E. SESSION SUMMARY:

Summary of Information

There is nothing that indicates that the target is planning any near-term activity. There are images alternating between an individual monitoring some sort of electronic equipment and that of someone driving along a dusty road with deep tire ruts cut into it. It reminds me of the southwestern U.S. with its aridity, dustiness and general feeling.

An individual is digging, but not digging, a hole in an isolated, dry area. I can smell the wetness of the sand as they remove the upper dry layer, exposing the more damp levels below. There are movements that are sweeping, shifting and moving the sand.

The individual is staying put for awhile. They are "flying under the radar" so to speak. However, they have contingency plans and are ready to jump at a moment's notice. I get the feeling that they definitely want to be left alone and anonymous.
