WORKING PAPER

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

1. (S/NF/SK) The site accessed was a sail boat on the open water. It has a sail which has green and blue letters/numbers/symbols of some kind. I could not make them out, as the sail was limp and folded on itself. The inside of the boat is made up as a living space (see sketch, page 3). It has a very "lived-in" look about it. There are cheap cloth coverings over the furniture which are ugly pink with large black/grey patterns, and the interior of the boat is in a generally shabby condition.
2. (S/NF/SK) There are two main people involved with the boat: a man who is too light-skinned to appear black, but who is very dark complected, and whose features are not caucasian. There was an immediate feeling about this man that "I would hate to mess with him!" There is a tall, slim, very good-looking black woman with him who doesn't care a lot about wearing too many clothes. They are both very much involved in a plan to smuggle drugs into the U.S.
3. (S/NF/SK) EEI:
 - a. Is the target vessel carrying contraband drugs?
Yes. The drugs are in the form of small "chunks" (see sketch, bottom of page 6) of hard, shiny, glassy-surfaced material (A/S: "crack").
 - b. How are the drugs wrapped?
The drugs are wrapped in small, clear, thick-plastic pouches (see sketch, page 8), which are approx. 2" X 4" long. The pouches are separate, as opposed to being bundled.

c. Where are the drugs stowed aboard ship?

The drugs are sealed into routed-out cavities (see sketch, page 7) in the wood of the cabinet facings, and in the thick plywood which is under the seat cushions of the couch (see sketch, bottom of page 7). There may be other locations, but I did not find any.

d. Where and when will it off-load the drugs?

(Where): The drugs are intended to be off-loaded in Miami (see dowsing map, page 9B).

(When) : There appears to be absolutely no scheduled time frame.

(How) : The plan is to place an ad in the newspaper whenever they reach Miami, saying that they are re-modeling their boat, and want to sell the old furnishings. There are people waiting for the ad to appear, who will answer it and buy the furnishings. These people will tear into the wooden frames and take out the drugs. The people presently on the ship never see the drugs. They know it is there, however, since they make jokes with each other about "You're sitting on it!", and "Money, your ass!".

e. What is the vessel's present location?

The vessel is presently at approximately 20 degrees 30 minutes north by 83 degrees 30 minutes west (see dowsing map, page 9A).
