ACCEPTANCE OF THIS INVITATION

Please Read Very Carefully

To the Recording Secretary of the Grand Lodge of AMORC
International Jurisdiction of The Americas, British Commonwealth, France, Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, and Africa

AMORC Temple, San Jose, California, U. S. A.

Respected Sir:

I hereby accept your cordial invitation to unite with the Rosicrucians in their researches, studies, and individual experiments, as outlined in your literature. If I am found worthy of receiving the First Principles and private studies, I will abide by the traditional pledge made by all Neophytes, to wit:

"I will keep confidential all reading matter, lessons, and discourses sent to me, and will carefully examine them to determine each step I am to take in being prepared for a more practical and masterful position in Life."

In accordance with the traditional custom, I enclose Five Dollars as my Registration Fee for membership in the Grand Lodge of the Rosicrucian Order, and I shall voluntarily remit dues of Three Dollars and Fifty Cents monthly, beginning with the first month after my membership has been accepted and continuing as long as I express a desire for membership as an Active Student.

It is understood that if my membership is accepted, I shall receive two monographs biweekly (every two weeks), the monthly magazine, the Rosicrucian Digest, and enjoy all the benefits and privileges of membership without payment of any fee or charges except the dues as stated above. If my application is not accepted, I will be confidentially notified by the Membership Committee, and my Registration Fee will be refunded.

Contributions to the Supreme Grand Lodge of AMORC in excess of dues are deductible on U. S. Federal Income Tax Returns, to the extent provided by law.

(Make checks or money orders payable only to "AMORC Funds")

(Do not send currency in unregistered letters.)

(It is necessary that you state Your Motive on reverse of Questionnaire—over.)

A Little Over A Penny A Day

Recent increases in costs of the numerous materials and services to our members have necessitated a slight increase in dues. We wish to advise that the monthly dues' rate is now four dollars ($4.00 monthly), thus amending the attached application.

However, once you are a member, there is the option of paying in quarterly installments: $11.25; or in semiannual installments: $21.00.

Thank you.

I am a free man, Gove

You may have heard of my Party, of yours. We visited you last were told that your men had the right to have their guns but why waste Your vote?

MARVIN GARSON

Saturday night I went to Robert Kennedy's $100 a plate fund-raising dinner at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel. The benign ghost of President Warren G. Harding, who dies in the Palace in 1923 (poisoned by his wife) historians (suspect) made a brief appearance at the bar before the dinner began. I was the only one who noticed him.

"Why, Mr. Harding," I said. "I'm so pleased to meet you. I just finished telling my host that your administration was the model of how the presidency ought to be run."

"Have a drink, son." We drank, and I laid a joint on him.

"Thanks a lot, son. Hard to find around here. Mexican girl—cutest little piece of ass you ever saw—used to bring a bunch of reefers whenever she came visiting the White House. But I ain't been able to find any of this stuff since the time all the kids and the colored came in here to the Palace to lay around and sing songs. When was that—'62, '63? Been pretty dull around here these last five years."

"What do you think about Kennedy?" I asked.

"I don't see throwing away your vote on a dead man. They're gonna kill him—and anyway, there ain't much there to kill. I'm a lot more alive than he is."

I rejoined my hosts for dinner. They were political novices who had become active in the Kennedy campaign, helped organize the dinner, and wanted to use their complimentary tickets in "bridging the communications gap." Several times they had to rescue me from ushers and police who did not believe I had a ticket.

I was gracious at the dinner table; despite my Peace and Freedom Party button (which many guests took as a deliberate insult), I did not heckle or jeer. In fact, when Senator Kennedy made his entrance, I squealed: "Oh, he's gorgeous!" although he wasn't.

At a sizable distance, or in a photograph, he looks beautiful, but closer up he is a wax doll, pink flesh melting under the lights, hair of an entirely indeterminate color (gray? brown? sandy blond? It was as if his designers had not yet made up their minds and were slipping through a set of color overlays).

It was a good speech. The jokes weren't very funny (which hardly mattered—the audience was ready to laugh for any mention of Teddy or Ethel); but the serious part of it sounded very sincere indeed.

Do you want a political analysis? The rhetoric was New Left, the program was Eisenhowerian. "People have to participate in the decisions that affect their lives"; "we must return government to the people." He talked against poverty and also against centralized federal bureaucracy. What would he do? It came down to this: tax incentives to encourage businesses to set up operations in poverty areas.

"He's talking your talk", I said to another guest, a Rockefeller Republican from Denver (also invited, presumably, to bridge the communications gap).

"Yes," he said, "very good. But why wasn't that done in the first Kennedy administration?"

"Wasn't it?" I asked. "Hmm, guess not."

The speech finished, people crowded around the Senator to get his autograph,

Pomp and Circumstance

paul glusman

The Vietnam Commencement on the UC campus was held Friday without any major incidents. It was a pompous and circumstantial honoring of members of the senior class who face induction and will refuse to serve.

Much of the controversy over the ceremony concerned its non-controversial nature. Radicals attacked it because it sought to honor draft refusers without going into the implications of draft refusal regarding American imperialism, university complicity, and the basic nature of the American system of channeling people by goading them with carrot and stick into serving the "national interest."

The right wing, including Governor Reagan, attacked the ceremony because it was allegedly illegal. Reagan also called it "obscene."

The Regents originally banned the commencement on campus, but the Campus Draft Opposition got around the ban by holding it as a noon rally on Sproul steps. Administration and court reaction to this subterfuge is yet to be determined. Radicals then attacked the CDO for not fighting strongly enough for the Greek Theater and for cutting down the program to fit the noon slot. As a concession to the radicals, the CDO permitted a representative of the Black Panthers to speak briefly.

About seven thousand students attended the event and heard from Robert Hutchins how bad the war was. Other speakers commented as to how wonderful and brave draft resisters were. Pledge "A" signers, those who vowed not to serve in the army, wore blue armbands. Pledge "B" signers vowed their support. I was looking for pledge "C" to morally support any professor who got in trouble over the ceremony (although not actually ENCOURAGING them to do so).

Phil Ochs sang "I Ain't A-Marchin' Anymore" despite Reese Erlich's suggestion that he sing "Love me, I'm a Liberal." "Draft Dodger Rag" might have been nice too.

Despite the bland nature of the event, it was held—very publicly in direct opposition to the orders of The Regents and the Governor. Repercussions are expected.

thrusting books and bumper stickers and all kinds of scraps of paper at him. I happened to have with me an Express Times with Jeff Blankfort's classic photo on the cover, the naked man entirely unnoticed in the crowd at the Civic Center rally April 27. I conceived the idea of having the Senator autograph it.

It took a good twenty minutes to worm my way through, but finally I was face to face (or face to mask, rather) with the Senator.

"May I have your autograph, Senator?"

I smiled. He took the paper tentatively with one hand, beginning to make preliminary signature motions with the other; blinked; focused on the picture; and then gave me a look of pure hatred and disgust, like a man opening his refrigerator and finding a giant spider there. He made a motion with his hand as if to squash me.

On the way out, unautographed newspaper under my arm, I ran into President Harding again. "Buy a paper, sir?" and held it up. He looked at the picture, chuckled, and pulled a quarter from his pocket. I fumbled for change, taking my time. He winked to let me know he was hip to my hustle. "Keep the change, son," he said.

of which I am as proud, Governor, as I imagine you are of the office you hold. You may have heard of my Party, Governor, I certainly have heard of yours. We visited you last year, May 2nd, in Sacramento, and, if I may say so, were very badly received, because, as I understand it, some of us brought our guns with us, even though your men had their guns with them. Moreover, your men turned their guns on us, although we did not do the same thing to them. We were told that your men had the right to have their guns but that ours didn't. We argued the point, of course, but evidently our arguments fell on dissenting ears, because our men with guns were arrested and some of them had to serve a jail sentence. I was arrested also, but quickly released, with all charges dropped, when a judge discovered that I should not have been arrested in the first place, because I was there as a reporter, with proper credentials, for RAMPARTS Magazine, of which I was then and still am, a staff writer, and because I did not have a gun, and because, in reference to my being on parole, I had the written consent of my parole agent to be there. That was the only time, in the eighteen months I was out on parole, that I was ever arrested. Since that situation was resolved as it was, I think it would be fair to say, Governor, that in the eighteen months that I was out on parole, I was never arrested for cause.

Dear sir:

This is strictly a long-shot idea. In the Miami Herald of this date, I find the names 'Santa Ana' and the 'Rev. Oliver Owen' tied in with Sirhan B. Sirhan and the Kennedy killing.

Santa Ana, as you may recall, has always been California's KKK GHQ. I lived there during several years. It is still thoroughly KKK, anti-Catholic, bitterly anti-Democrat Party, and, needless to add, hellishly all things Kennedy. anti-

There is a long-time vicious, upper-class, all anti-Catholic business group there which owns the county under the name Santora Company. This group's prize exhibit is the narrower-than-hell Rep. James Utt whom the slick boys managed to land in Washington. Jimmie Utt is the boy for all dirty work when Santora's activities reach out and touch prospective Federal monies.

California Assemblyman James Utt (when in Sacramento) was the State's chairman of the Inheritance Tax Division; and Santora--owners of Fair Haven Cemetery, Santa Ana--did all right while little ol' Jimmie Utt was handling that Orange County inheritance-tax adjusting.

I once lived in a hotel owned by Santora--the Hotel Santa Ana. Reading this press article, and spotting the name Rev. Owen, the old recall tells me that Santora's Fair Haven Cemetery once had a defrocked minister shilling for trade, and doing the niceties at the burials. Now you must agree, a defrocked reverend, if still in the employ of Santora-Fair Haven, would be just the boy for a job of Orange County KKK killing of an Irish-Catholic; and if I knew the gentlemen of Santora, I'd say that Rep. Jimmie Utt and his well-to-do goons might have a great interest in the killing.

If you think this hunch deserves study, don't take it up with anybody in Santa Ana or Orange County. Santora always owns the DA and all superior and inferior court judges, not to mention the city police department.
