WORKING PAPER

Project: 5272
Date: 890317
Viewer: 018
Session: 02

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

1. The group of people previously viewed consisted of 10-20 men who were wearing bluish "coveralls" which appeared to have elasticized cuffs on the sleeves and pants legs. One man had a white hard hat on. This man was sitting at a desk, reading a "paper" (see 2, below) while the other men milled around as though waiting (A/S: impression of waiting for a shift change). The overall impression of these men were that they were technicians, or otherwise well-educated (rather than "general factory workers").
2. The "paper" the man was reading consisted of a light blue stiff-paper cover, many pages of typed material, and a cream-colored stiff-paper back page. The stack was secured at the top left corner and the man was lifting pages over as he read. The subject matter of the "paper" had to do with recent events concerning the "plant", itself. There was also a vague impression that these recent events would necessitate decisions and planning being made.
3. Through the window of the office, a corner of an industrial-looking building could be seen off to the side.
