

WORKING PAPER

Project: 90104-C
Date: 910131
Time: 0922-0944
Viewer: 018
Session: 02
Monitor: R

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

TASKING: "Locate the target object(s)"

RESULTS:

1. Of the many objects found in session 1, two stood out as being of very prime interest (see objects A and B on Map 1):

2. OBJECT A:

a. Object A is located in southern Kuwait at approximate coordinates 2840N/4745E.

b. It is aimed in a southwesterly direction at a point approximately 850 Km. distant.

c. It is presently set up and in position to be used.

3. OBJECT B:

a. Object B is located in northern Kuwait at approximate coordinates 2945N/4735E.

b. It is not set up. It is being held in reserve, waiting to be deployed at its present location. It is not a backup for another system. There are special plans for this one particular object.

c. When this object is deployed, it will be aimed toward the southeast, at a coastal area.

d. There is something especially sinister and very surprising about the "plans" for this object. Although the plans are very logical, and could be figured out, anyone's reaction to them would be that of unbelief. Delving further into these plans, I found that they somehow involve a total destruction of land occupied (at the time of destruction) by Iraqi troupes. Two impressions came:

1) "If I can't have it, they can't either!"

2) "(Make it) Unusable for a thousand years!"
