RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, by the untimely and tragic death of Robert F. Kennedy, the nation has lost the benefit of his humanitarian services, his wisdom and his counsel, the State of New York has been deprived of an effective spokesman in the Senate of the United States, and his beloved wife and family will no longer have his companionship and devotion, and

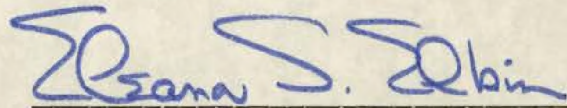

WHEREAS, Robert F. Kennedy, through his public service and personal concern for mentally retarded and handicapped citizens throughout his adult life, contributed immeasurably to their health, welfare and status as full-time citizens of our country; and

WHEREAS, by reason of his exemplary personal and public life, and his continuous concern for and achievements won on behalf of the mentally retarded, Robert F. Kennedy has gained the admiration and gratitude of the National Association for Retarded Children and countless fellow American citizens, and indeed countless friends and admirers around the world;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this Resolution of Commendation and Appreciation for the life of Honorable Robert F. Kennedy, which has so richly enhanced the legacy of our nation, be spread upon the records of the National Association for Retarded Children,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, The President of the United States, and that the membership of the NARC be notified of the enactment of this Memorial Resolution at a meeting duly convened and authorized to so act held in New York City on the 13th day of July, 1968.

Honorable William S. Mailliard
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

Dear Congressman:

This is in response to your communication of July 16, 1968 transmitting a letter and enclosure from Dr. Elizabeth C. Boukas concerning the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Senator Robert F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King.

The authors who have criticized the conclusions of the Warren Commission do not claim to have any significant new evidence, so far as we are aware. Rather, their criticisms and demands for a new inquiry are based upon different conclusions they have drawn from parts of the same body of evidence that was examined by the Commission. The Commission made a thorough inquiry and detailed analysis of the facts concerning the assassination. The evidence amply supports the basic conclusions of the Commission. In these circumstances, we see no basis for a new inquiry.

At the present, no determination has been made that the evidence available would warrant additional independent Federal inquiry into the possibility of a related conspiracy in connection with the deaths of Senator Kennedy and Dr. King. Additional, detailed comment by officers or agencies of the Federal Government would be most inappropriate in view of possible prejudice to the criminal proceedings involving Messrs. Sirhan and Ray.

As always it is a pleasure to be of assistance. Your enclosures are returned herewith.

Sincerely,

FRED M. VINSON, Jr.

Gentlemen:

Attached is correspondence from Dr. Elizabeth C. Boukas requesting federal action with respect to the Kennedy and King assassinations.

Since I have received other correspondence suggesting a conspiracy and requesting a Commission, I would appreciate being advised as to whether consideration has been given to the appointment of such a Commission.

Please return correspondence. Thank you,

Dear Mr. Mailliard:

In view of the serious consequences to the American public from the assassination of three of its leaders, I have been requested to send you the enclosed Statement of Position and I have been authorized to represent to you that the persons whose names appear below have given their written authorization with full knowledge of the content of the statement.

We the undersigned earnestly hope that you will take an active role in requesting federal action. We feel that such action should come from the executive branch as well as the legislative branch of the Government.

Unless action is taken immediately, valuable leads to the possibility of an organized conspiracy could be lost in the narrowing down of facts relevant only to the trial of one suspect.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth C. Boukas

An identical letter has been sent to President Johnson, to Majority and Minority Leaders of both Houses of Congress and of the California State Legislature, all members of the recently created commission to study violence, various personalities associated with the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy and with the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

STATEMENT OF POSITION

Since the assassination of President Kennedy called for a federal investigation, we believe that the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., national leader of a minority group, and that of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, aspirant to the presidential office, call for the same.

In addition to an investigation of the individual deaths, there is reason to consider an investigation of a possible connection between the three because of the following facts (1) there are still lingering doubts about the thoroughness of the Warren Commission report, (2) Dr. King and Senator Kennedy were assassinated in quick succession while both were actively engaged in supporting a similar cause, (3) the cause of the latter two is identified with the administration of President Kennedy.

To enact tighter gun control laws is a necessary step but it has nothing to do with the question, "Is there a conspiracy behind these three assassinations?" The recent creation of a federal commission to study the causes of violence does not deal with the specific issue.

While we are confident that the proper federal authorities are working on their own, there is as yet no body representative of the public at large to study the evidence gathered and to weigh it specifically in the light of a possible connection between the three assassinations. Only the creation of a federal commission for this specific purpose can heal the trauma and dispel the discouragement of these days.

Every American has the right to know whether or not there exists an organized violence that can abruptly terminate his work for the betterment of American society.

Dear Pres. Johnson:—

I did not write sooner as you all, had a real rough time. I felt like I was right there with you folks. When I say it was a shock, about Bobby, that's putting it too mild.

Hon. Ethel, stood up, under the long hours - were beyond me. The Faith, was a big part, I know.

It brought those horrible days about Pres. Kennedy, back again. What I wanted to write you was, it seemed to me - there was an awful lot of extras added to your program. I felt so sorry for all of you. But very little I could do to lighten your burden outside of prayers.

Would you please finish address on Ethel's letter - so she will get my letter. I do not know the address.

I have wanted to mention to you the less they advertise on Radio & T.V. about guns & displays etc - would be better than to keep talking about them in public. I will draw this subject out into the open more freely and kids will have it on their minds more, and start investigating more.

Another thing about this (Time) I sure wish it could go back to Sun-time, every-thing would be easier to manage. This way it keeps people all mixed up and its no wonder this world is getting into such a State of Affairs along with everything that is so mixed up today.

Seems like every-one & everything is moving so fast today, you don't have time to think even.

Perhaps I was born 30 years too soon. But we did not have so much corruption then.

Oh! For the good old days.

Sorry to be bothering you, but, I feel like I know you - better than some - Still think you have had a rough row to hoe.

Wish you peace & Contentment in near future. I remain ~~an~~ an interested party.

Dear President Johnson,

Admittently, I had preferred Bob Kennedy for President over anyone, including yourself, but now the entire situation has changed. If at all possible, I would support you again with every ounce of vigor in my constitution. But I'm afraid this isn't to be. Even so, I salute you, Sir, for being a good and great President and tragically misjudged by so many. Thank you for your four year battle for all the people.

I would like to make a request which may not be possible but I feel is wholly necessary. In a similar vein as 1964, a filmed tribute of Bob Kennedy is most in order and must serve as a final recompense to the family and to the nation that he didn't die in vain, and to restore some of the disillusionment of us, those who loved Bob. I know you'll give this consideration, and I thank you for that.

God protect you and bless you

Dear Sir:

My name is Theresa Keil and I am 13 years old. I would like to ask you if you could get me a certain speech. I would like the speech Edward Kennedy made at the funeral Mass of Robert Kennedy. I watched the whole funeral and heard this speech and would very much like to have it. I also read everything in the paper about it as I thought and everybody else thought that it was a horrible thing that happened and what is happening to the world today.

Thank you

Dear Sir;

I read about all the presidents that lived in the White House. My favorite president was John F. Kennedy. I was a fan of Senator Robert Kennedy. I have over 100 pictures of him in my album. I would like to know if I can obtain pictures of Senator Robert Kennedy from the White House, or the address where I can send for one.
Thank You

Dear Mr. President:

Several days have passed since the assassination of Senator Robert F. Kennedy. My immediate reaction after this tragic event was to write a letter to you urging a better gun-control law, but following a life-long habit, I did not write during the emotional days immediately following his death. Instead, I have pondered the problem, asking myself how the traditional American right of self-protection and the long-standing hunting for wild life in these United States can be maintained, while at the same time firearms which contribute to violent death can be eliminated (at least in principle) from the urban American scene. I recognize that all laws are disobeyed to some extent—and I feel that the number of persons who will risk disobeying a law increases rapidly as the severity of penalty for disobeying that law decreases. Hence my proposal, outlined below, involves a severe penalty for law-breaking, but contains safeguards for home protection. The violence I would strive to eliminate is violence in a public place, or in a place to which the public has free access. However, since the problem today is basically an urban problem, my proposed solution affects only those persons in urban areas. The proposal is not meant to be worded in any final form, for experts in the passage and enforcement of laws, such as yourself, are much better qualified to word such a proposal correctly. All my proposal is meant to do is to present an approach to gun-control legislation which I have not heard mentioned publicly (I am not an expert in this field), and which I feel would be an improvement over present-day legislation, either pending or in effect.

I would propose that it be illegal for any American (with the exception of properly deputized law enforcement personnel) to possess a loaded firearm of any sort within any place open to public access in an urban area. (Such areas would have to be defined, eg., any metropolitan area with population over 10,000 people). Penalty for conviction of violation of this law would carry an automatic minimum jail sentence of one year.

This proposal allows possession of loaded firearms in one's home, if so desired. I assume that such firearms should be registered—which is required at present in many states. I would assume loaded firearms should not be possessed on public roads. However, the automatic and mandatory sentence upon conviction I believe to be essential to take firearms away from the general public of urban areas. In the losses we have suffered - President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King, Senator Robert F. Kennedy, - all have occurred in metropolitan areas. The law I propose would discourage the growing homicide rate, the murder of public servants (such as bus drivers, etc.), and would take the penalty assignment from the courts, where a wealthy or influential man often receives different treatment from a poor man — or a white man from a black man.

I believe the urbanized society of 1968 America needs such a law, and I hope you will find the ideas I have outlined in this letter helpful.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Barbara Ann:

Dear Mr. President:

Because I am only 14 years old, I expect that this letter will end up in the wastebasket, but would you please do me a favor and at least read it through? This letter is to express my feelings and opinions about the assassination of Senator Kennedy and the subjects I relate to his murder.

Let me start this way: I loved Bobby Kennedy. I didn't love him as I love my parents; I didn't love him as I love my teen idols. No, the love I had, and still have, is the kind of love that can only be given to a person such as he. This love mingles respect with admiration and produces awe. I respected his courage to stand up and defend what he so strongly believed in; I admired the eloquent manner in which he presented his ideas and ideals and led his followers to believe in them to the degree that he did; and lastly, I was ~~ayed~~ by the good I saw in him-- the good to successfully change the destiny of our country..... if given the time. This was probably Senator Kennedy's greatest virtue.

Senator Kennedy's unquenchable determination to right the wrongs he saw in the country he loved explains in itself why he entered the race for the Presidency, the highest office in the United States of America, why he told his country how he felt about every major and minor issue worth discussing, and why he showed seemingly no concern for his personal safety as he successfully tried to identify with his people. His tragic death has only served to strengthen my love for him. And I'm sure I speak for more than myself when I say this.

I suppose by now you're wondering why I've told you all this. Well, it's to tell my side of a many-sided and terribly sad story. What America needs is very strict GUN CONTROL LAWS !!!!! How many murders must be committed before people will realize this ??? Police, soldiers, and other authorized government personnel should be the only ones allowed to own, use, or even carry guns! The hunters who are against such a law, really, in my opinion, have no case whatsoever. Which is better..... a live deer or a dead human ??? I have yet to hear of a deer, rabbit, bird, or what have you, murdering someone in cold blood; with men I hear of it every day. It's sickening!!!

Two Kennedys have already been shot down, for no sensible reason, during the height of their political careers. With the knowledge I have of the Kennedy family, this makes me almost certain that Teddy Kennedy will run for the Presidency to try and carry on the work of his two brothers -- if not in this election, then, in all probability, the next. In conclusion, all I can say is, " God, help America, if he, too, is shot down! "

Thank you very much, Sir.

Sincerely,
Barbara Ann Willett

President Lyndon B. Johnson
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir,

I am a student in Red Creek Central High School in Red Creek, N.Y. It is a little town hardly anyone has heard of. As a student (in the 10th grade), I and many others have been depressed and have almost given up hope about what has been happening.

I have written to you before, right after my trip to Washington with the girl scouts in 1965. I am not sure if you will remember me, but you wrote back saying you appreciated having heard from me and my views. When I stood with Frank Horton on the steps of the Capitol, I felt America was really worth it. I then saw Frank Horton again, at the apple festival in Wolcott, N.Y. very recently and was very pleased.

I am not writing you for any more information, but for different reason. For this reason as I said before, I am deeply concerned with what has been happening. For the past few days I have been thinking heavily about the assassinations and the troubles our country encountered. As an American, I feel as others do that our country is in great need. The thing is the people in America, are saying our country is "sick" and I feel this is not true. Also, as an American, I feel I have the right to base my opinion as others do. I feel these people are wrong in saying this, because we do need love, and understanding and most of all faith. Our country is not "Sick" but we do need to be helped. I feel that Americans should be taught to understand our nation's problems.

Just recently, three great men have been killed because of deep beliefs. The Americans are blaming themselves, they feel ashamed and disgusted. They do not know, or want to know the real truth. It is not the Americans going in and killing off our people, it is those and please excuse my words, foreign nuts. It's becoming a bleak world to live in.

I have heard many times, the Bibles description of our earth's life beyond. "Before the end of our world wars, Christ will have taken all of Gods children off this vast earth and leave sinners for the devil to rule." Many of us believe this, yet they keep blaming themselves for what has happened. Just recently, after many of these unfortunate mishaps, we have had more threats of violence.

Eight revolutionaries threatened to kill more of our great leaders, "nuts" from other foreign countries. This is wrong for the American people to think that way, blaming themselves.

As an American, I am proud of our heritage, our fearless men who die to make us a free and united nation. If one thing goes wrong, people lose faith and feel hopeless. As I look around at our countrysides and surroundings, it gives a wonderful feeling.

In English class, we have done poems that were made up of a title, 3 adjectives or adverbs, and a sentence describing such thoughts. Right now, I would like to express my thoughts by writing a series of these poems describing men like these.

Three Men

Determined, ambitious, fearless
Three men who died to make men free

Three Men

Troubled, concerned, truthful
Three men dead, but still live on within our hearts.

Three Men

Americans, powerful, strong
Three Great Men, loved and cherished and represented by the common people.

Three Men

Courageous, lively, tireless
Three who were not afraid to undertake such risky deeds, america would never forget.

Three Great Men

John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Robert F. Kennedy
Three men who lived a wholesome life and fought what they believed was right, now dead, because of these beliefs.

We as an American should feel proud of our nation and our heritage, be grateful, that none of these mishaps are coming from our nations.

If I am wrong, then I am an individual that believes what he believes, like the three great men who were killed because of it. I believe, America can be help and right now, everything possible that can be done. I know you are doing the best you can, and that's all we can expect and should.

Thank you very much for letting me express my point for what's it's worth. I will soon be moving to New York City after school is out (probably around June 18-30). I have lived in Rochester when I wrote you, but now we are in a peaceful and quiet, little town called Westbury, in Red Creek, N.Y.

Please, If you have a chance, I would like for all of the Kennedy family and the King family to remember what our nation still stands for even in time of grief. If you have a chance I would like for the families to have a copy of my poems to show there is still some life in some Americans. I feel so deeply concerned.

Thank you for everything.

Sincerely,

Laurie young

Dear President Johnson:

We are all stunned by the violent death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy. It is another tragic instant in our national history, and it is always regrettable when individuals decide to take the law into their own hands. I am also a bit dismayed over the reaction of our nation to the violent act. The reaction seems to be that we should immediately register all guns and that would take care of the matter. The fact is that gun registration would not have prevented the tragic assassination of John Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King, or probably anyone else.

I am appalled at the boldness of Sirhan Sirhan who simply walked into the Ambassador Hotel and shot Senator Kennedy before a number of people. It seems to me that a lot of thought had been given to this action. It is obvious that the young man was emboldened by something. I wonder if it could be the influence which he has seen in our nation over a period of years. The influence of which I am speaking is that which allows people to break any laws of their own choosing because they feel that their rights supersede those of society. Further influence in this same direction would be our court decisions and reluctance to deal harshly with any law breakers. I believe it is entirely possible that Senator Robert F. Kennedy's assassin felt that he could perfect his dastardly deed without really suffering any consequences. The whole tone and trend of law enforcement in recent years has been that of permissiveness and indirection. The courts, educators, and politicians across our country have permeated our society with this permissive attitude.

In view of the foregoing, I call upon you to use your influence to bring an end both the trends of civil disobedience and permissiveness with criminals that is permeating our society. Registering guns is just not the answer.

We must present to the world a picture of a society operating within a legal framework which punishes the law breaker and brings the criminal to justice. Surely the Supreme Court and educators and politicians across the country has seen the effect of the permissive society which has emboldened a young man to openly take the life of one of America's most respected legislators.

Tribute to RPK

Quince and with dignity

For I, I the one who has suffered neither poverty nor despair, feel somewhat that I have.

I have seen, touched and even held the mass of pennies in my messy hands, I should I be proud of this? should I request tender?
No, for I only wished to help and to be helped, to give and not receive.

I did not choose to abandon my cause, for fate willed me too.

It willed me to walk from this dark world and into the world of light.
It willed me to see the land that god has reserved for me.

For I am the man who set out to make a dream a reality, only to find a nightmare in my pursuance.

Yes, I would have succeeded if my destiny had not been chosen as a fatal one.

For the assassin that inflicted these mortal wounds, only to deprive himself and millions of others that believed in me and followed me until this day. 8

The Hon. Lyndon B. Johnson
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear President Johnson:

Today, I was shocked to read in my morning paper, in a front paged column, the comment: "the cesspool we call America." Since reading this distorted comment, I have dedicated many hours to thinking about the situations this great nation of ours is confronting following the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy.

I thank you for your guiding words before the television cameras Wednesday night, when you so wisely helped to set a course of reason, rather than suggest a blanket condemnation of 200 million Americans for the act of one crazed and misguided unfortunate.

I love my country. I am proud to say I'm a first generation American, genuinely aware of all the good things I have been able to gain as an American Citizen. I hope I have taught this real sense of appreciation of our great country to each of my children, and shared, with my family and friends, that pride I feel in the uniqueness of being an American.

But pride is not purpose, and that brings me to the reasons for writing this letter. I am proposing to all my friends, my children, (three of them are now teaching in New Jersey schools), my family, and to all who will hear me, that each of them make a personal commitment of faith in their country. My husband and I plan to tithe one percent of our annual income, as do my friends and others, to a citizens' fund to be dedicated to helping the poor, underprivileged and not so fortunate of our country.

Let me explain, that at this moment we are working with the germ of the idea, i.e., enlisting not necessarily affluent Americans, but Americans dedicated to a personal commitment of investing a portion of their income as an act of appreciation, gratitude, faith and purpose for the American way of life.

At this point, we have not evolved beyond the pledge to tithe a portion of our income. We have not organized any leadership, set up any committees, or named prominent citizens to head up an organization for this purpose.

and shared, with my family and friends, that pride I feel in the uniqueness of being an American.

But pride is not purpose, and that brings me to the reasons for writing this letter. I am proposing to all my friends, my children, (three of them are now teaching in New Jersey schools), my family, and to all who will hear me, that each of them make a personal commitment of faith in their country. My husband and I plan to give one percent of our annual income, as do my friends and others, to a citizens' fund to be dedicated to helping the poor, underprivileged and not so fortunate of our country.

Let me explain, that at this moment we are working with the idea of a citizens' fund, i.e., existing not necessarily affluent Americans, dedicated to a personal commitment of investing a portion of their income as an act of appreciation, gratitude, faith in the American way of life.

At this point, we have not evolved beyond the pledge to give a portion of our income. We have not organized any leadership, set up any committees, or named prominent citizens to head up an organization for this purpose.

We will need guidance. We will need organization, which we hope will be minimal. We look and hope for an escape from the organizational format of beauracy, but recognize the necessity of leadership. Above all, we will want assurance that our tithes will be spent for the purposes for which they were dedicated: the cause of righting some of the ills of our great nation.

May I trouble you for a few minutes of your time and ask that you review the possibilities of this grass roots proposal. Perhaps weigh the merits and negative values of this idea, and advise us of your support or criticisms, so that we may be guided accordingly.

We have all pledged allegiance to the United States of America thousands of times, we hope to have the privilege of pledging our faith in the U.S.A., in a direct and meaningful manner.

I pray for a strong America. A nation that survives each crisis with a renewed sense of purpose for the democratic principles we believe are the rightful inheritance of each American.

May God be with you and with us in the quest for peace.

Sincerely yours,

(Mrs. V. Eugene Vivian)

Dear Mrs. Fothergill:

President Johnson has asked me to thank you for the letters from your second graders which he received through the courtesy of Senator Jackson. Please convey to them his appreciation for wanting to share their thoughts with him in an hour of terrible tragedy.

Such compassion on the part of these children reflects the finest in our heritage. Perhaps Linda, Ronald and Robert would like to have the proclamation the President issued at the time. Copies are enclosed, with the President's gratitude and warmest good wishes.

Dear Senator Jackson:

Tonight I realize unhappily that my letter of last night requires an addendum. This morning, one of my boys asked me if Senator Kennedy had read the letters before he had died. He, of course, had no concept of the time required for mailing letters, and it didn't dawn on him that Robert Kennedy had remained unconscious. Another child had another question: What was I going to do with their letters? Of course, we had another discussion, and together we decided that another letter should be written today. Therefore, in this group of second grade letters which I have sent to you for the children, there are two different sets. The children want those concerned to know that they were thinking of them during their long hours of waiting and during their present grief.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely yours,

June 5, 1968

Dear Senator Jackson:

Along with the bulk of our country, my husband and I are deeply troubled tonight. It seems that we are reliving a nightmare of four and a half years ago. And as a teacher in the Highline Public Schools, it was very difficult for me to face my job this morning. I wasn't happy, and anyone could tell that from looking at my face.

As we did earlier this spring, in March, my second graders and I had a discussion about what happened to Senator Robert F. Kennedy last midnight. Before, we had discussed the tragic slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. In March, we had discussed the deeper ramifications of prejudice. We had discussed non-violence. For me, it was a very rewarding experience. These children, largely from middle-class homes, with very little close contact with Negroes, spoke from their hearts, and they had a lot to say. Today we spoke of last night's mistake. What was there to say? The children were excited about the last week of school, and yet there was this heavy burden of unhappiness on their shoulders. They spoke of Mrs. Kennedy, and of the ten Kennedy children. They felt very sorry for the family.

Then the children decided that instead of writing a happy vacation story, today, they should write what they felt about the situation. We talked about writing letters, and I told them that if they wanted to write letters, I would be glad to mail them. Most of the children elected to write letters, rather than stories, and they gave me several names of individuals to whom they could write. What they have written is completely, or almost completely, voluntary. I suggested that they start by telling how old they were. The letters are addressed to President Johnson, Senator Robert Kennedy, and to Mrs. Ethel Kennedy. There is also one letter addressed to you.

What I would like to know is if you can make sure that these letters are read by President Johnson and the Kennedy family. Perhaps that request is not phrased properly. At any rate, I should like to send these letters to you, in hopes that the people for whom they are meant can read them. Could you please advise me as to the best approach to take? The children's thoughts are important to them, and they feel that their ideas are helpful to our public officials.

Today I asked my children how many of their parents owned guns, and I was amazed at the high number. We discussed the importance of their not investigating these weapons on their own. But it is difficult to teach morals to our children today when they witness two sensational murders within two months' time, and when they hear of the terrible rioting throughout the world. I am sure that you have thought of this, too, in these sobering hours, but as a Washingtonian, now, I thought I would send my thoughts to you.

I shall appreciate any help you can give me in my request.

Sincerely yours,

Kathryn E. Fothergill

Mr. President, though you may never read this on television, or publically, though you are certainly welcome to use any or all of it; I would like copies of it sent to the following people, as I don't know their addresses: (1) The Robert Kennedy Family, (2) The Ted Kennedy Family, and (3) Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Family. I hope this letter will be a comfort to the bereaved, a lesson to our now and future leaders, and a message of importance to all Americans. There are only three Americans who could read this aloud and convey its true meaning. They would be; (1) you, Mr. President, (2) Senator Ted Kennedy, who delivered a very fitting eulogy in behalf of his brother, and (3) Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr. Thank you.

(Written on June 8, 1968)

President Lyndon B. Johnson
White House
Washington D. C.

Dear President Johnson:

A few weeks ago as I watched a train carrying the body of our beloved fellow American, Robert Francis Kennedy to his final resting place in Arlington Cemetery, I cannot help but think as I swallowed a lump in my throat, along with millions of other Americans, that Bobby Kennedy did not die in vain. Though, we don't know or are able to comprehend, why such great men as Bobby Kennedy have to die by an assassin's bullet; did he, like his great brother whom we all loved and admired as our nation's president, die without a purpose? Did our black brother, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., also die without a purpose? I don't believe so anymore than I believe that a young carpenter from Judea died without a purpose.

The Year, 1968, has been an eventful one in American History. Also, it has been a year of purpose.

Have not the black people of our land lost one of their great leaders with the death of Dr. King?

Have not the white people of our land lost one of their great leaders with the death of Bobby Kennedy? Have not these two great men died for what they believed in? Are we, the black and white people not sharing equal sorrows, in 1968?

June 22, 1968

(Written on June 8, 1968)

Both of these great men loved humanity and freedom for all men. Is not the toll of losses equal to both races? Is it not time that we should unite our country into a purposeful bond of fellowship? Did these men die in vain? No, they died for a purpose. That purpose is love of humanity, freedom for all men, and a sincere desire for world peace.

In the immortal "Battle Hymn of the Republic", one stanza applies to all these great men—"As He died to make men holy let us die to make men free." This is the main purpose for which they gave their lives. Let us, the now living, change the words to "Let us Live to make men free." These men lived and died to make men free. Let us live for this purpose—to make men free.

We are Americans, united under God. We must unite and strike out against hatred, ignorance, inharmony, bitterness, and evil. Every American needs to arm himself with powerful weapons such as love, which conquers all, understanding which wipes out ignorance, brotherhood which gives us strength by safety in numbers, loyalty to our flag, country and its leaders which gives us courage and a purpose to stand up for what we believe, and last, but not least, a reaffirming of our Faith in the Lord Almighty, without whose blessings and forgiveness, ours or no other country can, or will survive.

As we go to the polls in November to vote for our nation's leaders, let us each in his own way say a prayer for them, that they will be given wisdom to make the important decisions of America's future and will put these purposes before politics.

June 22, 1968

(Written on June 8, 1968)

Also, may the American voting for his candidate never consider his ballot a "death warrant" for that candidate, but know, instead, he is electing a person who will help unite all Americans in a feeling of unity and brotherhood, remembering that personal hatreds and insane malices are a thing of history—a lesson learned not to show how good or bad security measures were for a public official, but a lesson learned to show what human ignorance and hatred can do.

In St. Patrick's Cathedral, were at least three widows, whose husbands died for freedom's cause. Behind every great man is a great woman. These great women were united to these men in a bond of love. An assassin's bullet cannot kill these bonds of love, nor does it kill the purposes for which these men lived. These purposes live on.

The three assassins are not to be hated. It is their hatred which gave them courage to pull the triggers which took the lives of these great Americans. Instead, feel pity for the minority of this small portion of our society which is sick, weak, and cowardly; who would shoot down a fellow human being without first allowing him the opportunity to defend himself.

Mr. President, one of your first duties in office was to lower Old Glory for one of these great men, John F. Kennedy, a second time for Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and once again for Robert F. Kennedy. America will not forget these tasks you regretfully had to do during your term in office. We know the job you have, leader of the greatest nation in the world, is a tough and trying one. It is one with few pats on the back and often heartaches.

(Written on June 8, 1968)

These men did their job also, with a spirit of enthusiasm, a feeling of pride for their country, and a uniting of all Americans into a bond of brotherhood and unity. Does their enthusiasm, pride of country, and feeling of unity have to be buried with their caskets, or will their spirits live on?

Fellow Americans, this is not a eulogy for these great Americans. Instead, this letter is written to show that 1968 has been a year of purpose and awakening. We have been daydreaming too long. Wake up, America. We have overslept. Let's get up and go to work-- together.

We must work for national unity and world peace. These men mentioned above and countless other Americans have died for peace. Let you and I live for it. "United we stand, divided we fall."

Sincerely,

Richard Allen Dreher

Eulogy of John Fitzgerald Kennedy

To a gallant leader, sailor, and martyr,
In memory thereof.

Who stood for freedom, good will, world peace,
and most of all, brotherly love.

The sea of life sometimes fills with waves of sorrow,
For mortal man knows not always what storm comes tomorrow.

Twass on a Friday, a Black Friday, that we lost this wonderful man,
The world united in sorrow as the tragic news did span.

To pay last tribute came friends from over the world,
Bearing flags of their countries, some at half mast unfurled.

As they lowered this great man into Arlington sod,
I thought of a Bible Verse, Matthew 5:9, which says,
"Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called children of God."

So on that day our planet mourned united,
As the light of eternity by his grave was lighted.

May that little light be a symbol of peace,
and extinguish never,
In memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy whose immortal words and deeds will live forever.

Dear Mrs. Crowley:

Thank you for your letter to President Johnson. Your interest in writing is both appreciated and understood.

Our nominating processes and such aspects of our political system as the electoral college receive continuing attention from Congress and the Executive branch of government, as well as party organizations. Those states which conduct Presidential preference primaries, such as Indiana, do so in accordance with their own laws. And as you know, the manner of choosing and apportioning national convention delegates is subject to decision -- and debate -- within each state.

The idea of a nationwide primary is again under active study. For his part, the President welcomes the views of every citizen as the pros and cons are deliberated.

The President of the United States
White House
Washington, D. C.

Sir:

It seems inconceivable that in a country so rich in economic and personal liberties, as the United States, that persons unable to accept another's ideology must resort to a violent means of restraining that ideology.

Within our system of government we have established methods to redress grievances and to work out differences in political programs including the procedures by which these programs should be carried out, but it seems that these methods and procedures are not sufficient nor speedy enough to suffice for certain members of our society. These members feel as though the only channel left is direct action, or in other words complete removal of the opposition from society. Must we always accept the fact that a small percentage of the masses is capable of such action?

At present there seems to be no tenable method of positive protection of public figures outside of placing them in a non-destructible glass case when they are to make public appearances.

In what light can we promote "democracy" to the so called "backward"; "poor" and "savage" nations through out the world if we do not curb these violent occurrences as seen in the past and present within our own nation. President Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and other of less public stature have been assassinated in our city streets. The most recent of the victims, Senator Robert Kennedy, was struck down by an assassin's bullet, 5 June 1968, moments after a primary election victory speech. Senator Kennedy now joins the list of great Americans who have met such violent ends.

It does seem conceivable that if the populace of this United States were to participate to a greater degree, using the prescribed methods established by our constitutional system, in the problems plaguing our times we may be able to preclude this trend of violence and destruction. Everyone may then be afforded the right to "Life, Liberty and Property", that we, as Americans, so fervently profess.

Respectfully yours,

Dear President Johnson:

Having spent this past year in Italy as a visiting scholar, I, and my wife, have had to lament and agonize over the American tragedies from a-far. We have learned, too, at first hand, how quickly conditions in the U.S. affect conditions in Europe. The tragic assassination of Senator Kennedy has lost us many former friends and supporters among the Italian public. The many politicians, scholars, and writers we have met here are all expressing a deep loss of faith in American democracy and leadership. I wish it would be possible for you to read the many letters we have received from all over Italy and Europe asking why? why?

We know that you feel this tragedy very deeply, both as our President and personally, and we wish to support you and urge you^{to} continue fighting for an effective gun law. The present bills are a mockery. We cannot understand how our representatives continue to ignore what an overwhelming majority of Americans desire, namely, effective controls over firearm acquisition.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Johnson;

The Terrible tragedy of also for your appointment of a to cheapen life in the minds of viewers.

I sincerely urge that this commission give serious consideration to this problem.
Perhaps an appeal to the patriotism

Saturday 2:00 P.M.

Dear President Johnson:

Like most of the world, I spent most of this morning watching the last rites for Senator Robert Kennedy; and like all who watched or participated, I feel utterly exhausted, bewildered, puzzled, wondering where to turn for help. And though I have complete trust in Divine Providence, felt the need to sit down and write you, our leader through all this.

I want to say how much it helped to see and hear you on Television, how much my admiration and respect for you has grown. I, too, have done my share of criticizing, but feel while you went into office just another politician, you have surely become one of our greatest presidents, and Americans, and I felt proud, and ashamed for complaining.

But, I am writing to just send a couple of suggestions, in addition to the gun control, which is very inadequate, maybe another source of our trouble, lies in violence and crime on TV, and the movies. I have a large family, seven children, the middle children have already been "brain-washed", (I guess they would call it,) much as I try conscientiously control their reading habits and viewing. They are, as an age group, insubordinate, headstrong, and can only wonder what effect all this will have on their adult life. The youngest, of my family, are eight year old twins, and they are in a group too, which has seen too much unrest. But, can't we do something to bring some peace and harmony in their lives? Believe me, I can only guess what your problems are, and the dark forces that are working against you and our country. We must try to emphasize the finer nature of people.

Thank you for taking the time to read my letter, (if it reaches you, at all), and just want to add that you might reconsider your decision to run for office again. Think you may have become a "veteran", and can give us the benefit of wisdom which comes with these trying experiences.

Sincerely,

President Johnson,

I disagree with you when you said -
"only one man pulled the trigger to kill Mr. Kennedy."

This country is honeycombed with shitty, rotten filthy bigots who would have done the same thing if they had had a gun at the right moment.

The United States of America has become The United Sadists of America.

I am a salesman and on my monthly trip to San Diego this week a chivist said - "well a bullet in the head is something Kennedy can't buy his way out of."

You have done your best to tighten the illegal gun sales avail.

What in the hell is the use of listen to you at least concerning this issue.

I disagree with you on foreign issues but I'm for you 100% on the issues here at home.

When my son returned recently from Viet Nam a group of punks threw rocks at the boys as they were getting off the plane.

Since my boy has returned home
other G.I's stationed in Texas "ride them" and "haunt them" because they are Viet Nam vets.

Sadism is rampant here in the military service.

I sincerely believe our trouble today is with the far right wing element rather than the left wing.

I understand calls & letters of sympathy came from Moscow over the tragic inevitable deaths of Mr.

Kennedy and Mr. King while in this country remarks are made daily up lifting the deaths

Of these two great Americans.

It is hard to believe that we are living in a country where our children can buy pot on almost any corner and filth fills our news stands and book store racks. I am speaking of filth that caters to every known type of sexual deviate in existence. Even though these books are not sold directly to children they get a hold of them by having adults make loans for them.

Have you noticed that the Jews seem to be responsible for most of the filth and the illegal sale of guns in this country? (No I am not a Nazi) just stating facts.

If they won't let the president of the U.S. clean up this mess then it is time for the few good American Citizens that are left to do so by force. Sincerely, Belmont

Dear Sir;

I am an american fighting man helping to protect our great country from the oppressors of the world.

I sometimes think, "what am I doing here. am I really accomplishing anything".

at present, I am stationed in Japan and my only real contact with the states is by the armed forces radio network. I was listening to the radio when Dr. King and Senator Robert Kennedy died as a result of an assassins bullets. It is a real tragedy to resort to violence just because a man disagrees with your views or beliefs voiced or not.

It is a remarkable man who can stand up and speak out on what he considers to be wrong among a mass that is content to just sit back and let 'someone else' take care of the problem.

I hope these tragedies do not stifle those from speaking out against evils and wrong doings.

All of my friends are very saddened by the deaths of Dr. King and Senator Kennedy whether they agreed or not with their viewpoints and policies.

It is my hope when returning to the United States, that I can lay my sword down and not have to lift it against my neighbor.

De Gaulle Says Strike Nearly Made Him Quit

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle said on television Friday night that he felt like resigning at the height of the French strike crisis last week but decided against quitting in order to keep the "threatening subversion" from destroying the French Republic.

He spoke shortly after a new upsurge of violence that saw riot police smash an attempt by more than 5,000 French strikers and students to storm the state-run Renault auto plant at Flins, 25 miles west of Paris.

THE PRESIDENT said he turned away the "temptation to retire" and decided to remain in office to fight the crisis.

As the general spoke, three separate demonstrations for and against his regime were in progress in Paris — one of them grouping 60,000 veterans favoring de Gaulle.

SHORTLY after the French president's speech, the government announced the nation's civilian airport would resume normal operations Saturday. Major airlines announced they would start taking off and landing Saturday at Orly, the nation's largest airport, which has been closed since May 19.

De Gaulle said the French "Little Revolution" that paralyzed the nation in recent weeks was "caused by a few groups which are revolting against modern society." But he insisted that "my government stayed master of the street."

DE GAULLE said the sole aim of the "totalitarian enterprise in question was for me to go and thus let them (the Communists) take power."

De Gaulle's remarks were viewed as the opening salvo in his campaign for the National Assembly elections scheduled for June 23 and 30. He called for a strong vote for his regime.

EARLIER FRIDAY an estimated 2,000 riot police firing tear gas barrages and flailing with rubber clubs smashed charges by thousands of leftist workers and students at the Renault plant outside Paris.

The Renault battle broke out when strikers ousted police from the factory the day before tried to reoccupy the sprawling plant.

HUNDREDS of leftwing students from the University of Paris tried to reach the plant Friday. Most were turned back. But about 200 managed to slip through police lines and fought side by side with thousands of strikers and two National Assembly deputies to retake the factory.

It was the first major strike violence in several days.

VC Rockets Pound Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas bombarded Saigon with rocket and mortar fire early Saturday in the eighth consecutive day of damaging attacks on the capital.

At least two civilians were killed and 12 injured in Saturday's barrage, South Vietnamese spokesmen said.

SPOKESMEN said 11 of the deadly 122mm rockets exploded near the capital's central business district at daybreak killing one civilian and injuring 5. Another civilian was killed and seven wounded in a mortar attack on a residential district shortly after midnight.

The attack followed a massive mortar and rocket barrage on May 31.

Lack Of Funds, Illnesses Curtail City Trash Pickup

By STAN WYMAN
Citizen-Journal Staff Writer

City sanitation operations will be drastically curtailed, Deputy Service Director John E. Jones disclosed Friday.

The curtailment becomes effective immediately, and could mean that trash pickups will run as much as two or three days behind.

TWO FACTORS were given for cutting back:

One is the financial condition of the city. The other is the absenteeism which has hit the division in the past week and which cannot be made up.

Jones said the division has to cut about $133,000 in services in order to meet its payroll for the next six months of the year.

THAT MEANS, he said, the service department can no longer authorize the division's participation in special campaigns such as the summer time clean up drive; overtime, holiday time, or additional employees.

Compounding the problem, the deputy service director said, is the fact that a full one-sixth of the work force, about 50 employees, have been reporting in ill over the past week.

REQUESTS TO HIRE temporary employees to fill the void have been rejected. And because no overtime is being allowed, trash pickups are falling behind.

Jones said that Sanitation Superintendent James Yoder reported the division has fallen about 80 hours behind in its work because of the absenteeism.

"We are already getting complaints from people that their garbage hasn't been picked up. It is going to get worse before it gets better," Jones said.

"THERE IS no way we can authorize overtime to catch up with the pickups. We'll just have to get it in the course of a normal day's work," he added.

Yoder said without additional personnel, the city cannot hope to pick up garbage

May Sell Public Housing

Columbus may become the first city in the nation to sell a public housing project to the residents of the project. Donald Tishman, chairman of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA), told U.S. Rep. Chalmers Wylie Friday.

Wylie and Tishman were discussing the status of the Senate-approved housing bill.

WYLIE SAID he was impressed with the section which would allow residents of a public housing project to buy the building they live in and operate it as a condominium.

"It gives them an opportunity to own the apartment they live in and gives them a feeling of security. I think it is

Sirhan Indicted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Searched Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was indicted Friday for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The first-degree murder indictment against the 24-year-old native of Jordan was voted by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury after a daylong hearing. If convicted, Sirhan could be executed in the state gas chamber.

SIRHAN ALSO was indicted on five counts of assault with intent to commit murder. Five persons were wounded in the barrage of mass, the body will be taken to Washington by train for burial at 5:30 p.m. in Arlington National Cemetery. It will be televised.

AS THEY PASSED the African mahogany casket at a rate of 6,000 an hour, some made the sign of the cross or genuflected. But the most characteristic gesture was to stretch forth a hand and touch the lid of the closed casket.

There is an old Irish superstition that touching a casket keeps the devil from troubling the soul of the deceased. But many who patted, rubbed, caressed or kissed Kennedy's casket were plainly not of Irish descent. For them, it seemed to be purely a gesture of affection.

THE SENATOR'S widow, Ethel, pregnant with their 11th child, came to the cathedral at noon with the three eldest children: Kathleen, 17, Joseph C. III, 16, and Robert Jr., 14.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, 77-year-old mother of the tragically slain family, slipped into the cathedral at 8 a.m., unrecognized by the crowd. She took communion at a side altar and remained hidden in

Store Gives $20,000 In Guns To Police

A Columbus discount store chain turned over $20,000 worth of guns and ammunition to the police department Friday and decided to permanently eliminate the sale of weapons in its stores as a result of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Marty J. Rosen, president of J-Mart's Family Discount Centers, said he wanted to "remove the possibility of supplying anyone with the means to cause bodily harm, inadvertently or by intent, not only to our dedicated public leaders but to anyone regardless of station in life."

THE STORE'S entire inventory of small arms, hand guns and ammunition was given the police department for whatever disposition it chooses.

"It is my hope this action will encourage public support for sane legislation banning unrestricted gun sales immediately," Rosen said.

MAJ. ROBERT F. Gloeckner, acting chief, said the weapons will be kept in the police arsenal until officially acquired.

"We won't actually own the guns until we can submit an ordinance to City Council," he said.

AMONG WEAPONS, all hand guns ranging in caliber from .22 to .38, are familiar American brands such as Colt and Smith & Wesson, and imported varieties of revolvers and automatics from Spain, Japan and other countries.

"The .38-caliber weapons we will be able to issue to officers for duty. We can use others for display and familiarization in training, but the rest we'll have to dispose of," Gloeckner said.

In Washington, the White House said that President Johnson's request to Congress for stronger gun controls has been relayed individually to all state governors.

a corner for about an hour, watching the procession past the bier.

SEN. EDWARD M. Kennedy, only survivor of the four Kennedy brothers, had come earlier, sitting alone during a 6 a.m. mass which was the first of eight said during the day.

The casket rested on a bier draped in purple, in the crossing of the cathedral, where the wide center aisle intersects the side transepts. It was flanked by six candles in tall bronze holders. A single wreath of white lilies lay at the foot. Later in the afternoon an American flag was draped over the coffin.

ESTIMATES of the crowd ranged up to a million people, but were little more than guesses. At 6 p.m. the line was 10 blocks long with mourners 10 abreast.

WYLIE AND Tishman explained that under the terms of the legislation, still being considered by a House committee, purchase of the building would be accomplished with federal loans at one per cent interest for 40 years.

The tenants would take over building maintenance and would be obligated to take certain steps to protect their equity in the building.

EACH TENANT also would be able to sell his unit if he desired to move.

Tishman told Wylie that CMHA is negotiating with tenants in two Windsor Terrace buildings in anticipation of passage of the measure.

"We think we'll become one of the first in the country to sell to our tenants. We're just about ready to move on it," Tishman said.

rage Friday, which killed 25 persons and wounded 46. Later Friday giant B-52 bombers pounded the northwest outskirts of Saigon in an attempt to crush the Viet Cong rocket crews.

The rockets were identified as powerful 122 millimeter and 107 millimeter missiles newly shipped in from Communist China and the Soviet Union.

GEN. WILLIAM C. Westmoreland, the American commander, said the attacks were "not particularly significant militarily."

Westmoreland said Viet Cong were trying to "grab headlines throughout the world by portraying a facade of strength" for the Paris talks between U.S. and North Vietnamese diplomats.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson, reporting from Chu-lon, said the Viet Cong were apparently moving from one section to another by donning skin diver equipment and swimming through sewer lines.

A North Vietnamese army defector identified as a regimental surgeon told South Vietnamese interrogators Friday his commanders were ready to hurl two fresh battalions into the battle for Saigon.

The defector, Le Cong Hung, said most men in two battalions committed earlier were killed or wounded. A battalion numbers 350 to 400 men.

Officer Reports Sub Took Secret Course

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The ill-fated nuclear submarine Scorpion was on a secret mission when it last reported in 17 days ago south of the Azores, a submarine officer testified Friday.

Capt. Wallace Green, commander of Submarine Division 62, told a Navy court of inquiry that the attack sub—lost with a crew of 99—was 27 miles off the course it would normally take across the Atlantic because it was carrying out a "classified assignment."

GREENE WOULD not elaborate on the nature of the mission in open session of the court, presided over by Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin. But he added that the sub was not off course due to a navigational error.

After Greene's brief comment on the sub's mission, the court went into closed session to hear more details of what the Scorpion was doing.

GREENE SAID the eight-year-old submarine was "fully ready for sea" when she departed on her voyage across the Atlantic.

He said the Scorpion had only minor problems with radio and navigational equipment which would not cause any concern. Greene also said "there was no leaking at all" around the propeller shaft as indicated earlier.

Jury Indicts Sirhan For RFK Murder

bullets that felled Kennedy at a downtown hotel in a tragic parallel to the assassination of his brother.

Swift arraignment was ordered at temporary court facilities set up in the chapel of the county jail where Sirhan was held in the hospital section.

IN OTHER developments in the fast-moving case, Sirhan's car was recovered and a campaign worker who believed she was the "woman in the polka-dot dress" seen fleeing from the shooting scene surrendered to sheriff's deputies.

She was Kathy Fulmer, 19, who said her shouts were misunderstood by a fellow campaign aide. The woman in the polka-dot dress was reported to have screamed "We shot him," but Miss Fulmer said she was highly distraught and yelled, "They shot him."

THE COURT arrangements had been agreed to earlier in a conference between Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess, Dist. Atty. Evelle Younger, Public Defender Richard Buckley and Superior Court Judge Arthur L. Alarcon.

None wanted another "Jack Ruby Case" as in the aftermath of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

THE 22-MEMBER grand jury—14 women and 8 men—acted in Los Angeles' Hall of Justice and heard testimony from 22 witnesses in a 6-hour session followed by 25 minutes of deliberation.

Although the jury proceedings were closed, it was known the testimony touched on the rapidity of the shooting, ensuing bedlam, efforts to save Kennedy's life during a speeding ambulance ride, a complex brain operation, and target practice by Sirhan hours before the assassination.

THE DRAMATIC report of Sirhan's target practice with a .22 caliber, nine shot pistol came from Henry Carreon who talked to the defendant Tuesday at a Southern California mountain shooting range.

Carreon had told police he noticed Sirhan because of his rapid firing, which was not permitted on the range. He

3 Odessans Held By Hobbs Police

HOBBS, N. M. (STNS) — Three Odessa men were arrested here early Sunday in connection with a Saturday morning robbing spree at Monahans, Kermit and Hobbs.

The three men arrested were identified as Jerry A. Howell, 26, his brother, Donald L. Howell, 17, and Guy H. Pyeatt, 19, all of Odessa.

They were apprehended about 8 a.m. Sunday on felony and fugitive warrants. Total bond for each of the men is $5,000, with $2,500 on robbery by assault charges, and $2,500 on the fugitive charges. The men were being held in lieu of bond in Hobbs city jail, and were expected to be transferred to county jail here today.

A spokesman at the Hobbs Police Department said the trio was arrested by four Hobbs police officers near a trailer court. He said they had apparently spent the night at the Frey Hotel. A car reportedly belonging to the fugitives was found near the hotel, the spokesman said.

Early Saturday morning the first of the robberies took place at a Hobbs service station where an undetermined amount of cash was taken.

At about 4:10 p.m. Saturday, three men in a white sports car allegedly accosted Wayne Cooper at the ABC Enco Service Station in Kermit.

Several youths attempted to help Cooper, and six of them sustained minor injuries from the fire-tool wielding men. One of the youths was treated and released at a local hospital.

Two men battled the Kermit youths while a third man went inside the station and unsuccessfully attempted to pry open the cash register, officers said.

Only 20 minutes later, Darrin Barber, 19, attendant at a Monahans service station, was beaten and robbed.

Monahans Police Capt. Joe Drea said the robbers struck Barber with a tire tool, but he was not seriously injured and was treated and released from a local hospital.

Drea said between $300 and $400 was taken in the robbery. A cash register, some change and checks were later found by Monahans officers near a caliche pit near an oilfield road.

Shortly after the robbery, Monahans police patrolman Jim Williams spotted a white sports car and gave chase out Interstate 20 to Wickett at speeds of up to 105 miles an hour, but he was unable to stop the auto.

The Hobbs police department spokesman said he did not know how soon the trio could be returned to Texas to face the charge against them there.

California Teen Group Due In Pecos

PECOS (SC) — The Pecos High School student council will welcome six California students known as the Traveling Teens Saturday at 8 p.m. in the teen-room of the Community Center.

The Traveling Teens are six Alameda High School students who have embarked on a nationwide tour of 60 cities this summer in what is called a "youth-to-youth resuscitation movement," which is an attempt to upgrade the image of America by inspiring teens of each of the 60 cities to form an organization like their own which will focus on ways to build a better America.

Mrs. Barbara Kysor, mother of two of the teen travelers, conceived the idea of the service organization. The ultimate goal is to establish a national organization to be called "Youth For A Worthwhile Tomorrow."

All Pecos and area teens are invited to attend the meeting.

Logan will succeed Thurmond on the bar's governing board of directors. The convention should attract more than 5,000 persons.

Some 50 speakers will include Gov. John Connally, Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, Houston congressman George Bush, Postmaster General Marvin Watson, a native Texan, the Texas-born president-elect of the American Bar Association, W. T. Gossett, and astronaut Michael Collins.

At the final session, the bar will honor Texas lawyers who have practiced 50 years or more.

South Dakota's Pageant Entry Likes Youth Work

By DEE LORFING

South Dakota's contribution to the Miss Wool of America Pageant is Karen Ann Olinger, a 20-year-old sophomore at the University of South Dakota.

A 5'6" miss with green eyes and brown hair, Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Olinger of Huron, S. D.

How does she feel about being one of the top 20 Wool finalists in the nation?

"It's so wonderful, but everything happened so fast," she said with a flashing smile.

"The only day I had been able to think about for a long time was June 19. This was the day I was planning for and all of a sudden here it was."

Representing the South Dakota Wool Council, Karen is a newcomer to San Angelo. "Although I had never been here before, it is all as I expected."

Prior to assuming her duties as Miss Wool of South Dakota, Karen worked at the recreation department as a supervisor and instructor.

"This work with the recreation department was primarily with their playschool where I taught five, six, seven and eight year olds in the crafts and art field."

"And you know," she said with a reminiscent smile, "I thought I would like to get away from the kids for awhile, but I sure do miss them."

At the University of South Dakota she has been named to the dean's list, is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and as an executive council member for the Newman Club, she headed the ecumenical council committee.

"As head of the ecumenical committee, I worked with students from other churches represented on campus and tried to bring them together."

A member of the Strollers, a Vaudeville group composed of sorority and fraternity members, Karen performed in

"We also performed at Walter Reed Army Hospital and this was one of the greatest experiences of my life. I never believed the war was real until I saw those wounded soldiers," she emphasized.

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, and Relieves Pain of Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special) One of the most tormenting afflictions is the burning itch caused by piles. It's most embarrassing during the day and especially aggravating at night. "Scratching" only makes the condition worse. No matter what you've tried without results—here's good news.

A scientific research institute discovered a special medication which has the ability, in most cases—to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H—an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In case after case, Preparation H promptly stops the burning itch, relieves pain—as it gently reduces the swelling. Preparation H also lubricates, gently soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed. Adv.

Sound Sirhan Trial Important To U.S.

The trial of Sirhan Sirhan for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is important to the nation. Deprived of a right to try the alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy, the people have been susceptible to rumor and wild conjecture about the crime ever since. Such must not happen again.

Too, the trial is an important test of the American system of justice. It is imperative Sirhan be given a fair and adequate trial, with all evidence judged on its merits. And it is important, therefore, that he have competent and active defense.

This would seem to be assured by the appointment of a distinguished Los Angeles criminal attorney to defend suspect Sirhan. But the danger of a circus-like atmosphere which would dim the bright light of justice remains, and is bolstered — we feel — by the dispatch from Jordan of four lawyers to participate in Sirhan's defense.

The four Jordanese attorneys have been chosen by the Jordanian Bar Association. And the word is that other lawyers from other Arab states will join them in Los Angeles.

If these men are coming to assist in seeing that Sirhan receives a fair trial, well and good. But pardon our skepticism about their ability to do so. The attorneys cannot be well-versed in American criminal law. Since criminal law varies from state to state, the chance that they will be able to contribute meaningfully to Sirhan's courtroom defense is remote.

Rather, the dispatch of the lawyers — and particularly word they will be joined by other Arab-state attorneys — smacks of politics on the international level and carries the danger that Sirhan's trial will be used as a platform from which propaganda can be launched.

We need no more trial carnivals in this country. Sirhan's case should be judged on the evidence presented; peripheral issues, particularly the Arab vs. Jew one, have no place in or near the courtroom except as they might bear on the case at hand.

Firm Control Remains

The change in chiefs of the Food and Drug Administration presages no change in strict federal policy to protect consumers against unsafe or ineffectual medicines. The switch merely suggests that it's not what you do but the way that you do it that counts for more in politics.

Dr. James L. Goddard, former FDA administrator, pushed for strict regulation of drug manufacturing and sales promotion, but he had a sharp and sometimes tactless tongue. This needlessly angered the drug industry and ruffled congressional feathers, stirring excessive controversy. That became a political liability to the administration, hardly helped the cause of firm drug controls, and apparently wearied the otherwise able and dedicated Dr. Goddard himself of public service. In any event, he resigned to take a private position.

His successor Dr. Herbert L. Ley Jr. is, in contrast, known for cautious public utterances but no less stern concern for the public interest. That there will be no relaxation of the Goddard policies seems assured by these points:

Goddard brought Ley to the FDA from the Harvard School of Public Health and favored him as a successor, as do many of the consumer-conscious congressional committeemen who oversee the FDA's work. Wilbur J. Cohen, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, the FBA head's superior, says there will be no change, and Cohen is a credible man. Finally, there are Dr. Ley's own record and word.

The appointment of Dr. Ley is reassuring. For the drug industry is a big business fraught with vital public interest, a condition ripe for controversy. And it would be disturbing indeed if a strong lobby could take advantage of such controversy to vitiate regulation for consumer protection and higher public health standards.

Heart Transplants Raise Big Questions

By CARL T. ROWAN

WASHINGTON — When Dr. Christiaan Barnard of South Africa performed the world's first human heart transplant last December, he opened a Pandora's box of prickly legal, medical, ethical, and social issues.

He raised questions ranging from the fundamental, "What is Death?" to the bitter barb, "Where does a white man with a 'black' heart belong under South Africa's laws of strict racial separation?" to the legally macabre, "Could the heirs of a heart recipient who dies sue the estate of the donor for supplying a faulty heart?"

The heart transplants performed since Dr. Barnard's rare feat have added to and compounded many serious questions, some of which have plagued medical men for centuries.

How long should we try to preserve life?

If there are not enough hearts, or other vital organs, to go around, who should have priority in receiving transplants?

Is it right to invest so much money and research in perfecting transplants, which benefit mostly those who are chronically ill, or middle-aged to elderly, instead of doubling the fight against diseases that strike down children and young adults?

Some of the possible legal complications of the transplants already are becoming obvious. In Texas, where the heart of a man beaten to death was used in a transplant, authorities wonder if the assailants will base a defense against murder charges on the claim that the man died when doctors took his heart, and not from the beating.

In Virginia there is a far more disturbing case in which the brother of a dead Negro whose heart was transplanted into a white man claims that the heart was used without the family's permission. The family contends that despite calls to the hospital, the Negro's body was listed as "unclaimed" and hastily stripped of the heart.

Whatever the strict legalities of this case, it is the sort that throws an ugly cloud over medicine, for there must always be some suspicions about the kind of medical care given the injured "donor" as well as some feelings of uneasily haste in declaring his body "unclaimed," and available for whatever use doctors wished to make of it.

But this is only part of the moral agonizing that must occur around these transplants. Consider the matter of priorities. A kidney transplant costs about $15,000. Yet, ambulatory health care for a poor person can be provided for only $130 a year.

Say a society has only $1 million available for health care. Should it save the lives of 66 persons with defective kidneys or provide basic care for 7,000 poor people?

Even if we decide to give priority to the kidney transplants, who should get them? First come, first served? Or should such transplants be available only to those with enough money to pay for them privately? Or should those deemed to be "most useful to society" have first claim on the limited supply of vital organs?

Medical men are asking all these questions, and more. Lawyers are trying to draw up "model" laws defining death and spelling out the conditions under which transplants are to take place.

But a really far-reaching inquiry was proposed in the U. S. Senate last February. Sen. Walter F. Mondale and his colleagues want a presidential commission to undertake a comprehensive study of the legal, social, and ethical implications of a broad range of research and development in the field of health science. The object would be to promote public discussion out of which might come a consensus on public policies.

Some doctors fear such governmental action. They say they want to keep Big Brother out of the operating room. Other critics say a presidential commission is just a costly, well-publicized device for doing nothing.

Still, when Mondale wrote to doctors, deans of medicine, law, and theology, and other involved groups, of the 150 replies, 137 supported the idea of a commission.

There is no question anywhere of halting medical progress in the field of transplants or anything else — not any more than men are willing to retreat to the era prior to frightening developments in nuclear energy.

The question is not WHETHER to use new medical knowledge, but HOW and WHEN. Or, as Mondale puts the question: "Are we wise enough to be so smart?"

New York Primary Result Bad News For HHH Backers

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Eyeing the stunning success by Sen. Eugene McCarthy in the New York Democratic primary as the returns came in Tuesday night, one hardboiled county leader came to this snap judgment: Hubert Humphrey would be a sure loser in New York state next November against any Republican.

Having reached that conclusion, this county leader is about to change horses. When Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated, he was ready to support Vice President Humphrey as the party's certain nominee. Now, following the election returns, he is switching to McCarthy.

The extent to which other New York party leaders follow such a pragmatic course will determine just how much Tuesday's primary hurts Humphrey in terms of delegates. With McCarthy having picked up about 67 of the 123 New York delegates elected by districts and Humphrey only 6, some 50 Kennedy delegates who were elected are by no means as sure to back Humphrey as they were before Tuesday.

Moreover, on Wednesday morning, McCarthy forces immediately began maneuvering for a "fair share" — at least half — of the 65 at-large delegates to be picked soon by the state Democratic central committee.

In stark arithmetical terms, the entire New York delegation going for McCarthy would be insufficient in itself to stop Humphrey at the Chicago convention, so great is his lead. But the damage done to Humphrey in New York goes deeper than delegates. As the Kennedy county leader coldly observed, Humphrey looked like a loser — unable to generate votes or enthusiasm and relying on creaky party machinery unable to win elections.

Even McCarthy partisans candidly admit that New York was no fair test for Humphrey. What was shaping up as a ramshackle operation for him in the New York primary was padlocked by Humphrey after Kennedy's murder. In contrast, doorbell ringing student and women volunteers for McCarthy spread over the state last weekend.

For instance, an unpublished McCarthy canvass of one area in the Bronx a few weeks ago showed Humphrey running well ahead of both Kennedy and McCarthy. But so poor was the effort in behalf of the Humphrey and Kennedy slates on Tuesday that this area voted solidly for the McCarthy delegates.

However, Humphrey cannot wholly take comfort in a plea of NOLO CONTENDERE. A vigorous effort in his behalf was generated in some areas, such as Nassau County on Long Island and the 17th silk-stocking district of Manhattan. On Monday, Manhattan voters received a pro-Humphrey letter from the widow of Sen. Herbert Lehman. But nowhere did Humphrey light the slightest spark Tuesday.

Even more important was the dismal performance by the regular organizations in New York City and surrounding suburbs, whose candidates became de facto supporters of Humphrey after Kennedy's death. Once again, they were amateurs — who devastated the regulars in the Bronx, Queens, Brooklyn, and Nassau County.

Humphrey's possible salvation from the standpoint of New York delegates rests with the stubborn antagonism towards McCarthy the party maverick by regular Democrats. Even though McCarthy delegates romped in their backyards, regular leaders such as Stanley Steingut of Brooklyn and Moses Weinstein of Queens may well stick with Humphrey.

That is important because

State Chairman Burns cannot control the state committee selection of at-large delegates now that Kennedy, his patron, is dead. The regular county leaders may overshadow him in power. Refusing to concede that the McCarthy forces deserve ANY at-large delegates, one such boss told us the remaining 65 delegates should be picked on a basis of "standing, stature, and past involvement in the party."

But if Humphrey's losses in New York are cut by unleashing backroom muscle, he stands to lose more than a few delegates. The growing image of a nominee picked by the bosses though rejected by the people would be enhanced, and the chance of winning back frustrated McCarthy supporters after the convention would be lessened.

Thus, the meaning of New York is not so much that it barely kept McCarthy in contention and energized the drooping spirits of his supporters, who before Tuesday night had nearly lost all hope. More importantly, the primary pointed up the difficulties the Democrats will face in electing Humphrey once they have nominated him.

This Is My Answer

By Billy Graham

QUESTION: I can't seem to find peace. Will positive thinking help? How does one think positive thoughts? W. S.

ANSWER: Sometimes the term "positive thinking" can be misinterpreted. If it is detached from the redeeming power of God it becomes a mere mental exercise with limited results.

The Bible says, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." Our minds, in their natural state, tend to entertain doubts, resentments, evil imaginations, and other kinds of wrong thoughts. The Bible teaches that when Christ comes into our lives He brings new thought processes. This becomes "positive thinking" in a Christian sense. Then His thoughts become our thoughts.

Instead of thinking badly about people who have wronged us, we begin to think good thoughts about them. Instead of being unbelieving about God's goodness, and cynical about others, we put the best construction upon everything. Many people are eaten up these days by hatred, malice, and envy. This is not pleasing to God, and does great damage to ourselves. Christ can change all this. Remember, the Bible says, "Let this mind be in you." This means that if we choose we can go on living in inner misery, but it also means that God has given us the power to choose the Way of peace, joy and contentment. It is up to us. Christ's power is available to all who will accept it.

remarkable indeed since the over-70 group had survived two world wars, the great depression and a plethora of plaguing problems — both public and personal.

By and large, the Eighteeners remained a sturdy lot who could still stand up at a wassail and sing "Far Above Cayuga's Waters" with the best of them. But with a grandson being graduated from Harvard, it was the young men of 1968 who interested me most and with whom I shared the major part of my liquid and intellectual stimulation.

When parents and grandparents attempt to judge the youth of today by their own standards of yesteryear, we have an immediate generation gap.

In turn, the inability to understand the motivations, sensitivities and convictions of our younger people only widens the chasm of misunderstanding.

For nothing is as simple to them as it was to us. This generation cannot grasp, nor will it accept the notion that the war in Vietnam is a holy crusade against communism.

They see it rather as an immoral war in which we kill people for whom we have no dislike, burn villages and cities to "save them," destroy and inflict misery upon civilian populations who seek only a peaceful life.

The class of 1968 is deeply involved in the great issues which are before this country. Its members mistrust politicians, the press and the President.

They are wary of the "work hard and succeed" formula for advancement. Whereas the student of the 30s was accused of too much conformism and complacency, the student of the mid-60s is best described by President James A. Perkins of Cornell as "independent, restless, anti-authoritarian, concerned and sometimes a little frightened."

He has come to regard himself, says Dr. Perkins, as "a citizen first and a student second. For him the notion of study for the sake of study has been replaced by a demand that knowledge have relevance to today. If they cannot find relevance in their courses of study, they will find it in social or political action."

Columnist Charles Bartlett observes after attending his class reunion at Yale that "the era which has stimulated the older students has merely depressed the youngsters." They see themselves, adds Bartlett, "living in an age without heroes, a time of hypocrisy and manipulation that offers little hope unless they can discover the new American dream."

The flocking of students to the support of Sen. Eugene McCarthy in New Hampshire and other states is a manifestation of this restlessness and concern. They have little empathy with either President Johnson or the two probable presidential candidates Richard Nixon and Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Admittedly, the Class of 1968 has some extremely fuzzy views about economics and the workings of our profit and loss system. This is largely attributable to the teachings of university theorists with but a modicum of exposure to the system itself.

It is always easier to write a textbook on economics than to survive in the jungles of competition.

Yet these young men about to begin careers in law, medicine, journalism, the Peace Corps, business and higher education made a profound impression upon me.

Whereas their elders often succumb to a rigidity of thought, the Class of 1968 refuses to accept the dogmas of the past. The educated young man or woman of today is searching for a better tomorrow, not for himself or herself alone but for the world and its peoples.

And even from those who brought about so much turmoil in the colleges and universities may come the strongest and most thoughtful leaders of tomorrow as they acquire a balance of individual freedom and social responsibility.

The joy and pride — together with the tears and emotions — which overcome a parent or grandparent at graduation time, comprise an unforgettable experience.

After days of conversations with the Class of 1968, I came away with a badly deflated ego from the realization of how little I knew at a comparable age.

But my spirits were high in the reinvigoration of admiration, faith and confidence in our youth of today.

Excepting only Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the moment of truth is at hand for Richard Nixon, Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Long before he entered the New Hampshire primary last spring, McCarthy had been forthright in his criticism of the war in Vietnam. Nixon, a hawk since 1964, is now said to have some different thoughts but they are known only to Candidate Nixon.

Rockefeller, who once supported the war, is today proclaiming in full page newspaper advertisements, "I say we can make this Vietnam the last Vietnam. And this is one reason why I run for president."

Poor Hubert Humphrey,

whose public statements strongly supported the war even prior to becoming vice president, is stuck with the record. He is too deeply committed to switch and moreover he can't afford to offend the President.

If so much were not at stake, it would be amusing to observe our ambitious candidates attempting to slither around preciously taken positions in the hope that in time all men either forget or forgive.

Sen. McCarthy, in discussing a reported shift by Hubert Humphrey, says "there comes a time when the private doubts of a public man must become public doubts."

And that time is now.

It is beyond belief that any American citizen would object — as so many do — to prohibition of mail-order gun sales and registration of firearms.

Licenses are required for automobiles, fishing and hunting permits. But not for firearms.

In Great Britain, all firearms must be registered with the police and permits are granted only after an extensive check of the applicant. Violence involving guns is most uncommon in Britain.

West Germany requires a special license to carry guns. The applicant must have a clean record and prove that he needs a gun for self-defense or for professional reasons. Gun laws in Scandinavia are highly restrictive.

The crime bill signed by President Johnson prohibits interstate mail-order sales of hand guns but does not go far enough. In view of our increasing crime rate, why do so many Americans object to gun registration?

Believe it or not, some people say they don't want to be on record with gun licenses when the Communists take over the government.

The other reasons most commonly advanced against firearm registration are equally nonsensical.

EDITOR, The Standard-Times:

For the past several months, your paper has had almost a constant attack on some local person or persons in public office, be it county commissioners, police chief, city manager, and more recently, the city commissioners. It isn't surprising that there is developing hatred and distrust here in the United States when newspapers and television are trying so hard to create a schism among people and groups of people.

It seems to me that it is time for you to heed the suggestion of one of your own editorials of several months ago. I refer to an article in which you discussed the election of LBJ. In this editorial you stated that he might not be the choice of all the people but he was everybody's president and he deserved the help and support of all the citizenry. Our local officials should be entitled to the same treatment.

Services for Senator Robert Francis Kennedy
Given at the Buddha's Universal Church
June 9, 1968

Today, together, we pay our respects to the late Senator Robert Francis Kennedy.

He was a man of extraordinary breadth of generosity, extensive education and exceptional abilities.

Greater than his love of country, which was exemplary, was the depth of his compassionate love of mankind of all creeds and races.

His filial devotion---in its highest sense---was to do the things which would please most his two elderly parents.

His quality of brotherhood extended beyond mutual care, concern, and solicitude. It was a selflessness that puts their welfare, their benefits and their progress before his own.

Unfortunately---tragically---he was taken from this world on June 6, at 1:44 AM to his heavenly rest.

It is sincerely hoped---in the ever-presence of his spiritual vitality---that those virtuous principles, magnanimous doctrines, and humanitarian concepts for the benefit of all mankind which he lived by and espoused---shall grow and become realities.

At the sound of the Golden Bell, a moment of respectful silence will be observed in memory to the loftiness of his resolutions, his tenacious desire for peace throughout the world, his determination that all peoples should live in harmony and without deprivation. Such goals and objectives deserve our respect and those of generations yet to come.

Dear Mr. President:

Your June 5, 1968 address on nation-wide television was the BEST television address we have ever heard. On that occasion we're sure that we heard from the heart of Lyndon B. Johnson.

We were saddened by the topics of your June 5th address to the nation; the loss of another great American, and the possibility that our world is terminally ill. In hope and in prayer to God we pledge our individual energies to purging our hearts and our country of violence, hate, racism, poverty and ignorance. Let this pledge and its spirit be our memorial to the martyrs of the Twentieth Century, to Robert Kennedy, to Martin Luther King, Jr., to the late president, John F. Kennedy, and to the thousands of men and women around the world who have died in the name of equality, freedom and justice for all men.

Dear Mr. President of the U.S.A:

I sincerely give my sorrow of the death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy. My letter is on the subject of gun control laws and violence as one unit. I would like you and the nation to consider a weapon as such to a person and concealment. On case Comp # 11001- (67) robbery armed, Flint Police Department, Flint, Michigan, man in charge detective Lieut. Victor H. Smith, FBI trained, took care of a case that I got into shy no choice? Since that day a year ago when two men, one with a gun, another with a very long knife robbed me, I figure that those two would of never done, if they did not have weapons to do so.

I am warning! guns, knives, knives, and trouble will always be with men. In Muckingen, a concealment of any weapon is a prison crime, the federal government is going to have a obligation in this area. If you people are going to act in congress, and on committee at the committee and begin down into practice about weapons without consideration and sound firm action on concealment in carrying weapons hidden on a person, automobile, mail, and paper itself, you are all wasting your time and effort on such a important situation that has come up with violence, fear, nervous and finally killing itself.
Remember the right to a weapon in his home only, to hunt, for a sport, but the knife, gun, rifle regardless of the situation should be seen always once outside in public all environments. At 23 years, I like to live, have in concealment are needed? While please military address

Dear Professor Dennis:

President Johnson has asked me to thank you for your letter at a time of profound sorrow. He recognizes and understands your special concern in writing.

The President, in his address of March 31, announced a major unilateral de-escalation of the bombing in Viet-Nam. At the same time he said that even limited bombing of the North could come to an early end if our restraint is matched by restraint in Hanoi.

In the talks which have followed, the North Vietnamese in Paris have offered little more than bellicose statements and evasions at a time when more supplies and material than ever before are flooding into South Viet-Nam.

An honorable settlement requires some gestures on the other side toward peace. Until Hanoi faces the real problems of ending the war, we must, in the President's words, "stand patiently and hopefully, but with determination, too."

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

June 25, 1968

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Chairman
President's Commission on Violence
4545 North Charles
Baltimore, Maryland 21210

Dear Dr. Eisenhower:

At a recent meeting of our Executive Committee, the members voted to make available to the President's Commission on Violence the assistance of our Professional Advisory Council. This was done after full discussion with the Council itself and awareness that this could become a very substantial activity of the Council and of the Association.

The assassination of Senator Kennedy following so many other tragedies has brought forth repeated references from public officials and commentators that we are a "sick society", that we are engulfed in "national madness" or that "the country is going insane". There is a lumping of problems under the general umbrella of sickness or madness.

It is our frustration that even as the Mental Health Association we don't know answers to many of the questions put to us. We certainly don't know which theories being proposed might hit the mark and obviously we would not pretend to be in a position to provide across-the-board solutions.

However, the Association does have available to it a wealth of professional experience and a history of contributions in the field of mental illness. We also feel an obligation to assist in a sorting out of labels, especially as they might relate to identification of problems as having psychiatric implications. I am enclosing a list of our Professional Advisory Council which, as you will note, contains a significant breadth of psychological, psychiatric, educational and other professional experience. Frankly, it's been my own good fortune to have this Council available when difficult questions arise in this diffuse field, for they have consistently come up with solid guidelines and advice. I believe the President's Commission would profit greatly from involvement of the group in definitions of what can appropriately be ascribed to mental illness and perhaps they might also be of service in broader ways in helping define the causes of violence and in determining whether certain attitudes and behavior can be changed.

Dear Specialist Espinosa:

President Johnson has asked me to thank you for giving him your thoughts at this hour of great sorrow. He is very much aware of the distress that tragic events at home may have on you who are so bravely serving the Nation's cause in Viet-Nam.

The President more than shares your concern over lawlessness in a country that has and must always draw strength from the decency and dedication of its people. In his words, there can be no justification for violence that tears at the fabric of our national life.

There are no easy solutions to the problems that confront us today. But they can be overcome when our hearts and minds are put to the task. You can be sure the image of America which you cherish will not fade.

You and those who serve with you have the President's warm good wishes, and the pledge of his continuing commitment to the cause of peace, unity and justice.

Honorable President of USA.
Washington D.C.

Dear President Johnson,

I am writing you this letter with all respect to you, because I feel so hurt with the two murders of the Kennedy brothers that I want to manifest my opinion on this matter.

We have to stop these dirty crimes before our nation degrades herself more than she is at present.

We should have a law to stop those crimes and punish as soon as of the fanatic who ended the promising life of Robert F. Kennedy. At this moment I feel just like I think Jack Ruby must have felt when he killed Lee Harvey Oswald.

My dear President, I feel at this moment so hurt as the Kennedy family must feel, not only I but I think the whole Puerto Rico as well as the whole dear suffering America.

We have heard comments making you responsible together with other persons of these crimes. People talk too much, comment too much sometimes without sense.

I personally think that you have been a very good soon as possible the persons who commit the crime no later than 24 hours. In that way I think the sense of frustration and all the emotions of the people get calmed.

We know that this is a Democracy but we better stop the Lousy people who want to destroy our pride in America by killing the good American citizens who can give so much for their country.

I am a Puertorrican but my feelings are not only for Puerto Rico, but for America too. I feel so sorry in this kind of situation that I would like to be the executioner

President and that your policies are good.

I am a 42 year old veteran from WW#2 + Korean War. As far as The war in Vietnam is concerned, I think you are doing the right thing, and if they do not want to have Peace with Honor, you should give them what they ask for. You have the weapon to destroy the enemy.

It is about time to stop a lot of nonsense.

Sincerely yours,

Antonio Brignone

Dear Mr President and friend,

11/25/68
A short week ago today - by mere chance - my 11 year old daughter and I, went to 10 o'clock mass at All St. Mary's. When we returned from communion my little girl pulled my sleeve to say: "Doesn't that man look like Senator Kennedy?" I told her that yes, indeed it was Robert Kennedy with his wife, Ethel joining him among the rest for communion. A few 36 hours later he was felled at Los Angeles.

The sadness at this awful event which fills so many of us is emphasised so much more by your own and that of your good wife's kindness & thoughtful generosity in this past week to the Kennedy family. As a Republican, I feel I owe you the moral responsibility to tell you this.

If we disagree politically on some things it is nevertheless quite clear to me that you do the best you
