- #66: Okay. I want you to describe the physical things, not what's contained in them, but the physical things that he takes pictures of.
- #01: ..He's actually photographing a real rocket nose, it's like a section of the rocket.
- #66: Okay. Now in these, in these documents, he photographs a blueprint type thing, is there any other kinds of documents in there or any other objects that he photographs?
- #01: Ah..there's written pages,..diagrams..what appears to be some kind of maintenance type log...um....then inventory sheets of some kind...primarily the other..they're schematics of the guidance system.
- #66: Okay. Now, I'd like to go back to something you said. You said that you had some impressions of different times?
- #01; ...Yes, like different...different materials.
- #66: Break this out.
- #01: They're not there now, but they're...photographed too someway...sort of like it took two trips.
- #66: Okay. Tell me what happens after he finishes photographing these things.
- #01: ..He a...puts everything back in the box and the bag and...puts everything back the way it was..and he goes back to the car ...and waits for the others to come back...Then the a...others come back and they...talk at the car and...the guy, the passenger of the truck, is like, he's given more money,..this time in cash...And he goes and then he gets in the truck and he..drives away.
- #66: Could you describe this truck to me again?
- #01:It's like a fairly beat up military truck, it's gray, but it's got a...white top or a pattern in white, on the ceiling...and a dark gray almost...charcoal cover on the back. It's a military, a pickup truck. When it leaves, it goes.. through the gravel lot..and around the red brick building and..goes....ah..north....goes north.

#66: All right. Now, you said in this pickup truck, there were two individuals, a driver and a passenger, tell me about the driver.

#01:An impression he's working for,..doing this is as a favor for money..for his friend.

#66: Describe him physically to me.

#01: ...Um...middle late twenties, probably twenty-seven..5' 6" ..145 pounds,..military, he's military.

#66: Break this out.

#01: A..impression of a military uniform, some kind of work fatigues...his baseball cap is blue..some kind of white letter on the front...He's a...a..immature in a way.

#66: Break this out.

#01: ...Ah...

#66: Raw data?

#01: ...Um...doesn't understand what's going on...doesn't care...Ah..single, E5, E4, He's an E4..needs the money, just does this for money...It's just one more job to do..He's like a hustler...Ah..get the impression he doesn't really know what's in the back of the truck....but the passenger does.

#66: The driver, describe his place at work.

#01:See a row of like..a six dorm type buildings...wait a minute, that's overlay...Ah...see a..it's like bins, some kind of storage bins, tables with tools...large building like an aircraft hanger...lots of tools and cages, wire cages..parts..

#66: Now, you said, in the pickup there was a passenger. Starting with the incident, tell me about the passenger. Tell me about this passenger.

#01: Um..impression he is also military, but of a..higher grade, like a E7, E8...He's friends with the younger man. He's a..36, 35...5' 7", 5' 8", 165 pounds, brown, kind of curly hair.....Get a...get an impression of school buildings when I think of him. Keep seeing classrooms...

#66: Okay. I want you to stick to him, rather than other locations. Tell me about him personality wise, the passenger in the truck.

#01: ..Um..he's is in trouble, trouble with the money...

#66: Break this out.

#01:An impression of divorce or something like that, heavy alimony or child support. Spends too much money, owes bills..Get a trapped feeling, as well, like he can't quit....Trying to make it to third year,..third year for...time to quit.

#66: Break this third year concept out.

#01: ...I don't understand that, just get a...got to make to third year, end of tour or end of service.

#66: All right. Now tell me about his place of work.

#01:Get like a long, zig-zag white building, two floors, and classrooms. It's inside a double fence, white, I think white mason block. See a..fairly photographic type projections...on a wall....cellophane like projections sheets.

#66: Okay. This passenger in the "trap", describe his activity in this work place. Describe what he does in his work day.

#01: ...Um..does a..controls text books and things.

#66: Describe controls text books and things.

#66: All right. Concentrate on this individual and tell me how I can best identify him, how I can best find him.

#01: That's correct....A..midmorning hours apparently are...appropriate time period.....Early evening and midmorning hours..seem to be the general times...

DRAWING EXPLANATION

- #01: Page #1 is an overhead view of the work area of the driver of the military truck and I didn't, I guess didn't say it in the session but it appears to be like the corner of a, inside of a maintenance area of an aircraft hanger. I'm going to put maintenance area with a question mark on it. And it's got all these caged areas with storage bins and work tables and everything. Very distinct impression of yellow stripes on concrete inside.
- #66: Okay, before we move away from that drawing. Just thinking now about that drawing and this guy that's the driver in the work area, is there anything more that you want to add about him, how you might characterize that individual? If you were talking about him, not that you perceived him during a session, but it was the kind of a guy that you met on the street, what might you say about that guy?
- #01: Oh a guy that's easily led around and doesn't know what's going on around him most of the time and is very immature, big interest in money, what money buys that sort of thing. Has no loyalties. Always getting into some minor trouble. You know, showing up late for work, showing up drunk, you know, never seems to do anything right, that kind of guy.
- #66: Oke-doke.
- #01: Page #2 is an example of a zig-zag building, the school type building, that this guy works in.
- #66: Which guy is that?
- #01: The passenger of the military truck.
- #66: Hm-hm.
- #01: It's inside a double wire fence and there's a guard entry. There's a whole lot of school buildings in the area, but this one specifically is inside a double fence. It's, I got the direction of a brick dorm building type area on here. And I get this great feeling of audiovisual support or a place where store training mockups and documents and tech manuals and he works in the vault where they store all this stuff and controls the incoming and outgoing supplies, manuals for classes and whatnot. It's a white building and it's made out of masonry block. It's got windows that got triple panes of glass in them.

#66: Okay, before you leave this drawing, if you had met this guy on the street and talked to him a while, what would you say about him, if someone asked you about this guy, this passenger?

#01: ..Quiet, keeps to himself, very interested in getting some kind of nestegg together or putting together a block of money so that he can go and do what he wants to do, under a lot of stress right now, lot of pressure, from money problems. Psychologically he 's got a problem. I don't know, I guess that's it, really.

#66: Okay.

#01: Page #3 is an example of the position of the vehicles in the gravel area. The direction the truck came in and left. I labeled all the passengers by numbers and wrote down who's who in the glossary here at the bottom. And I get a feeling like this is a kind of a routine meeting place, you know, like they have met there before. Maybe not all the time, because of, you know, it's just more convenient to meet somewhere else, but it seems like this is where they meet on occasion. I get a feeling like the truck, the military truck, is usually the same. That the limousine changes color and whatnot. You know, it's not the same limo or it's not a limo sometimes, sometimes it's a, I don't know, a station wagon and sometimes it's something else. There's always three guys in the limo.

#66: Okay. We didn't cover it in the session but is any characterization that you'd give to these three guys in limo?

#01: Yeah, I think the driver's a professional driver. that's what he does for a living and he's paid to do that. He's paid to do other things that drivers do. The key passenger in the limo is the number 2 guy, who does all the first cut inspections of whatever they're purchasing. And the number guy, his identity changes quite often, you know, he's a different person a lot of times. It's like he's the qualitative expert in certain areas, that they bring along to verify whatever it is that they're buying, that kind of impression.

#66: Okay. Anything else you have to add then?

#01: No, that's all.

#66: Okay, fine.

On 3 May 1983, Source CL-01 was interviewed concerning

SG1A

A "long black limousine" (not further identified) was parked in a gravel area. There were three men, a driver (A) and two passengers (B and C), in this "limousine." A gray pick-up truck, possibly military, with a white or patterned top and a dark gray cover over the back, arrived and parked near the "limousine" (see drawing 3). In this truck were a driver (D) and a passenger (E). E went to the "limousine" and talked briefly with B and C. B and E walked to the rear of the truck and inspected a wrapped package. This package contained a variety of documents pertaining to an air defense system which included subject matter relating to a guidance or nose cone apparatus (not further identified), a cut away pictorial representation of "black box" items (not further identified) in an aircraft (not further identified), information on air to air rockets (not further identified), schematics of a guidance system (not further identified), written information and diagrams (not further identified), a maintenance type log (not further identified), inventory sheets (not further identified), information on radar emitters and receivers (not further identified), blueprints (not further identified), and possibly photographs (not further identified). B and E then went into a brick building which had black glass doors (not further identified) to exchange money while C photographed the contents of the package in the back of the truck. C rewrapped the materials and returned to the "limousine." B and E returned getting into their respective vehicles and the truck left. Source provided no further information on the actions of the "limousine."

Source provided no information concerning the passengers of the "limousine."

Source stated the best way to locate these two individuals was to find a personal connection between these individuals (D and E) at the vaulted "audio-visual support area" and the "hanger type area."

Source believed another document exchange (not further identified) may take place between 1 and 10 August 1983, most probably during the mid morning or early evening hours.

Further attempts to obtain information from Source relevant to the letter met with negative results.
