SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

Site is a fenced in facility. It is strongly associated with a nearby urban area. The facility has "for the public" feel to it. There are several structures with much space between them (see sketches), this gives the facility a very spacious feel which belies its urban purpose. The structures are primarily formed concrete with lots of metal attachments. There are numerous coupled metal pipe-like things visible. One rectangular structure has wood components. At this point imagination kicked in with the idea of a water (or sewage) treatment facility.
