SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

Boxes and a triangular natural formation are present at the site. The area is flat with open sky, some bushes/trees, a building, and a man-made water canal. The weather is cool and sunny and the target is within a town or city (see sketch on page 1). Dancing, AOL-Kennedy Center. A big bird is in flight. There is a light above which shines outward and downward. A stage (raised platform) where something is done includes the colors blue, silver and white. People are present. Men in formal dress (suits). AOL-ballerina. An image of an orange came to mind. The building is off-white, simple in design, and has rectangular balcony portions (coves). There is a center piece in front, which is not quite round, that contains light colored pebbles. The purpose of the building involves arts and music. A man-made star is present. People ~~(Americans)~~ go to this building to attend performances. Training is done here. It is not quite a school but it is attendance, performance related. Some people can learn and do whereas others watch. There is a hall or auditorium inside the building with chairs and curtains (page 2 sketch). This place has ceremonies but a variety of other things are done here also. The people who perform wear special outfits with material in the middle. A woman in a flowing gown is raising her hands (see sketch on page 3). Some white material is worn around the neck (page 4). The emphasis here is on admission and attendance.
