SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

Target was at first very illusive -- I had perceptions of dark and cold surroundings which were well elevated above everything else. I could see swirling masses of what appeared to be clouds and light surrounding the surface of a planet (see sketch #1). There was a tremendous amount of energy present -- this energy was not harnessed in any way.

I tried to focus on the energy mass, and then began to perceive something rising out of the surface (see sketch #2). This object had a metallic surface area and gave the appearance of being deadly (a weapon). It was rotating counter clockwise, and was steadily rising.

I then began to perceive very clearly a man being led by two others into a waiting car. The car was a maroon Mercedes (late model). The men were well dressed, dark hair, and two of them were armed. The man being escorted was not willing to go with the others, he was being dragged or pushed by force.

The setting was European, the climate warm and slightly humid. The license plate on the car was 898YZ3.
