and or non-direct care "services?"
20. DUCKA - Doctors Under Contract Kissing Arse ("Quacking" for short): How many non-practicing physicians are employed by the company to maintain the facade of medical care? Who are they (Please send CVs)? Do their medical schools all know what these graduates are doing? Like physicians with law degrees who helped destroy the Medical Profession, do employed ex-physicians still add "M.D." to their name and pretend they are physicians?
21. NME - Non-Medical Employees: How many employees have no formal clinical and/or academic medical education? This constitutes what percent of all employees? Certified copies of education certificates and qualifications are to be provided to every patient for every medical determination every time a medical procedure is requested by every person involved in the decision process.
22. AEM - Administrative Employee Manuals: Copies are provided for office waiting rooms to inform patients where and how their health care dollars get stolen and might get recovered.
23. ZI - Zimbardo Imitation: Percentage of duplication of Zimbardo's Prison Experiment, i.e., to what degree has "powermadness control and conflict" resulted from the insurance/third party company's takeover of the Medical Profession?

All have a right to these numbers and information so that the best decision can be made about choosing your health care coverage instead of going directly one-to-one physician-patient relationship.

A PHYSICAL INTERLUDE

But there is "matter." All matter is composed of the "Physical Variables in the Continuum of the Space Time"(A Brief History of Time by Stephen Hawking):

1. Event—A point in space-time or something that happens at a certain place and time.
2. Spectrum—the splitting of energy into position-time relationships.
3. Field—a matrix existing through space and time.
4. Quantum—the indivisible unit of receiving or giving energy.
5. Singularity—a point position at gravitational collapse wherein the space-time curvature is infinite (This is the linkage to the Pre-Big Bang).
6. Dimension—space coordinates and time.
7. Uncertainty—accuracy of position is inversely related to the accuracy of movement.
8. Force—that which effects matter particles.

Thus ARE the physics of the "matter" of you, me and our universe begun from the Big Bang, which needs further cosmological understanding. The Big Bang was a punctate incredibly intense and precise first moment which contained the sixteen billion years of our space-time. It is reasonable to see the Unrestricted Immediacy of all our universe compressed in that physics-based punctate dot of the Big Bang (How could it be otherwise--How could it be anything other than all physics at all times compressed?). Thus, I coined ""Statimuum"" as a physics-based word for Eternity or Infinity or the "Pre-Big Bang" which offered a decompression by the punctate Big Bang into the space-time universe of physics. Basically, one cannot logically deny a non-space/non-time Pre-Big Bang if physics confirms a Big Bang which had to come from the Statimuum.

The Pre-Big Bang/Eternity/Infinity/Statimuum has been best understood as "God"--an outside of space-time UnRestricted Act of Thinking (I prefer "Transcendence")--"U-R-AT" [by Fr. Robert Spitzer]) -sounded best, I believe, as "you are at". My preferences are to continue ancient parallels of a Trinity of an Infinite Act of Being (the Father); an Eternal Act of Transcendence (the Son--Jesus the Christ); and an Unrestricted Act of Love (the Holy Spirit)--as ONE: "SABTL"-- Statimuum Act of Being Transcendence Love. "Put together" (words fail), "Statimuum" is the best physics description of "I am who am", "All Being, Transcendence, Love who am", "All who am living UnRestricted Synthesis into the Statimuum."

From contemporary science which it created, the Church is committed to the physics of the Big Bang and to the pre- (and to be post-) Big Bang now called the Statimuum (or traditionally the “Beautific Vision” which now can be seen as all Being, Transcendence, and Love recompressed from space/time). The Church believes in the "Big Bust-up" of the first persons' misusing freedom to choose against Nature and Nature's God (physics, biology and chemistry), and thereby begins the potential to sin in every human--There will be entropy linked to physical freedom because humans are partially independent of physics and can choose wrong against Nature. The Church originated from and is committed to the ideas of "Big Bailout" of Jesus as Incarnation, at the Last Supper, on the Cross, and Resurrection. By the Sacraments, the Church brings a formal touch of the Pre-Big Bang (the Statimuum, in physics) into the world and avers that the miracles of the Bible are glimpses of the Statimuum also. The Church tries to be transcendentally identical to Jesus as the Body of Christ by Grace and by the Seven Sacraments as “2 X 4s up side the head” trying to wake everyone up (and no one likes that either) in a peaceful and merciful way. The Church incorporates elementary physics into allegories to understand basic physics and all existence:

> spectrum--Reconciliation-unity giving hope and identity;
> dimension--Holy Orders-life giving courage and being;
> event--Baptism-dignity giving faith and matter;
> field--Holy Communion-integrity giving charity and truth;
> uncertainty--Matrimony-liberty giving temperance and good;
> singularity--Extreme Unction-spirituality giving justice and beauty;
> quantum--Confirmation-identity giving prudence and oneness;
> force--Grace-transcendental pursuit giving holiness and being.

The task is impossible given original sin, but the Church is the only organization so committed to ideas of existence linking to the Statimuum, which are scientific and rational given the Big Bang and "singularity"--the latter being our gravitational space-time curve collapse into infinity according to Stephen Hawking--In other words, a "multiverse" awaits us which the Church has, for thousands of years, called Heaven, Purgatory or Hell. And it all is based on Love.

Thus the Church is a LOVEOLUTION...unique, ancient, mysterious--that there is more. The Church is an ongoing "touch" of the pre-Universe by divinely given metaphors about "why you are you" and your "ultimate human purpose" derived from basic physics: A Big Bang with a beginning point of space/time continuum containing the billions of years of our universe with return possible as ultimate human purpose to the spaceless/timeless pre-Universe or Pre-Big Bang. That is, wave/particle, attraction/interaction, electric/magnetic, energy/information, strings/circles, neural/chemical, data/analogues, entropy/synthesis, person/community, body/blood as the mathematics/physics/chemistry are elements of LOVE in the material universe. The universe was created for Love, but you have to know, find and live it. A restatement of the Ten Commandments helps deal with the entropy/synthesis of matter:

1. You have come from God out of nothing and you shall return to God with everything--At death, you can rejoin God in the pre-Big Bang Statimuum Eternity if you join the Loveolution..
2. Clean up your act.
3. Stay in touch with God by weekly Mass and monthly Confession.
4. Respect, honor, and listen to those who know more transcendence than you do.
5. Living things are precious and violence is to be avoided.
6. Extramarital sex is nothing but trouble.
7. You have a right to your own personal property; so does everybody else.
8. Loving Truth will set and keep you free.
9. Keep your relationships holy, uplifting and honorable.
10. Keep "things" from running your life.

Then, by the Transcendentals, love is personified from basic physics to the Catholic Trivium (being, matter, identity) and the Catholic Quadrivium (truth, oneness, good and beauty--which are "the images and likenesses of God") between persons (see Addendum I). One can occasionally get a sense of the ultimate exhilaration of returning to the Statimuum: your favorite sport team winning a championship; a music exhilaration like Il Voce or the Three Tenors or Amelita Galli-Curci singing in 1917, and even, maybe, a rock concert; listening to your children and grandchildren singing at Mass; savoring Goedel's Theorems once understood; awareness of a planet with all the 118 elements of the periodic table instead of one or two elements as on other astral bodies; a planet with water and elements warmed nicely for millenia between freezing and boiling protected from all anti-life bombardments; a planet with a molten core creating a geomagnetic field protecting all life from lethal rays of the universe; a planet with toxic elements secluded so life can be; the amazing sequential compression of the earth by the flag semaphor, telegraph, radio, television, computer, internet, and cybernetics (Where else are we compressing but to a Statimuum based on attractive Love?); the Catholic Mass Mantra of ultimate human purpose: "Life Sacrifice Virtue Love Humanity Peace Freedom and NaturalDeathwithoutFear"; and the Mass moments of self projection and "being there" in the Gospel stories and at Consecration. Once alerted and felt, one realizes "you are there" glimpses of being in the Statimuum--what used to be called Eternity/Infinity--all of all immediately--I AM WHO AM--an UnRestricted 'Statimuum' Act of Being, Transcendence, Love (UR'S'-A-BTL for all). More to life than physics. More to BEING than life. Feeling of yourself as rising from the dead preaching and living "love"--which is the basis for all transcendental "eurekas" ever experienced. The spiritual incorporeal transcends corporeal-basic-physics into "ultimate human purpose." Ideas are needed, especially those which spiritualize.

And one should add: Every sin is a physical violence against one or more of the transcendentals, synthesis, and Love. Such is the physical interlude.

A SPIRITUAL INTERLUDE

Ideas and their significance cannot be denied. Ideas exist only in man thus proving supernature i.e., escape from and control of biology at one extreme and angels (words) trying to return to God at the other. Spiritual ideas compress, for the moment, back to the Big Bang and Pre-Big Bang. Taken for granted because every human person has them, ideas get little respect. But this must change because, again, ideas with transcendence confer spirit and give direct evidence for God. Ideas can link to the Statimuum. Thomas Crean, O.P., in his outstanding book, God Is No Delusion, says it best:

> An idea, whatever it is, is clearly something simple. It has no size, shape or mass. It has no constituent parts standing in spatial relation to its other parts. It can serve as a design for something complex, but in its own nature it is free of the complexities that it represents. How this is so is rather mysterious to us. But no one can deny that it is so (page 15). (I apply the same to "words" considering them "angels" as first so identified in my book Happy Ending.)

Ideas are God-like images presented only by "angels" which are words. In my book Happy Ending, I propose that words are angels, i.e., spirit conveying messengers ranging from elementary objects of matter to the transcendentals. And, like angels, words just pop up into existence in different places without traveling through space; the same for ideas too (This happens with some elementary particles in physics, and thusly theologians preempted contemporary physicists by at least seven centuries!). By angelic words, ideas are made real as God-like linkages in the spirit world. Thus the spirit world spreads from the most simplistic inanimate object to the mental world and the Divine ... from simple numbers to angels to The Word--and all are embraced in the Statimuum. Supernatural spiritual transition especially occurs with the appearance of word created ideas such as "love," "person," the transcendentals, the virtues as well as other lesser ideas all of which individually and collectively prove a metaphysical different level of existence and a metanatural different level of the universe. Ideas and words mean that there is a spirit interactional existence, even in physics as in elementary particle/wave micro "love".

Ideas are materially based in and an accompaniment of the brain which not only has consciousness but consciousness-of-consciousness (C^2), the latter not present in non-persons. C^2 is the body-brain's contribution to the body-soul composite. C^2 enables the "I" of you and me to be aware of our personhood with intellect and will, transcendental capacity and ideas, all of which enable our souls to know, love and serve God and His creatures (or do otherwise as the case may be). Without C^2 and its rational capacity for ideas, there is no above- or meta- nature and, therefore, nature-only can and must be followed as is the case for all subhuman creatures. In contrast, by ideas because of C^2, humans have a rational intellect and free will to be metaphysically above nature, and there is no comparable evidence for such in subhumans. By C^2, ideas reverberate in the human mind with their being of spirit. To reflect deeply on ideas is to muddle around and conclude that ideas are bewilderingly pure spirit with a life of their own by words (which angelically also have a "life of their own" as "angels").

The reality of an idea forces the recognition of an incorporeal existence neither physical nor measurable by mathematics. Ideas prove a different dimension of existence. In fact, ideas make you what you really are. That is: You are what you think! Such is the spirit of life; and, logically consistent with spirit, in the long run you will get what you think and do! That is, in the spirit world, that which one allows by rational intellect and free will in one's mind is that which one is and will become (...and, self-determinately, will get!—which is another reason to live the transcendental life).

One's being (total existence including spirit) is composed of one's transcendental actuality—the seven components of all created being in Addendum I. The transcendentals are one's actual primary being—all the rest is secondary. One's, and everyone's, identified matter flows on a transcendental conduit of truth, oneness, good, and beauty, to and through eternity, perhaps "like music" is a good simile. And it all is compressed in the Statimuum. It all ready has happened and persists in happening in the Statimuum, explaining why data analysis can "predict"--because it unwittingly taps into the immediacy of "all" in the Statimuum.

This eternal permanence of one's existence is most felt as the promise of one's immortal soul whose transcendental permanence is confluent with one's transcendental activity. This is one's spirit life and it has its own genealogy mediated by whatever the brain has seen or heard as words, either demonic or angelic (This is why it is important to protect at all times all brains from evil—"Garbage in, garbage out!"). One's brain is especially lit up and one's spirit is enhanced by anything which is transcendentally sound, i.e. ideas regardless of content as long as true, one, good and beautiful. The transcendentals spiritualize ideas and souls, but evil ideas destroy the brain and spirit. One's soul (like a transcendental sponge) is created immortal, but it can be annihilated by anti-transcendental acts, just as it can be sustained and enhanced by the images of God within: truth, oneness, good and beauty. And it all happens by ideas and words. Furthermore, the transcendentals are the basis for and essence of human subjectivity by which concepts (ideas) are warmed with the Image of God, refired with Big Bang warmth most often by the Word (Jesus) enabling all spirit computations between you and the Universe.

To deny spirit is to deny ideas; is to deny that words exist; is to deny the impact of words in the world of ideas; and is to deny a spirit world wherein anti-being demons (un- or anti-transcendental words) try to run amuck while angels (transcendentally intact words) promote being. The more evil (pursuit of non-being) one does, the more one's being is annihilated. This is because evil is a supernature negation of metastability, and evil exists in time for man only. For man, evil is a self-negating entropy-promoting vacuum. Therefore, the evil one does converts one's self into that black hole of self-annihilating negative nothingness (empty of Love) caused by oneself and relived by oneself over and over, most commonly called hell. Oppositely, one's transcendental acts forge forever in eternity, carrying one's own being with these acts. As beautiful concert music, reverberating forever throughout the space of the universe, one's transcendental acts will timelessly carry one to and throughout all eternity (This is why we like music!). This is to understand finally that "nothing unclean shall enter heaven" because nothing evil or sinful will last in eternity. This reminds of the ancient dictum of Socrates: "No evil can come to a good man either in life or in afterdeath, and God does not neglect him" (I would extend this to "No evil can come to a transcendental man (male or female)" and "By their words, you shall know them.").

The significance of ideas cannot be underestimated: You are your ideas -- which can be non-being especially if one believes television, movies, internet, newspapers and celebrities or non-persons (To understand "celebrities" and "non-persons," see Addendum III), and, needless to remind, the promotion of non-being is evil (And Original Sin is "suggestibility"—see Addendum IV—promoted epidemically by the metastasis of Patronizm—see Addendum V). The simplest understanding is that you are promoting your own non-being when you break The Ten Commandments or act contrary to Natural Law. But the opposite is also true: Your ideas can make you the best being filled with truth, oneness, good and beauty in a confluence of transcendental existence into the level of spirit. Your ideas make you what you are—and you can control them. And, furthermore, to repeat and remind: what goes around, comes around. Your intellect and free will make it that way, and the ideas you put into action will determine your eternal spirit existence -- In other words, you will get your timeless/spaceless existence "over and over (better called 'immediacy')" in Heaven, Purgatory or hell. In your spirit life, what you have been and done will come back to you in a pop-up spirit caricature of your ideas and action life with justice mirroring it all giving it back to you as well deserved, blessing or punishment! (Dante has it right! And so does Plato with, "Virtue is (and will be) its own reward" (and I add: "Evil will be its own punishment—just you wait!") and St. Thomas has it right when he says, "Do good and avoid evil" (or my elaboration: "Do transcendentals and avoid non-being.").

Ideas are Fire Forms (Read my poem "Fire Forms") from the Big Bang mediated by words (angels), transcendentalized (refired) by The Word (Jesus) which overcomes matter to return being to God. No matter how exciting or stimulating or suggested by celebrities, if your ideas are not transcendental (true, one, good and beautiful), to hell with them because that is where they will take you and you will not like reliving the evil you have done turned back on yourself (As Jesus said, “Go and sin no more”...meaning "Don't be suggestible" and with good reason.).

Ideas are not merely confined to you as an individual but must be socialized because man is by nature a community creature optimally relating by dignity, unity, integrity, identity and spirituality—five more angelic ideas defined in Addendum II. Without these angels, the transcendentals remain selfishly individual.

In closing, not to understand ideas is likely to fail the major personal and only "evolution" that matters: one's personal spirit transcendental transition by the ideas one has and acts upon. The reader is encouraged to study www.theogeocalculus.com (which I believe is the first ever linkage of elementary physics to the transcendentals, to the variables of psychotherapy and mental succor, to the sacraments, to the community universals, and to the virtues). The most effective way of transcendentally processing ideas and feelings are in Addendum VI—Everyone is on the Cross in one way or another at some time or another.

Any idea, regardless of origin, which cannot be interpreted consistent with all the following addenda is highly likely to be satanic. Keep true to full being and strive to interpret and understand all in the way of ideas.

ADDENDUM I: The Seven Transcendentals: (Full elaboration was first printed in my pamphlet, “Male/Female Differences in Natural Law” of 1993 at the First Annual Conference of Catholic Social Scientists.)

1. Ens (Latin)—being--what has existence.
2. Res (Latin)—which is the matter or corporeal body, i.e. the confluence of the being with matter completing it. It is the most visible dimension for those in the material world. In nature, nature rules, neurochemistry and all, on how the being manifests itself in nature. Bodies are needed to relate. They are our physical being by which men interact with all. MATTER (male).

3. Aliquid (Latin)—which is the identity or form of the being, i.e. the confluence of the being with its essence—for humans, not ethnicity, not color, nor anything but humanbeingness—the total embracing of humanity for us—in a word "catholic"—all for and with all. IDENTITY (female).
4. Verum (Latin)—which is the truth of the being, i.e. the confluence of the being with reality and not fantasy—or for us humans, the confluence with real life and not television shows, movies, magazines, newspapers or figments of imagination from oneself or others. TRUTH (male).
5. Unum (Latin)—which is the oneness of the being, i.e. the confluence of the being with itself and all desirability related to it: its integrated, whole entirety. ONENESS (female).
6. Bonum (Latin)—which is the good of the being, i.e. the confluence of the being with proper function in nature, or for mental beings, with proper choice in Natural Law (or Rational Environmentalism). GOOD (male).
7. Bella (Italian...preferred by the author to the Latin "pulchritude" for multicultural reasons and the economy of two syllables)—which is the beauty of the being, i.e. its confluence with ascendancy or the "bringing out the best of itself and all around it. " BEAUTY (female).

Transcendental maleness (tm or "transcendentals") is an activating centrifugal outer-space seeking, sacrifice style of: res (a matter organizing, procreative seeking, fathering, corporeal principle); verum (a truth enhancing, social orienting, reality principle); and bonum (a good promoting, work succeeding, choice principle).

Transcendental femaleness (tf or "immanentals") is life-giving, centripetal inner-space seeking, elevating style of: aliquid (an identity-essence forming, unitive, mothering, activating principle); unum (a oneness enhancing, desirability unifying, family orienting, relational principle); and *bella (*a beautifying, elevating, total humanity enhancing, ascendant principle).

ADDENDUM II: The Five Community Universals (of Donald DeMarco):

1. DIGNITY: Man should always be respected as an inviolable end and never used as a means.
2. UNITY: Man should be honored as a totum and whole entity; and none of his parts should be treated in isolation of that whole entity.
3. INTEGRITY: Man's moral good should be upheld and his morality should never be divorced from his nature.
4. IDENTITY: Man has identity both as a member of the human race and as a unique individual and person; these identities should be valued and allowed to develop and no attempt made to deform or radically alter them.
5. SPIRITUALITY: Man's spiritual qualities should be affirmed, and no attempt should be made to reduce man to his material components or to limit man to what is merely natural.

Without the benefits that man stands to gain through the application of these moral principles, there exists the imminent danger of his falling victim to five forms of dissolution: (1) exploitation; (2) fragmentation; (3) disintegration-demoralization; (4) dehumanization; and (5) despiritualization.

ADDENDUM III: Celebrities and Non-Persons:

Celebrities are attention seeking unhumble individuals who inflate themselves (This definition excludes those who are celebrated because of their productive and/or self-sacrificing accomplishments. In contrast, celebrities who selfishly seek and artificially promote themselves are basically fakes. It is their show-biz glitzy self-promotion fakery which pleases or excites us preying on our suggestibility making us fools when we believe them. They usually take hours to be able to look the way they appear. Most celebrities are just dirty old men or will be. Their own extravagant relationships routinely fail proving they cannot stand each other once they really get to know each other. Their touted as spectacular actions, transcendentally failing time after time, prove what frauds they are. Celebrities can startle us by their excitement frenzy, but they cannot even be happy with themselves. That tells us something: That what celebrities show us is fakery, pure and simple, with rare exceptions. So do not spend your money or time believing celebrities—who glorify each other as being great people and great couples, but they usually are only great actors (which is non-being) and that is usually all that they are! It is a waste of time and energy (pollution!) to bother with them except for entertainment.

Non-persons are those unwilling to protect all members of the human species from natural beginning to natural end in the context of Natural Law. The most common non-persons around are abortionists, those who misuse words like journalists, those made crazy by sex, and those who wear little to no clothes. Basically, non-persons are those who reject Addenda I and II above. They have no dignity, unity, integrity, identity or spirituality; they have no truth, no good, no oneness, and no beauty. They talk dirty; tell lies; run around without clothes; hurt others unnecessarily; degrade themselves; and descend their beings to unnatural subhumaness. They deserve the respect they give themselves…which is why "critical talk" is needed for those participating in deformed subhuman sexuality.

ADDENDUM IV: Original Sin is suggestibility. Brains are suggestible...they play and replay what is seen and heard...like advertising, music, actions, words and ideas. Basically, if you see it or hear it, you will likely do it (I was told that by Adam and Eve at Mass one day). Thus, there should be Suggestibility Education Programs in every grade which teach all that is in this article as well as other factual information to discern the transcendental from the dross. The specific messages about suggestibility are:

1. Do not be so impressionable.
2. Do not be so gullible.
3. Do not be a "monkey see, monkey do copycat"—you are not a monkey.
4. Celebrities are fakes. It takes them hours to look like that and they get paid to carry on like that.
5. Believe nothing on television, in movies, on the internet, in the newspapers without two independent confirmations otherwise you will be buying junk stuff, junk food and junk ideas.

6. Do not believe or do anything except what is true, one, good, and beautiful, not what otherwise is usually done or believed by others.
7. The spirit life means that you are what you think...so think matter, identity, truth, oneness, good, and beauty, and all will be well.
8. In the long run, you will get, for eternity in Heaven, Purgatory or hell, whatever you have thought and done...so think and do what is true, one, good and beautiful.
9. Boycott all anti-spiritual dehumanizing degrading anti-nature glitzy nonsense from the uncivilizing unreliable untrustworthy press and media.
10. Do not be suggestible. You are not missing a thing.

Suggestibility Education Programs will protect brains so the ideas therein are real being and not unreal fantasies, lies, manipulations, propaganda and other patronizm based non-being. The "suggestibility disease" evils are: social engineering, collective unconscious, propaganda, public relations, Asch GROUPTHINK to conformity, Eichmann benign SUGGESTIBILITY and immunity to evil and to the unnatural, Milgrim SHOCKMACHINE OBEDIENCE to the immoral, Zimbardo POWERMADNESS control, LAW WORSHIP capitalist LEGALISMS instead of truth and justice, PRESSMEDIA fascist destruction of virtue and transcendence, BlackLivesMatter VICTIMISM paralysis into hate or dependency, and, worst of all, college professor INDOCTRINATION (instead of "education") and SEDUCTION of students into self-deluded self-righteous liberal mega-arrogance, and the absence of Nigro THEOGEOCALCULUS.--Those are why we had slavery, Nazism, Communism, Maoism and most other socially accepted cultural entropy so harmful to mankind and the planet. And today, these evils are now why we have abortion, assisted suicide, euthanasia, haremfeminism, gay genital maniacs and Islam. It is even more neurologically subtle with "mirroring neurons" leading to conformity and pathological over-empathy, i.e., by neuro-reflexes, we become "like" the people around us. SO EVERY CULTURE HAS ITS SUGGESTIBILITY DISEASE BAMBOOZLING AND CORRUPTING THE PEOPLE--and they do not like it when you tell them. (Joseph Conrad: We are the savages we think others to be. Mary Shelley: We create monsters who will kill us. Joseph Tainter: Great cultures collapse and dissolve. Norbert Wiener: Information spiritualizes. Sam Nigro: Words are angels.) Enlightenment-Age philosopher Voltaire said: “Those who can make you believe absurdities can make you commit atrocities.” Do not be a "mirror" of others unless it is virtue or transcendence. Thus, it is not just "fight or flight" with everything, but, instead: "Fight, flight, mirror, or ultimate human purpose (life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom, and death without fear). --Samuel A. Nigro, MD Copyright c 2016.

ADDENDUM V: Patronizm—Contemporary Journalism (From my article “The Results of and Psychological Causes of Contraception,” Social Justice Review December 1993, 209-213 http://www.catholicculture.org/library/view.cfm?recnum=721):

Today, the practice (“charade” really) of journalism is the patronizing of one group or another and the censoring of the rest—thus “patronizm.” The most accurate description of today’s press and media is: Patronizm, not journalism. Patronpaper, not newspaper. Patron press, not free press. Patronizer, neither journalist nor reporter. For those described, the First Amendment does nothing but give them immunity to truth, justice, the common good and trustworthiness. Most of today's "journalists" are self-promoting perverters of the First Amendment. Do not trust what you see or hear in the press and media.

Ideas as promulgated by today's press and media are usually of the non-being kind and mainly provide only vicarious living.

ADDENDUM VI: Natural Law Processing of Ideas and Feelings:

1. by being baptized as a dignified event and giving faith—"Woman behold thy son."
2. by being confessed into a unified energy spectrum giving hope—"Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."
3. by being holy communioned into an integrated field giving charity—"Oh my God, why has thou forsaken me?"
4. by being confirmed as an identifiable quantum giving prudence—"Into thine hands, I commend my spirit."
5. by being extremely unctioned as a spiritual singularity giving justice—"It is finished."
6. by being holy ordered into dimensions giving courage—"This day thou shalt be with me in paradise."
7. by being matrimonized into the liberty of uncertainty giving temperance—"I thirst."
8. by being in transcendental pursuit into the force of holiness giving grace—the earthquake.

Sacramentalized ideas and feelings give the full use of one's soul. All actions can be spiritualized by these eight processes and the metaphors available from the Last Eight Words of Christ, because all will be on the Cross at one time or another.

ADDENDUM VII: A summary, and more, of all the preceeding:

SO YOU DO NOT BELIEVE IN GOD?

THEN, STUDY THE EARTH WHICH IS AN INCREDIBLE MIRACLE WHEN COMPARED TO THE REST OF THE UNIVERSE....by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist, copyright 2019, (open access)...Each of the twenty listed scientific facts (There are more...) are incredibly improbable but absolutely necessary for life and love on earth. That all occurred is a massive improbability justifying a Creating God of Love.

Scientific Proof of God--SUMMARY (from Cosmic Dei--In God We Trust by Samuel A. Nigro, MD copyright c 2019 open access): Scientific probability for human life on earth....The probability for each fact is reasonably "one in a billion"--1/1,000,000,000 =1 to 10 to the 9 (ninth) power (There are more, but these 20 are sufficiently overwhelming.).

1. Big Bang 13.8 billion years ago--a punctate energy dot containing all space time continuum--from "somewhere," and "you" were there somehow in the Eternal Statimuum of URAT (UnRestricted Act of Transcendence known as God).
2. The earth at precise circular stable orbit about the sun for billions of years-necessary for life.
3. The earth spinning at a precise 24 hour daily stable life-enabling basting from the sun for billions of years.
4. The earth being at a precise stable distance from the sun so that life temperature is routinely between life-incompatible freezing and life-destructive boiling for billions of years as it is in the rest of the universe.
5. The earth being struck by a massive planet creating huge earth gaps for oceans with one-tenth of the earth-debris from the collision condensing into the life promoting moon.
6. Water fills the huge gaps for oceans resulting in the earth being 70% life necessary water.
7. The molten core of the earth results in electromagnetic field protecting earth life from lethal rays flooding the universe.
8. The earth core exerts a precise gravity enabling stable movement and interaction of all creatures.
9. The moon causes the 23.5 degree life-promoting tilt of the earth necessary for stable warming temperatures as occurred for billions of years.
10. The atmosphere becomes a delicate and iconic 78% nitrogen, 21 % oxygen, 1% argon, and 0.04% carbon dioxide--necessary for life so evident as we cope today with pollution induced atmosphere-climate changes.
11. The astonishing forms of "fire" enable molecular entropy into pollution/sin and synthesis to molecular attraction/spiritual love-necessary for life.
12. All amino acids in nature are formed 1/2 right-handed and 1/2 left-handed, rendering impossible that all living creatures including humans are all composed of only left-handed amino acids.
13. The presence of 118 elements of periodic table on one planet--the earth--is another "one in a billion" probability because all other planets have only one or two elements.
14. The organization of 14 elements into plants is another impossibility necessary for life.
15. The organization of 11 elements and 14 toxic-unless-"trace" elements into humans is another impossibility for life.

16. The accumulation of 3.3 billion amino acid base pairs for the human genome since first monomolecular life began 3.5 billion years ago cannot be proven by evolutionary scientific calculations. Darwinian evolution is scientifically unsound.

17. The creation of humans, most likely in Africa, with their Spiritual and Religious supra-natural Consciousness-of-Consciousness seeking the common good from Nature, Natural Law, and Nature's Loving God, is inspired by 1-in-a-billion ancient parabolic messages and instructions from God to Jews and Christians--enabling life being aware of itself and able to go beyond confinement to materialism.

18. The arrival of Jesus with enlightening messages on life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom and natural death without fear, is a one-in-a-billion historical fact, helping life as spiritual love returning to its origin.

19. The 1-in-a-billion creation of the Roman Catholic Church brings the Love of God (URAT) and awareness of the scientific multiverses of the Universe, Heaven, Purgatory, and Hell ("multiverses" identified hundreds of years before science postulated them).

20. The creation of all the Transcendence of being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good and beauty in today's world consistent with Sacramental Life and the Last Words of Jesus on the Cross are 1-in-a-billion Spiritualization and Deification of the earth undeniable by humans.

Closure: The probability of our lives from the Big Bang is the remote "20 listed probabilities over 10 to the ninth power, multiplied sequentially by itself nine more times (to total '9 squared')" ("Probabilities" are not added, but multiplied--The multiplications of probability denominators to the ninth power will actually have "180" followed 30 zeros. To multiply fully nine more times is to get improbabilities in the millions of digits.). Anyway: Thank God. Savor the earth. Savor life. And savor the messages from Jesus who told us all this in parables and metaphors given to the ancients who did not have the science to really understand, but somehow knew there was Spirit in their thinking beyond just the material. The probabilities means Earth, Life and Humanity are unique in the Universe and must be gifts from God who reached out to us by Jesus so that Love (which is God) would return us to Him. This is a scientific understanding from the impossible probabilities required for our existence. And if you do not know and live this, you are an ungrateful, unhumble pollutant who needs to study the earth more and throw off the childhood learned evils. The improbability of one life offering planet in the universe means we should take care of it by caring for each other as the Creator has enabled love. The earth is a miracle and we should respectfully care for it and all on it by love.

IMPLEMENT THESE PUBLIC HEALTH MEASURES (and post) TO HELP EVERYONE IN THE WORLD--

by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, copyright c 2020, OPEN ACCESS.

1. In general, all infectious diseases enter through the mouth. Thus, MOUTH CLEANING helps prevent infections from nesting there and infecting the rest of the body. The mouth should not be the home for and source of microbes and toxins that reduce health. The use of triple antibiotic ointment renders very unlikely that an organism can triple mutate to survive three antibiotics at the same time. The addition of salt to the triple antibiotic and higher stannous fluoride toothpaste will destroy most organisms and toxic chemicals. Excepting physical damage, almost all dental problems are due to infections. Systemic antibiotics and all ingested meds will not work well or get to therapeutic levels in the mouth were learned in the Navy Submarine Service. The recommended topical mouth cleaning and medications will reduce cavities, root canal needs, and unwanted toxic and infectious agents. I have not had the flu, colds, GI disturbances, or dental problems for years because I do this mouth cleaning especially if exposed to anyone ill. I do it daily and more if I feel a sore throat, cold, fever, gastrointestinal upset, or anything else coming on---and I have not developed any full syndrome for years. This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

2. The clearing of the lungs by routine PULMONARY HYGIENE of deep nasal breathing and coughing is necessary with today's air pollution. Keep your lungs clean by nasal inhaling mouth coughing hard twice a day at least...you will get more oxygen which will help every organ. This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

3. SAMMO--SAM More Oxygen is basically NASAL BREATHING IN AND OUT WITH MOUTH CLOSED. Nasal breathing uses less oxygen by diaphragm muscles used when breathing. More oxygen helps every organ. Doing the SAM (Shutmouth/Airin&outnose/Mouthshut) properly gives better performance, longer performance and faster recovery for every activity because those extra few oxygen molecules help. Training yourself to breathe with mouth-shut/air-in-and-out-the-nose will keep you healthy. Doing the SAM rapidly for 100 times (about once every second) with first sign of muscle cramps, fatigue, anxiety, panic, anger gives amazing relief, but you have to have established the SAMMO as your routine day and night so you remember to do it when stressed (Athletes should ink "SAM" on their wrists). This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

4. Stopping snoring is the greatest beneficial simple health promoting action you can take. When you go to sleep, lay on your side, shut your mouth and breathe in and out through the nose. Practice it as soon as you get into bed. If you snore, you need a partner to shake your shoulder, tell you to "roll onto your side," tell you to "close your mouth" while gently pushing your mouth shut with a finger, and then firmly telling you to "breathe in and out only through your nose." After while, you will respond like Pavlov's dog to the shaking of your shoulder and the rest. SNORING IS THE BIGGEST UNRECOGNIZED HEALTH HAZARD IN HISTORY. Snoring leads to overweight because low oxygen increases appetite and all chronic snorers have big bellies because they "belly breathe" and overeat trying to compensate for low oxygen. Snoring leads to sleep apnea causing more hypoxia; and hypoxia weakens all organs microscopically leading to more cancers, malfunctions, and diseases. Snoring means lung accumulation of atmospheric pollution and more pulmonary problems over time. Whatever you do, stop snoring for yourself and all others. You will stay young better. This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

5. Unnatural sex makes one crazy as Freud discovered. Learn how to mock immodesty so it does not make you into someone you do not want to be. This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

6. Today's press&media cause more disorders than anything else because so much of what you hear, read and see from the press&media are sensational fictions--and "the creation of non-being" is a definition of "evil." Confirm everything you get from today's journalism which is an epidemic of suggestibility diseases trying to sell junk, from food to ideas. Seek Truth, Oneness, Good and Beauty--Ignore and reject information sources not so committed. This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

7. Respect and revere the earth. Remember that science proves that God created the earth and that the "common good" is "Nature and Nature's God" as in the Constitution of the US. Learn the NEWIDEAS. This should be routine in hospitals, intensive care units, nursing homes, and wherever you live.

Why You Are Stupid To Go To Medical School

(Copyright) by Samuel A. Nigro, M.D. October 11, 2007 (revised July 2008)

"We have a socialist communist system of distributing health care."
Economist Milton Friedman (This is an outrage to those of us who served in the military for the Cold War against the Soviet communists. I want my four years in the US Submarines back!)

You are a fool to go to medical school today ... that is, if you want to take care of patients. In brief, you will be a slave working without full payment or self-control, and you will not be a full US citizen entitled to free enterprise. Regardless of your ideals and lofty aims, medicine is no longer a "profession" – It is not even a trade in that you could not strike if you wanted to. Medicine is a slick, contemporary form of slavery in the United States—or at least indentured servitude. Oh, you will be able to take care of a few patients and have the gratification of seeing them get well, and you may be able to pay off your medical school loan and raise a family after 20 years or so, but it will be nothing like the genuine Hippocratic traditional practice of medicine—wherein you can be committed to your patients and be able to listen and treat therapeutically as well as be paid adequately without hassle for services provided. But whatever your dearest fantasies and dreams are about healing the sick and relieving suffering and making a comfortable living, sadly, it will not happen. Actually, medical schools do not care if it happens anymore.

The American Medical Association. You will be working for everyone but yourself and your patients. This is because the American Medical Association (AMA) has been co-opted by the health insurance industry junta. The AMA has become a multimillion dollar business publishing code books and administrative control techniques so that physicians are deprived of the free enterprise system. And the AMA's Ten Principles of Medical Ethics would let you run a concentration camp and an abortion mill. The AMA has sold out and is a fraud of what it used to be. The most it really cares about after its publishing business is malpractice insurance—all the rest is public relations glitz.

Medical Schools. You will be working for everyone but yourself and your patients. This is because medical schools have sold out the Hippocratic Oath which can only be really effective if physicians and patients are free and independent and deal primarily with patients and each other. Now, the Hippocratic Oath only enables the HMB i.e., the health megabureaucracy (the government and private health insurance industry), to shame or force doctors into giving free care. Basically, medical schools have become creators of stooges for the government and the health insurance industry, the goal of which is to pretend to provide health care, brag about it, and exploit both patients and doctors. To be honest, the HMB should take over medical schools—which will doubtless become non-functional after several years, like most everything else the government does which it should not do. That would serve right all these grandiose politicians, who do not give a damn (they never ask) what doctors think or need. And after a few years of these medical graduates, it will be safer to go to your barber than to your doctor when you are sick. Yes. The barber surgeons will return.

Medical Charts. Your medical care will have patient charts filled with useless administrative papers making privacy to be a joke. There will be a deluge of requests for information by groups too lazy, too cheap, or incompetent to do the work themselves so they rely on your information, which later will be claimed to be not good enough for you to be paid. You will not be allowed to select your own service and diagnostic codes unless agreed upon by HMB deadbeats, and their choice of codes will shortchange you. There will be ridiculous Big Brother printouts of all the meds the patient has ever taken with recommendations to save the HMB money (I always gave these printouts and anything else received to the patients and asked them to write those who sent this phony pharmacy and other junk demanding corrections as well as requesting explanations about something inane. The patients hardly ever hear back—Just like all big administrative crooks, the HMB does not have to respond to all questions received while demanding you do. If every body asked them a zillion questions, they would go nuts. DO IT! I learned in the Navy that two can play this paperwork game. On the other hand, the HMB does not really mind because they can employ more do-nothing busyworkers that way and inflate themselves as "bigger."). There will be notes from busy groups galore...Medicare, Medicaid, Workers Compensation, the FBI, employers, schools, social service organizations, pharmacy management groups, courts, lawyers, loan agencies, home repair services, apartment houses, the gas, phone, and electric companies, and transportation companies, and it seems everyone wants a piece of paper from you about your patient. Whatever you write will likely be good enough for all, except for those who are supposed to pay you. Regardless, your fees will be routinely contested requiring you and your office staff to beg and crawl like administrative lap dogs whimpering to robotile phone or paper shuffling health care authorizers who are medical idiots not caring at all about real care—their job is to block or delay payment by keeping you on hold, by menu instructions that go nowhere, by fax phone numbers that do not work, and by useless busy work protocols developed by employed traitorous physicians who failed in trying to do what doctors regularly do (so, naturally, they work for the HMB). You will subsidize the HMB by having to hire secretaries to do tons of billing paper work which the HMB should be doing. The HMB will almost always find a mistake requiring rebilling...this will be done three times for most bills before you can get paid—and it is all a contrived administrative fraud to delay or prevent prompt payment (The HMB could not function if it collected its premiums the way it pays its bills). You will want to take care of patients, but more and more you will become an angry bewildered frustrated physician spending an outrageous amount of time doing administrative office crap mumbling over and over "I did not go to medical school for this" instead of caring for patients. And those medical school loans....you will have them for a long time—the HMB will see to that...it keeps you dependent on them.

Secretary for the World. You will not be a practicing physician but a secretary for the world for health care, providing private medical information to an army of intruders into that care. As a physician, you will be in an administrative police state closely scrutinized by second guessing "I could have done better..." "Why didn't you do...?" "You should not have done...." "You do not need to do..." "Prove to me that the patient really needs..." from lawyers, reviewers, authorizers, judges, reporters, and pharmacists. And if you complain to the state insurance authorities about Medical Mutual, for example, you will be fraudulently investigated by deep pocketed Nifongs who will ignore recent audits which found nothing. The main role of all these intruders into your practice will be to maintain their busywork jobs for themselves, to parasitize and intimidate physicians and to delay or prevent payment under the glib denial that such was necessary for your care of patients. You see, to create problems is to create their jobs—that is the HMB.

Pharmacists. You will be hounded and badgered by all, including pharmacists who are frightened of their own shadows having become police state Pecksniffians following the Big Book of Pharmacy which is outdated, incomplete and partially incompatible with good patient care. Pharmacists will unethically (Actually, pharmacists have no ethics) and anti-therapeutically abuse your patients who will regularly be made to feel worse than when they arrived at the pharmacy. You will waste an incredible amount of time talking to pharmacists over one inane question after another allegedly necessary for them to dispense the medicines.

You will have to help your patients deal with pharmacy abuse—some patients will want to commit suicide and even kill others in a rage after visits to pharmacists (It is only a matter of time when an enraged patient will wipe out a pharmacy—that is neither a suggestion nor an apophasis but a prediction). Your letters to the Pharmacy Board will do nothing, because it tends to be filled with implementers of 1984 (the book) or else with frustrated flim-flam physician wannabees mad at themselves and everyone else. Pharmacists have become a know-it-all, arrogant, second guessing, show-boating, self-importance-creating group caring not about patients but about "pharmacy rules" which, if physicians had to follow, would be dangerous to patients' health. Stupidly thinking medications are interchangeable, pharmacy management groups will want to change and substitute your prescribing in order to save the HMB money, when the real way to save health care dollars would be to shut down the HMB. Thinking they know it all, pharmacists will badmouth you and your patients, jeopardizing the doctor-patient relationship and injuring patients by creating anxieties and aggravating mental states. Pharmacists neither know nor care about anything except Big Brother Pharmacy Board supercontrol such that all patients are crocks and all doctors are crooks. The most enjoyable part of being a pharmacist now is that feeling, right or wrong (usually "wrong"), of "Gotcha!" (Mike Nifong also lives in pharmacy land!). Most of these pharmacy crimes are linked to HMB schemes to obstruct care, to delay or deny payment, or to force patients to pay for the prescribed medicines themselves. The HMB has turned "pharmacy" into a public health hazard.

PIFATOS. Occasionally, but not frequently enough to matter, patients, if well attended, will be grateful and loyal to you for responding to their needs. After I quit most of all the HMB and had my patients pay at the time of service, I was gratified and flattered that so many did so. Not needing any clerical help, they pay me and I give them a receipt with diagnosis and service code telling them, "You fight with your insurance company idiots yourself...and write the state insurance board and governor if they will not reimburse you...it will cost them to write defending themselves...serves 'em right." If you are good with your patients, they will come up with the money. Indeed, if you want to treat patients, the only way you can really enjoy the practice of medicine today is: Payment In Full At Time Of Service (PIFATOS)—That should be the only administrative payment method for outpatient medical care allowed by law. Until then...forget about medical school!

Salaried Positions. Oh, you may get a salaried position which seems good. But you will be beholden to many and taken advantage of terribly, because it is an absolute loss of automomy and deprofessionalization without the advantages of employment law. All the benefits your employer will offer, from baseball tickets to retirement plans, will have loopholes leaving you nothing and likely unable to practice within 100 miles upon your leaving them for whatever reason. And if you hang on, your employer will gradually squeeze you for fees, for memberships, for insurance, for donations, for extra unpaid work, for more service for less, and for whatever they can extort from you. Salaried positions are a bait and switch slow burial. Most will be sorry.

Bad Patients. Usually, by law, you cannot unload deadbeat problem disrupting patients without extensive documentation. So I have my patients sign a treatment agreement which includes they have automatically fired me as their doctor, if (1) they fail two consecutive appointments without sufficient notice; (2) payment is not made as reasonably billed; (3) a complaint is filed without being processed or arbitrated with me; (4) medications are misused; (5) controlled medications from another source are obtained without informing me; (6) an appointment is not made and kept at least every six months; and/or (7) they have personally mistreated or abused me. That you are married to your patients until you follow a long legalistic divorce process is a form of slavery.

The Parasites You Will Carry. Here is a partial list of parasites you will carry on your back: (1) Law schools parasitically flourish because more and more attorneys can be graduated because they will be able to creatively impose more and more anti-professional legalities on your practice. Soon you will need a lawyer or court reporter present for every patient visit. (2) The HMB will parasitically receive at least $600 billion dollars (more than the defense budget) each year from you and other physicians. Those dollars do not change a bandaid, but go to the HMB: to CEOs earning thousands of dollars an hour, to other parasitic executives, to bewildered auditors, robot reviewers, Nifong investigators, and to an army of desk jockeys—none of whom deserve a dime of those health care dollars. (3) The private health insurance companies parasitically pay out your patients' health care dollars to stock holders, which is an absolute obscenity—years ago I instructed my retirement plans never to purchase any stock in any health insurance company—I would not call the fire department for any of them. I will not provide care for anyone who works for the HMB. Let their hired consultants take care of them—that way they all can die in house. In fact, there ought to be a law that all employees of the HMB can only use HMB consultants for their health care (at which time we all should buy stock in funeral homes). (4) Politicians are parasites by their using medicine as a dance floor on which they pompously prance and preen claiming health care for all by sub rosa communism with the exclusion of a minority group (physicians) from the American free enterprise system. And they do not give a damn what physicians think either. Basically, politicians are either pimps or whores for the HMB, and one cannot be more parasitic than that. Look at Hillary—she wants a nazi-communist system second to none with her cronies in charge. You have to be stupid to go to medical school with her ilk in the wings.

An Army is Against You. You will never be able to deal comfortably or efficiently for long with the HMB because it is an army of administrative thieves and communists whose jobs are to make empty bags for you to hold. That is, once a critical mass of physicians figure out how to use the system effectively, it will be changed. Period. There is always a new hotshot jackass administrator with a better idea on how to rip off physicians—and he will make the new HMB rules to be imposed. The HMB will solicit patients promising everything but they will refuse to pay without useless reviews by people who could not provide the care. There will be deliberate delaying of payment for what you do as a physician whether your patient gets well or not. The health insurance industry develops, finds, and fabricates reasons to delay payment or just not pay. Basically, if the health insurance industry collected premiums like they pay appropriate bills, they would be broke.

The Legal Profession. You will discover the legal profession is a joke usually having little to do with justice but with show business and suggestibility. Nomogenic disorders ("lawyer made diseases") are present as an epidemic by spontaneous generation. "Lawyers" are ripoff exploitation experts totally self discredited because their income is directly proportional to the messes they make and then pretend to clean up for and with each other—it is called "mutual job security." "Judges" are ex-lawyer political hacks, arrogant in the permanence of their jobs, wondering all the while about nothing except "looking good" to the press and media. "Expert witnesses" are dummies mouthing whatever ventriloquist lawyers have paid for. Indeed, the integrity of the legal profession can only be re-established by a book of fixed fee codes for every completely documented service—It happened to medicine; it must happen to the law. In terms of direct patient care, the legal profession is a parasitic plague.

Your Only Friends. The only real friends for physicians are, and hopefully will continue to be, pharmaceutical companies. This will be so until private health insurance companies take over pharmaceutical companies which should be against the law. You will never be more happier that you are not a physician than when the king of thieves, Medical Mutual, takes over Pfizer. One can only hope that Pfizer et. al. will take over and Americanize Medical Mutual and all the other nazi-communist private health insurance companies injuring the people.

Pretending Will Not Work. As a potential student, as a medical student, and as a physician, you will try to rationalize all this away, make nice, and pretend all is well. But sooner or later, you will recognize all this is true. You will regret becoming a physician. You will wish you never had. You will look for other work and if you are honest, you will tell everybody you know.

Fake Physicians. There are a few exceptions and these are basically the physicians who have sold out and who are employed by the HMB itself. These pseudophysicians forgot why they went to medical school and will give you a "song and dance" routine worthy of "The Sound of Music." Do not believe them. They are "administrative physicians" which really means they have failed clinical practice and found a fake medical niche in which to survive as a "so-called physician." Administrative medicine is inversely proportional to clinical expertise. Period. Half of them could not find a bleeding elephant in a snow drift. Any doctor who works for the HMB is a traitor to the Hippocratic traditional practice of medicine and to the profession of medicine itself, or whatever is left of it. These creeps do not deserve the title "M.D." Never call them "doctor." Never address with "M.D.". Use "hey, you" and first name only.

Dumbing Down is Here. If you are smart, you will not go to medical school. Dumb people will, and that is just what the HMB wants. It is now a downward spiral. Your ideals will be overwhelmed. And no one cares. But they will when they get a dumbass doctor (probably a "shouldabeenapharmacist" who cannot figure out that he is neither free nor a full American citizen—He will fix them fine—they will die young.

Leaders Who Have Sold Out. In closing I must remind that there is a pattern here in the genocide of physicians and medicine as a profession. Scholarly, mild mannered, erudite gifted and talented leaders established and maintained rapport with the brutal enemy universally encouraging compliance all the while "hoping for the best." And such always has been and always will be a disaster. This pattern has happened once before in a much more malignant way, and is well described in Zygmunt Bauman's book: Modernity and the Holocaust. When leaders sell you out; enable administrative control; encourage compliance and cooperation; use group pressure to overcome moral and ethical matters; censor, shame and ostracize those who object; dilute and diffuse responsibility; use technology to blunt morality; authorize questionable actions as routine; conceal adverse outcomes; argue pseudo-rationally and rhetorically; counsel "hope for the best" or "save what you can;" use science as a bludgeon to dehumanize and kill the conscience; and mouth grandiose purposes to achieve utopia pretending "it will be all right," not only will a profession of hundreds of thousands of physicians die but, by the same type of leadership, millions of people were murdered. Read Bauman's book! His answer was and is, in one word: Defy! (The Jewish leaders should have counseled fight, run, and disrupt; make it difficult for the enemy; kill when you can; make them suffer and work hard to get you; it will be horrible and the outcome may be the same, but evil should not have an easy way. The estimate is that half of Nazi murdered Jews would have eeked out a survival had they not listened to their leaders who made it easy for a few Nazis to kill millions! If the Warsaw Uprising happened everywhere, the Nazis would have had to stop and never would have murdered as many as easily as they did.)

DEFY! DEFY! DEFY! You will have to act ala Winston Churchill: Defy by pretending to go along but sabotage all you can. Defy by withdrawing from all Medicare, Medicaid, HMOs, Medical Mutual (for sure), and all the other goose-stepping communists who have taken over medicine. Defy by PIFATOS. Defy by promoting Health Savings Accounts for yourself, your family and patients. Defy by refusing to comply...or at least create administrative mischief day in and day out with one question after another. Defy by accepting no fax or phone calls, but letters only. Defy by having your staff, during slow times, make one nuisance call after another to the HMB asking for written responses and clarifications. If you know a computer geek, defy by disrupting HMB computers. Defy by giving wrong identification numbers for your small amount bills making them waste time correcting your fabricated mistakes (That is what they do. What goes around, comes around). Defy by asking for copies of all the signed contracts of each and every patient ("for the record" of course) and all the organizations' rules at least twice a year—then pitch it—and have each of your patients do the same (They are entitled to all this!). Defy by asking for CVs and backgrounds of all non-physicians who communicate with you about patient care. Defy by demanding "universal care" be defined as "the universal immediate payment upon receipt of any and all medical bills." Defy by stinking heavy "radiation" marked packages from no where? Defy by never referring to physicians (or Leviathans as the Cleveland Clinic et. al.) who collaborate with the HMB nazis and communists. Defy by selling and bad mouthing all private health insurance company stocks. Defy by never supporting and refusing to have anything to do with any organization that has a HMB executive on its corporate or overseeing board. Defy overtly and covertly—lie to them—say "yes" and forget about it; set up lunch meetings but have an "emergency" at the last moment. Never go to meetings where they are presenting as set up by AMA finks—register, but do not show. Defy by returning all their mail except payments. Defy by not going to medical school until the system has changed. Or if you do go to medical school, defy by working to institute the "White Paper On Medical Financing" (Journal of American Physicians and Surgeons, 11, 3: 86-91, Fall 2006 and on internet at http://www.jpands.org/vol11no3/schlafly.pdf and "Patient Care" from http://www.cesj.org/homestead/summary-cha.htm;

Until then, you are stupid to go to medical school.

To Live and Die in Philadelphia

The abortionist's house of horrors.

BY JOSEPH BOTTUM

Dr. Kermit Gosnell's clinic at 38th and Lancaster

Dr. Gosnell was a little befuddled at his arraignment on January 20. Indicted for eight murders, the Philadelphia abortionist told the court that he understood the first count, a charge of third-degree murder for the death of a woman on whom he had operated. He didn't understand, however, the seven other counts—the first-degree charges for the deaths of seven babies delivered alive and then killed in his clinic.

No, "clinic" is too antiseptic a word for what the 69-year-old doctor ran for over three decades in a small brick building on the corner of 38th and Lancaster in Philadelphia. A grand jury, led by district attorney R. Seth Williams, began investigating Kermit Gosnell's abortion practice when a drug raid last February (the man ran a profitable side business in dodgy painkiller prescriptions) revealed conditions almost beyond belief.

"Pennsylvania is not a third-world country," the grand jury felt compelled to insist in its brutal 261-page report, and it's a bad sign when you have to preface your description of an American medical office with those words. But this was a story of rooms sticky with the remains of old placenta and fetuses, reeking of urine and feces from the cats that wandered freely through the building, echoing with the screams of women forced into labor and then abandoned for hours. "Furniture and blankets were stained with blood," the grand jury wrote.

> Instruments were not properly sterilized. Disposable medical supplies ... were reused, over and over again. Medical equipment ... was generally broken; even when it worked, it wasn't used. The emergency exit was padlocked shut. And scattered throughout, in cabinets, in the basement, in a freezer, in jars and bags and plastic jugs, were fetal remains. It was a baby charnel house.

Pennsylvania may not be a third-world country, but its abortion mills—like those in most other states—really are reminiscent of one: free and independent entities, uniquely exempt from supervision and regulation, carved out from the rest of medicine. Every other kind of doctor is weighed down by record-keeping and inspection requirements. Abortionists alone are free. "Pennsylvania's Department of Health has deliberately chosen not to enforce laws that should afford patients at abortion clinics the same safeguards and assurances of quality health care as patients of other medical service providers," the Gosnell grand jury explained. "Even nail salons in Pennsylvania are monitored more closely for client safety."

The reason, of course, is what such medical practices involve. Ever since the Supreme Court issued its Roe v. Wade decision in 1973, ending states' power to outlaw abortion and making it instead an individual right, abortion has distorted American law and snarled American politics. Why should it be any surprise that it has soiled American medicine as well? People like Dr. Gosnell are allowed to exist by the pro-abortion lobbying groups that insist ordinary medical supervision will lead to a curtailing of access to abortion in this country.

As it happens, they're right. Partly that's because laws concerning medical licensing genuinely do offer a chance for pro-life state legislatures to hurt the abortion business by burdening its practitioners with extensive paperwork and expensive equipment. The activists at NARAL and Planned Parenthood are not exactly wrong to worry about what they call TRAP laws (Targeted Regulation of Abortion Providers). And yet, there's a more serious reason that medical supervision threatens the abortion license in this country. It's what ordinary medical regulation and supervision would reveal: the fact that the abortion business is the gutter of American medicine.

Make no mistake: Abortion genuinely is a business in the United States, and a big one. The grand jury estimated that Gosnell was bringing in nearly $1.8 million a year, mostly in cash, by performing ordinary (or "just a little illegal") first- and second-trimester abortions with his untrained staff every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday night. No one knows how much more he made from the operations he apparently performed most Sundays: the abortions so late in the third trimester that he allowed only his wife to help with them. Add what he made by writing prescriptions for narcotics—he was one of the top three Oxycontin prescribers in the state—and the man was running his own little mint on the streets of Philadelphia.

In a powerful recent account of Gosnell's house of horrors, Politics Daily editor Melinda Henneberger found herself surprised when she began adding up the abortion stories so grisly that they had managed to break through into the news over the last 20 years. New York's Abu Hayat, for instance: "The Butcher of Avenue A," who killed a 17-year-old girl in a botched abortion and then denied ever having her as a patient. Or the Florida clinic that delivered a baby at 23 weeks and threw it out, alive, in a nearby garbage can. Or New Jersey's Stephen Brigham, who was operating on women in a van, driving them from state to state in the midst of their abortions to skirt laws against late-term procedures.

And now we have Kermit Gosnell, our third-worlder, our poster child for the deadly meeting of shady business and political activism. Gosnell managed to destroy enough records that he was indicted for only the seven cases of infanticide for which sufficient evidence remained. But those cases are enough to sicken anyone. The baby he delivered alive at seven and a half months, for instance—then snipped its spinal cord, packed it in a shoe box, and joked that it was so big it could "walk me to the bus stop." And the 28-week-old baby whose corpse was discovered in the clinic packed in a frozen water bottle. And the baby who lived for more than 20 minutes before an assistant finally came in and cut the spinal cord "just the way," the grand jury was told, "she had seen Gosnell do it so many times."

This was a man who, in hundreds of cases over more than three decades, performed abortions by delivering live babies and then severing their spines with scissors. He routinely overdosed his patients with painkillers and labor-inducers, used instruments infected with venereal diseases, and killed at least two of the pregnant women on whom he worked by perforating their wombs and bowels.

Many people knew what was going on at his Philadelphia clinic; several filed complaints with state and local agencies. But nothing was done, and at the time of his arrest, he hadn't been visited by a medical examiner for 17 years. As the grand jury noted, with the change of governors in Pennsylvania in 1995—when the pro-abortion Tom Ridge replaced the pro-life Bob Casey—"the Pennsylvania Department of Health abruptly decided, for political reasons, to stop inspecting abortion clinics at all," as "officials concluded that inspections would be 'putting a barrier up to women' seeking abortions."

Who could wonder why Kermit Gosnell was confused at his arraignment? No one had stopped him before. No one in more than 30 years had questioned him. No one had ever given him a signal that he might be prosecuted for performing abortions by inducing overmedicated third-trimester labor and then chopping through the spinal cord of the living result. No one had ever dared call his abortion business murder.

No one, in fact, had ever told him he wasn't the absolute ruler of his own little third-world country. ♦

MEDICAL PREDICTIONS FOR 2017...

By Samuel A. Nigro, MD. Copyright c 2017 retired, deplorable ad hominem pamphleteer, clinical psychiatrist, Case Western Reserve University and University Hospitals---

1. The administrative control of medical "care" by the Third Party Conglomerate will continue to exceed the cost of the US Defense Budget and reach about one-fourth of the Gross National Product by 2020--and the public will still not be able to find out how many desk clerks are employed by Medicare, Medicaid and the other medical system parasites in the Third Party Conglomerate who tell physicians how to practice the conglomerate's pretense of the Art and Science of Medicine. Because of parasitism on physicians, the Third Party Conglomerate will employ the largest number of non-medical workers in the US. To return to the traditional Hippocratic medical practice model would put millions out of sham unnecessary redundant "work" and save enormous amounts of money for health care.

2. Medical schools will withdraw from and close their medical educational systems unless purchased for 2.5+ billion dollars apiece by the communist socialist Third Party Conglomerate tyrants. Insurance companies will take over and fund medical schools and reimburse all their employed physicians for the cost of their medical educations, internships, and residencies. Medical schools are now mainly "job trainers" of indentured servant physicians for insurance companies. Hippocrates is dead and physicians must unionize so they are not completely enslaved.

3. Half of all physicians will withdraw and go into law schools replacing the current capitalist money-making fascist pseudo-profession "law" with "Legicare"--a clone of the "medical" Third Party Conglomerate (but selling "legal" rather than "medical" insurance), with complete codification, regulation, determination and payments of any and all activities by all in the legal system including judges, prosecutors, attorneys, and employed bureaucrats from the White House to pharmacists and secretaries. The total "cost of the law" for the country will finally be known and something done about it. Medical fees will continue to pale compared to the arbitrary thievery of legal fees--the people need cost protection from the law more than from medicine. The cost of "the law" in the United States is outrageous which is why they will not calculate it. The attached "Anti-Corruption Amendment" will be added to the US Constitution, but is unlikely because those in the law are incapable of "providing for the common good" when it comes to regulating themselves as they have self-enrichingly regulated others.

4. Medical students will be finally told what has happened to the Medical Profession. They will no longer be willing indentured servants, will resign, but complete their education by joining the other half of all physicians who will provide, fee-at-time-of-service only, Neighborhood Health Services out of large medically equipped buses as scheduled for routine visits every month. Computer-phone contacts with patients will enable unity, efficiency and effectiveness. Medical records will be Hippocratically totally closed again so that non-medical fascists cannot take over again. Patients will be taught health care self-responsibility themselves, no longer needing the administrative ordure from the gang of Third Party Conglomerate desk-phone-paper bureaucrats who never changed a band-aid.

5. All patients needing more than Neighborhood Health Services will be referred to the nearest offices of the CEOs of local Third Party Conglomerate which have replaced traditional Hippocratic Health Care system. As Saul Alinsky would do, all citizens with questions and problems will be sent to the CEO's outhouse to wait all days until serviced completely. Hundreds will show up with reading material and their own folding chairs until completely attended to by the Conglomerate know-it-alls. The same will happen to those politicians refusing to pass the attached Anti-Corruption Amendment.

6. Physicians will cure the current delusion and cancer of law worship. The law will recognize that it can more reasonably regulate the weather than medical care. All laws governing health care will be repealed and ignored as unethical, anti-social, anti-medical, anti-patient impositions outside the area of expertise of law, since it impinges on and destroys the Learned Profession of Medicine. The Art and Science of Medicine are too inexact and complex for rigid unchanging laws which are routinely dated, routinely unreasonable for many patients, necessarily ignored, and forgotten about as medicine changes and is filled with exceptions and contradictions, which the law will no longer decree as "illegal," "criminal activity," or some other pompous stupid money-making legalism. All in the law will get their health care from the offices of the CEOs of local Third Party Conglomerates. Physicians who have become lawyers or practice "forensic medicine" will no longer be considered "M.D.s" because they are turncoats who have helped destroy the free and independent Medical Profession.

7. All physicians possible will be maliciously over-criminalized and incarcerated after refusing legal counsel (which cannot be trusted, so you are likely better off trying to do it yourself), because the law is usually nothing but a contemptible Scrabble Game of Legalisms run by money-first fascist chauvinists, the most convincing liars in the world, and mini-gods (called "judges" who only listen to conviction-rate eager prosecutors and malicious investigators both of whom should have all they claim confirmed by audio-cameras) bereft of truth and justice. Still, the law does reduce chaos by organizing lies and evil.

8. State Medical Boards will be done away with as non-Hippocratic self-deluded, self-righteous, pseudo-medical, arrogant, legal paper-work maniacs, from whom most determinations should be overturned because of baleful lack of decent Constitutionally required "due process."

9. Medicine will cure law worship, and the "Anti-Corruption Amendment" will be adopted. In addition, my engineering paper "How the World Turns Evil--Abortionismo" will become common knowledge so the people will understand how this evil culture which destroyed the Learned Professions came to exist, how the current unConstitutional establishment of law worship will end, and how the Medical Profession can be born again with the Oath of Hippocrates in charge. And, I should add, the Divinity Profession will be allowed free exercise again for the Loving God as the Founders prescribed.

10. For physicians, the "right to life" will be rejuvenated as the "right to a natural death" for all who are "created equal." All will have the right and obligation for a natural death. "Lethal force" will be a legal process as it has always been--This means that abortion, suicide and euthanasia will be only done by those in the legal system. That is, judges, prosecutors, politicians, and attorneys in that Justice Center's sphere of involvement would be required to rotate performing the procedures (on a full average week load basis at least once a year?) so that income will be reasonably distributed. Clearly, the procedures have been confirmed as safe, simple, easily done with low probability of complications especially for assisted suicide and euthanasia. Abortion is perhaps the most complicated, but anyone who knows how to have sex, could easily master the machines for early abortions consistent with good legal practice. Justice centers would provide easily accessible (almost "drive through") clean, comfortable, warm, quiet, relaxing rooms with good social-service-like attorneys offering support and assistance while the judges et al demonstrate the acme of their legal powers--lethal force. All procedures are to be routine courses in all law schools--(only 4 days would likely be required--one day each for assisted suicide and euthanasia; 2 days for abortion), with one day of observing the lethal force practice at the Justice Center. Naturally, those with conscientious objection would be excused, but teachers at local law schools would be required to perform abortions, assisted suicide and euthanasia to help implement justice at the Justice Center as well as get their share of the income, i.e., legal ethics require equal opportunity for money. Physicians will be available whenever the lawyers and judges fuck up as they always do.

11. All Third Party Conglomerates must be ranked in the following manner – each one of these carefully thought out categories can comprise a formula for understanding which health insurance companies in the United States should be allowed to exist. I have written many companies for this information – they have it – they don't want to tell it – they are power-corrupt criminals and soviets and nazis!

The following numerical categories must be provided and explained by every health insurance company on an annual basis:

1. DOAR - Days on Accounts Receivable: On average, how many days does it take to pay bills?
2. IDR - Income/Disbursement Ratio: What is the company's annual income compared to the annual payments for health care?
3. PPIFFS - Percentage Payment in Full First Submission: What is the percentage of payments in full for first time received billings?
4. PTTP - Percentage Transferred to Patients: What is the percentage of billings transferred to patients and not paid by the insurance company?
5. PRB - Percentage Reworked Billings: what percentage of bills require re-work?
6. ARTR - Average Rework Time Required: What is the average rework time required for payment?

7. PDPR - Percent Denials Phone Repair: What percentage of denials require phone call to repair?
8. PDWR - Percent Denials Written Repair: What percentage of denials require written repair?
9. TDP - Time from Denial to Payment: What is the average time from initial denial to full payment?
10. APP - AveragePayment Time: What is the average time to pay bills after initial receipt?
11. PL - Percent Lost: What is the percentage of claims "lost in transit" or "not on file?"
12. What is the administrative time for subscriber payment versus provider payment?
13. PPZ - Percent Paid Zero: What is the percentage of claims not paid or paid at zero dollars?
14. PAPPP - Prior Authorization Percent Performance People Profit: How is "prior authorization" managed - Percent used? Performance type and efficiency? Qualifications of people involved? Profit provided to company by obstructing health care with sham "preauthorizations" or reviews prior to care?
15. PD/SC-R - Provider Disbursement/Subscriber Collection Ratio: What is the ratio of administrative staff and time to pay bills from physicians versus administrative staff and time to collect monies from subscribers?
16. IE - Incentive Equality: Are incentives for prompt payment to physicians also offered in the same way for prompt payment by subscribers?
17. ASSO - Alter Stable Systems Opportunities: How often is the payment system changed besides whenever most physicians have figured it out?
18. PIG - President's Income Grab: What is the health insurance company's president's income grab, i.e., how many health care dollars does the president of the company take for salary?
19. EVIL - Executive Value Insurance Loss: What is the executive value insurance loss, i.e., how many health care dollars are spent on administration and all non-medical and or non-direct care "services?"
20. DUCKA - Doctors Under Contract Kissing Arse ("Quacking" for short): How many non-practicing physicians are employed by the company to maintain the facade of medical care? Who are they (Please send CVs)? Do their medical schools all know what these graduates are doing? Having helped destroy the Medical Profession, do they still add "M.D." to their name and pretend they are physicians?
21. NME - Non-Medical Employees: How many employees have no formal clinical and/or academic medical education? This constitutes what percent of all employees? Are certified copies of education certificates made available?
22. For office waiting rooms to inform patients where and how their health care dollars get stolen and might get recovered, please provide copies of all administrative employee manuals.
23. ZI - Zimbardo Imitation: Percentage of duplication of Zimbardo's

Prison Experiment, i.e., to what degree has "powermadness control and conflict" resulted from the insurance/third party company's takeover of the Medical Profession?

[5] BUKHARIN, criminal and victim...like the rest of us in a totalitarian society

By Samuel A. Nigro, MD January 1, 2014

Witness by Whitaker Chambers was never more spiritually informative than this excerpt from the book describing his communist colleague and friend's last words to his judges:

> Bukarin, it must be remembered, was literally innocent. He is guilty only of the logic of his position in the fact that, in the given historical juncture, the position which he held in theory, might, if pushed into the realm of practice, work against the revolution. It is his uncommitted crime that he pleads guilty to. He said: "I shall now speak of myself, of the reasons for my repentance…For when you ask yourself: 'If you must die, what are you dying for?'—an absolutely black vacuity suddenly rises before you with startling vividness. There was nothing to die for if one wanted to die unrepentant…This, in the end, disarmed me completely and led me to bend my knees before the Party and the country. And when you ask yourself: 'Very well, suppose you do not die…suppose by some miracle you remain alive, again for what? Isolated from everybody, an enemy of the people, in an inhuman position, completely isolated from everything that constitutes the essence of life.' And at once the same reply arises. At such moments, Citizen Judges, everything personal, all personal incrustation, all rancor, pride and a number of other things, fall away, disappear….I am about to finish. I am perhaps speaking for the last time in my life."

No doubt, this is the paradigm for all government law: that that one must perjure oneself by plea bargains of guilt for uncommitted crimes in a legal process:

(1) in which statements by attorneys, prosecutors and judges not sworn are not covered by statutes prohibiting false statements;

(2) in which all most all legal documents are excluded from the search for truth--(Legal records must be as open as medical records now are); and

(3) in which the plea bargained promised silence of the prosecution is a meaningless lie to promote the prison industry.

Even without death sentences, government law deals death when Truth, Justice, Reason and Commonsense are not genuinely sought. The only differences between different governments' system of laws, from Soviet to Sharia to American, are the moneys made and the victims targeted. Government law's main purpose is to love itself and become totalitarian. If anyone doubts such, just read Bukharin and this dissent again.

A Suggestibility Prevention Program—
Not true, not one, not good, not beautiful?
FORGETABOUTIT!" ...becoming immune to the craziness of the press & media and other evils

by: Samuel A. Nigro, M.D.
April, 2008
retired---deplorable ad hominem pamphleteer

Preface (December 2016): Created by the suggestibility diseases, today's "millenial generation" are mindlessly celebrating a virtueless, genderless world of unnatural sex and jealously based hatred of and violence to the Christianity that gave them all the positives of the world. The world of today is almost totally "unreal" and "non-being". It is all fantasy. The "suggestibility disease" evils are: social engineering, collective unconscious, propaganda, public relations, Asch GROUPTHINK to conformity, Eichmann benign SUGGESTIBILITY and immunity to evil and to the unnatural, Milgrim SHOCKMACHINE OBEDIENCE to the immoral, Zimbardo POWERMADNESS control, LAW WORSHIP capitalist LEGALISMS promoting the acting out of emotions instead of truth and justice, PRESSMEDIA fascist destruction of virtue and transcendence replaced by liberal "feelings", BlackLivesMatter VICTIMISM paralysis into hate or dependency, and, worst of all, college professor INDOCTRINATION (instead of "education") and SEDUCTION of students into self-deluded self-righteous liberal mega-arrogance, and the absence of Nigro THEOGEOCALCULUS. Those are why we had slavery, Nazism, Communism, Maoism and most other socially accepted cultural entropy so harmful to mankind and the planet. And today, these evils are now why we have abortion, assisted suicide, euthanasia, haremfeminism, gay genital maniacs and Islam. It is even more neurologically subtle with "mirroring neurons" leading to conformity and pathological over-empathy, i.e., by neuro-reflexes, we become "like" the people around us. SO EVERY CULTURE HAS ITS SUGGESTIBILITY DISEASE BAMBOOZLING AND CORRUPTING THE PEOPLE--and they do not like it when you tell them. (Joseph Conrad: We are the savages we think others to be. Mary Shelley: We create monsters who will kill us. Joseph Tainter: Great cultures collapse and dissolve. Norbert Wiener: Information spiritualizes. Sam Nigro: Words are angels.) Enlightenment-Age philosopher Voltaire said: "Those who can make you believe absurdities can make you commit atrocities." Do not be a "mirror" of others unless it is virtue or transcendence. Thus, it is not just "fight or flight" with everything, but, instead: "Fight, flight, mirror, or ultimate human purpose (life, sacrifice, virtue, love, humanity, peace, freedom, and death without fear)--The best way to do this is to treat all journalism and media as manipulation and suggestibility not worth a dime. Worst of all: the people themselves are turned into liars in imitation of the press. --Samuel A. Nigro, MD Copyright c 2016.

ABSTRACT:
Fifty years of information technology has overwhelmed the Church's traditional role as the source of all that is true, one, good and beautiful. Therefore, Original Sin prevails as humans have been proven to be gullible and suggestible about anything if it is packaged sensationally. Suggestibility Prevention Programs can help everyone understand ways to cope with antitranscendental messages flooding us. The soul is analyzed transcendentally, and reference material is provided to help all, especially youths, to not be so suggestible and gullible. Until this is done, the Church will always come in second to the suggestibility experts of current information technology.

Problems today for the Roman Catholic Church devolve to one major sin of omission: the failure to adjust and cope with information technology, a problem first addressed in 1994 by my pamphlet "And Satan Turned Into An Angel Of Light." The problem persists and dates back to parable of Adam & Eve being "suggested" to not "eat" what Satan offers. One report says that one-third of raised Catholics do not remain in the Church, while the dearth of vocations to priesthood and religious life speaks for itself…and the reason is that the five decade culture of information technology suggests (seduces to) other ways of thinking and living ("Seduction" is almost always equivalent to "suggestibility" in this article). Indeed, with the flood of messages and suggestions from the world wide web, one hardly knows what to read much less what to believe.

To counter this, I now offer a Suggestibility Prevention Program, not to stop suggestibility itself which would be impossible, but to help all learn to avoid being suggested to evil i.e., to avoid being seduced to sensationalism, emotion, unreason, fantasy and non-being by the mass media of pretendvision (television, movies and internet) and of liarpresses (the liberal press) all without allegiance to much more than disgust, death, sex, and evil (the pursuit of non-being).

The contemporary press and media are generally nothing more than suggestibility machines and manipulation gadgets, used to get people to believe and do what the owners of the press and media want and are willing to accept. Those in charge of these mind control monstrosities are usually "liberals" meaning they are relativists i.e., open-minded for anything except that which they really do not like, at which time they become fascists causing the named "Free Flow Of Information Act" to be a joke. But "suggestibility," their suggesting, is the name of the game, and their brutal intolerance of that with which they disagree is never seen as self-contradictory and self-discrediting to their eager so-called openness (liberalness) to all things.

Actually, suggestibility is proof of the Bible story of Adam and Eve. The serpent suggested (advertised, sold) the idea that they would be like God and live forever if they ate the forbidden fruit when, without realizing, they already were made in the "image and likeness of God" and if living rightly would already live forever. Thus, as satanically suggested, they made the wrong choice and broke the up to then automatic transcendental existence for all humanity. "Choosing wrong" became possible, and suggestibility (the convincing of another by rhetorical power), first offered in the biblical story, became part of human nature, also proving that some myths are true. Basically, Original Sin continues as man's suggestibility, and it haunts us day in and day out, especially with the advent of current slick information technology flooding us in our homes, cars, theaters and everywhere. Information technology is a "look at me", "believe me," "do what I show and tell" suggestibility contest (and, more often than not, if we see it, we will do it, proving Original Sin). Information technology today has only a facade of logic and cares little for "reality" except to occasionally claim it.

It is evident that ever since Adam and Eve, humans have competed for what and whom to believe. We all offer suggestions, this paper being an example of such. However, being reminded that we are in a continuous showbiz circus of suggestions can reduce impulsiveness and thoughtlessness in making choices about what to believe and do. Further helpful is the truism that a major way to confirm the acceptability of any suggestion is that the ideas offered can be applied to themselves, something rarely true outside of what is compatable with Natural Law, the metaphysics of St. Thomas Aquinas and the Transcendentals.

Given all that, it is time for Suggestibility Prevention Programs to help everyone understand that we are being suggested to, manipulated, and shamelessly influenced to believe and act in certain ways never more enticing, seductive, and slick than with and by the contemporary press and media imposing what is paid for and what is demanded by whoever is paying. Without proper understanding of this, people have been and will be suggested to do almost anything—from running around naked to running concentration camps and everything in between.

Especially, youth and the immature are prone to be suggested into all sorts of anti-transcendental aspects of existence which do little for the common good and are against individual positive development. Finally, the flagrantly stupid self exposures rampant on the world wide web are unimpeachable proof of the need for Suggestibilty Prevention Programs. Something is clearly needed to better prepare all youths, including the college and university bound, for the pandemic of liberal assaults on life, family, country, God, and virtue.

Twelve Elementary Suggestions to Prevent Suggestibilty

Beginning in grade schools, calculated educational efforts and experiences need to be taught on a regular basis about "not being so suggestible or gullible." Consistent with that, the following suggestions are made:

1. A newspaper or media story would be brought in daily and reviewed with an effort to identify suggestions if not errors in the article and discern what the writer was trying to get you to believe and do. An atmosphere of healthy doubt will occur in the discussions of alternative ways of presenting and interpreting the information provided. The universal questions will be: Why is this information presented this way; what do they want you to buy; and is it junk food or junk ideas? These questions should be automatic with every statement in the press and media not only in newspapers but in what is seen in television, movies and on the internet. Make no mistake about it: Every word in the press and media has been chosen to suggest something to you.

2. Suggestibility Prevention Commandments to be learned:

1. Do not be so impressionable.
2. Do not be so gullible.
3. Do not be a "monkey see, monkey do copycat" – you are not a monkey.
4. Celebrities are fakes. Actors are fakes. It takes them hours to look that way and they get paid to carry on like that. Consider none of it to be real. Be who you are. The seeking and promoting of non-being is evil unless known to be entertainment.
5. Believe nothing on television, in movies, on internet or in newspapers without two confirmations. The most you can usually hope for is to be entertained.
6. Do not believe, do anything, or imitate except what is true, one, good and beautiful no matter what is done, offered or believed by others.
7. Materially, you are what you eat. But spiritually you are what you think and will become what you think and do ... so think matter, identity, truth, oneness, good and beauty, and all will be well or better.
8. In the long run you will get for eternity (in heaven, purgatory or hell) whatever you have thought and done ... so think and do what is true, one, good, and beautiful. You are what you think, and you will get forever in justice in an afterlife what you think and do on earth as a reward or punishment as the case may be—so do what is transcendental so you will get what is transcendental!
9. Boycott all antispiritual dehumanizing degrading anti-nature glitzy nonsense from the uncivilizing unreliable press and media. Do not spend your life doing, thinking, or promoting unreality or non-being.

10. Do not be suggestible. You are not missing a thing. Do the transcendentals and avoid evil!

These prevention commandments are to be learned and discussed thoroughly.

3. On a monthly basis, review portions of "Satan Turned Into an Angel of Light..." so that the entire pamphlet is covered each year.

4. On a quarterly basis, review portions of "Yuk, the Press and Media." This book provides the vocabulary and imagery necessary to prevent the ethnic cleansing routinely offered by the slick press and media.

5. Because of the flagrant exploitation of human sexuality, the dysphoric but exciting, the vulgar but sensuous, the antisocial but exhilarating, the destructive but satisfying, and the antiplanet but self-inflating sexuality imposed by the press and media, more than anything, needs defusing and reduced to elementary understanding in order for people not to be suggestible and not to have to imitate all the unnatural polluting crudities seen. Sex sensationalism will never be minimized so it must be defused by repetitive clarifications that, for all the animal kingdom of which man is a part, sex is for reproduction. Period. When not for reproduction, sex is animal cruelty, a form of excretion, or non-being. Any exceptions are isolated deviations readily discerned as abnormalities from environmentally sound nature. Thus, contemporary non-marital human sexuality flooding the world is behavioral pollution and, pure and simple, against the animal kingdom, the planet and nature. Non-reproductive sexuality is a form of excretion better known as "sexcretion," which is to dediaper each other and bring one another to "squirt/moan" or "slime/squeal" anyway possible. Such sex polluting ideas are primarily due to the press and media suggesting ejaculation (a simple neurological reflex) and its anticipation as the ultimate all-encompassing life experience to vulnerable excitable suggestible people, especially youth. To offset that, the attached Addendum: "1 Page Suggestibilty Education And Sex Education For All People" needs yearly promulgation in all schools. To allow this simple ejaculation reflex to be supreme ruler of the brain and body is absolute idiocy even if everyone suggests that should be the case.

6. Suggestibilty is made more salutary if the meaning of the soul is taught and reminded of daily as the personification of one's Transcendentals. The soul is the personification of the permanent things in our existence. That is, all being at the human level needs Transcendental awareness and Transcendental projection because that is the only way to "save" our souls. All else, all else, is impermanent.

The soul contains six discernible components of being known as Transcendentals: the embraced material substance (res), forming identity (aliquid), truth (verum), oneness (unum), good (bonum) and beauty (bella). To relate in tune with the universe and all Nature, to be Catholic encompassing all possible, to be genuinely free, and to "save one's soul," each of the six dimensions listed of the soul needs to be enthusiastically promoted and projected at all times. The Transcendentals are basic elements to genuine humanbeingness:

1. The embraced-by-the-soul material substance (res) of one's being must be fostered, cared for, and engaged in and with the world. Res is our body. It must be used. It is our matter and our organizing fathering capacity.
2. One's forming identity (aliquid) must be established and allowed full and free expression in confluence with the essence of humanity. Aliquid is the activating gentle mothering capacity, giving identity and essence to all.
3. The truth (verum) of one's being must be kept consistent, conforming and in social reality confluence with one's self, one's family, one's community, one's species, the planet and the universe.
4. The oneness (unum) of a being is the unifying of desirables into a totality of being as oneself relates from family to the universe.
5. The good (bonum) of one's being must be projected in confluence with Natural Law. That is, Natural Law as it is perceived and understood must be followed and chosen. One must be environmentally sound not only in terms of the planet and nature but in terms of one's own personal beingness as part of that environment. Human beings as individuals must be environmentally and behaviorally real and consistent with nature. Bonum is choosing transcendental work and life.
6. One's beauty (bella) must be projected in confluence with the uplifting dimension of being. That is, the best must be brought out in one's self and in those capable of being influenced. Bella is the elevating and ascending of self and others.

These six components of our souls, these Transcendentals (material substance, identity, truth, oneness, good and beauty), are how each human being needs to grasp the awareness of and to project in consciousness the transcendental embracing of all one deals with by intellect and will. In total, these six Transcendentals personified are one's soul embracing the body as a composite person being. The soul contains not only our body but in equal proportion an identity, a truth, a oneness, a good, and a beauty, all of which need equal attention and expression. When one starts treating all of them as our body (res) is treated, the whole universe changes and we become immune to non-being (and able to resist the pursuit of non-being, which is evil, overwhelmingly offered and suggested by most of the press and media,).

7. Something must be provided, offered, imposed, suggested, of course, which is transcendentally sound to functionally replace all the exciting glitz, the psychological nonsense, and the bewildering confusing idea pollution continuously flooding the suggestible world. Not only must all be warned and trained not to be easily suggestible, but something must be offered to take the place of what is seen and heard—not only to replace it in space but with insight, understanding, and functional positive alternatives, i.e., to replace non-being with being itself. Thus I recommend "Chapter 12: Gifts of the Holy Spirit, Virtues and Sin" from my book Happy Ending. To know what sin is, to know what salutary habits are, and to know the influences to virtue, is to be able to recognize evil (sin) when being suggested, the appropriate methods of coping (virtues), and the motivation to do what is transcendental (the Gifts of the Holy Spirit). In fact, almost all psychology can be replaced by this chapter which is more valuable than any suggested psychological fantasized processing. (Almost all psychology is irrelevant non-being when compared to the knowledge of sins, virtues and the Gifts of the Holy Spirit; because whenever psychology provides valid interpretations, documentations and actions, the meanings and significance thereof are fundamentally and incontrovertibly in terms of sin and virtue, a fact usually overlooked, ignored or denied. Even with volumes of Freudian or scientific data, all psychology can be replaced, in the final analysis, by a knowledge of sin, virtue and the Gifts.) In short, the information in these pages should be an annual educational experience because they will be more explanatory and functional for the common good and for individual positive development. Truly, "humanbeingness" cannot be understood without understanding sin, virtue and the Gifts of the Holy Spirit.

8. The Ten Commandments of CounterSecularization are to be studied learned and taught yearly. These are attached or available by email as a separate article.

9. A work of art poster "WHY BURN A FLAG WHEN YOU CAN BURN A NEWSPAPER?" is offered as a classroom aid. It is the first "PRESS ED" ever offered anywhere. It provides all the vocabulary and information needed to understand and cope better with the press and media. It was first promoted in 1991 as something to "immunize…to cope with PAMS…the Press-And-Media Syndrome (the most devastating mind-killing disorder in the history of the world)." An enlargement of this poster should be in every classroom.

10. The JOURNALISM ETHICS AND PUBLIC SERVICE AWARD was begun in 1994. It conveys information exhaustively helping to understand and diminish the suggestibility of the press and media. Never has the press and media been more accurately described. This is an essential study deserving distribution to all in every school on an annual basis. Actually, almost all in the press and media should be mockingly referred to as "American Royalty." The New York Times and Hollywood represent the castles, and all in the press and media in general represent the worst of all kings and queens who ever lived. They have ordained themselves for the people as divine providers of outlandish pretenses of justice and charity by unconditional legitimacy and authority to manipulate and suggest their beliefs. The American Royalty provide government of the press&media, by the press&media and for the press&media. Never call any of them "journalist x" or "actress/actor x" or "editor x" and so on, but "royalty x!" It is "The New York Times royalty" or "Hollywood royalty"—they know it all, are in charge of everything, and are never wrong—THEY ARE ROYALTY in the worst sense, and they should NEVER be allowed to forget it.

11. The article "Ideas: You Are What You Think" describes how we turn into that which we see, hear and believe, obviously true if one follows those who left the Church for the suggestions of the mass media.

12. Finally, Suggestibility Prevention Programs are needed to enable all to be able to focus on what is really salutary. The distractions from the press and media are so overwhelming that people have lost the ability to participate rather than just mindlessly wait for entertainment. The passivity of doing nothing, of thinking nothing, and of inactive thoughtless watching flickering lights and reading ink smudges without really participating in an activity, is detrimental to one's being. A good example of that is the losing of participation in the Mass by passive numbness as described in "The Lack Of Survival Stress" available by e-mail.

Conclusion:

Recognizing and promoting A Suggestibility Prevention Program will be to move to the new world, the new age, the new millennium, the new man (male and female), and to assist in the prevention of suggestibility for all that is antitranscendental. And maybe the Church will be able to offset the avalanche of seductive suggestions from the press and media. Furthermore, the projection of one's personal Transcendentals will enhance the bursting forth of peace on earth. By suggestibility prevention, people will be better immune to the Culture of Disgust and the Age of Anathema both characterized by labial linguistics, proctological exuberance, flirtation with feces, boobsolatry, phallic abuse, psychological hubris, willful entropy, and violence ... in other words, the defeat of the Mortuary Life and escape from "the fallen West" and from "the pagan (demanding agreement to non-being) non-West." So stand aside to protect your own but vigorously challenge all suggestions against Transcendental life, taking comfort in your loneliness, because while the mass media gives little, the rain Baptizes, the wind gives Penance, the bright warm sunlight gives Holy Communion, the cold gives Confirmation, the heat gives Extreme Unction, the lightning gives Holy Orders, and the thunder gives Matrimony. By the Transcendentals, suggestibility becomes salutary and the Sacraments are everywhere; the Incarnation is completed; Redemption is in hand; and Resurrection is just around the corner. But you will hardly ever get any of that from the press and media but a myriad of suggestions for non-being. That is, all sorts of non-being are offered by the mass media seducing all from the transcendental life,…and, once again, the pursuit of non-being is evil. The more evil one does, the more one's being is annihilated and one is converted into that black hole of negative nothingness wherein one repeats for eternity against oneself all the evil (promotion of non-being) one has perpetrated while on earth. But by following and living the Sacraments, one's identified matter flows on a transcendental conduit of truth, oneness, good and beauty, to and through eternity. All you have to do is reject Original Sin by not being suggestible to non-being and what is not real. And, then one can relax knowing that Easter is coming.

You are what you think. You will get what you do. Be transcendental not suggestible. A Suggestibilty Prevention Program is needed.

Subject: PLEASE READ WITH CARE!

Because my money through economic assistance was confiscated by CHILD SUPPORT AGENCY and given to my ex, who is a mean spirited DemocRAT and have a solid job, which pays her (b) (6)
(And eventhough I get to see my son (b) (6) > 5 minutes/(3 weeks) and I still have to pay half of my income of (b) (6)) This is going on since many years (maybe about 12 years by now)
I dislike DemocRATs! Because they twist everything and EXAGGERATE all things to oblivion just to have their way!
And one tiny thing is exaggerated to extreme hights for many years to come and they make it so impossible to move on, it is like dagger stuck in lung and you can't breathe!
My ex lied many years ago in the court and got her way for so many years, because she is an American born American and I'm naturalized American Citizen. And American women most of the time winns and naturalized Americans loose court battles, because the women know how to exaggerate and twist and the judges are unfair against naturalized immigrants (Americans)!
Many years(maybe 12) ago, my ex was chopping carrots and NOT listening to what I was trying to talk about (Child related issue), And because she had secretly a girlfriend and screwing me over with this leftist lesbian and wanted to annoy me to force me grab the knife she was using to chop carrots and threaten her!
My ex is another lesbian too, which I didn't know and realized before, (BTW: I have nothing against lesbians) because I'm a true Christian and never suspected anything in that direction).
I couldn't do anything but just drop my jar like a stupid idiot after she called the police on me and throw me on the streets. I had to sleep in a tiny VW for several weeks parking on different streets!
Anyway, I'm truly sorry, if I had any money, I would have been delighted to help and truly honored to give some of it to our President Donald J Trump for participating in his election campaign, believe me, I'm a true RepubliCAN, but my monthly income is chopped down to (b) (6)
My Ex is still getting half of my income, because of my son (b) (6) , who since (b) (6) and lives with his mom since (b) (6) , his mom's home, which is (b) (6) away from my apartment (his mom's name is (b) (6) And my son or his mom most likely will continue to get half of my income until 18, what an exaggerated and DemocRATic INJUSTICE: or we could call it a LONG time RAPE!
I'm permanently disabled handicap!
I should be getting (b) (6) where I end up getting (b) (6) , half is cut for child support and still have to pay (b) (6) rent!
I'm Catholic and most likely will get some small financial assistance from Catholic church to bridge this gap! If the Catholic church didn't help me with food AND once a year with some cash, I could have never ever made it so far and never ever survived!

GODshall bless all RepubliCANs and true Catholics and DAMN blood sucking DemocRATs and lesbian leftists to the gutters of oblivion and HELL!
Would you PLEASE help me if you can?
I'm permanently disabled handicap and still have to pay my upcoming rent, which is (b) (6) (I'm going to ask the Catholic Church, but I'm not so sure if the time has passed enough to be once a year!
I have explained that Catholic Church will help me once a year, but that is not written in stone.
And I have very hard time to understand how this is so messed up by the evil spirited Devil!
If you want to make this public, PLEASE do so, because I will support you with all my heart, existence, soul, choices and my desires!
And I would cooperate fully with anything originating from your house!
Would you PLEASE help me?

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- Ensures that a person's race, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status, or actual or perceived health status is not a barrier to accessing care or subjects them to harassment, ostracism, racism, or other stigmatization;
- Takes concrete, deliberate, and targeted measures to address and prevent discrimination and stigma, protect all individuals from mistreatment, and prevent scapegoating of individuals or groups; and
- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,

Dear recipient,

Before I elaborate further One can sort or find Conspiracy and attempt to defraud United States of America government along with the citizens of this country as well as countries governments abroad and it's citizens hom one or a group of people that have knowledge of the human research biomedical program are not only making fictitiously claims against such but they are still in commission of the same unlawful acts while being allowed to do so by our judicial government thorough knowledge of su h acts then turn around and render I (b) (6) an email address like I'm a third party or an employee without giving I the option to opt-out nor made any in person appointment with any government with regards to the service I been providing , let along obtains any passwords or security clearance. Why it's so fast to arrest blue collar criminals versus White collar criminals? I always have the reasonable logical answer to that specific question with regards to what I just ask right above. A biomedical Ponzi scheme!

If I send you an email from a specific Email provider than I cannot be the person who send the same email or message from a different device, email handle, different email provider, and quite honestly that would be unconsciously admitting to spying on someone or conducting electronic surveillance, if one take the time out to think about the subject matter I wouldn't send a person the same subject matter a different way nor using a different platform, location, electronic external device, email provider, email handle, username or etc.

Hacking is a retrieval of information from a file directory while hacking is never sending the same information that was retrieve the same way that it was hack, when hacking in general is nothing more than a manipulation of files like antibodies and if the hacker is sending information they're using another application or communication mechanisms.

Anybody whom provide a service such as a musician gets paid a flat fee not like an employee from a customer or client and an employee can't compensate another employee for their labor or service that's render or furnished by such employer even though I be glad when I can leave this town due to circumstances because these suckers ass professionals be letting people call them without thoroughly knowing the people who calling them and allowing them to tell others on what they should do with their money that somebody didn't earn the currency with initially for their service they provided as a ghost writer and spread their lack of knowledge throughout the world like they really know where there materials or content derives from like they Chief operating officer, software developer, engineer, or employer of the entity when in fact they're an outsider pretending to be such person whom are capable of providing such answers like a sitting president with regards to the subject matter that elaborate on below in this electronic letter.

E&C ANNOUNCES FULL COMMITTEE HEARING WITH TRUMP ADMINISTRATION HEALTH OFFICIALS ON COVID-19 RESPONSE

Jun 15, 2020
Press Release

Energy and Commerce Chairman Frank Pallone, Jr. (D-NJ) announced that the Full Committee will hold a hearing on Tuesday, June 23, at 11 a.m. (EDT) in the John D. The hearing is entitled, "Oversight of the Trump Administration's Response to the COVID-19 Pandemic."

"There have been a lot of unfortunate missteps in the Trump Administration's response to the COVID-19 pandemic," Pallone said. "This hearing will provide us an opportunity to hear from key Administration health officials about what is working, what still needs to be improved and what more Congress can do to help. As communities across the country ease social distancing guidance and reopen their economies, it is critically important that both the Administration and Congress remain focused on containing the spread of the coronavirus and providing the resources and support Americans need during this time of crisis."

The following witnesses are confirmed for the Full Committee hearing:

Anthony S. Fauci, M.D.
Director
National Institute for Allergy and Infectious Diseases
National Institutes of Health

ADM Brett P. Giroir, M.D.
Assistant Secretary for Health
U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

Stephen M. Hahn, M.D.
Commissioner
U.S. Food and Drug Administration

Robert R. Redfield, M.D.
Director
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Official meetings of the Committee and its subcommittees are broadcast and available on the Committee's website: www.energycommerce.house.gov. Please note the webcast will not be available until the hearing begins.

Information for this hearing, including the Committee Memorandum, testimony and a live webcast will be posted HERE as they become available.

Subject: Fwd: Supreme Court rules existing civil rights law protects gay and lesbian workers

Ms Emily, while I'm comforted to be extended civil rights protection under Title 7 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 as a gay man, I'm concerned that the Trump administration has rolled back health care protections for gay people such as myself in health care.

UCSF is a Catholic institution and UCSF medical center was forced to distance themselves from their Catholic affiliation due to their unequal treatment of gay people. It has been brought to my attention by health care professionals at non Catholic affiliated healthcare institutions my face would not have been butchered and left like it is at their hospitals.

Let's assume going forward, as I continue to participate in my recovery from substance abuse, I'm 36 days clean and sober today, that UCSF medical center has my best health care interests at heart and my face is going to be restored to the best of Dr. Knott's ability and everyone at UCSF Medical Center.

I've always had a great time meeting with Dr Knott, I'm sure my upcoming appointment on (b) (6) will be comforting, professional, informative and fun; we usually have a few laughs together, he's very nice.

I was surprised by how my face looks after a half dollar size spot of squamous cell carsinoma was removed and why we are more than two years out from the facial reconstruction surgery I was promised. My substance abuse has a role in this delay, however, just because I'm an addict in recovery doesn't mean I should be denied health care.

I'm sure things are going to be ok moving forward, especially if I stay clean and sober.

UCSF medical center MyChart asks me to identify my sexual orientation and I identify myself as gay.

Thank for your ongoing support and patience.

[redacted], not just any Civil Rights Laws; gays lesbians transgender people are now included under Title 7 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The magnitude and surprise of this decision is stunning. This happens because of people like you, advocating on our behalf. Thank you.

This 26 year old Israeli could have been saved with the (b) (5) method I sent out months ago.....take out 250cc's of his infected blood, treat it with medical grade ozone/oxygen, neutering the virions. IV the blood back into the 26 year old. Do this for circa 7 days (irrespective of Shabbot!!!). The neutered (dead) Covid virions will have caused a sufficient number of antibodies to be activated to fight off the remaining antigens in the 26 year old's body. He would have recovered.

Tony Fauci: I volunteer to demonstrate this to you!

Youngest Israeli victim: 26-year-old man dies from rare complication of COVID-19

Oshri Asulin, from Kfar Saba, said to have developed heart condition usually only found in children

By TOI staff14 Jun 2020, 11:35 pm

A 26-year-old man died Sunday evening from a rare complication of COVID-19, becoming the youngest person to die in Israel of the novel coronavirus.

Oshri Asulin, from Kfar Saba, was sedated and in intensive care for over a month before his death, Hebrew media reported. He died at the Sheba Medical Center in Tel Hashomer, where he was being treated.

The Health Ministry did not immediately confirm him to be a fatality of the pandemic, which has claimed the lives of 300 other Israelis since the first outbreak in March.

Asulin was first diagnosed with the virus two months ago and initially had mild symptoms. His condition deteriorated and he then developed a heart condition that has been reported in a small number of cases of children who also caught the virus.

Eventually, doctors decided Asulin should be sedated and put on ventilation. During his time in the hospital, he was resuscitated four times, according to the Kikar HaShabat website that caters to the ultra-Orthodox community.

Doctors around the world treating COVID-19 patients have in the past warned of a rare inflammatory condition that can seriously harm children with the disease. It was not clear from the initial reports if that was the ailment that Asulin developed.

His family said that Asulin had recently tested negative for the virus, but was still considered a COVID-19 patient, and was being treated in a ward for virus infections.

Asulin is survived by his parents and three brothers. He was to be buried in Kfar Saba later Sunday.

Kfar Saba Mayor Rafi Sa'ar said that, on behalf of all the city's residents, he was sending "a warm hug and my sincere condolences to all of his family."

A former IDF soldier, Asulin later became ultra-Orthodox and affiliated with a branch of the Brastlav Hasidic sect.

He was not known to have any preexisting health conditions.

The previously reported youngest COVID-19 fatality in the country was a 29-year-old woman who suffered from an unspecified terminal illness.

On Sunday, the Health Ministry said that there were 83 new coronavirus cases in the past 24 hours, the lowest rate in over a week, after top officials warned of a second wave of infection. The figures marked the first time since June 6 that the number of new daily cases dropped below 100.

Of the 3,380 active cases, there are 33 patients in serious condition, with 24 of them on ventilators, the ministry said. So far of the 19,055 people who have been diagnosed in the country with the coronavirus, 15,375 people have recovered.

The Arab Gulf states have no good options

The coronavirus pandemic and its economic fallout may rewrite the security as well as the political and economic map of the Middle East.

The United States faces a stark choice in the Middle East if it continues its "maximum pressure" campaign against Iran: confront the Islamic republic militarily or withdraw from the region.

Trita Parsi, executive vice president of the Quincy Institute in Washington and a former head of the National Iranian American Council, recently drew that harsh conclusion. No doubt, Parsi may be correct in his ultimate analysis. US-Iranian tensions could easily spin out of control into an all-out war that neither Iran nor the United States wants.

There are, however, shades of grey that separate longstanding tit-for-tat attacks on US targets – primarily in Iraq, occasional Iranian harassment of US naval vessels in the Gulf and sporadic US responses – from all-out war.

The United States and Iran have been engaged in tit-for-tats with varying degrees of intensity for years, and so far have avoided an uncontrolled escalation despite incidents such as the 1988 downing of Iran Air flight 655, which killed 274 people, and the assassination by the United States earlier this year of Iranian Quds Force chief Qassem Soleimani.

Leaving aside potential black swans, a likely scenario is that a US desire to reduce its commitment to the Gulf States, increased Gulf doubts about US reliability as a regional security guarantor and a new world in which Gulf and Western states struggle to come to grips with the economic fallout of the coronavirus pandemic combine to create an environment more conducive to a multilateral security arrangement – one that would reduce the risk of war, even if multilateralism seems to be on the retreat around the world.

General view of Saudi Aramco's Ras Tanura oil refinery and oil terminal in Saudi Arabia (Reuters/Ahmed Jadallah)

US President Donald Trump's threat in early April to cut off military sales to Saudi Arabia if the kingdom did not bury the hatchet in its oil price war with Russia, sparking the collapse of the oil markets, is an inevitable epic battle for market share.

More immediately, it drove the message home in Riyadh that US security guarantees were conditional and reinforced Saudi perceptions that the United States was getting disproportionately more out of its close ties to the kingdom than the other way around.

The Trump administration, in a little-noticed sign of the times, put Saudi Arabia in late April on a priority watch list for violations of intellectual property rights because of its pirating of sports broadcasting rights owned by Qatar's beIN television franchise. The listing threatened to complicate Riyadh's already controversial bid to acquire English soccer club Newcastle United.

It is still too early to assess the geopolitical impact of the global economic downturn. Depressed demand and pricing for oil and gas could enable China to diversify its sourcing and potentially reduce its dependence on the Middle East, a volatile region with heightened security risks. China imported 31% more oil from Russia last month while its intake of Saudi crude slipped by 1.8% compared to March 2019.

At the same time, low oil prices that make US production commercially less viable could temporarily increase Washington's interest in Gulf security.

Fundamentally, and irrespective of what scenario plays out, little will change. The United States will still want to reduce its exposure to the Middle East. For its part, China will still need to secure oil and gas supplies as well as its investments and significant diaspora community in the region while seeking to avoid being sucked into intractable regional conflicts.

US President Donald Trump (Reuters/Leah Millis)

By the same token, the gradual revival of economic life, including the probable phased revitalization of supply chains and international travel, combined with a need to rethink migrant worker housing and create local employment, could alter Middle Eastern perspectives of China's way of doing business.

China's Belt and Road Initiative projects often have a China-wins-twice aspect to them which, while they have always been problematic, will be even more so in a post-pandemic economic environment. China-funded projects rely by and large on Chinese labor and materials supply rather than local sourcing.

The People's Republic's "China First" approach extends beyond economics and commerce. In an environment in which the United States is an irreplaceable but unreliable partner, Gulf States may look differently at Chinese hesitancy to co-shoulder responsibility for regional security with the risk of having to involve itself in multiple conflicts from which it has managed so far to remain aloof.

The coronavirus pandemic is a watershed that will color Middle Eastern attitudes towards all the region's foremost external players: the United States, China and Russia. Prior to the crisis, Russia – the weakest of the three – was playing a weak economic hand well, but it may now find that more difficult.

Gulf States are likely to conclude that assertive go-it-alone policies are risky and only work in circumstances where big powers are either part of the ploy or look the other way – though they were easier to pursue in a stable economic environment in which their oil and gas revenue base appeared secure.

The UAE appears to have read the writing on the wall. It began a year ago to hedge its bets by reaching out to Iran in a bid to ensure that it would not become a theater of war if US-Iranian tensions were to spin out of control. Still, that has not stopped its support for rebel forces in Libya led by renegade Field Marshal Khalifa Haftar in violation of an international arms embargo.

Trump's threat to cut off military sales to Saudi Arabia should have driven the point home. Yet the kingdom and other Gulf States, which are financially and economically weakened, less able to play big powers off against one another and deprived of any viable alternative options, may find that a multilateral security arrangement that incorporates rather than replaces the US regional defense umbrella is the only security straw they can hold on to.

But in eventually attempting to negotiate a new arrangement, they may find they no longer have the kind of leverage they had prior to a pandemic that in many ways has pulled the rug from beneath them.

Dear Dr Fauci,
I write because I am extremely concerned about the health of President Trump.
I write to ask you to PLEASE consider arranging for President Trump to have an MRI. I believe that there is a strong possibility that the president could have a neurological condition. I suggest this as my husband is currently in this situation and the president appears to have many of the same characteristics as him.
I write respectfully and with concern and am hopeful of receiving a reply from you.

Dear Dr Fauci - as the frightened Canadian mother of a daughter living in Austin TX, I'm begging you to be brutal in your warnings to Americans. If you had answered when asked about attending the Tulsa rally, you should have shouted as loudly as you could - STAY HOME!!!

Yes, you would have been fired but honestly people have lost faith in you as you are unwilling to speak truth to power. Isn't it better to sound the warning and be fired than to be blamed for the hundreds of people who are likely to die of the virus? And he will blame you for not being more vociferous. He is a bully after all.

Trump should be blamed for holding the rally under unsafe conditions - disclaimer or not. (Which has no legal holding by the way as he knows the danger he is creating)

Please Dr Fauci, be the spokesman we need not a Trump lackey. Make a principled stand.

Praying for you and your fellow Americans.

Dr Fauci,

I am so grateful you have stood up to President Trump.

In my opinion, you have had a tremendous impact on the response of the American people to the Covid-19 pandemic. I know everyone in my circle of influence is extremely grateful for your service to the nation.

I have had an intuitive notion, idea, theory that has been haunting me for a couple of weeks and I finally decided to just put it out there to see if you or anyone in you organization might consider it.

First, some history about myself. I am an 80 year old retired engineer. I have no experience in the medical field except as a patient. I was diagnosed with heart failure in 2001 and prostate cancer in 2006 and am alive today with the help of western drugs and surgery. However, it is also my experience that drugs and surgery don't always solve medical problems. Sometimes we look for complexity when there is none and a simple answer will suffice.

So here is my crazy, intuitive notion.

I've read that the Covid-19 virus potentially came from either bats or pangolins. Both are nocturnal animals that spend little time in the sunlight. Both animals probably get very little vitamin D Many humans today spend little time in the sunlight as well and may be vitamin D deficient. Too much time spent in front of screens of all types. Another question just popped into my head as well: Are people of color less likely to absorb vitamin D3? In any case, I ask this question because I have been diagnosed with vitamin D deficiency and have been taking 1000 IU of vitamin D3 twice a day for years. My wife and I are very healthy and by following your guideline seem to be avoiding the Covid-19 virus so far, although I am considered at high risk.

So here's my suggestion for a couple of trials:
1. Inject a sample of the Covid-19 virus with a large dose of Vitamin D and see what happens.
2.Give people with Covid-19 illness a couple of doses of 1000IU Vitamin D3 twice a day for a while and see what happens.

Both ideas seem safe to me and what have we got to lose?

Crazy and intuitive I admit, but at insignificant cost I would say.

Thanks for reading this Subject: Worried about Trump Rally!

Dear Dr. Fauci,

Count me as one of your fans! Thank you for your tireless work to keep Americans as safe as possible during this horrible pandemic.

I'm so worried about President Trump's decision to hold an indoor campaign rally next week. My opinion, it's extremely irresponsible and putting our citizens at risk. His website's link for tickets lack any information about COVID-19 safety measures. There's only a coronavirus waiver.

(b) (6) Mildred Parker Graeser, passed away at age 98 last October. She lived in Muskogee, OK, and lived independently with support from home health until the last couple months of her life. A former secretary for Missouri Representative Clarence Cannon in the 1950s, she remained interested in politics her entire life. She wrote letters to the editor of Tulsa World, voicing her concerns about everything from war in Iraq to Trump's border wall.

I can only imagine how distressed (b) (6) would be with everything happening in our country and world right now. She, too, would be upset with President Trump's recent decisions. This afternoon, I thought about how she spend her time today. No doubt her letter to the Tulsa World would have already been mailed, penned the evening of his announcement. And then I thought—she would call Dr. Fauci!

Guessing your kind eyes will not see this email, but here goes. Can you and Dr. Birx do anything about Trump's rally? The least they could do is hold it outside? Require masks?

Wishing you continued health and strength through this time, and with much gratitude,

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;

Subject: Protect Human Rights in the Response to COVID-19

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;

Subject: Coronovirus

I live in Las Vegas, NV. We re-opened several weeks ago. I saw the majority of people wearing masks early on...but, as days have gone by, fewer masks are being worn! I always wear a mask in public, and am being challenged by others who refuse to wear one. The comments: "Corona VIRUS is a HOAX" (direct words from Trump), "you' 'll get sick from carbon monoxide wearing a mask", "trump doesn't wear one, so why should I?", "masks do nothing". I have seen and heard pretty ignorant things from people without masks. And NOW Nevada is spiking upward precisely because of people NOT WEARING MASKS!!

Please, PLEASE convince Trump that Americans need to hear from you and the other experts EVERY DAY, to continue to warn people of the consequences of being complacent about this deadly virus!!!
As we all see, Trump and Pence REFUSE to follow your expert guidelines and WEAR MASKS!! They reveal their arrogance and ignorance by showing their followers that Corona is nothing but a passing irritant. Not to be taken seriously.
I refuse to sit by doing nothing, so I have been emailing anyone who has some sway over Trump. Trump is a MADMAN. He will be held accountable for not only the massive deaths we have seen so far, but also the THOUSANDS of deaths yet to come! (CAMPAIGN RALLIES??SERIOUSLY???)

YOU ARE THE

Hi Dr Fauci, you're being the consummate professional that you are who speaks truth, I would counsel you to publicly counsel the public at large about the dangers of large indoor gatherings such as will soon be occurring at Trump's upcoming campaign rallies. I think that this could have a real impact on deterring the spread of Covis-19. Thanks.

Topic: COVID-19 and work of task force

Hi Patty,

This producer wrote directly to Dr. Fauci as well (see email below). He is working on a documentary series for the BBC about Donald Trump's presidency (overview attached), and would like to interview Dr. Fauci on-camera about his experiences at the forefront of the US government's response to coronavirus.

They want to film in the next two months, as the series will air in the UK in the run-up to the November US election. They want to shoot the interview in-person with a local film crew, following the safety guidelines in the attached protocol document. I noted we cannot accommodate this at NIH; they are open to other suggested locations and very flexible on timing (weekends OK). They are requesting two hours for the interview.

I suspect that the timing and logistics will make this extremely difficult, but let me know if Dr. Fauci has interest.

Thanks!
Hillary

Subject: BBC documentary series

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I hope this email finds you well - particularly given the last few days and months. I'd imagine you're pretty exhausted (not least with all the media requests).

I am an assistant producer at 72 Films, one of the UK's leading documentary production companies. We've been commissioned to make a major new documentary series for the BBC about Donald Trump's presidency.

Scheduled to be broadcast in the UK in the run up to this year's presidential election, we intend for this to be the most original, authoritative account of the Trump presidency to date.

The series follows 72 Films' critically-acclaimed Trump: An American Dream. Produced for Netflix and Channel 4 in 2017, this was a compelling account of Trump's journey to the White House, set against the backdrop of five decades of US history.

Now we are setting out to document the next chapter in the Trump story: the White House years. Featuring first-hand testimony from colleagues, advisers and critics, our new series will explore Trump's unique character, his leadership style and the impact of his approach on US politics and society.

The ongoing global pandemic and the outbreak of coronavirus will form a key part of our series.

We'd be hugely grateful for the opportunity to record an interview with you in the coming two months.

It would be fascinating to hear your perspective as someone at the forefront of the US government's response to the virus. We'd be keen to get your reflections on first hearing of the virus in China, through the early days of the outbreak in the US and through to the massive response that we've seen since.

We have no axe to grind or agenda to push. The BBC has a global reputation for accuracy, fairness, and impartiality. This series will be no different.

I'd be more than happy to outline the series in more detail over the phone if you have a moment. I very much hope you'll consider speaking to us.

72 Films is one of the UK's leading documentary producers with an exceptional track record in making award-winning films of record about history and politics. I have attached some further information on our project and would be happy to send you links to our previous productions.

Please don't hesitate to come back with any questions at all. We're incredibly keen to make something work.

All the very best,

Louis

New York Post 10Jun Anthony Fauci warns that 'nightmare' pandemic isn't close to over By Vincent Barone June 9, 2020 | 6:00pm | Updated President Trump's infectious disease expert Dr. Anthony Fauci on Tuesday called the coronavirus his "worst nightmare" and warned that the fight against its spread is far from over. The bleak outlook from Fauci, the director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, comes as the US continues to slowly reopen from lockdown while grappling with massive protests in cities over the police killing of George Floyd. "In a period of four months, it has devastated the whole world," Fauci said during a virtual appearance at a conference held by Biotechnology Innovation Organization. "And it isn't over yet." Fauci added that there is still a world of uncertainty around the virus and how it spreads and impacts the body. He said COVID-19 is much more complex than HIV, a virus he spent his career studying, because of the varying levels of seriousness in infections — from asymptomatic carriers to patients who develop fatal conditions. "Oh my goodness," Fauci added. "Where is it going to end? We're still at the beginning of really understanding." Fauci said vaccines will be the only way to stop the spread of the coronavirus though he did express confidence that an antidote is in the works. He expects "more than one winner in the vaccine field because we will need vaccines for the entire world — billions and billions of doses," he said. "I'm very heartened by the fact that the industry has stepped to the plate — very much differently than what we saw with SARS," Fauci said. "The industry is not stupid — they figured it out. SARS had a degree of transmissibility that it burned itself out with pure public health measures. No way is that going to happen with this virus." COVID-19 shines a "bright light" on the health disparities in the US, Fauci added. And as the US climbs out of its public health crisis, Fauci said resources must be focused on the most vulnerable communities, namely African Americans, who because of a variety of factors — including socioeconomic and employment — have been hit "getting hit with a double whammy" from the virus. The nation's top coronavirus expert also warned against trying to implement price controls on manufacturers of vaccines. "As much as you'd like to see fair pricing," you can't force a price," he said, reasoning that companies would simply walk away if faced with a price-control on vaccines. "It's a profit-driven industry," Fauci we 7Jun .... Meanwhile I'll write again with my last word on corona characterisation as a Langmuir-Burgered-KdVries shoaling tsunami perturbation parameterised for intervention as optimal occamisation meaning unfudgefactored with all uncertainties explicitly expressed. ... I offered it as nearly knackered nov-last victim-zerominus at outset of UK's cockedup campaign commenced in mar months . this after institutionalised inoculum was amplified by arguably academic accessories but entirely ignored by bungling bureauggery's army of appratshits . alongwith variant ventilator donedusted as almost forgotten $100 CPAPEEP battlefield kit via coldwar closure transatlantic treatied gizmogaming as GulfWar1 counter to Saddam's supposed Scudded WMD, .. a device done & demoed via ARE-HH within weeks using a fishtank bubbler tube-masked with nasally canulared modulation via selfactuated coanda rotored 4-way valved disk dualising in-out pulsatile pressured respiration dilationally overpressured and optionally oxyboosted even sono-nebulised for mucosal mobilisation via organpipepulsed acoustoactivation of aerosol, .. last bit inspired by amazing array of acoustic activation apps for submarine warfare, . one delivered as heterodyned standoff safety stabilised cavitation disrecharge battery booster and another as MW weaponised sonar as shoaling zone countermeasure again against Saddam's supposed submarines..... But Boris's wunderkidologITs wonderlanded throughout whilst callously killing both the elderly and the economy when both could easily have escaped had they seen sensibilities when they were offered rather than learning lurches from meandering mistakes, .. especially unseeing the significance in notonly symptomative similarity of biochem WMD impact in DO denial via respiratory viscosification but also its relief by physicochemically filmed dilution, .. moreover mechanically augmented by sonication such as implemented in 50-fold amplification of battery boosting disrecharge rates essential for emergency sonar silence. .... Much more might be mentioned if interest is indicated, .. including on Porton aerosol advisory for densified terrain tracking threats with CBNW and on fixing Ferguson's F&M follied omission of tyres and pyres as translocation and dispersion agents, .. former mimicked now in allowing audienced events during their first phase "policy herd-nerd do nowt", .. latter alarming then whatwith burgeoning BSE and again now in mimicking by chinese kids and elderly carers as carriers, .. but all was spurned in silence by the LonOxEton Luvvies now ruling all roosts. ... And that in turn sets me saying again it's no coincidence that with their "coldcure" campaigns since sixties, . Porton's people have had humungous headstart all along to cough up corona variant vaccines so no surprise seeing their campus cabal confident their RTD would work without reiteration, .. likewise the commercialisation confidence of their business beneficiary from all that publicly pursed provenance, .. today reinforced by promotion of plasmclosed a protection acknowledged to be a longstanding military measure! .... So there you go, enough for now indeed too much, maybe even for me to sleep easy having been ribtickled by guntoting psycho cop, okay aeons ago within weeks of my runin with that Bliarownian bandit deflab piratisation profiteer, .. ironically also cosily cabaled via Ferguson's former mentor who was one-time IC-topdog then became bigboy in MOD's masonic mafia. ... There you, more than enough for a Clancyian caricature or three, even Carre conspiracy if only I could find the right writer to prose it properly! nt on, adding that companies “will in good faith make it available to those groups, countries, nations that really can’t afford it very well.”

14may .... Must let you have my own occamesque foundation formulation prompted by poseured publication of angry outrages at pratish posturing from expert epidemonologITs offensive offerings since February, .. notably by ImpColl's LonOxdon Ferguson since sacked but then still serving as HMG's mantra mcluhaniser despite having howlered his millennial F&M forecasts by omitting translocation by tyres and pyres, .. latter especially excruciating with burgeoning BSE killing kids, .. about which I was awkward asker at a briefing bash only to be breaktime buttonholed by a Porton CBN(W)L prof who endorsed my moan adding they were about to be tasked on fixing the folly with military models, .. him prompted also by my inimitably idiosyncratic grumpiatric groaning to recall my early 80s advisory on density driven terrain tracking aerosol weaponry . this after connection was made by former HSE-CS JMcQuaid with stuff I'd been doing as DAMTPosaur for CEGB's issue on SizewellB PWR secCW shortcircuitry caused by buoyant intertidalponding . but same time he was seemingly unaware of my early 90s transatlantic treatied advisory on weaponised sonar countermeasure for Saddam's supposed Scudded WMD in Gulfwar1 . despite it having been bannered a decade later in SunTimes centrespread after an RN Frigate obviously on loanback beneficiary basis fired it without due diligence and bloodied the water with dead whales killed by resonantly ruptured livers, .. this redmess conveniently caught on camera by a GrinPisser. ... My military motivation separately scoped also to CPAP configuration commissioned same time like most of my myriad materialisations via ARE-HH-SMC's RodLane, .. amazing architect of crosspond confidence in covert cooperation with anglo auldskuled elite expats that bought us Trident1 for a fraction of system shelfcost, .. him latelamented longsince especially after his despair at deflabs profiteered piratisation byandfor a bunch of Blairownian bandits megamillionaired for colluding Carlyle's cashin on independently invented IPR stolen from a handful of precocious precious like me, .. this despite SecState ruling all rights must be respected for which I was then blackballed on endeavouring to enforce entitlement. .... Okay so much for menu, .. now for the coronal course of meatballs as follows. ... Starting point was to advocate an adequate approximation of 'A'ge death dependence for which a cubic cumean 75% returns representative overall 75 supposing a century suffices as tops for present purpose, .. likewise a quartic cumean 80 demarcates decrepitude so taking the cubic cumean 75 as decay, .. would hen have quadratic cumean 66 for decline, .. likewise linear cumean 50 for disease, all seemingly sensible as age gauges. ... Corresponding to these cumulatives we might coin counterparts for their distributives as follows: .. for flat with mean 50 arguably attributable to accidental-genotypical how about sourendipity (opp serendipity), .. for linear mean 66 arguably attributable to environmental-phenotypical how about sensitivity, .. for quadratic mean 75 susceptibility seems suitable and for cubic mean 80 how about succumbability. ... Naming adds nowt to interpretation but is important because names are what's quoted by the mantra mcluhanisers (viz daily updates by politrickster politicos and their slyientists), .. so are remembered by people unlike almost anything analytical especially equations except for codified caricatures sourced from Infestation Tricknolography especially via Artefarcical Infestation . but then again that's not due to their nonscienced nittygritty but rather their pretty pictures purporting to portray factuality, .. in reality often fictuality somuchso astobe fuctuality as seen in ImpColl's weekly weaklies . namely # herdnerd donowt # 250k-ill crisis # 25k-ill okay?

5k-ill silly # 250k-ill crisis # 500k-ill catastrophe.. . from which policy has been pursued as nudgery from nattery cum naggery via nannery into nazzery of hollowcosted gesturepollution, .. such as seen evermore extravagantly and set to still be there for many months or more! .... Okay so that was more starters than stuffers, . so moving onto disease constrained for compliance again as an adequate A profile with cumulatives characterised above only with inverse ranking for sour -> sens -> susc -> succ as lin-quad-cub-quar cumulatives . which for flu as a disease marker entailing exposure for everyone with maybe 6k'pa minimum morbidity . (UK scale with all numbers normalised below, .. acknowledging hi-lo x/3 bandspreading uncertainty in any decadally delineated prognostications) . with valid vaccination of maybe 2/3 people but deaths to 10x that figure for a fierce flu with likely invalid vaccination, .. whilst decline by chronic cancer and cardiac numbers maybe 200-300k'pa, .. with 600k'pa (60M population say for simplicity, .. indeed modification being merely mathsturbation!) . as total death by all sorts of "decay", .. leaving balance 300-400k'pa as decrep death. ... I need a slight sleight here to align numbers with similarity scaling for compounded connectivity as fractality manifested fractionally taking sens = sour^2 and susc = sour^3 such that with normalised numbers perMillion permonth (deciyear), .. deaths would then be 1000 susc-decay 100 sens-decline 10 sour-disease meaning UK ratios would then be 600k'pa total with 60k'pa sensitive to decline and 6k'pa soured by disease, .. these numbers to be reconciled with actuality by noting that transitions occur from sour to sens at 50 and sens to susc at 65 and susc to succ at 75 so with all the transitions incorporated sour here would be only 1-1/2-(2/3-1/2)-(4/5-2/3)=1/5 of assignment without age adjustment when UK 6k'pa -> 30k'pa as pretty plausible proportion perhaps. ... Sameway sens here would be only 1-2/3-(4/5-2/3)=1/5 so UK 60k'pa ->300k'pa which is pretty much spoton what we first thought of in adopting it as ecomentalised exaggeration. ... So that's the rationalisation remedy for an apparent anomaly in my analysis, .. reflected also of course in improved interpretation of analogous attribution for diseased death from corona, .. currently 30k of which only 6k should be due directly to disease (death by 50) allowing for 21k declined (death by 66) and 26k decayed (death by 75) totalling 30k decrepituded (death by 80), .. all these cumulatives in turn to be proportioned for an actual interval 2-3 months. .... Getting there now, .. indeed perhaps remains only to check the chinese coronal count for consistency using figures recently retrieved suggesting 3-5% over the interval reported as similarity scale indicating susc 30 -100pM orso when cubed . so for the 100M orso Wuhaners that'd be mortality 3-10k pretty much ballparking their opening disclosure 3k raised later to 5k and maybe more by now, .. but I'll not bother to pursue seeing as this stuff is all hobbyjobbed for me acting alone as prematurely pensioned raised risk mid70s moaner against the megamillions that's been busted on mantra mouthing hordes of hypers hotairing the headlines . as endlessly exposed on the Bratish Boredcarping Corporruption nonemoreso than neverending trivialised Toadies. ... Much more might be done but why bother when asitstands it serves as sensible scaffold for thinking about sensitivities without muddying the maths worsestill monkeying them into mathsturbation such as those #d numbers above from the since sacked specialist. ... Finally then there's epidemic evolution which I won't spell out here beyond saying adequacy can be had from homology with Langmuir-Burgered KdV solitonal (say tsunami for instant celebrification of the cerebrality) surge scaling on encounter frequency and number density of sours that set the ball rolling, .. suchthat steepness is set likewise or rather its evolution by rate regulated release, .. on a spectrum from big-fast to small-slow with latter inducing increased intensity of repetition waves just like shoaling seas and sonic booms and asymmetry accentuated by modulating the moderation meaning steeper stoss slopes than leesides and time-delayed cresting. ... It's all there without fudgefactored Goedelian gabbledegeekery exemplified in Einsteinianly excoriated Neumannian elephantism and in Penrosianly emporial Lighthillian lunacy beloved by SecState Hancocksup from a family featuring IT illgottens. .... Can't go without a comment on my Gulfwar1 CPAP fashioned from a fishtank blower, . stent modulated via dual input-output rotary gated auto-activated coanda disk with in-out nostril tubes optionally oxygenated and overpressured and aerosolised for mucus mobilisation, . even extended to airway sonication prompted by contemporaneous campaign with a weaponised sonar gun. ... As expected my offer to whiteminster wallies was ignored then merely acknowledged whereas big beneficiaries became their commercial cronies who'd bankrolled their electioneering. ... As afterthought also motivated months ago after an airing of that herd-nerd critque by hundreds of epidemonic psycos and socios, .. I noted there'd be 3 Million people, . many subsurvivaled already on well less than half average spendability after 50% flataxtaken for mobility-utility-rackmanility, .. bound to be crushed if not crucified by this pernicious policy regardless of the UKGov bailout, .. this to be disastrously deferred debt because savers have already been busted by 5% seQuEstration during a decade of bankstered bailout. ... So looks like maybe 100 innocent workers will be hammered into a lifetime of poverty for each elderly deferred death many merely a matter of months in diseased distress, .. ironically as innocents mostly in remoter regions that didn't need rancid restrictions, . moreover enduring a repeat run of their parents' punishment in previous pogroms that perished properly pensioned jobs rewarding also for personal pride in their arduously apprenticed skills. ... Lord Sumption was spoton in his scathing sideswipe against the LonOxEtoned Lardies Lordies Luvvvies LookaLikers on their masonic moneygoround making megamoney from shystered shnorting of sawtoothed shareprices. ... Everywhichway it's worse than worst imaginable, .. prettymuch as auldskuler JohnOxford anticipated in asserting panic would be by far the biggest fear and so it's played out courtesy of effete excremence that longago excluded elite excellence from guidance nevermind governance, .. indeed initiated that nasty nonscience of postindustrialised poverty inflicted as shystered shnorting by cityspivvery beggaring the rest of us by bulling the bear's sawtooth with cynically synchronised selling & buying beggaring what little belief was left in the slightest semblance of economic egalitarianism.

Dear Dr. Fauci,

I hope this note finds you and your family safe and well. I am writing to ask if you would be willing to speak to a virtual meeting of Condé Nast Editors in Chiefs and digital leaders in the coming months.

I have brought together, on a regular basis, the editorial leadership of Condé Nast to hear from leaders across a variety of industries about the challenges, and successes, they have faced—many of which are analogous to ours. We have been lucky enough to have giants from the worlds of tech, media, politics and business speak to the group, from Rachel Maddow and Melinda Gates, Bob Iger and Tim Cook, to Al Gore and Serena Williams.

These sessions are no longer than an hour and are completely off the record. The format can be customizable to your needs and vary from presentations, to Q & A sessions or a combination of both.

In the past these conversations have taken place at our offices in NYC; but of course we have now adapted to the new reality, and are having them on zoom.

Your leadership during the pandemic in the White House is nothing short of inspiring, and we would welcome to hear your thoughts and strategies as you continue to inform the public through this crisis.

We would very much welcome the opportunity to hear from you and can be flexible with timing. I hope you say yes!

All the best,
Anna

Hi—these are subject to change and I'm not sure how much we'll have time for, but they should give a sense of range. If Dr. Fauci has anything he'd be eager to discuss, please send along! Also, I think we might have a friend in common ([b)(6)])

THE CURRENT SITUATION:

Talk about the state of play in various states—New York has progressed greatly since April; meanwhile California (and many other states) seem to be getting worse. What's causing the uptick, especially in states like CA that seemed to have gotten a lot right early on but are now slipping?

The global outlook: what do you make of the fact that the virus seems to be taking root belatedly in places like India? What are the differences among societies (as well as governments) that have most contributed to disparate infection rates?

Catching up on the testimony of June 23.

COVID PREPARATION AND GOV'T WORK:

Walk us through the gov't's evolving position on masks, and how early shortages played into that.

You've advised six presidents throughout your career and have said that you did not interact with President Trump for the first three years, until the coronavirus hit. What does your working relationship with the President look like and what challenges has it presented?

You were director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease during the height of the HIV/AIDS crisis. How does that experience inform your work now?

Tell us your thoughts about the Tulsa rally, and about your continuing efforts to steer clear of politics even when public health interventions like masks become politicized.

FUTURE and MISC:

What's the status of vaccines right now? What are the biggest aids and impediments to developing a reliable vaccine?

How do you monitor your own health at this time and going into the fall? What do you recommend on an individual and family level to stay safe?

Who in the public sphere do you think is doing an exemplary job of leadership around Covid issues?

As a public health official who grew up in a house full of humanists, how much do you think about the message or underlying language/branding of certain strategies, like the term "social distancing" or the proper way to wash hands? Is there anything you'd undo or talk about differently with regard to the coronavirus, if you could go back in time?

What do you think, historically, is the greatest public health victory of all time?

Many of us in the media have observed a decline in the past decade or two of public faith in expertise. Have you felt a shift in the status of the scientist, culturally speaking? Is it harder than it used to be to make your case to the public or to persuade them for the benefit of their own health? (You've also talked about this in a more positive light with regard to the AIDS crisis, that the idea that the doctor knew best sometimes marginalized the patient's experience, and that there was room for change, for the science to become more human.)

George H.W. Bush called you one of his heroes during a debate in 1988. Who are your heroes now, and who have been the heroes who've guided you in your career?

Hi Dr Fauci
we have been listening to you on every Forum since February. I am a 61 yr old female with preexisting conditions - asthma and COPD. I have hardly left my apartment for 3months now. I am worried about me, my children, my family my finances, my life.
The reason I am writing is this:
we do not listen to Trump or the government. We only listen to science.
You should get your voice out everywhere to the Americal public. Should not allow yourself to be sidelined or silenced. Trump can't take your job. We need scientific guidance.
You should emphasize at every forum, that people should not congregate, should wear face mask, wash hands 10 times a day and keep social distance. This has to be said every day, on every forum.
One thing I don't like: you should NOT bring vague messages of hope on national television (on CNN today) about vaccine. The dates, the expectations, the promises coming from you change every week. We do not know when, how many and who can get it. This creates fear, not hope.
You should not say vague things like "most likely one of the vaccines will work" and throw around numbers of doses. We are over 400 million people in the USA and declaring that 100 million vaccines "might" be available doesn't help me or anyone else.
When you have the facts about a working and available vaccine , tell the people the facts.
Regards

Subject: urgent question regarding vaccine funding

Dr. Fauci, I am very sorry to bother you on a Sunday, but I am under the gun on a deadline and hope you can quickly clear up some confusion. We spoke a few weeks ago for a story about the plan you, Dr. Corey and others have put together to compress the timeline for testing and manufacturing coronavirus vaccines.

I am about to publish the story and a question has come up about which vaccine candidates have been selected by the US government to receive funding and use the network of clinical trial sites you have built.

Four of the candidates receiving funding appear clear: Moderna, Astrazeneca, Janssen (Johnson and Johnson) and Merck.

On BARDA's website, Sanofi is listed as the 5th. In an article last week, however, the NYT named Pfizer as the 5th and did not mention Sanofi.

Thanks for your help clearing up the confusion,
Joel

NEWS FROM MAYOR MURIEL BOWSER

June 5, 2020

Dear Washingtonians,

Today we had the opportunity to send a clear message to the American people:

Black lives matter.

Black humanity matters.

And we, as Washingtonians, raise that up as part of the values of our city.

Our nation is hurting. People are craving to be heard and to be seen, and to have their humanity recognized. Americans want a nation that is more fair and more just.

Here in DC and across the nation, people are demanding change.

We expect, this weekend, to have more people exercising their First Amendment rights in our city. We welcome all peaceful protesters to Washington, DC. Tomorrow, with the help of our faith partners, we are opening cooling centers throughout downtown where demonstrators can cool down and recharge.

Together, we will build a better America. We will fight for DC statehood. We will demand justice for George Floyd and every Black person who has been killed by an unjust and unfair system. Together, we will make it clear to our nation and to the world: Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,

Mayor Muriel Bowser

To my friends and colleagues.

The number of those infected is not decreasing. Please scan the numbers of new cases detected per day below. The number newly diagnosed on June 2nd is similar that over two months ago, March 28th. The Times story highlights twelve states with rising numbers, some rising sharply. I have highlighted the day on which the numbers are similar to those of June 2 (red) as well as the peak daily numbers (in purple). The US has been hovering around 20,000 newly diagnosed cade per day for over two months. Contrast that what is happening in China 9low single-digit cases beginning May. This is in large part due to poor communication and public health management.

See this New York Times story describing the increase in the number of daily infection in sixteen states.

The number of confirmed cases is rising in 16 states

Police brutality, protests and unrest may have knocked the pandemic from the lead of many U.S. newscasts, but the outbreak is continuing to spread. Even as some Northeast states are seeing improvements, in others, daily case numbers are reaching new highs.
That is partly a consequence of the country's vastly expanded testing capacity. Earlier in the pandemic, when test kits were scarce, many people who contracted the virus were not tested and not included in official counts. Here is a look around the country.

In California, daily case reports exceeded 3,000 twice in the past week, a threshold the state had not crossed before. In Northern California, six chief health officers said in a statement that they were "encouraged by what we are seeing in some areas and concerned about what we are seeing in others." As more businesses were allowed to reopen, they said, "each decision we make involves difficult trade-offs."

Arizona, Wisconsin, Tennessee, at least 12 other states and Puerto Rico are also seeing an upward trend of newly reported cases, and some are reaching new highs.

In Mississippi, the 439 cases announced Saturday were the most yet on a single day. In Alaska, which has so far avoided the worst of the virus, cases have soared to their highest levels in recent days.

With New York City still working toward lifting some virus-related restrictions on June 8 — despite a nightly curfew imposed to curb looting — Mayor Bill de Blasio called on the agency that runs the city's subways and buses to limit capacity. "It is crucial that every other seat be blocked off so that it's clear that you never end up sitting next to someone," he said. The agency had said it would take some steps to encourage and enforce social distancing, including putting floor markings at all subway stations.

Mr. Trump's high-stakes feud with Democratic officials in North Carolina is disrupting planning for the Republican National Convention. His speech will be moved out of Charlotte, party officials said Tuesday night, after indications that the entire event might be relocated.

In Dallas County, Texas, case numbers have continued to rise, and the 16 deaths announced Tuesday were the most of any day so far. Clay Jenkins, Dallas County's chief elected official, said there was also no improvement in data on hospitalizations and intensive care unit admissions. He called for residents to use caution even though restrictions had eased.

Chicago moved to its third phase of reopening, which eases restrictions on businesses combined with new precautions. Child care centers are reopening, but children are screened for signs of illness, and parents and teachers must wear face coverings. Restaurants will reopen with outdoor dining only. And riders will be encouraged to wear face masks while using public transportation.

In New Jersey, restaurants and bars can offer outdoor dining on June 15, the governor said. There were an additional 112 virus-related deaths.

Dear Dr. Fauci and Dr. Lane,

We went ahead and amended the vaccine trial entry so that our illustrators could format a draft of the timeline. See if you think it looks okay. The editors also decided to remove the entries related to Presidents Obama and Trump to focus more on the scientific advances, and we made some minor edits to the language in other entries. Let me know what you think of the current version, and we can make any necessary changes before you receive your proofs.

Best,

Looks good – I am wondering about the precise entry for RSV 144.

I will discuss with Dr. Fauci.

I think it should be the date of publication (NEJM); however I am wondering how we describe it: perhaps – "First HIV vaccine with a signal of efficacy"

1981

AIDS epidemic first recognized; cases reported in New York and California

1984

HIV definitively established as causal agent of AIDS

1985

First FDA approval of a test that detects antibodies to HIV

1986

IOM establishes the Committee on a National Strategy for AIDS, which publishes Confronting AIDS: Directions for Public Health, Health Care, and Research

1987

First FDA approval of a drug to treat HIV, zidovudine (AZT)

1995

First FDA approval of a protease inhibitor (Invirase/saquinavir)

1996

First FDA approval of a viral-load test for HIV

First FDA approval of a non-nucleoside reverse transcriptase inhibitor (NNRTI) (Viramune/nevirapine)

Striking efficacy of combination antiretroviral (ARV) treatment demonstrated

2003

President George W. Bush establishes President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR)

First FDA approval of an entry inhibitor (Fuzeon/enfuvirtide)

2007

First FDA approval of an integrase inhibitor (Isentress/raltegravir)

2009

Results of the RV144 vaccine trial published [alternatively, we could use the launch of the trial in 2003]

2010

President Barack Obama releases a national HIV/AIDS strategy for the United States

2012

First FDA approval of a treatment for pre-exposure prophylaxis (Tenofovir/emtricitabine)

Things to consider adding:

First drug approval by class: NNRTI, Protease, integrase, entry inhibitors

First diagnostic test approved for measuring antibodies

First diagnostic test approved for measurement of viral RNA

There may be others to consider – one additional thought is the RV144 vaccine trial

Thanks so much, Dr. Lane.

I discussed your draft with the editors, and they felt that because the whole series is meant to give a more comprehensive overview of a variety of health care and medical fields, we should beef up the timeline a bit. Would you be open to focusing a bit more on the science and including important milestones for various drug classes on the timeline, if it could be done in a noncontroversial way? If you send me a list of drug classes that should be mentioned, I'm happy to look to other sources to draft up timeline entries.

Let me know your thoughts. I'm sorry to keep bothering you at a time when you must be incredibly busy doing such vital work.

To my friends and colleagues.

The number of those infected is not decreasing. Please scan the numbers of new cases detected per day below. The number newly diagnosed on June 2nd is similar that over two months ago, March 28th. The Times story highlights twelve states with rising numbers, some rising sharply. I have highlighted the day on which the numbers are similar to those of June 2 (red) as well as the peak daily numbers (in purple). The US has been hovering around 20,000 newly diagnosed cade per day for over two months. Contrast that what is happening in China 9low single-digit cases beginning May. This is in large part due to poor communication and public health management.

See this New York Times story describing the increase in the number of daily infection in sixteen states.

The number of confirmed cases is rising in 16 states

Police brutality, protests and unrest may have knocked the pandemic from the lead of many U.S. newscasts, but the outbreak is continuing to spread. Even as some Northeast states are seeing improvements, in others, daily case numbers are reaching new highs.

That is partly a consequence of the country's vastly expanded testing capacity. Earlier in the pandemic, when test kits were scarce, many people who contracted the virus were not tested and not included in official counts. Here is a look around the country.

In California, daily case reports exceeded 3,000 twice in the past week, a threshold the state had not crossed before. In Northern California, six chief health officers said in a statement that they were "encouraged by what we are seeing in some areas and concerned about what we are seeing in others." As more businesses were allowed to reopen, they said, "each decision we make involves difficult trade-offs."

Arizona, Wisconsin, Tennessee, at least 12 other states and Puerto Rico are also seeing an upward trend of newly reported cases, and some are reaching new highs.

In Mississippi, the 439 cases announced Saturday were the most yet on a single day. In Alaska, which has so far avoided the worst of the virus, cases have soared to their highest levels in recent days.

With New York City still working toward lifting some virus-related restrictions on June 8 — despite a nightly curfew imposed to curb looting — Mayor Bill de Blasio called on the agency that runs the city's subways and buses to limit capacity. "It is crucial that every other seat be blocked off so that it's clear that you never end up sitting next to someone," he said. The agency had said it would take some steps to encourage and enforce social distancing, including putting floor markings at all subway stations.

Mr. Trump's high-stakes feud with Democratic officials in North Carolina is disrupting planning for the Republican National Convention. His speech will be moved out of Charlotte, party officials said Tuesday night, after indications that the entire event might be relocated.

In Dallas County, Texas, case numbers have continued to rise, and the 16 deaths announced Tuesday were the most of any day so far. Clay Jenkins, Dallas County's chief elected official, said there was also no improvement in data on hospitalizations and intensive care unit admissions. He called for residents to use caution even though restrictions had eased.

Chicago moved to its third phase of reopening, which eases restrictions on businesses combined with new precautions. Child care centers are reopening, but children are screened for signs of illness, and parents and teachers must wear face coverings. Restaurants will reopen with outdoor dining only. And riders will be encouraged to wear face masks while using public transportation.

In New Jersey, restaurants and bars can offer outdoor dining on June 15, the governor said. There were an additional 112 virus-related deaths.

Subject: I'm not an anti-vaxxer, but concerned about Covid19 Vaccine

Dear Mr. Fauci,

I'm an avid public health enthusiast and look forward to the day there is a reliable, safe and effective Covid19 vaccine.

However, I distrust the independence of the regulatory bodies in the United States under the Trump Administration and fear the earliest vaccine would reflect wish fulfillment by desperate politicians rather than the best available science. My impression is that the Trump Administration is interfering in agencies, which has eroded my faith in any claim of an effective and safe vaccine. I would prefer not to test this theory by being among the first group to receive the vaccine.

I thought it important to share my perspective as you gauge the mood of the citizenry on this topic. I'm sad to say I feel more comfortable looking to international CDCs and the World Health Organization for guidance on a vaccine. Even so, I'm grateful for your work, the work of the NIH, FDA and CDC and have the utmost respect for all the dedicated professionals working to keep America safe.

Best regards,

Amy Arroyo

Any chance Dr. Fauci would have a couple minutes to tape a short interview over the phone tomorrow sometime?

8-10 minutes. Talk about latest developments. Thanks. Truly admire the difficult job (on many levels) he is doing .

Subject: COVID-19 updates
Deadline: COB today to schedule for tomorrow Spokesperson: NIAID Director Anthony S. Fauci, M.D.
Expected place of publication: radio
Expected date of publication/airing: unknown
Expected prominence: unknown

Key messages/talking points: Dr. Fauci would provide a general status update on COVID-19 research efforts and answer questions about "where we are now" in terms of the trajectory of the pandemic. He would use the following talking points:

- Overall we are moving in the right direction but we are not seeing a sharp downturn on the curve. I encourage states and cities to remain vigilant in following the CDC guidelines for reopening so we can continue to mitigate transmission of the virus. Each community is unique. Decision making will vary based on the level of community transmission and local circumstances.
- The latest summary of US COVID-19 activity is available at: https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/covid-data/covidview/index.html.
    - Nationally, levels of influenza-like illness (ILI) and COVID-19-like illness (CLI) and the percentage of specimens testing positive for SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19, continue to decline or remain stable. Mortality attributed to COVID-19 also decreased compared to last week but remains elevated above baseline and may increase as additional death certificates are processed.
    - Nationally, visits to outpatient providers and emergency departments (EDs) for illnesses with symptoms consistent with COVID-19 continued to decline or remain stable at low levels. Outpatient ILI visits are below baseline nationally and in all regions of the country.
    - The decrease in the percentage of people presenting for care with ILI and CLI may be due to a decline in COVID-19 illness, which could be in part a result of widespread adoption of social distancing, in addition to decreases in healthcare seeking behavior.
    - This week's report presents additional information on racial and ethnic disparities among reported COVID-19 hospitalizations. Non-Hispanic Black and non-Hispanic American Indian/Alaska Native populations have rates approximately 4.5 times that of non-Hispanic Whites, while Hispanic/Latinos have a rate approximately 3.5 times that of non-Hispanic Whites.

Hi Patty—This freelancer and Harvard cardiologist with bylines in NYT and the Post is pitching a piece about the clinical associates program at the NIH and would like to speak with Dr. Fauci for a few minutes about his training experience at NIH. He is using this angle to discuss the need for the training of physician-scientists in light of COVID-19. As an FYI, he published an NYT opinion piece yesterday on hydroxychloroquine. Would Dr. Fauci be interested?

Thanks!

Hi Judith,

Thank you for speaking to me on the phone. As mentioned, I am writing a newspaper feature on the clinical associates program at the NIH, and using that story to talk about the value of physician-scientists in the United States. I have already interviewed Dr Bob Lefkowitz and Mike Brown, both Nobel Prize winners and members of this program, and two of their mentors, Ira Pastan and Jesse Roth.

Being able to speak to Dr Fauci for this feature will be the perfect vehicle to help the story of this ground breaking program reach a global audience.

Briefly, I am a cardiologist at Brigham and Women's and the Boston VA, have written two books, and write regularly for the New York Times, along with the Washington Post, LA Times, Atlantic etc. My research has been published in the New England Journal of Medicine and JAMA amongst others.

I can speak at any time convenient to Dr Fauci.

Subject: BBC documentary series
Attachments: TRUMP - 72 FILMS.pdf

Dear Dr. Fauci,
I hope this email finds you well - particularly given the last few days and months. I'd imagine you're pretty exhausted (not least with all the media requests).
I am an assistant producer at 72 Films, one of the UK's leading documentary production companies. We've been commissioned to make a major new documentary series for the BBC about Donald Trump's presidency.

Scheduled to be broadcast in the UK in the run up to this year's presidential election, we intend for this to be the most original, authoritative account of the Trump presidency to date.

The series follows 72 Films' critically-acclaimed Trump: An American Dream. Produced for Netflix and Channel 4 in 2017, this was a compelling account of Trump's journey to the White House, set against the backdrop of five decades of US history.

Now we are setting out to document the next chapter in the Trump story: the White House years. Featuring first-hand testimony from colleagues, advisers and critics, our new series will explore Trump's unique character, his leadership style and the impact of his approach on US politics and society.
The ongoing global pandemic and the outbreak of coronavirus will form a key part of our series.

We'd be hugely grateful for the opportunity to record an interview with you in the coming two months. It would be fascinating to hear your perspective as someone at the forefront of the US government's response to the virus. We'd be keen to get your reflections on first hearing of the virus in China, through the early days of the outbreak in the US and through to the massive response that we've seen since.
We have no axe to grind or agenda to push. The BBC has a global reputation for accuracy, fairness, and impartiality. This series will be no different.
I'd be more than happy to outline the series in more detail over the phone if you have a moment. I very much hope you'll consider speaking to us.
72 Films is one of the UK's leading documentary producers with an exceptional track record in making award-winning films of record about history and politics. I have attached some further information on our project and would be happy to send you links to our previous productions.

Please don't hesitate to come back with any questions at all. We're incredibly keen to make something work.

All the very best,
Louis

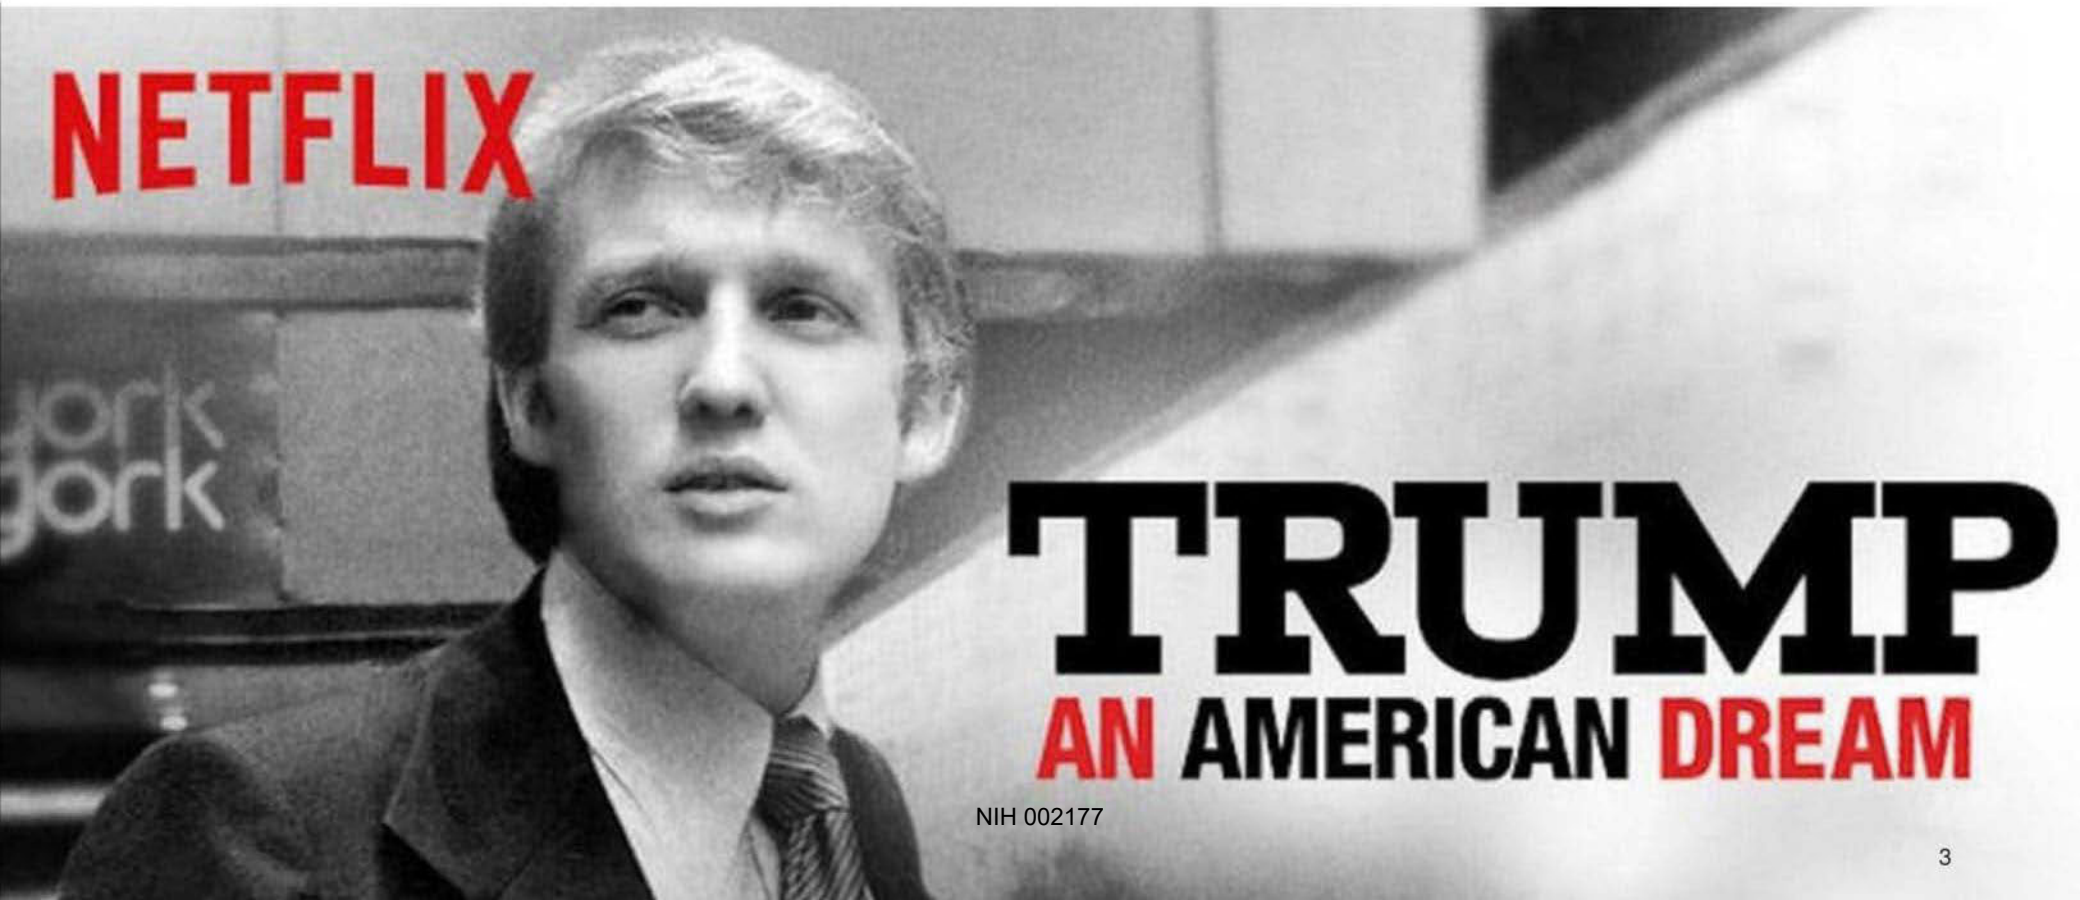
TRUMP:
THE WHITE HOUSE YEARS
A BBC Series
NIH 002175

THE IDEA

Produced for BBC Television this major landmark series will be the definitive account of Donald Trump's extraordinary presidency.

Building on the BBC's unparalleled global reputation for authoritative documentaries of record, and with a potential reach of millions of viewers worldwide, Trump will be the world's most hotly anticipated and widely viewed account of Trump's first four years in the White House.

From the award-winning team behind the critically-acclaimed series Trump: An American Dream, which documented Trump's rise to fame. Praised by viewers on both sides of the political divide, this series won the highest Netflix 'audience satisfaction' rating of all time.



The world has never seen a president like Donald Trump.

Ever since he brought his bold, brash business instincts and the lessons from a career as a reality TV star to the White House, Trump has turned all conceptions of the presidency on its head.

Packed with drama, controversy and fresh insights, this series will bring viewers the inside story behind Trump's ground breaking presidency – revealing how his unique leadership style and raw political instincts have reshaped American politics.

Featuring first hand testimony from White House insiders, colleagues, advisors and critics, the series will paint a compelling portrait of this unique president – and assess his historic legacy.

Subject: Fw: Finally, and Very Belatedly, we might get some relief from our own self-Induced National Pain and Suffering.

In the aftermath of Memorial day 2020, Minneapolis Police Chief Medaria Arradondo immediately fired the 4 Minneapolis Police officers videotaped murdering and being accessory to Murder regarding US Citizen George Lloyd.

With the Police Chief (who used to be a Police Officer) recusing himself ("I terminated their employment in the Police Force"), American streets became awash in a sudden violent onslaught of shootings, arson, protesting, polluting, and mob violence. If the Police Chief had SIMULTANEOUSLY and IMMEDIATELY arrested all 4 murdering police officers perhaps much of the nightly carnage on our television screens could have been avoided. Why didn't he do it ?

In the 3 or 4 days that followed, that it took for Hennepin County Attorney Michael O. Freeman to arrest Officer Shauvin, it only reignited the flames of civilian protests.To add insult to injury, Officer Chauvin was only charged with a 3rd degree murder label, and he was the only one charged. That was the REAL Violence in this case, with the predictable outcome reinforcing the established and widespread USA conflagration, civilian anarchy and assaults on the temples of capitalism, religion and governmental authority.

Only when Officer Chauvin is charged with 1st degree murder, and Officers Keung, Thao and Lane are arrested and charged with 3rd degree accomplices to murder, will we have any chance of making a new start. The USA cannot, and never will, heal from this atrocious event. It will be recorded in the same way as the Declaration of Independence, the Attack on Pearl Harbor, and the murderous attack on the 9/11 World Trade Center by our Saudi Arabian allies.

As in these 3 previous events, America now has to make a new and fresh start. If the death of George Lloyd doesn't finally eviscerate the Cancer of Slavery and "second-place citizenship" then America will go the way of the former Mesopotamian, Byzanthine, Persian, Ottoman and Roman Empires. It will become over-extended and it will collapse from within.

No-one needs to be reminded of the looming unemployment, Covid-19 mortality statistics, and the financial and educational disasters awaiting these United States, (not to mention a devastating Hurricane set to hit the US Gulf Coast next Sunday). We are now in "the beginning of sorrows" and a "new beginning" is not going to solve it. Only a fresh start can save us from our own insolvency.

All the while "the Russian Bear is waiting in the snow, to paddle in the Gulf's warm glow;" and "the Chinese Tiger at the Gate, is waiting now to seal our Fate." This is now a suddenly, most current, fragile, and dangerous time in American Democracy. It will take an insurmountable effort from all of us to rise from the ashes of our own self-induced misery and familiarity with a known insecurity, to advance with staggering, stumbling and faltering steps towards a new, unfamiliar and the unknown security of a more peaceful and lasting cohabitation ("these things being self evident") with ALL of our American brothers and sisters before it is too late.....

To my friends and colleagues.

The number of those infected is not decreasing. Please scan the numbers of new cases detected per day below. The number newly diagnosed on June 2nd is similar that over two months ago, March 28th. The Times story highlights twelve states with rising numbers, some rising sharply. I have highlighted the day on which the numbers are similar to those of June 2 (red) as well as the peak daily numbers (in purple). The US has been hovering around 20,000 newly diagnosed cade per day for over two months. Contrast that what is happening in China 9low single-digit cases beginning May. This is in large part due to poor communication and public health management.

See this New York Times story describing the increase in the number of daily infection in sixteen states.

The number of confirmed cases is rising in 16 states

Police brutality, protests and unrest may have knocked the pandemic from the lead of many U.S. newscasts, but the outbreak is continuing to spread. Even as some Northeast states are seeing improvements, in others, daily case numbers are reaching new highs.
That is partly a consequence of the country's vastly expanded testing capacity. Earlier in the pandemic, when test kits were scarce, many people who contracted the virus were not tested and not included in official counts. Here is a look around the country.

In California, daily case reports exceeded 3,000 twice in the past week, a threshold the state had not crossed before. In Northern California, six chief health officers said in a statement that they were “encouraged by what we are seeing in some areas and concerned about what we are seeing in others.” As more businesses were allowed to reopen, they said, “each decision we make involves difficult trade-offs.”

Arizona, Wisconsin, Tennessee, at least 12 other states and Puerto Rico are also seeing an upward trend of newly reported cases, and some are reaching new highs.

In Mississippi, the 439 cases announced Saturday were the most yet on a single day. In Alaska, which has so far avoided the worst of the virus, cases have soared to their highest levels in recent days.

With New York City still working toward lifting some virus-related restrictions on June 8 — despite a nightly curfew imposed to curb looting — Mayor Bill de Blasio called on the agency that runs the city’s subways and buses to limit capacity. “It is crucial that every other seat be blocked off so that it’s clear that you never end up sitting next to someone,” he said. The agency had said it would take some steps to encourage and enforce social distancing, including putting floor markings at all subway stations.

Mr. Trump’s high-stakes feud with Democratic officials in North Carolina is disrupting planning for the Republican National Convention. His speech will be moved out of Charlotte, party officials said Tuesday night, after indications that the entire event might be relocated.

In Dallas County, Texas, case numbers have continued to rise, and the 16 deaths announced Tuesday were the most of any day so far. Clay Jenkins, Dallas County’s chief elected official, said there was also no improvement in data on hospitalizations and intensive care unit admissions. He called for residents to use caution even though restrictions had eased.

Chicago moved to its third phase of reopening, which eases restrictions on businesses combined with new precautions. Child care centers are reopening, but children are screened for signs of illness, and parents and teachers must wear face coverings. Restaurants will reopen with outdoor dining only. And riders will be encouraged to wear face masks while using public transportation.

In New Jersey, restaurants and bars can offer outdoor dining on June 15, the governor said. There were an additional 112 virus-related deaths.

Subject: The Shed Move BY THE AMISH!!!
Nothing like a Pole Shed gathering, eh!

WOW !!!! Can you believe?

How's this for cooperation? Millipedes in action. Centipedes need not apply..

A large metal pole shed was no longer wanted. The Amish Family next door said they wanted it. How will you move it was asked.

They replied that some of their friends would help them move it to his property about 800 yards away. Who would have thought that 250 friends would show up.

"OUR POISON IS WORKING!"--THE MOTTO OF SUGGESTISM (journalism is no more--the "profession" is SUGGESTISM--getting all others to know, think and do what your editor wants)---or THE COMEDY SECTION NOW BEGINS ON PAGE 1.

SUGGESTISM--First Amendment Responsibilities and Need For Certification and Licensure--other than sports, most journalism is unreal, non-being editor fantasies and manipulations--CONFABULISM--PATRONISM--JOURNALISM is the SUGGESTIBILITY "ME-FIRST" PROFESSION OF NON-BEING and "evil is the promotion of non-being" (which is most journalism and press&media--Call them "the Filth Estate", not the Fourth Estate). "Journalism" has failed everybody. The "free press" must be licensed with consequences for lies and non-compliance with the Founders. "Journalism" is nothing but a pseudo-profession of "how great I am to lead you by the nose into barbarianism and paganism." Basically, "journalism" has confused "freedom" with lies, fragmentation, unnaturalness (pollution), and ugliness...and journalists' first and only real aim is self-promotion by having something sensational to report. Their ethics are gone. Journalism is the worst most evil "estate" in the world when without truth, oneness, good and beauty. PRESS&MEDIA ARE "DICTATORS" IN THE WORST MEANING OF THE WORD--they all are mini Stalin/Mao wannabees. The liberal press&media are no longer qualified to be protected by the First Amendment because they have no professional ethics or principles of truth, equality, unity, good (Nature consistent) and beauty (Nature's Loving God) expected and required by the Founders. (President Lincoln shut down over 300 newspapers because of their sedition, treason and rebellion against America during the Civil War. President Trump should have the military close CNN, MSNBC, ABC, Hollywood, New York Times, Washington Post, et al who have destroyed the ex-profession of journalism, turning it into suggestism which has destroyed all the Founders created and wanted.)

by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, copyright c 2016, retired,
"deplorable" ad hominem pamphleteer,
Kafkaesque Malicious-Law Criminalization Hoax Victim, ..."If it were not for the ironic honor of the thing (I am proof that the Law does not care about truth or justice) and all I learned from criminals, I would regret it happened....."
ex-Clinical Professor Psychiatry, Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine

The First Amendment:

> Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.
>
> "They will lie, sir, with such volubility that you would think truth were a fool." All's Well...(the definition of "journalism" for sure--"How many people can you get to believe your bullshit so you can feel important?")
>
> "The real danger to the American system of government is a fraud press unavailable to the people and not loyal to the Founders' Principles.

Editors are enslavers of the press & media so it does not belong to the people. "

Luigi Panzini, MD

THE LIBERAL PRESS CANNOT CENSOR ANYONE'S "HEART OF LIBERTY"--THE "FREE" PRESS ARE REQUIRED TO FREELY PROVIDE THE FREE PRESS FOR AND BY THE PEOPLE...the First Amendment, like all Amendments, is for THE PEOPLE and not just what editors or the owners decide...

Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy: "At the heart of liberty is the right to define one's own concept of existence, of meaning, of the universe and of the mystery of human life." The First Amendment explicitly gives all citizens the right to express their "heart of liberty". Therefore, prohibited is the censorship of anyone's "heart of liberty"--such is "unConstitutional." Thus, the outrageous exclusion, over and over by the liberal press, of "unwelcome" information coherently expressed must stop. All views must be fairly and equitably available to the people.

The Founders made the First Amendment FIRST so the people would be informed for the common good which was basically the Ten Commandments. Their expectations and hopes were for Truth, Oneness, Good and Beauty--TRANSCENDENTAL messages so the citizens could freely live well the together without a bunch of laws. But today's "free press" (and so-called "art experts" do not know the difference between real "art" and "immorality" or "disturbances of the peace". Today's "free press" has no ethics, no morality, no values of transcendence, no standards or allegiance to Natural Law of the Founders, so necessary for genuine civilization from citizens FREE from evil. Today's "free press" is just the emotional biases of the editors and their owners. The "free" press as selfishly existing is EXCLUSIVE of the people and thus unConstitutional...The Founders would have hung most of today's "free press" for making the world a "worse place" rather than a "better place."

The First Amendment was given to the people and not just to priests, ministers, or rabbis, nor just to broadcasters or celebrities, nor just to editors or journalists, nor just to assembly hall owners. The people have the right for their words to be prayed, broadcast, printed, and announced to assemblies, provided their words are logical, rational and consistent with the Founders' Principles. The First Amendment makes those mentioned responsible to serve the people and to promulgate the words of the people and not just the words of the owners of communication methods. The goal of the First Amendment was to teach virtue and the Ten Commandments to the people so they could keep a civil society not needing laws. Those freed by the First Amendment have an absolute duty to be true to the Founders Principles as manifest by the first thing the new Congress ever purchased--20,000 Bibles (Will the "separation" people please be quiet and pray as the Founders did.).

The First Amendment was given first to keep the people informed with Truth, Oneness, Good and Beauty (the "transcendentals"), consistent with the hope and expectation that the people could be transcendent citizens not needing many laws or government controls. The Founders knew that if the citizens were "no good", nothing would work well and law after law would be needed. The Founders hoped for the common good which in their mind basically was the Ten Commandments, which in those days were the themes espoused by all. The Judeo-Christian principles of the Founders was why religion was first in the First Amendment. The First Amendment was to promote good citizens living democratically by free religion, then free speech, then free press, and then free assembly. "Religion" was first because without some elements Judeo-Christianity, the people are no good and nothing will work well for a decent culture. The Founders knew, believed, lived and defined "religion" as overt or indirect belief in a Loving God, specifically naming "Nature and Nature's God." That is what they wanted by free exercise. Hoped for and expected was allegiance with Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness ("Happiness" is best understood as meaning "transcendentals"). This implied the "learned professions" providing directions for the common good: Medicine for Life. Law for Liberty. Divinity for Pursuit of Transcendentals ("nee "Happiness"). All three professions were given "transcendental" freedom (It was not "anything goes" pseudo-freedom).

Unfortunately, electronocelluloid technology has made the free press into a "disturbance of the common good" tyranny not available to the common man (although the World Wide Web may correct this when all journalism dies). The "free press" does not belong to the people but to editors and owners who only promulgate what "fits" as the New York Times exploiting logo documents. Today's "free press" has no ethics, no morality, no values of transcendence, no standards or allegiance to Natural Law of the Founders, necessary for genuine civilization for citizens to be FREE from evil ("Evil" is the "creation of non-being"). Today's "free press" does not know the difference between true "art" and "disturbing the peace" or "destroying the common good." Journalism today is just manipulation and suggestibility, and not worth a dime. No way did the Founders want culture-destroying anti-Ten Commandments pollution to come from the First Amendment. The Founders listed "religion" first for good reason--the Ten Commandments--which have been replaced by Ten Thousand Legalisms. The Founders would have applied capital punishment to the editors and owners of the "free press" of today because of their culture-destroying advertising, dehumanizing promotions, anti-family and polluting pretenses of "art," "entertainment," and "information." The Founders would not have allowed the Law's destruction of the free and independent professions of Medicine and Divinity. The Founders would not have allowed the Law to become an "established religion" which it now is.

Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy: "At the heart of liberty is the right to define one's own concept of existence, of meaning, of the universe and of the mystery of human life." That is what the First Amendment is all about explicitly giving all citizens the right to express their "heart of liberty" (which, if it is genuine "freedom" or "liberty," must be consistent with Natural Law --"Nature and Nature's God" as mentioned in the Constitution, which means "transcendent--being, matter, identity, truth, oneness, good and beauty"). The First Amendment gives rights which also means "responsibilities" i.e., the "transcendentals."

The results are protests and riots from the Losers (nee' Womens) March to Berkeley--ALL raging rioting protestors NEED (from the press over and over) Octavio Paz' "San Ildefonso nocturne":

Good, we wanted good:
to set the world right.
We didn't lack integrity:
we lacked humility.
What we wanted was not
innocently wanted.

Precepts and concepts,
the arrogance of theologians,
to beat with a cross,
to institute with blood....
Some became secretaries to the secretary
to the General Secretary of the Inferno.
Rage
became philosophy,
its evil has covered the planet.

AND JOURNALISTS NEED TO BE LICENSED WITH TRANSCENDENTAL ETHICS AFTER CERTIFICATION IN PRINCIPLES OF THE FOUNDERS--OTHERWISE IT IS "PATRONIZM" (1)...The "free press" cannot mean lies, sedition, treason, or ugliness by journalists. The "death" of journalism began with Roe v. Wade which not only destroyed journalism's Ethics of Sigma Delta Chi, but the Hippocratic Oath of physicians replacing traditional social mores with abortionismo, manifest by destruction of childhood, loss of Judeo-Christian family norms, and lack of good faith interactions (2).

(1) "Suggestism"--contemporary Journalism (From my article "The Results of and Psychological Causes of Contraception," Social Justice Review December 1993, 209-213... http://www.catholicculture.org/library/view.cfm?recnum=721):

Today, the practice ("charade" really) of journalism is the patronizing of one group or another and the censoring of the rest—thus "suggestism is the most accurate description of today's press and media is: Suggestism,, not journalism. Suggestpaper, not newspaper. Patron press, not free press. Suggestist, neither journalist nor reporter. For those described, the First Amendment does nothing but give them immunity to truth, justice, the common good and trustworthiness. Most of today's "journalists" are self-promoting perverters of the First Amendment who have aborted those who gave them the First mendment. Do not trust what you see or hear in the press and media. Most is "pretend." And, suggestism (nee' journalism) does not believe in equality because the fraud press do NOT treat all with equal coverage or consideration.

(2) Moral authority is gone...the First Amendment people fail the Founders by not helping the people know Life, Liberty and Pursuit of Happiness,the Ten Comandments, and Nature and Nature's God---all mentioned many times by the Founders and the basis for deTocqueville's bewilderment that the early Americans needed no laws for their righteous civility. Fascist lying editors instead have given the people abortion and all its subliminal spinoffs and results: ABORTIONISMO. The Fraud Press needs to look in the mirror to find what happened to "the people". If the people are no good, nothing works well for very long. The Press and Media are run by dirty old men, dirty minded schoolboys never grown up, the gay cult genital maniacs, and haremfeminists manipulating the people into absence and suppression of virtue. Deny all you want. Rationalize all you want. America is dead. The Fraud Press killed it. The people act out and live "abortion" routinely--life is meaningless; all culture is sexsational violent fantasy; non-reality is all there is; and power rules. Forgotten is "the creation of non-being" is the definition of evil. The Founders would have hung you all responsible for the Suggestibility Diseases which killed America.

An Example of he fraud press elected him by not informing the people....Clinton yes; Trump no. What Unethical Unjust Unfair Unprofessional, unAmerican dictators, editors are!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!journalisms failure to inform the people has destroyed the America of the Founders....

: Subject: BILL CLINTON'S AMAZING MILITARY/POLITICAL CAREER

OOh! You didn't know he had a military career?

Bill and Hillary got a combined $20 million for their to-be written memoirs.
Here's some help for them since their memories are getting old.
Bill Clinton registered for the draft on September 08, 1964, accepting all contractual conditions of registering for the draft. His Selective Service Number was 326 46 228.
Bill Clinton is classified 2-S on Nov. 17, 1964.
Bill Clinton is reclassified 1-A on March 20, 1968.
Bill Clinton is directed. to report for induction on July 28, 1969.
Bill Clinton refused to report and was not inducted into the military.
Bill Clinton is reclassified 1-D after enlisting in the U. S. Army Reserve on August 7, 1969, under the authority of COL. E. Holmes
Clinton signed his enlistment papers and took the oath of enlistment into the Army Reserve.
Bill Clinton failed to report to his duty station at the University of Arkansas ROTC, in September 1969.
Bill Clinton was reclassified 1-A on October 30, 1969, as his enlistment with the Army Reserve is revoked by Colonel E. Holmes and Clinton now is considered AWOL and subject to arrest under Public Law 90-40 (2) (a) - " registrant who has failed to report .. remains liable for induction.
Bill Clinton's birthdate lottery number is 311, drawn December 1, 1969, but anyone who has already been ordered to report for induction is ineligible!

Bill Clinton runs for Congress (1974), while a fugitive from justice under Public Law 90-40.

Bill Clinton runs for Arkansas Attorney General (1976), while a fugitive from justice.

Bill Clinton receives a pardon on January 21, 1977, from President Jimmy Carter.

Bill Clinton becomes the FIRST PARDONED FEDERAL FELON ever to serve as President of the United States.

All these facts come from Freedom of Information requests, public laws, and various books that have been published, and have not been refuted by Clinton.

After the 1993 World Trade Center bombing, President Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1995 bombing in Saudi Arabia, which killed five U.S. Military personnel, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1996 Khobar Towers bombing in Saudi Arabia , which killed 19 and injured 200 U.S. Military personnel, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1998 bombing of U.S. Embassies in Africa, which killed 224 and injured 5,000, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 2000 bombing of the USS Cole, which killed 17 and injured 39 U.S. Sailors, Clinton promised that those responsible be hunted down and punished.

Maybe if Clinton had kept those promises, an estimated 3,000 people in New York, Washington, D.C. and Pennsylvania who are now dead would be alive today.

THINK ABOUT IT!

It is a strange turn of events.

Hillary gets $8 Million for her forthcoming memoir and Bill gets about $12 Million for his memoir yet to be written.

This from two people who spent 8 years being unable to recall anything about past events while under oath.

Sincerely,

Cdr. Hamilton McWhorter USN (ret)

P.S. Please forward this to as many people as you can!

THE DEATH OF CIVILIZATION--BRUTAL POLICE AND MORE BRUTAL PROTESTS....the world created by virtueless press&media's unnatural sex and sensational violence...by Samuel A. Nigro, MD, retired psychiatrist, OPEN ACCESS....copyright c 2020.

WHITE "SUPREMACY" IS AS STUPID AS BLACK "INFERIORITY"...Using COLOR or RACE to judge makes matters worse--What is the content-of-character of those involved? Why are they doing what they are doing? The less than a milligram of melanin one has should not replace one's 3 1/2 pounds of brain. If you rage, you are making matters worse by solving nothing, acting out your feelings, and being less than fully human. Melanin amount is as important as eye color, hair length, waist size, fingernail length, weight, and extracted tooth. We are all the same in humanbeingness. Civilizing judgments must be based on content-of-character and not dimensions like color. Skin deep solutions rarely work.

WELCOME TO THE PRESS&MEDIA CREATED "CULTURE OF VIOLENCE," I.E., THE AFTERMATH OF THE CURRENT "CULTURE OF MASTURBATION" RESULTING FROM ABORTIONISMO METASTASIZING FROM ROE V. WADE....OBVIOUSLY, GONE ARE THE LOSS OF TRADITIONAL PURPOSES OF LIFE, SACRIFICE, VIRTUE, LOVE, HUMANITY, PEACE, FREEDOM, AND NATURAL DEATH WITHOUT FEAR REPLACED BY THE PROMOTION AND CELEBRATION OF EVIL BY THE PRESS&MEDIA which enriches itself by corrupting politicians, promoting law worship, rejecting equality, and dismissing Transcendence, all of which destroy childhood, traditional Jewish-Christian family life, civilization, and love on God-created earth. And the press&media have destroyed civilization, as Enlightenment philosopher Voltaire said: Those who can make you believe absurdities can make you commit atrocities. The unnatural sex and sensational violence absurdities from the virtue-absent press&media flood the world with suggestibilities and paradigms which are imitated by the thoughtless.

Minneapolis Burning: Rioter Yells “Shoot the White Folk!”--BLACK CULT RACISM AND VICTIMISM (and "supremacy" of any one) ARE THE PROBLEMS, NOT THE SOLUTIONS...the 1/2 milligram of melanin present in anyone should not replace one's 3 1/2 pounds of brain. Acting out one's feelings is usually against humanbeingness. Some ironically enjoy atrocities of victimhood never analyzing if there was anything a victim could have done to prevent it.

The police need arrest procedures: "BE PEACEFUL AND CALM AND ALL WILL BE WELL--ACTING WILD OR RESISTING WILL CAUSE VIOLENCE AND DANGEROUS SELF-STRESS--Jesus will help----(swear JESUS WILL HELP instead of god damn them!)" over and over and over. My father taught us as kids, if ever stopped by police: "Slowly stop the car; put on hazard lights; turn on inside lights of the car if nightime; roll down windows; turn off ignition and slowly put keys on dash board; place your hands on the top of the steering wheel; tell all in the car to slowly put their open hands high up on the seat or shoulders of what is in front of you; and ask the cop, 'Have I done anything wrong?' If you have done no wrong, relax. If you have done wrong, do not make it worse by anger or actions the police will see as threats--you will be sorry. Cooperating with the police will benefit you."

The press, media, educators, organizations, and families need reminding that color is irrelevant and all depends on content of character. The same applies to victimists, so "happy" to be able to rage hatefully when evil is obvious...and "joining the evil by more violence" makes matters worse too. Yelling "black" is no better than old time slavers yelling "white." We all can do better today by using our brains and virtuous-content-of-character instead of skin-deep color. I am not white and I am not black. I am a full human being and we all are the same by the Theogeocalculus. (95% of "blacks" are not black but shades of brown; 99% of "whites" are not white but shades of ruddy beige--so "black/white" use is not lying, but sloganeering.) You cannot condemn the violent by being violent.

Victimism overlooks and causes forgetting the amazing successful unity of Caucasians and Negros for over 100 years in America resulting in extraordinary successes in all groups. Victimism excuses those people who fail to use the opportunities to succeed; it excuses violence; it censors the sacrifices for oneness and unity; and finally it causes loss of human purposes so that truth, oneness, good and beauty are lost on God's created planet. Victimism is an anti-human selfish celebration and sensational exploitation of violence done mainly by the black racist cult and the antifas as they mirror each others' loss of humanbeingness.

In closing, and again: The police must tell those being addressed to "BE PEACEFUL AND CALM AND ALL WILL BE WELL--ACTING OUT-WILD OR RESISTING WILL CAUSE VIOLENCE AND DANGEROUS SELF-STRESS--(swear JESUS WILL HELP instead of god damn them!)" And if stopped by police, slowly stop the car; put on hazard lights; turn on inside lights of the car if nighttime; roll down windows; turn off ignition and slowly put keys on dash board; place your hands on the top of the steering wheel; tell all in the car to slowly put their open hands high up on the seat or shoulders of what is in front of you; and ask the cop, 'Have I done anything wrong?' If you have done no wrong, relax. If you have done wrong, do not make it worse by anger or actions the police will see as threats--you will be sorry. Cooperating with the police will benefit you.

Read, study, and promulgate the attachments. Send to John James of Michigan and all who seem to live virtue. Sadly, my book The Death of America of 1974 has come true.

PANHUMANITY--color conscious policies will not work--except more "white rescue"--(If Negros stopped the racism complaints and memories, they would have to thank Caucasians for almost everything, and that is just psychologically unacceptible until they read Keith Richburg's Out of America, a Black Man Confronts Africa. And that would help the KKK losers realize that it is time for them to quit their hateful racism too, and all can join in full Hippocratic Humanbeingness. Blacks angry at whites means they are totally ignorant of the fact that they are free and successful because of whites.)

--"PAN"-HUMANITY is redundant, but needed because color, ethnicity, race, religion, groupthink tend to make all forget that "humanity" is all of us! As my Italianate father would say banging the table: "We are all the same! We are all the same! Even when we proclaim our differences!" ("Panhumanity" is really "America" generalized for the world.) You cannot fight racism with your own racism. You cannot fight color with color. "Color" and most other dimensions are as important as height, weight, race, sex, subculture unless violent, disabilities etc.. Color inspires hate and arrogant self-righteousness. Old time "whites" used it for power--Isn't that what today's "blacks" are trying to do? Those who use color are fooling themselves at best and create more evil at worst by victimism which creates development-preventing anger, hoax creating beggars, demanding loud failures, and slick prejudice against whites. You cannot fight "differences" with more "differences." Only the Transcendentals and Ultimate Humanbeingness works. Color is a "fuse" only meaning the user can count. Non-racists work to bring all together; not to paralyze; not to exploit; not to intimidate; and not to deny past unifying help but to remind of them so their helping will be imitated (Color excuses failure and color makes enemies instead of friends who help). Color paralyzes into demanding others do self-development for them, which is what others cannot do. Color makes for deadbeats happy shouting their victimism caused by having slave ancestors because they think it excuses their failure and justifies retaliatory racism, as if two wrongs make a right.

In summary, "white" is power-mad craziness and "black" is victim-mad craziness. THE ONLY VALID USE OF COLOR IS TO REMEMBER THAT MORE WHITES HAVE HELPED BLACKS AND OTHERS THAN HURT THEM SINCE THE FOUNDING OF AMERICA--"WHITE RESCUE", not "white privilege." If whites are blamed for black failures, whites must get credit for black successes. In fact, "privilege while white" is the same as "driving while black." Stop basing anything on race or color. Help with "content of character", without mentioning color, race, ethnicity, or subculture, leads to the oneness of all humans. COLORLESS IS THE ONLY WAY TO STOP RACISM. To deal with "racism" as "racism" is to create racism. REMEMBER AND RELIVE WORKING TOGETHER FOR EACH OTHER, rather than the opposite. COLOR IS SELFISH SCHEMING...like slavery, the KKK, BlackLivesMatter, Southern Poverty Law Center, et cetera...Tell about the good so it will be imitated...and not the "bad." The "GOOD"--WHITE RESCUE--a million and a half whites died in the Civil War defeating slavery; those whites were supported by the rest of the 20 million Northerners then alive; and a majority of the 194 million American Caucasians today have enabled successes of the majority of the 45 million Negros alive in America today--successes improbable if not impossible in any other country--successes impossible without "white rescue." Almost everything worthwhile in the world is due to some degree to white rescue. What BlackLivesMatter does not want is for whites to treat blacks the way blacks mostly treat blacks (over 6000 blacks murder 6000 blacks every year). And you would think that a group should try to work nicely together with those who outnumber them 5 to 1 in population (unless, of course, they know that most who outnumber them really want to help instead of hurt, so Negros can "abuse them for help" instead of "ask and thank them for help"). "Black" is no different than "white" used to be---a power slogan, campaign, cult for domination.

Doc Sam identified the "solution to race" as a problem while visiting a prison. He witnessed a bright no-nonsense black guy (not one of the few loud black groupies who always used the "N-word") leap from his upper bunk to greet his new white guy mate on the lower bunk with, "Hi, I'm Chris, and I'm not black." Shaking hands now, the white guy said, "I'm Tony, and I'm not white." They got along fine—I am still stunned at this marvelous glimpse of the "oneness", by denial and tolerance, these two muscle bound tatooed under-educated criminal toughs showed each other. It was amazing! Watching them, and witnessing it another time between another black/white pair, Doc Sam believes this "denial of color" should be taught and adopted so as to characterize all humanity to help overcome racism. Witnessing this made Doc Sam realize that "color does not count, but content of character does" deserving unbridled respect and promotion for the sake of all humanity. These criminals found the "cure" for racism which is the absolute refusal to use "color" for any judgements but to relate by absolute "humanbeingness." The answer is VIRTUE overcoming concentrated disadvantage. (I first wrote for "colorlessness" in 1998, "Races and Solution", Social Justice Review, but I did not understand how to do it until I witnessed the preceeding event in prison.)

(People who think with COLOR cannot be believed and should not. Most often, they are making excuses or trying to dominate. There is a perverse "better-than-thou", self-righteous feel-good when color is used as an excuse for failures; and the same perverse as a "gotcha" feel-good occurs when color is questioned as a reason for success. "Black" has come to mean (1) anger at slavery never experienced; (2) entitlements for personal failures; (3) hostility to those personally succeeding; (4) willful non-development; and (5) refusal to acknowledge and thank those who have helped. Alternating and opposite, are the malicious uses of color to assault, dominate, manipulate and exploit, just as old slavers used "white" and today as abortionists use "size." Those who condemn color dominance should not use it themselves. "Content of character"--"conscious of consciousness"--VIRTUE--present or absent? Virtue is the Common Good. Color has not, and will not work. It never did and never will for the truth, oneness, good and beauty of mankind. Love does not come from color. Color is racism.)

THOUGHTS ON COLOR--Do not label by color but by the content of character (C^2) which is same as "personhood" also meaning "conscious of consciousness" (C^2). BlackLivesMatter blames all problems on racism--and their answer is more racism but in the opposite direction--whitephobia (and hate) called "white privilege"--"White privilege/supremacy" is as hostile, hateful, degrading, bullying, offensive and racist for whites as "nigger" is for blacks. Created has been an epidemic of "You whites do not deserve dignity, decency, or friendliness because of memories of past oppressions for which all whites must assume guilt and all blacks must assume are still ongoing." That thinking overlooks the Civil War where one and a half million whites died military deaths for the North as the rest of the twenty million whites of the North supported the destruction of slavery. Free people OWE whites their freedom with virtuous personal development by taking advantage of opportunities available instead of being paralyzed by poor-me victimhood or using race and color to exploit and manipulate others. Color did not humanize enslaving whites and made matters worse; and blacks dehumanize themselves also. To destroy "Negro" is the outrageous genocide of five hundred years of struggles, oppression, survival, and successes of human persons with African heredity--It is what Islam did.

"Color" as designating people has not worked. Color tells nothing about the individual's content of character. Color divides; fragments; creates hostility; puts chips on one's shoulders; offends automatically; depersonalizes to incivility; patronizes; makes one to be a professional victim, begging or demanding without productivity; paralyzes one to "poor me" ineptness; prevents helping oneself by being parasitic instead of taking advantage of opportunities available; inflates with loud self-deluded arrogant Narcissism; dehumanizes to violence; makes people crazy; and enables evil leaders to manipulate weak suggestible peers to un-virtuous acting out of emotions. And "color" makes one forget that being born in America is the luckiest thing that could happen to anyone--otherwise, one would be dead or destitute in some other miserable country or on the immigrant to the US waiting list--and millions still try to come here. Color means "unworthy content of character" and that one can do anything one feels like doing without consideration of virtue. Color makes one to be a Klu Klux Klan thinker of old: "I am better than those different and they must defer to me!" Any one who uses color should be rejected as a KKK (kolor,kolor,kolor)--which is the same as a CCC (color,color,color)---beige, black, brown, pink, red, white, yellow--empty wavelengths signifying nothing. We must identify as HUMANS: African, Asian, Caucasian, Hispanic, Negro, and by other words which bring the personhood of transcendent human history: Life, Sacrifice, Virtue, Love, Humanity, Peace, Freedom, and Natural Death without Fear by commitment to Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. Color does none of that and is just an empty wavelength containing "zero" content of character. Color does the opposite. Tell those dealing with "color" to stop and deal with humanity based words instead. Color makes matters worse. "Color" is superficial and skin-deep thoughtlessness. Color always fails. It will always fail because it is not fully human because it ignores the content of one's character. Instead, people should be known by the content of their character as Dr. King stated--WHICH MEANS: at least, the virtues of prudence, justice, temperance and fortitude--which are the only ways to act and how to judge others. If you really want to help everybody, stop mentioning color. Color hardens the heart and dissolves the brain. The average melanin content of a person with "black" skin is less than one milligram--the tip of a lead pencil--and that one milligram should not control one's 86 billion neurons or the world, unless one calls oneself a "pencil-tip". One should not be a "melanin maniac."

Most who use color overlook these facts. Some are just intimidated and do not have the courage or words to challenge promoters of color. However, those who exploit color today are typically obsessed by victimhood or color itself in the most subhuman way. They are typically mirror images of old time slave promoters--just read their books and articles, but reverse colors in all their writings throughout!. Color promoters of today are no better than color promoters of slavery--as if two wrongs make a right. One will see how sick they all are when obsessed or manic about color. Again: Color dehumanizes; it can solve no problems; it can only be misused.

All should know that more whites have helped blacks since the country was founded. One and a half million Caucasians died for the North to win the Civil War, and the 20 million other Caucasians of the North supported them. The "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame are named after the thousands of Irish Brigade members who died winning the Battle of Gettysburg. Thus 4 million Negros were freed from slavery, and their descendants are 36 million Negros in America today, most of whom are doing well thank you. No one remembers or knows about the descendants, if any, of the 1 & 1/2 million white Northerners dead in the Civil War. Islam's slaves have no descendants because all were murdered, castrated, worked to death, and prohibited procreation--Muslims never helped their blacks and there was no NAACP ever in an Islamic country. Meanwhile, for 12 centuries, "Muslim supremacy" was annihilation of 14 million slaves. How LeBron, Kaepernick, Muhammed Ali, BlackLivesMatter, and Negro History Smithsonian can give a pass to Islam is unbelievable (Bizarrely, they take pleasure in victimism as long as by "whites"--another proof that color should not be used as an identity. Ignored is that the first owner of legal slaves in America was a free Negro as once was the largest slave-owner in South Carolina.). In the Americas, most Negros are still being helped by more Caucasians than being mistreated by Caucasians. In fact, black-on-black crime and family self-failure are the biggest problems for Negros today. Negros overall have been helped by more whites than tried to hurt, as proven by most American Negro athletes. Unfortunately, they are being conned into victimism by blacks who do not know real history, by blacks who deny the white help they have received, by blacks who censor worse racism by Islam, and by blacks who are addicted to "color" rather than "content of character." All need reminding that Caucasians, unless Muslims, will help more than hurt--always have and always will--All need reminding of the positives and eliminate pleasure of remembering the negatives, especially if you want more positives.

Treat all by positive support of the transcendentals: truth, oneness, good and beauty, identity, matter and being. Ignore color. We are all the same transcendentally and that is all that should count. As Justice Thurgood Marshall asked, "What is the quality of your intent?" Reverend Martin Luther King admonished that "content of character" is what makes personhood--There are better ways to help than Victimism which, as groupthink, just makes people into pencil-tips or angry and disagreeable enslavers, abortionists, racists, screaming threatening uncivil protestors, et cetera.

Color hardens the heart and melts the brain. Only virtue as understood and promoted by the Founders will work--impossible when factions impose color (or other groupthinks possibly offensive and fragmenting from humanity, make that "fragmenting from panhumanity). The only genuine significance of color is that more whites have helped blacks than hurt them since the founding of America, and that all humanity began in Africa no matter where you now are. All are ONE.

"COLORIZATION" (the most common victimism) is more than color?: Why no objections to: White Sox? Black Sox? the Browns? Red Sox? Red Winos (or is it Red Wings)? Black Hawks? Redmen? Reds? Redskins (yep, already)? Lady Reds? Red Storm? Red Raiders? Renegades? Savages? Sioux? Crimson Storm? Blue Hawks? the Blues? White House? Black Knights? Red wine? Grayhounds? Brownies? Eskimos? Tribe? Chieftains? Mohigans? Braves? Bravettes? Halfbreeds? Hurons? Cherokees? Arrows? Mohawks? Warriors? Seminoles? Scouts? Fighting Irish? MidshipMEN? Cadets? Sooners? Pirates? Indiana? Indian Guides? Tomahawks? Thunderbirds (the car too)? Wolves? the Indian logos of thousands of schools across America? Geek Monkeys? Grease Monkey? Arabica Coffee? Indian Head Lager Beer? Sweet Stash? Pompadour? Deadwood? Old Brooklyn Bakery? Pastel Rainbows? Blue Devils? Mavericks? Cowboys? Dixie Cups? Ravens? Hipsters? or what I was called as a kid and no one cared: "GuineaWopDagoNiggerNegroNigro--no Catholics wanted"? INSTEAD, WHAT IS THE CONTENT OF CHARACTER? Diversity and integrated living are "content of character"--the pursuit of virtue.

Mine is that mysterious force of the invisible wind; I sustain the breath of all living. I breathe in the verdure, and in the flowers, and when the waters flow like living things, it is I. I found those columns that support the whole earth...I am the force that lies hid in the winds, from me they take their source, and as a man may move because he breathes, so doth a fire burn but by my blast. All these live because I am in them and am of their life. I am wisdom. Mine is the blast of the thundered word by which all things were made. "BLACK"--AN IDEOLOGY AND CULT OF RACISM

BLACK RACISM TODAY---White Privilege (hard work & good family life) and BlackLivesMatter (today's KKK, use "black" like old time slavers used "white"--actually: "BLACK TRASH" would be a more accurate name. BLM CREATES HATE--BY USING EXAGERATIONS AND HOAXES, BLM MAKES BLACKS HATE WHITES AND CREATE WHITEPHOBIA. Today, no group is actually creating more hate than BlackLivesMatter and its ideology of "black". "Black" is more racist than "slavery" was--Slavery was an economic system in which the first legal slaves in America were owned by free Negros...and for decades, the largest slave holder in South Carolina was a free Negro.

Actually "white privileged/supremacy" for whites is as racist, hateful, bullying, offensive and degrading as "nigger" is for blacks.

(And there is ABORTION...over 35% of abortions kill black persons--Abortion is so PERSONal that you do not come along with the next pregnancy. That is you--one time, for all time, or for no time if aborted. Where is BLM attacking abortion clinics? Where are the NFL players protesting black murders by the thousands of "blacks" aborted daily?)

BY Samuel A. Nigro, MD, copyright c 2016

"Blacks" think being a victim is "success," because: it excuses failure; it manipulates whites into pseudo-guilt; it paralyzes into "gimmee, gimmee, gimmee;" it allows and promotes inappropiate anger; it prohibits honest criticism; it depends and demands on whites giving more free stuff; it censors centuries of the rescuing by and providing from whites; and it is a near total imitation of old slavers and bigots yelling "white" to intimidate and control others. "Negro" is better because it is five hundred years of the personhood of people who created, adapted, suffered, survived and established full humanbeingness and equality. To exterminate "Negro" is ridiculous. To use "black" is to adore a wavelength of light and to imitate slavers and is a racist ideology and cult..

Doc Sam identified the "solution to race" as a problem while visiting a prison. He witnessed a bright no-nonsense black guy (not one of the few loud black groupies who always used the "N-word") leap from his upper bunk to greet his new white guy mate on the lower bunk with, "Hi, I'm Chris, and I'm not black." These criminals found the "cure" for racism which is the absolute refusal to use "color" for any judgements but to relate by absolute "humanbeingness."

THE ONLY VALID USE OF COLOR IS TO REMEMBER THAT MORE WHITES HAVE HELPED BLACKS (and everyone else) THAN HURT THEM SINCE THE FOUNDING OF AMERICA. TO BLAME ALL WHITES by "white privilege" FOR SLAVERY AND ALL PROBLEMS OF BLACKS IS ITSELF RACISM, VICTIMISM, AND SCHEMING SELF-DISCREDITING LYING ABOUT HISTORY. The "wrongs" of whites are greatly exceeded by the "help" from whites which blacks have forgotten or ignore because of victimism (There is a perverse "pleasure" in having been a "victim" because one can manipulate and extort others.). Honest BlackLivesMatter people will not reject all given them from Whites--beginning with freedom from slavery to the Constitution to English words to basketballs. Actually, being a slave in America was a rescue from the much more worse slavery in Africa and any where else.

ALL JUDGEMENTS MUST BE BASED ON "CONTENT OF CHARACTER". TO DO THAT, RACISM AND COLOR MUST BE IGNORED. THIS IS THE ONLY WAY TO STOP RACISM AND COLOR BASED PREJUDICE. FOCUS ONLY ON "CONTENT OF CHARACTER." YOU CAN DO IT AND IT MAKES FOR NON-VIOLENT SOLUTIONS AND CORRECTIONS. TO USE COLOR IS TO BE RACIST AND CAUSE RACISM.

Ninety-five percent of "blacks" are not black but shades of brown; and ninety-five percent of "whites" are not white but ruddy beige--TO USE "BLACK" OR "WHITE" IS JUST NOT TRUE AND USING THEM CREATES RACISM.

Blacks have completely forgotten that American Whites freed all Blacks from slavery--All freedoms are due to Whites. Nate Turner and other Blacks failed. American Whites freed all from slavery--and Blacks do not give a damn. Blacks actually revel in slavery to excuse their failures and extort reparations. Those of any color, who did not take advantage of self-development opportunities, cannot blame others--not when most are successful. Victimhood is simple excuse-making for failure to develop oneself, guilt-creating to manipulate whites, and hate-creating by intimidating and threatening blacks. Rep. Louis Stokes would say at every speech, that he had been in every other country long enough to know that being in America was to win the lottery. Keith Richburg, a black reporter for the Washington Post after living three years in Africa wrote a book called *Out of America, A Black Man Confronts Africa (*1997), "Thank God my ancestor got out because, now, I am not one of them. In short, thank God that I am an American." Indeed, slavery was the luckiest thing that ever happened for Negro Americans with slave ancestry--otherwise they would be dead or destitute in Africa or on the immigrant to the US waiting list. Failing to succeed today cannot be attributed to anything but poor family life, poor mothering, poor fathering, poor education, poor self-development most of the time. All should be encouraging all to have virtue, get educated, and get ahead like most do unless they get paralyzed by pouting poor-me self-created victimism. Four million slaves were freed by a million and a half whites who died winning the Civil War and 20 million Northern whites supporting them. Of 35 million Negro descendants of the 4 million freed slaves in America, 30 million are success stories never possible anywhere else. The five million blacks (and twice more of other races) have been paralyzed by victimhood and need kicks in the butt rather than handouts or riotous exploitation by the racist BlackLivesMatter and others who believe in color, which has never worked for all and never will.

(Sidebar: The failure to confront prominent Muslims with African ancestry is totally discrediting of victimists and educators. There are no "African" descendant groups in the Islamic Middle East where more slaves were imported for more years than in the Americas where there are over 35 million African descendants of slaves in the U.S. alone and many millions more in the rest of the Americas. The 450,000 Africans brought to the Americas have descendants. In contrast, Islam worked all their fourteen million slaves to death and prevented reproduction, and still does slavery sub rosa--and there is no protest. Black Lives Matter is a fraud; it creates hate; it is blind to whites freeing their ancestors preferring to remember only the wrongs. Where are the 35 million + African descendants of over 14 million slaves taken to the Islamic Middle East over 12 centuries? Islam did not allow slaves to have children; castrated many; and killed all 14 million slaves imported over 12 centuries. There are no Negro descendants groups in Islam Middle East as in the Americas. There was no civil war over slavery in Islamic countries or anywhere else. In the American Civil War, over 620,000 whites died in combat and over 475,000 whites died of wounds, and at least 300,000 white soldiers died of diseases--over 1.5 million whites, overwhelmingly Christians, served to bring world slavery to an end, numbers far exceeding the numbers of the original slaves brought here. For every African slave brought to the Americas, more than three (3) whites of the North were killed, wounded or died supporting the war, to end slavery by the Civil War. The South had almost as many whites dead and wounded and their entire social structure, plantation economy, and cities were destroyed--quite a payback, and nothing comparable ever occurred in the worse enslaving Islamic Middle East. Regardless, any group not protesting Islam's murderous slavery, which still goes on sub rosa, more than Western slavery is a fraud. Any African descendant joining Islam is a traitor to humanity and their race, and to the millions of aborted would-be descendants deprived of life by Islam.)

"Instead of calling Caucasians "privileged whites" (like whites did not have to work hard and struggle too as if life was always easy), more friends will be made by thanking Caucasians for their past help, their successes and successful ancestors--beginning with the one and a half million North Caucasians who died in combat or in military related deaths and their twenty million Caucasian supporters of the North, all of whom defeated the slavers of the South in the Civil War--maybe their families should get the "reparations." Freedom was not free. Also, instead of parading BLACKLIVESFAILURES, more friends will be made by remembering the thirty million Negroes today who ARE successes having descended from the four million slaves freed by the Caucasians of North America! Maybe more people will want to help positive fully human Negroes or African-Americans than angry, intimidating, exploiting, victimhood cry-baby pigment/melanin obsessed blacks."

How the heck could your vaccine team overlook Inovia Phama?
The Inovia Pharma DNA vaccine is on the verge of showing amazing antibodies in people in Phase 1.

Prediction:
Moderna will be shown to be a faulty choice over Innovia . Modern's requires SUPER COOLING for transport and shelf life. I predict INO's will provide more antibodies , protection and easier to transport and STORE
I suspect your vaccine team are comprised of MORONS !
With All due respect...
They are making a BIG mistake turning their back on Inovia. You'll see hahaha! late June.

Subject: Prioritize non-animal models for studying COVID-19

From: (b) (6) (b) (6)

Message:

trump must resign

I am very disturbed to learn that NIAID's Strategic Plan for combatting COVID-19 prioritizes creating animal models while omitting any attempt to utilize advanced human-mimetic models.
Not only do animals have a poor prediction rate in immunity and virology but there is no animal species that accurately recapitulates COVID-19 as seen in humans.
Mice are poor models for studying COVID-19 infections in humans because of key differences in the ACE2 receptors of mice and humans. Even transgenic mice, bred with altered ACE2 receptors, exhibit only mild symptoms in comparison with humans.
Likewise, nonhumane primates fail to develop symptoms when infected with COVID-19.
Indeed, NIAID's Strategic Plan admits that "replicating human disease, particularly its more severe manifestations, in an animal model may be challenging."
The director of the Stanford Institute for Immunology noted the failure of animal models, particularly mice and monkeys, explaining that animal research has produced "many interesting results but very few cures." [Annual Review of Immunology 2018 36:1, 843-864]
Organoids, organ chips and other cellular models created from human cells can be used to study the efficacy and safety of drug treatments and potential vaccines on the human body.
The Wyss Institute has already demonstrated that its lung chips can be infected with the virus and Viscient Biosciences is creating lung tissue models using the cells of patients infected with COVID-19 in order to "see the true biology and quickly find a therapy that will work in clinical trials."
NIAID's plan to put precious resources towards creating animal models for COIVD-19 is deeply disturbing given the profound lack of scientific evidence to support this strategy.
I respectfully request that the NIAID prioritize superior, human-relevant methods to study COVID-19.

Tom,

Thanks for sending me the George Will article. I hope he still has influence in the conservative community. I don't know what to say about The Lancet article. I haven't read it myself but the criticisms appear damning. Both authors and journals have been eager to publish articles about the coronavirus, and both groups have taken shortcuts that have weakened the quality of medical journalism. The Lancet competes with The New England Journal of Medicine and JAMA for high-profile articles, and the only inducement journals have to attract authors is rapid acceptance and publication. I'm afraid that a lot that's being published about the coronavirus will turn out to have been the result of shoddy research. I'm too jaded to be surprised but I would be greatly disappointed if it turns out that the political biases of the editorial board influenced their decision to accept this article. In a way, it strikes me as similar to the looting and destruction that has come on the heels of a legitimate and peaceful demonstration and has sullied the cause that the demonstration was organized to support. We'll all be worse off if we can't trust even the highest quality medical journals.

We are fortunate to have a cottage in South Haven, MI, about two hours from Chicago, and are safely out here until life in Chicago settles down. I hope you and your loved ones are safe.

The Lancet's Politicized Science on Antimalarial Drugs

A new study suggests a treatment Trump touted is harmful. Let's take a closer look at the data.

By June 1, 2020 7:13 pm ET

President Trump has often mentioned hydroxychloroquine as a potential treatment for Covid-19. Last month he announced that he was taking the antimalaria drug, also known as HCL, as a prophylaxis after two White House staffers tested positive for the virus. Mr. Trump's critics in the press seem to be on a mission to discredit the therapy. Now a prestigious medical journal may be joining in.

The Lancet published a study on May 22 that purported to find a 30% increased risk of death for hospitalized Covid-19 patients treated with HCL or chloroquine, a related treatment. "Study says drug hailed by Trump is harmful," the Washington Post reported. The World Health Organization suspended its HCL trial. France, Belgium and Italy announced they would prohibit the drug for the treatment of Covid patients.

In an open letter to the Lancet's editors and the study's authors, some 120 doctors, statisticians and epidemiologists write that the headlines about the study "have caused considerable concern to participants and patients enrolled in randomized controlled trials" evaluating the drugs. Thus many researchers have scrutinized the data, and the "scrutiny has raised both methodological and data integrity concerns."

Antimalarials have been long been known to increase risk for cardiac arrhythmias, particularly in patients with underlying heart conditions. Infection by the novel coronavirus can also cause inflammation of the heart muscle in severely ill patients, which can result in arrhythmias. Yet the drugs have been used safely for 60 years to treat and prevent malaria as well as for rheumatoid arthritis and lupus.

The Lancet study aggregated raw data collected by Surgisphere, a public-health analytics company, from 96,032 hospitalized Covid-19 patients treated at 671 hospitals on six continents. Yet its raw data and code haven't been shared with other researchers for review, despite Lancet's pledge in March to do so for all Covid-19 studies it publishes.

“There was no mention of the countries or hospitals that contributed to the data source and no acknowledgments of their contributions. A request to the authors for information on the contributing centres was denied,” the study’s critics noted. Additionally, “there was no ethics review.”

The study’s authors say Surgisphere’s contracts with hospitals don’t allow them to share individual patient data. But the authors won’t even share data that are aggregated by hospital. This information is important to determining the influence of confounding variables such as disease severity, drug dosage and underlying conditions.

Other problems include that more deaths were reported from five Australian hospitals collectively than had occurred in the entire country during the study period. The study showed little variation in patient outcomes or underlying risk factors by continent, which would be odd given health disparities among different populations.

Also curious: The average reported dose of HCL was 100 milligrams higher than FDA guidelines—which is 800 milligrams of hydroxychloroquine sulfate on the first day of treatment and then 400 milligrams daily for four to seven days—even though two-thirds of the data ostensibly came from hospitals in North America. That leaves two possibilities: The data are inaccurate, or doctors were treating patients with dangerously high doses.

The authors on Friday corrected some glaring errors. They noted, for instance, that a hospital in Asia was lumped in with the Australian death totals. But the authors also stand by the results. Researchers worry that the study’s publicity will make it harder to recruit patients for randomized clinical trials that are necessary to determine whether the drug may benefit some patients.

HCL has been found to interfere with the virus's replication in vitro, though observational studies have produced mixed results. Two studies from France found most patients recovered rapidly and suffered few serious side effects. Another, also from France, found no benefit, though its subjects were older and received higher dosages.

It is possible that HCL may prevent infections or help younger patients with mild cases who aren't experiencing immune overreactions known as cytokine storms. HCL is among the few drugs being studied as a prophylactic. "There's so much swirling around it, people won't want to enter those trials," David Smith, an infectious-disease specialist at the University of California in San Diego, told Nature magazine. "In which case, it will be an open question that won't get answered."

Lancet's decision to publish the study with little apparent scrutiny also suggests politics may be influencing its scientific judgment. An unsigned editorial in May criticized President Trump's "inconsistent and incoherent national response" to the pandemic and asserted that "Americans must put a president in the White House come January, 2021, who will understand that public health should not be guided by partisan politics." The Lancet editors should focus on healing themselves.

Ms. Finley is a member of the Journal's editorial board.

Here is the link to the salt study, you can find the plenty of studies about far UVC efficacy.
Salt Coated Masks - The salt coating on the fiber surface dissolves upon exposure to virus aerosols and recrystallizes during drying, destroying the pathogens.

Making this data public may help prevent the second wave of the virus from coming back and killing the younger/healthier people like it did during the 1918 flu.

Dr. Fauci,
I've done the analysis, please take the following solution seriously:
Solution Summary:
Isolate all elderly/weak people that are in the high risk category of dying if infected.
Allow all young/healthy people continue with their normal lives, stay away from isolated elderly/weak people. If they get the virus, go home just like any other illness. Of course, because the Gov't didn't get the test kits, no one will know if they get (or have gotten it).
And tell everyone that the number of people who get infected in the "flattened curve" is the same as the infected in the "do nothing" bell curve.

Here is my complete post on the subject. Please read.

Sir, maybe you can start with educating the people about why the Gov't is trying to "flatten the curve" of this virus spread. I will be using Math here, so be warned. The area under both the normal Bell Curve for unimpeded virus spread and the "flattened" curve is the same. Which means the same amount of people get infected. So what the Gov't is doing is trying to keep the peak of the curve under the known hospital capacity so that people who require hospital care will not be shut out due to no available beds/ventilators. The problem with trying to suppress the virus by quarantining everyone and shutting commerce down is that the flattened curve will last much longer (months vs. weeks) for the virus to run it's course. If U.S. commerce shuts down for months (even 1 month), you will see supply chain disruptions that will have catastrophic effect on everyone. We will have shortages and unemployment that we've never seen before. The UK created a model of this scenario, you can find it online.

So what is the solution? Well, we know older/weaker people are most susceptible to dying if they get the virus, so they should self-isolate themselves from the younger/healthier people that are not as critically effected by the virus. All the young/healthy people should go about their normal life/job, take all the precautions, monitor their temp and if they get sick, go home. WAIT, don't start hate posting yet. Remember, in both curves, the same amount of people get the virus, it is just a matter of when and trying to make sure that the older/weaker people don't all get it at once so they don't over run the hospitals. The young/healthy people won't be going to the hospital, so the "flattening" does not help them at all. It actually severely hurts them financially. And if they get a mild virus and get over it, they should be immune to it, but still have to wait months to get their job back due to the shut down. Unfortunately, due to the ineptness of our Gov't, we won't know who has (or had) the virus because we don't have enough testing.

In summary, if we isolate the old/weak as much as we can and allow the healthy/young to continue their normal lives, we maybe able to keep the economy from crashing through the floor. The same amount of people will get it and hopefully there won't be a infection spike in the population of the isolated older/weak that overwhelm hospitals.

And please stop picking on the young people going out and having fun. Sure, they may get the virus sooner than later, but as long as the older/weaker population is isolated from them, it really doesn't matter.

I know this is contrary to everything that the Gov't is recommending, but I've done my homework on this and I'm not sure they have. Dr. Fauci is the closest to providing good info, I wish this post could get to him so he could address it's merits.

Dear Members of the Coronavirus Task Force:

As members of President Trump's Coronavirus Task Force, I urge you to exercise your authority to ensure that the administration protects the human rights of all people, including the right to health, as governmental authorities at the federal, state, tribal, and local level respond to the humanitarian and public health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The response to COVID-19 has the potential to affect the human rights of millions of people, and human rights must be centered at all stages of the crisis – prevention, preparedness, containment, and treatment – in order to best protect public health and support people who are most at risk of adverse impacts.

Respecting human rights is not a luxury that can only be afforded once the threat to public health has been minimized. Human rights violations hinder, rather than facilitate, responses to public health emergencies, and undercut their efficiency.

I call on the U.S. government to ensure that all responses to the COVID-19 pandemic are compliant with international human rights law and standards, taking into account the specific needs of marginalized groups and people and those most at risk, and to address and mitigate the specific human rights risks associated with any particular response.

Specifically, I urge you to ensure that the U.S. government:

- Provides accurate, timely, and science-based information about how people can protect themselves, and acts aggressively to correct misinformation;
- Provides free testing for all persons who request it, and that any goods and services necessary for prevention, diagnosis, care, vaccines, and cures are available, affordable, and accessible to all persons without discrimination;
- Ensures that psychosocial support is available for potential mental health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent containment measures;
- Fully accounts in its plans and strategies for the needs of people adversely impacted and marginalized groups – including, but not limited to, migrant workers, people in precarious or insecure employment including in the "gig" economy, undocumented immigrants, persons with disabilities, people who are incarcerated or held in immigration detention, Indigenous Peoples, people working in the informal sector, people living in poverty, people who are homeless, people without access to adequate water and safe sanitation, people with chronic health conditions, older persons, and people who are pregnant;
- Includes a gender analysis in all response efforts to ensure that the rights of women, girls, and gender non-conforming people are protected and that they receive appropriate support;
- Ensures that all people have access to social support that enables security and dignity, including through paid sick leave, health care, and parental leave where people are unable to work because of the COVID-19 pandemic;

- Ensures there is adequate equipment, training, and support for health workers and other workers facing a higher risk of exposure, as well as mechanisms in place to guarantee support for the families of health workers and others who have died or become ill as a consequence of exposure to COVID-19.

At this time of great uncertainty, I call on THE administration to lead by protecting the health, safety, security, and other human rights of all people.

Respectfully,
