START: 1523	END: 1609
METHODOLOGY: CRV	VIEWER IDENTIFIER: 003

SG1A

1. (S/NF/SK) MISSION: Determine whether or not the vessel  is involved in the transportation of contraband drugs.
2. (S/NF/SK) VIEWER TASKING: 003 inquired if the task was 'drug-related,' and was answered in the affirmative by the monitor; 003 was 'front-loaded' with this information. When the viewer perceived what seemed to be a 'ship', the question was put to the monitor, "Is a ship involved", to which another affirmative reply was provided. Otherwise, coordinates (initially) and (later, in Stage 6) instructions to [track the ship's course from its start point--perceived in Stage 4--and to determine if drugs are on board at any time].
3. (S/NF/SK) COMMENTS: Probably a good session. A map search (dowsing) will be employed on the next session to attempt a 'fix' on the ship's start and stop points, including 'destination'.
4. (S/NF/SK) EVALUATION: []

Session began with an AV of "Drug Operation." Site involves both open, wide, spacious elements and curving, squared, angular, confined elements. There are flaking, weathered surfaces present, with an A/S idea of weathered, painted wood. Round, glassy shapes are involved. Wood and metal is involved. There is a sense of something moving slowly, and a warm, sunny, golden feel. People present are relaxed and biding their time; "moving on." A/S of vessel on water moving slowly in late afternoon. It is of average size ("like" fifty feet). Moving forward with sun to left. Inside is hollow, stuffy, with stale organic smells, and dark. People on board feel relaxed, unthreatened, pleasant "laid back", content. Prospect of pick up of bulk material to move elsewhere that seems mundane like lumber or potatoes or something of equal value or quality to take up most of the carrying space. People anticipate they will be able to feel less relaxed after that point and more business-like. A/S "Present" location is approx of south east US. Movement seems NNW to a stopping point on land where "cargo" is acquired, then movement is more WNW towards mainland. Sense of slow movement. Vessel has no great speed capacity anyway, and is in general quite mundane in appearance. Some of the people are dark--either tan or dark complected. One or two are lighter-skinned. At least one has a moustache. Some prefer going without shirts. The sense is currently that there is nothing nefarious about this vessel at least at present.
