SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

At first, I could see a man that was surrounded by large circles, rays or semi-circles. I then could see a "large white mass." It looked as though the man was "driving" or "pushing" something forward. At times it looked as though the man was inside a circular object looking up. The activity took place outdoors. At one point in session, it looked as though the man was riding a horse.

I then could see a large object that looked like a disc. At this point, the concept of "time" or "timing" entered my mind.

I placed the event and the individual in modern times.

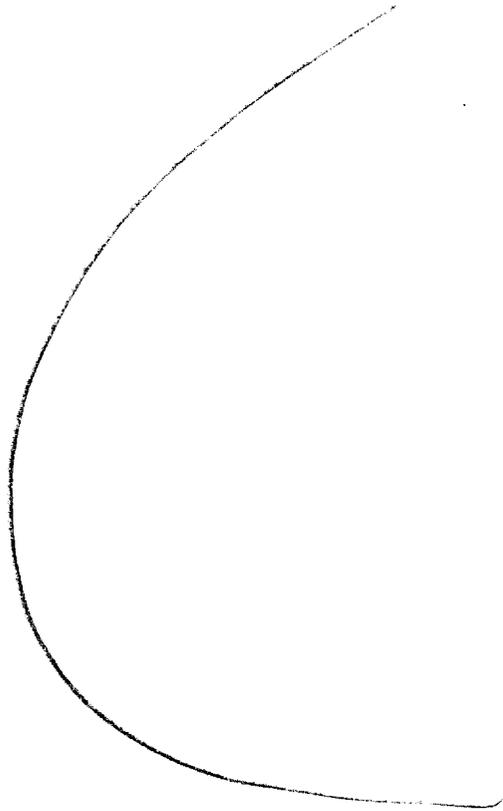

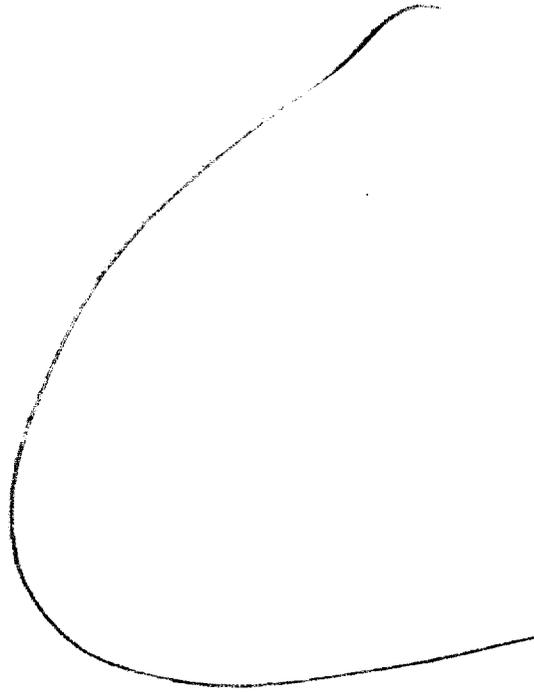

I then could see the individual inside a room sitting on a chair beside a small desk. The room was small. There were bookcases behind the individual.

The man wore a brown suit and brown glasses. He was smiling and he was happy. He was talking to some people and it seemed as though he wanted to make them laugh. He was a happy man. He was a heavy man.
