SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

The inside of the structure is old but well-kept and well-built. There is one main, large, open, high and wide room with a circular object in it. Off each side of the large room is a corridor with many smaller rooms off of it. Everything has a polished feel to it. The structure and everything in it is well kept and orderly. The floor is worn, yet shiny: reminiscent of marble. There are a lot of angles to the inside: each is very exact and precise. The structure was carefully built. There is very little furniture here: each piece that is here has a purpose and is used. There is seating but no desks.

The activity involves people who "pass through" this place. No one comes more than for a few hours at most. The attitude is quiet and somber and people walk quietly. They leave with a feeling of resolution. This place is not a work place.
