E. SESSION SUMMARY:

The target area consists of a number of features reminiscent of a harbor complex (see diagram sketch map). (A river empties into the harbor as well.) This location is, or will be used, as a temporary stop over. It will be a "hiding" place for someone or something. There is the concept of "getting lost" in the traffic or shuffle that goes on in this location.

Impression that something or someone comes in from the west; from the Pacific side. They, or it, bounces along the northern coast of Colombia and into Venezuela. The port of interest is somewhere in this latter area; I'd have to say near the Colombian-Venezuelan border.

The port itself is associated with some sort of fish processing facility(ies); e.g. packing or fertilizer.

The term "PISCADO ESCUELO" was perceived.
