space. You start with nothing, and by simply reverting the appropriate natural law, you end up with something -- exactly what you want.

For example, you'll see how to use the following techniques to "PROJECT" meta-physically what you want:

1. How to "PROJECT" a much longer life for yourself -- 100 and over is not impossible -- by increasing your own personal charge of "magnetism."
2. How to "PROJECT" firmer lips, cheeks, smoother skin and a younger look, in general, through the technique "magnetic tanning."
3. How to "PROJECT" contact with the "Higher Mind" and get explicit advice on any problem having to do with family, neighbors, friends or business.
4. How to "PROJECT" and shape your future in the areas of finance and prosperity with the "Law of Predominant Depression."
5. How to "PROJECT" yourself a "Hypnotic Eye" which can wither and take over any opponent who dares look at it.
6. How to "PROJECT" an Invisible Golden Line of Power which can be placed in another person's mind.
7. How to "PROJECT" messages through brain contact alone. The other person will never know where the message came from. But will think it's his own idea.

Yes, you'll discover all this and more in Anthony Horvill's epoch-making book. You'll see how it all works by reversing many of the traditional laws of nature. Things that were once impossible are now possible.

NOW! Through the Incredible Power of—

MENTAL PROJECTION

— You Can "PROJECT" Things Metaphysically Right into Being!

Dear Friend:

Here's what about a revolutionary and potentially earth-shaking MENTAL PROJECTION mechanism. It's based on a new metaphysical discovery, and is now available in a startling book.

It's true. The famous "20th Century Philosopher," Anthony Norvell, reveals one of the most astounding discoveries ever made: how to use a powerful PROJECTION mechanism to metaphysically transform your thoughts and desires into reality.

Called "MENTAL PROJECTION" this mind mechanism can change your entire life -- from the very first moment you turn it on -- money and power appear only physically, as if out of nothing.

The famous Anthony Norvell explains the transmutation techniques you need to work "MENTAL PROJECTION" -- and tells you with complete details:

- * How to tune into the "Music of the Spheres" the wavelength over which all "PROJECTION" takes place.
- * How to "PROJECT" yourself into "The Land of Beginning Again" and wipe out all your past mistakes and failures in a single blow, and start over with a clean slate.
- * How to "PROJECT" yourself through a mirror and come out with such dignity, such regal power as one will dare defy you.
- * How to write a sum of money on a slip of paper and "PROJECT" it into becoming yours.

Now I will give you a clear, scientific demonstration of the actual law behind "MENTAL PROJECTION."

THE OPINION

AN INDEPENDENT STUDENT PUBLICATION

FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1968, P. 11

CLARIFICATION

The "OPINION" has made no intentional slanderous snipes at any individual involved in student government. If any person has been unjustly accused of any act constituting poor judgement in execution of duties or otherwise, then apologies are herewith being extended to them, and, only them. Correct implications are not being withdrawn.

Criticism has been rendered in rather generous amounts in previous literature distributed on the campus. It has been said that these earlier circulars attempted to force ideas on the student body. Well, it should be remembered that it is up to these same students to accept or reject any ideas that are presented to them.

A number of hastily stated charges have been made against some factions at their formation attempts to "take over the government"; they are not true.

Criticism and praise has been and will continue to be rendered by the "OPINION", and no doubt against it, also. This is taken for granted. Your views are welcome.

TO WHOM DO THE CENTER BLEACHES BELONG?

Seniors are currently discontented with the condition of Senior Privileges.....which are very apparent because of their absence.

If the center section of the bleachers is designated to Seniors, then WHY isn't there the enforcement of this favor?

What sort of a farce are the 12th graders falling for when they are supposed to be accused first at the end of each gathering yet they wind up swallowed by a mass of Juniors and Sophomores?

The senior bleachers would seem to give the two lower groups a good chance of a good chance to be late. Seniors wouldn't it?

Seniors think that the center section of the bleachers is stupid, but what choice has been offered them? There is no choice involved!

Let's face it Seniors. It's there; there is nothing better in view. You can either take it or leave it.

travelled to corners of all parts of the world, and throughout it all he looked for just one thing -- the power to turn thought into reality. Nowhere was the answer to be had. But finally he discovered that with a certain technique he could increase important key laws of nature.

He discovered that he would soon be out at night in ARCADE HOTEL, as it usually is in January 11. It's easy to start out with something -- say a $100 bill -- put a match to it and up with nothing. Now, he found out, you can start out with nothing, AND END UP WITH SOMETHING.

He could hardly contain his excitement. He tried it once. It worked. He began telling others about it. It worked for them. He called it "MENTAL PROJECTION" and tried it on thousands of people on different from now.

- xx) Jane Adams was living a month to live because she was chronically wasting away. But by giving away a certain part of herself, she was able to "PROJECT" herself practically a whole new body. She lived to busy hour of her doctors.
- xx) A woman was 76. She never had a trade or profession but always longed for one. She used the "Invisible Law of Mental Vibration" to "PROJECT" herself a talent. She became a great painter and made $1 million before she died at over 100.
- xx) A young man was caught in a fire. His legs were just about burned away. Doctors feared he would die. He managed to pull through, but without hope of walking again. Yet by contacting the "Cosmic Mind" he was able to "PROJECT" himself a "new" set of legs. A few years later, in the world famous Madison Square Garden, he ran the world's fastest indoor mile.
- xx) A man and his wife had little money. But they had their hearts set on owning their own home. They used the technique of "Centre-Dynamics" to "PROJECT" not just an old home, but their dream house. And they got it for what little money they had.
- xx) A certain group of people had no future before them. No money. No contacts. No influence. Yet they wanted to be famous. They used "The Magic Circle" technique to "PROJECT" a great talent into their lives. Later, they all became famous movie stars. You'll recognize their names immediately.
- xx) A man had no money all his younger life. His father died at a young age. His mother scraped along by selling biscuits to men for lunch. Then he used the Law of Capillary Action to "PROJECT" great wealth into his life. Before he knew it the biscuit business just grew and grew. He became a multi-millionaire.

You, "MENTAL PROJECTION" works. All you need to do is use the specific techniques, for the specific things you need.

With South Africa Airborne Irribiden to provide a number of black-African countries, it is currently obliged to shift West Africa's bump, shipping at Portuguese airports in Angola and Cape Verde islands.

The new route would be via Toluca.

Possible steps along the way: Salisbury, Rhodesia; Blantyre, Malawi; and the islands of Malagasy and Mauritius—both in the Indian Ocean.

These countries can be expected to ignore any sanctions against South Africa. They need all the business they can get.

For South Africans, the route would represent added security in a world increasing its pressure against their nation.

How and why...

Federal government sympathizers in Nigeria have accused Biafra of delaying agreement on the peace talks now under way in Kampala, Uganda.

As for choosing a site, it might have been true. But when it came to setting a date for the peace talks on the Nigerian civil war, both sides jockeyed for a date they hoped would give them a stronger position at the conference table.

The federal government in Lagos proposed May 21 to give Col. Benjamin Adekunle as much time as possible to take Biafra's major city, Port Harcourt.

Biafra, knowing the fall of its city was imminent, wanted a week earlier so the city would still be in its hands when the talks began.

As it turned out, Nigeria's Colonel Adekunle took the city even before Biafra's deadline of May 26 — with a day to spare.

As peace talks begin, the city is occupied by federal troops.

Algeria appears a negotiated Arab-Israeli peace. So does Syria.

They mistrust United Nations special envoy Gunnar Jarring's peace moves.

This was the main reason behind Syrian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Makhlouf's hurried visit to Algeria last week.

Algeria trains some of the Palestine Arab guerrillas earlier trained in Syria and opening fever bases in Jordanian territory.

It is now likely that Algeria will join Syria and Iraq in efforts to unify both the regular Arab military commands and the Palestinian command groups.

Whether these efforts are successful depends on how the West's President Nixon, Secretary of State, and Defense Secretary react.

Corvallis, Ore.

Wayne Morse sat on a pile of hay in the warm Oregon sun and listened to a neighbor's complaint.

"I'm a state away, bounded very close plugging 'a' gear for the United States."

As these two men are run-offices. Both are Democrats, respected. Whichever is Senate primary seat only be the smaller from state. Either one is a Republican Robert Pack-an race is a tense, close thing new generation politics is virtually an Oregon. And the issue clearly is the institution itself—Senator Morse.

A controversial figure

Bash-browed and bluish, Wayne Morse aptly personifies the Oregon political spirit. He is independent, controversial, maverick-minded, and a gadfly to presidents. And that is both his strength and his weakness.

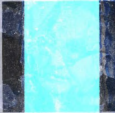

He was one of the first doves to fly against the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy. He has been perhaps the war's most flame-tongued critic ever since.

Robert B. Duncan, 36 years younger than Mr. Morse, is a political pragmatist—and a good one. He was an Oregon congressman for two terms. In his first, the Capitol press corps voted him one of the four

Mr. Morse's support at new law pending alterations still, understanding recent Supreme Court decisions, which was the subject of the McClintock-Tydings clash, is warmly and even passionately opposed by some legal scholars.

Factions cross party lines

Before the vote Mr. Tydings put into the record a list of opponents of Title II—the board of governors of the American Bar Association, which sets policy for a membership of 150,000 lawyers; the American Law Institute; the Judicial Conference of the United States; 200 legal scholars from 43 law schools.

Two Democratic presidential candidates, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, were named against controversial Title II. Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey has stated that he opposes it.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D) of Massachusetts charged Senator McClintock had "perched against crime." Sen. Charles E. Percy (R) of Illinois, a possible vice-presidential candidate, voted "aye" to postpone action on Title II.

But a bipartisan group of angry senators including Everett McKinley Dirksen (R) of Illinois and leaders of the Southern conservatives vigorously disagreed.

Provision knocked out

In a voice debate with Senator Mr. McClintock said:

"If this effort to deal with these atrocious violent decisions is defeated every gangster and felon of the underworld, every syndicate chieftain, racketeer, captain, hoodlum, sergeant, private, punk and hoodlum is organized crime; every murderer, rapist, robber, burglar, arsonist, thief, and evildoer will have cause to rejoice and celebrate!"

The Senate knocked out of the criminal bill a provision that would have stripped the Supreme Court of authority to reverse state-court rulings accepting confessions as voluntarily given.

The vote was 32-32 and followed votes making the voluntariness of confessions the only test of their admissibility in federal criminal trials.

The 3-4-4 Miranda decision requires that a defendant be warned by police on arrest that he has a right to remain silent; that anything he says may be used to his detriment; that he has the right to the presence of counsel while being interrogated; and that counsel will be provided if he is financially unable to retain one. It calls for procedures similar to those adopted voluntarily earlier by the FBI.

The Miranda case is only one of a series of rulings adopted by a reform-minded Supreme Court majority in the politically hazardous move to liberalize the rights of suspects in criminal cases.

The present high court has two members appointed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, four by Dwight D. Eisenhower, one by John F. Kennedy, and one by Lyndon B. Johnson. The Court is expected to vote 5-4 to strike Title II—the ultimate trend of the closely divided court may depend on the fall election.

Aremlin discussion with Britain oints effort to pave Viet path

Aremlin could see the building of North Vietnam.

(Continued from Page 1) The talks of the United States and North Vietnam will be held in Washington for the fourth time since the Vietnam preliminary peace talks.

The United States is known to have sought Soviet assistance primarily to at least one condition since President Johnson's March 31 speech, but without explicit result. Among other things the timing was probably important.

During yesterday's talks, it is said the officials met with a group of British and French officials, and the British and French officials met with a group of British and French officials.

It is likely that the British and French officials will be in the background, but the British and French officials will be in the background.

Crime election issue

Sen. Arthur W. McClellan (D., Cal.) will introduce legislation in the Senate to make it a crime to commit a crime while on parole or probation. The bill would make it a crime to commit a crime while on parole or probation.

The issue they debated was the need for a national program to control crime in the American justice system. By expanding the law that governs the release of prisoners, the bill would make it a crime to commit a crime while on parole or probation.

The average age of the general population is 40. Of the four groups of prisoners, the average age is 40, 45, 50, and 55. The bill would make it a crime to commit a crime while on parole or probation.

UN goal: self-rule speedup

The 'realists' are prepared to wait a few years. But the radicals take the General Assembly declaration literally. They want immediate independence for all non-self-governing peoples. Steering a steady course in these currents of contrasting opinions isn't easy. But Mahmoud Mostefa, chairman of the United Nations committee on ending colonialism, is managing it well.

In Poland, or elsewhere in the world, Kennedy evokes enthusiasm and admiration by projecting what America and democracy can achieve.

Two long-standing Kennedy concerns: equal rights and opportunity, and the health and welfare of all children.

Few men know the Presidency as well as Robert Kennedy

Few men in government have been so vitally involved in the extraordinary issues and events of this decade.

As a Member of the Cabinet under two administrations, Robert Kennedy helped shape the policies that brought new hope to the nation and to the world. The NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE said: "The Attorney General has been in the center of every crisis, had a hand in every major decision," of the New Frontier.

As a Key Member of the National Security Council, Robert Kennedy played a crucial role in the Cuban Missile Crisis. His advice weighed heavily as the President negotiated a powerful backdown by Premier Khrushchev and the withdrawal of Russian missiles from Cuban soil. Robert Kennedy also participated in the delicate negotiations leading to the nuclear test ban treaty—the first major step by the United States and the Soviet Union toward disarmament.

As Attorney General, he led a new era of achievement. The WASHINGTON POST wrote: "He has guided more important legislation through Congress than did any of his predecessors in the past 30 years. He has made the Federal Government, for the first time, a vigorous enemy of organized crime. He has pushed equal rights for all Americans."

As Attorney General, United States Senator, and Special Presidential Envoy, Kennedy has traveled through Europe, Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The respect he has earned around the world makes Robert Kennedy the most qualified American to enlist the cooperation of other nations in the cause of peace.

As a United States Senator, he has been a leader in candidly discussing the problems vital to the nation: a way out of the war in Viet Nam, full employment, rising taxes, crime in the streets, the deterioration of our youth, the pollution of water and air, and the strengthening of the economies of our towns and villages. Kennedy pioneered new solutions that will promote peace and prosperity for all Americans.

Kennedy on the Issues

NATIONAL UNITY

"We must close the gaps between black and white, rich and poor, and young and old in this country. Only when everyone has a stake in society will we have a tranquil land. I run for the Presidency because I want the United States to stand for hope instead of despair, for the reconciliation of men instead of civil war and disorder."

"There are not ordinary times, and this is not an ordinary election. At stake is not simply the leadership of our party or even our country—it is our right to moral leadership in this planet."

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

"We must bring government back to the people. We have learned that Washington can't always know all the answers to a local problem. The people who live in a community know best what they need. The Federal government should cooperate with—not dictate to—the state and local agencies, so that each does the job it can do best. This is the key to rebuild the country—by working together."

THE SOUND DOLLAR

"The cost of living in California is rising at a rate of more than 10% every four years. Its empty schools place inflation to eat away the wage increases of workers and erode the standard of living of the people on fixed incomes. We must protect the value of the dollar and the balance of payments deficit through measures like increased exports, more business-like government operations, reduced budget deficits, and a sound monetary policy. We must also encourage a more active role for the private sector in the economy."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

"Almost 500,000 Californians are serving in the armed forces in 147 nations around the world. 47,000 returned last year alone. While we have been fed down in Iraq, North Vietnam, and elsewhere, our relations with countries all over the world have deteriorated. We must negotiate as honorable people and then get down to the job of restoring America's respect. For two years, I have been concerned that our course would not bring victory, would not bring peace, would not stop the bloodshed, and would not advance the interests of the United States. I do not advocate anywhere withdrawal or surrender. I favor a fair settlement which will require concessions from both sides."

LAW, ORDER AND EQUAL JUSTICE

"The fight against crime is urgent, not only for the preservation of our property and safety, but also to enable us to continue as a nation which honors personal freedom and respects it as a principle of government. We must ensure that no one who violates it. For no man has the right to menace the safety and well-being of his neighbors, and those who lead others to harm and kill must feel the full force of the law."

"But punishment is not prevention. We will reestablish our domestic tranquility only when there is full constitutional justice. Our goal is to put an end to a society where a man loses his color as a badge of inferiority, and to move toward a society where man may exercise their rights as citizens without fear of official hostility or violence. But we have to do more. Much more. The great challenge before us is to give every American the same opportunity to educate his children, provide for his family, live in a decent home and see human acceptance as well as economic achievement."

WELFARE

"It is a disgrace that able-bodied people who want work are on the dole. There should be tax incentives and subsidies to private industry to create new and useful jobs, and there should be programs to train men to fill them. That is the way to restore dignity and family stability to the unemployed, and curb the spiraling cost of welfare that eat up so much of our tax money."

BUSINESS—GOVERNMENT COOPERATION

"We must utilize the skill and talent of our private industry to a greater extent than we have done in the past. The unprecedented ability of our scientists, engineers and businessmen to solve problems and get things done can make the critical difference in improving the quality of American life and reinvigorating the way we live. It can make the difference in the effort to eliminate pollution, reduce medical costs and provide efficient mass transit."

TAXATION

"Property taxes have become an insupportable burden on people. I want legislation that returns a portion of federal tax revenues to the local government to help pay for education, health and other services, and to help pay for the costs of the federal government. I want to see a fair and equitable system of taxation that is based on the ability to pay. I want to see a more equitable system of taxation that is based on the ability to pay."

Indy cars have jumped 20 m.p.h. in seven years

By Dan Davis
Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Time trials this past weekend at Indianapolis vindicated motors of the United States Automobile Club for placing restrictions on the STP Turbine four-wheel-drive racing cars.

After the fantastic opening qualification performances of the STP cars—Joe Leonard, 173.89 m.p.h., and Graham Hill, 171.26—it is apparent that crippling limitations have not been imposed at least not during the time trials.

It is also apparent that turbo-charged engines, such as that used by Bobby Unser to gain the outside of the front row at 160.87, are competitive to the turbines at least during time trials.

Alan Dan Gurney's placement of his Eagle chassis (stock short Ford engine with Westlake heads) on the inside of the fourth row represents a major engineering feat. This Gurney Westlake engine costs less than half that of the Ford DOHC (double overhead beam) engine and one-third that of the turbine engine.

All turbines in the future?
Currently Gurney's All-American Racing team is building the best chassis available for a piston-engine car. Gurney has experience in running the full 500 miles an Eagle chassis should be a logical winner candidate. Unser also runs an Eagle chassis.

Dan Davis says the piston cars won't be able to compete with the turbines on race days. "The speeds at which they qualify are the speeds they will run during the race," he said. The piston-engine cars add nitro to increase their performance during time trials and consequently drop 5 to 6 m.p.h. on race day.

"Gurney is not against turbines but he does say: 'What has to be decided now is 'do we want to change the nature of motor racing?' If turbines are to be allowed in the future then we'll all have to go to turbines."

Dan also concedes that turbines plus four-wheel drive would mean much faster speeds at the Speedway. "It've jumped 20 m.p.h. in seven years, mostly due to tires and chassis. Four-wheel-drive-turbine power could conceivably show a similar increase in the next 10 years," he said.

Laps of 101 m.p.h. at the Speedway were unbelievable now, but so did 111 back in 1961 when most observers doubted the 130-m.p.h. lap was possible.

Designed for only 90 m.p.h.

The Speedway track still has the original design of the matter or its method or use. It is quite unlike the new super speedways being built for stock-car racing with their near-vertical banking that make the car a more dominating factor than the driver in achieving fast lap times.

Indianapolis was designed for a maximum speed of 90 m.p.h. The 171-plus represents a startling overcoming of seemingly rigid physical limitations. The super speedways with their banking designed for over 200 m.p.h. don't represent the challenge to motor and machine as 171 m.p.h. at Indy that Indianapolis does at 171.

The racing fraternity is at this moment split into two very divergent groups. These are the Bobby Unser who feel that turbines are the matter or its method or use. The "engine is right." They are the others who recognize that motor racing's risks are only diminished when control to progress and improvement.

Not among these is the Indianapolis Motor Speedway owner, Tony Hulman. He

FORIS on Africa
What's ahead...

Opponents of President Tubman are rufing Liberia's relative calm.
But so far there is no sign that his hold on the government as an elected official—dating back to 1945—is slipping.
One of his opponents, Henry Foris, is said to have circulated anti-Tubman tracts while he was Ambassador to Nairobi, Kenya.
This naturally rubbed Mr. Tubman the wrong way. Mr. Forisbush goes on trial next month, charged with treason and plotting with the Chinese Communists to overthrow the President.
Mr. Forisbush is not a member of Liberia's ruling class of families—great slaves who came from America to found the nation in the early 1800's.
His position is that Liberia should be ruled by the more modern population Liberians who are not slave owners.
Tubman opponents criticize him close ties with Washington.
But two American Peace Corps workers who are said to have made their first remarks in a classroom have been ordered to leave the country.

Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are taking advantage of Moscow's preoccupation with the East-West ferment to tighten their own ties with Africa.
Trade specialists and diplomats from Yugoslavia are following up visits earlier this year by President Tito to nearly a dozen African nations.
Result: A wave of new trade and cultural pacts, plus more links to Belgrade by African.
Yugoslavia, Moscow's old nemesis, would like to emerge as the main champion of "democratic" socialism, which appeals to many African statesmen.
Czechoslovakia, Moscow's new nemesis, is one of the few socialist countries with genuinely commercial (as opposed to political) interests in Africa. As for Africa in general, Prague is playing cautiously its new independence from the Soviet Union.
But Prague Radio's high-powered African short-wave service assures its listeners that a "critical examination" of its foreign policy means no great change in its relations with third-world countries.

South Africa is seeking a new air route to Europe.
With South African Airlines forbidden to serve a number of black-African countries, it is currently obliged to short-cut Africa's hump, stopping at Portuguese airports in Angola and Cape Verde Islands.
The new route would be via Tehran.
Possible stops along the way: Salisbury, Rhodesia; Blantyre, Malawi; and the islands of Malagasy and Mauritius—both in the Indian Ocean.
These countries can be expected to ignore any sanctions against South Africa. They need all the business they can get.
For South Africans, the route would represent added security, a route increasing its pressures against their nation.

How and why...

Federal government sympathizers in Nigeria have accused Biafra of delaying agreement on the peace talks now under way in Kampala, Uganda.
As for choosing a site, it might have been true. But when it came to setting a date for the peace talks on the Nigerian civil war, both sides jockeyed for a date they hoped would give them a stronger position at the conference table.
The federal government in Lagos proposed May 27 to give Col. Benjamin Adekunle as much time as possible to take Biafra's major city, Port Harcourt.
Biafra, knowing the fall of its city was imminent, wanted a week earlier so the city would still be in its hands when the talks began.
As it turned out, Nigeria's Colonel Adekunle took the city even before Biafra's deadline of May 27, a day to spare.
As peace talks begin, the city is occupied by federal troops.

Algeria opposes a negotiated Arab-Israeli Peace. So does Syria.
They mistrust United Nations special envoy Gunnar Jarring's peace moves.
This was the main reason behind Syrian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Mahbouh's hurried visit to Algeria last week.
Algeria traces some of the Palestine Arab guerrillas earlier trained in Algeria and expelled from bases on Jordanian territory.
It is now likely that Algeria will join Syria and Iraq in efforts to unify both the regular Arab military commands and the Palestinian command groups.
Whether these efforts are successful depends in part on Egypt's President Nasser. Egyptian leaders are dubious about unification schemes.
They feel both Syria and Algeria—where President Boumedienne recently narrowly escaped assassination—ought to deal first with urgent internal problems.

Peace bid coming?
Kremlin discussion with Britain
hints effort to pave Viet path

By Saville B. Davis

Paris
The ripples of the Paris talks are spreading wider as the two parties continue with their disagreements here.
In Moscow a meeting of the co-chairmen of the 1964 Geneva conference—the Soviet Union and Great Britain—could have important repercussions here.
In Peking the Maoist leaders, who have officially ignored the Paris talks although they publicly advised the North Vietnamese not to negotiate, have begun to show objectives in this direction. The publication in Hanoi of news from the conference is noted here.
By initiating the visit of British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, the Soviet leaders appear to have made their first modest but open move toward the Viet in recent weeks.
It comes at a time when the United States is urgently pressing Hanoi for some form of military "restraint" on that President Johnson could end the bombing of North Vietnam.
[Ambassador W. Averell Harriman of the United States and Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam met Wednesday for the fourth full-scale session of the Vietnam preliminary peace talks.]
The United States is known to have sought Soviet assistance privately on at least one occasion since President Johnson's March 31 speech, but without visible result. Among other things the timing was probably inappropriate.
However, the following statement from Mr. Johnson's March 21 speech has remained an open invitation and even a plea: "I call upon the United Kingdom and I call upon the Soviet Union, as co-chairmen of the Geneva conference and as permanent members of the United Nations Security Council, to do all they can to move from the unilateral act of deceleration that I have just announced toward genuine peace in Southeast Asia."
The Moscow talks, which surely will include Vietnam, are on this background. The Soviet Union has an especially Wayne Morse sat on a pile of hay in the warm Oregon sun and listened intently to a neighbor's complaint.

But Duncan, half a state away, bounded down the tune canny line playing "a guy I recommend highly for the United States Senate"—himself.
In their own styles these two men are running for the same office. Both are Democrats. Both are well respected. Whichever one wins Oregon's Senate seat next week will undoubtedly be the senator from this green-tinted state. Either one is expected to beat Republican Robert Fickwood this fall.
The Morse-Duncan race is a tense, close struggle of an aspiring new generation politician against what is virtually an Oregon political institution. And the issue clearly is the institution itself—Senator Morse.

"I'm ready to go to a vote."

A controversial figure
Bush-bowed and blind, Wayne Morse spurs the Oregon political spirit. He is independent, controversial, maverick-minded, and a gaily to presidents. And that is both his strength and his weakness.
He was one of the first doves to fly against the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy. He has been perhaps the war's most flame-tongued critic ever since.
Robert B. Duncan, 20 years younger than Mr. Morse, is a political opportunist—and a good one. He was an Oregon congressman for two terms. In his first, the Capitol press corps voted him one of the "outstanding freshmen congressmen."
In 1966 he threw himself over to run for the Senate against Republican Mark Hatfield. He narrowly lost by only 24,000 votes.

Crime
issue

Sen. John L. McClellan (D) of Arkansas stood in the middle aisle of the Senate chamber, flailing his arms and speaking with a voice hoarse with passion as he assailed the Supreme Court of the United States.
A few minutes later, from young Sen. Joseph D. Tydings (D) at Maryland walked down the side aisle gesticulating with the glasses held in his hand to defend the high court.
The issue they debated was the right of criminal suspects to certain safeguards in the American judicial system.
By expansion, the issue also involves the position of state courts vis-a-vis federal courts; whether the present Supreme Court is "coddling" criminals; and the ancient doctrine of Chief Justice John Marshall in McCulloch v. Maryland (separation of powers), and the red-hot political issue of crime in the 1968 presidential election.
The average age of the present Supreme Court is 64. Of the four seniors of the court two are 69, one is 71, and one is 82. The high court is delicately balanced in its view of the controversial issue of protecting suspects' rights.
Nixon raises issue
A key case—Miranda—was decided in 1966.
Normally a president names two judges in a four-year term, though this does not always happen.
What the abe means is that the fall election, by its choice of president, may well decide the course of the Supreme Court by the addition of new members.
Richard M. Nixon has already raised the issue. In his 5,000 word statement on crime May 8, he criticized the present majority of the high court in the Miranda case, charged that "a majority of one" had erected a "barbed wire of legalism" which has "effectively abolished hundreds of criminals."
Mr. Nixon said significantly that future presidents should "nominate to their appointments to the United States Supreme Court men who are thoroughly experienced and versed in the criminal laws of the land."
Mr. Nixon's support of Title II in the pending anti-crime bill, undercutting recent Supreme Court decisions, which was the subject of the McClellan-Tydings clash, is warmly and even passionately opposed by some legal scholars.

Factions cross party lines
Before the vote Mr. Tydings put into the record a list of opponents of Title II—the board of governors of the American Bar Association, which sets policy for a membership of 135,000 lawyers; the American Law Institute, the Judicial Conference of the United States; 200 legal scholars from 43 law schools.

Two Democratic presidential candidates, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, were paired against controversial Title II. Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey has stated that he opposes it.
Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D) of Massachusetts charged Senator McClellan had "panicked against" Sen. Charles H. Percy (R) of Illinois, a possible vice-presidential candidate, voted "aye" to postpone action on Title II.
But a bipartisan group of angry senators including Everett McKinley Dirksen (R) of Illinois and leaders of the Southern conservatives vigorously disagreed.

Provision knocked out
In a voice hoarse with emotion Mr. McClellan cried:
"If this effort to deal with these enormous court decisions is defeated every gangster and overlord of the underworld, every syndicate chief, racketeer, captain, lieutenant, enforcer, private, punk, and hoodlum who will have cause to rejoice and celebrate."
The Senate knocked out of the criminal bill a provision that would have stripped the Supreme Court of authority to overturn state-court decisions accepting confessions as voluntarily given.
The vote was 50-49 and followed votes making the voluntariness of confessions the only test of their admissibility in federal criminal trials.

The 5-to-4 Miranda decision requires that a defendant be warned by police on arrest that he has a right to remain silent; that anything he says may be used to his detriment; that he has the right to the assistance of counsel while being interrogated; and that counsel will be provided if he is financially unable to retain one. It calls for procedures similar to those adopted voluntarily earlier by the FBI.
The Miranda case is only one of a series of rulings adopted by a reform-minded Supreme Court majority in the politically hazardous move to liberalize the rights of suspects in criminal cases.

The present high court has two members appointed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, four by Dwight D. Eisenhower, one by John F. Kennedy, and two by President Johnson.
Whatever Congress does with the pending crime bill—possibly failing a presidential veto if it retains Title II—the ultimate trend of the closely scored court may depend on the fall election.
