Summary of Information

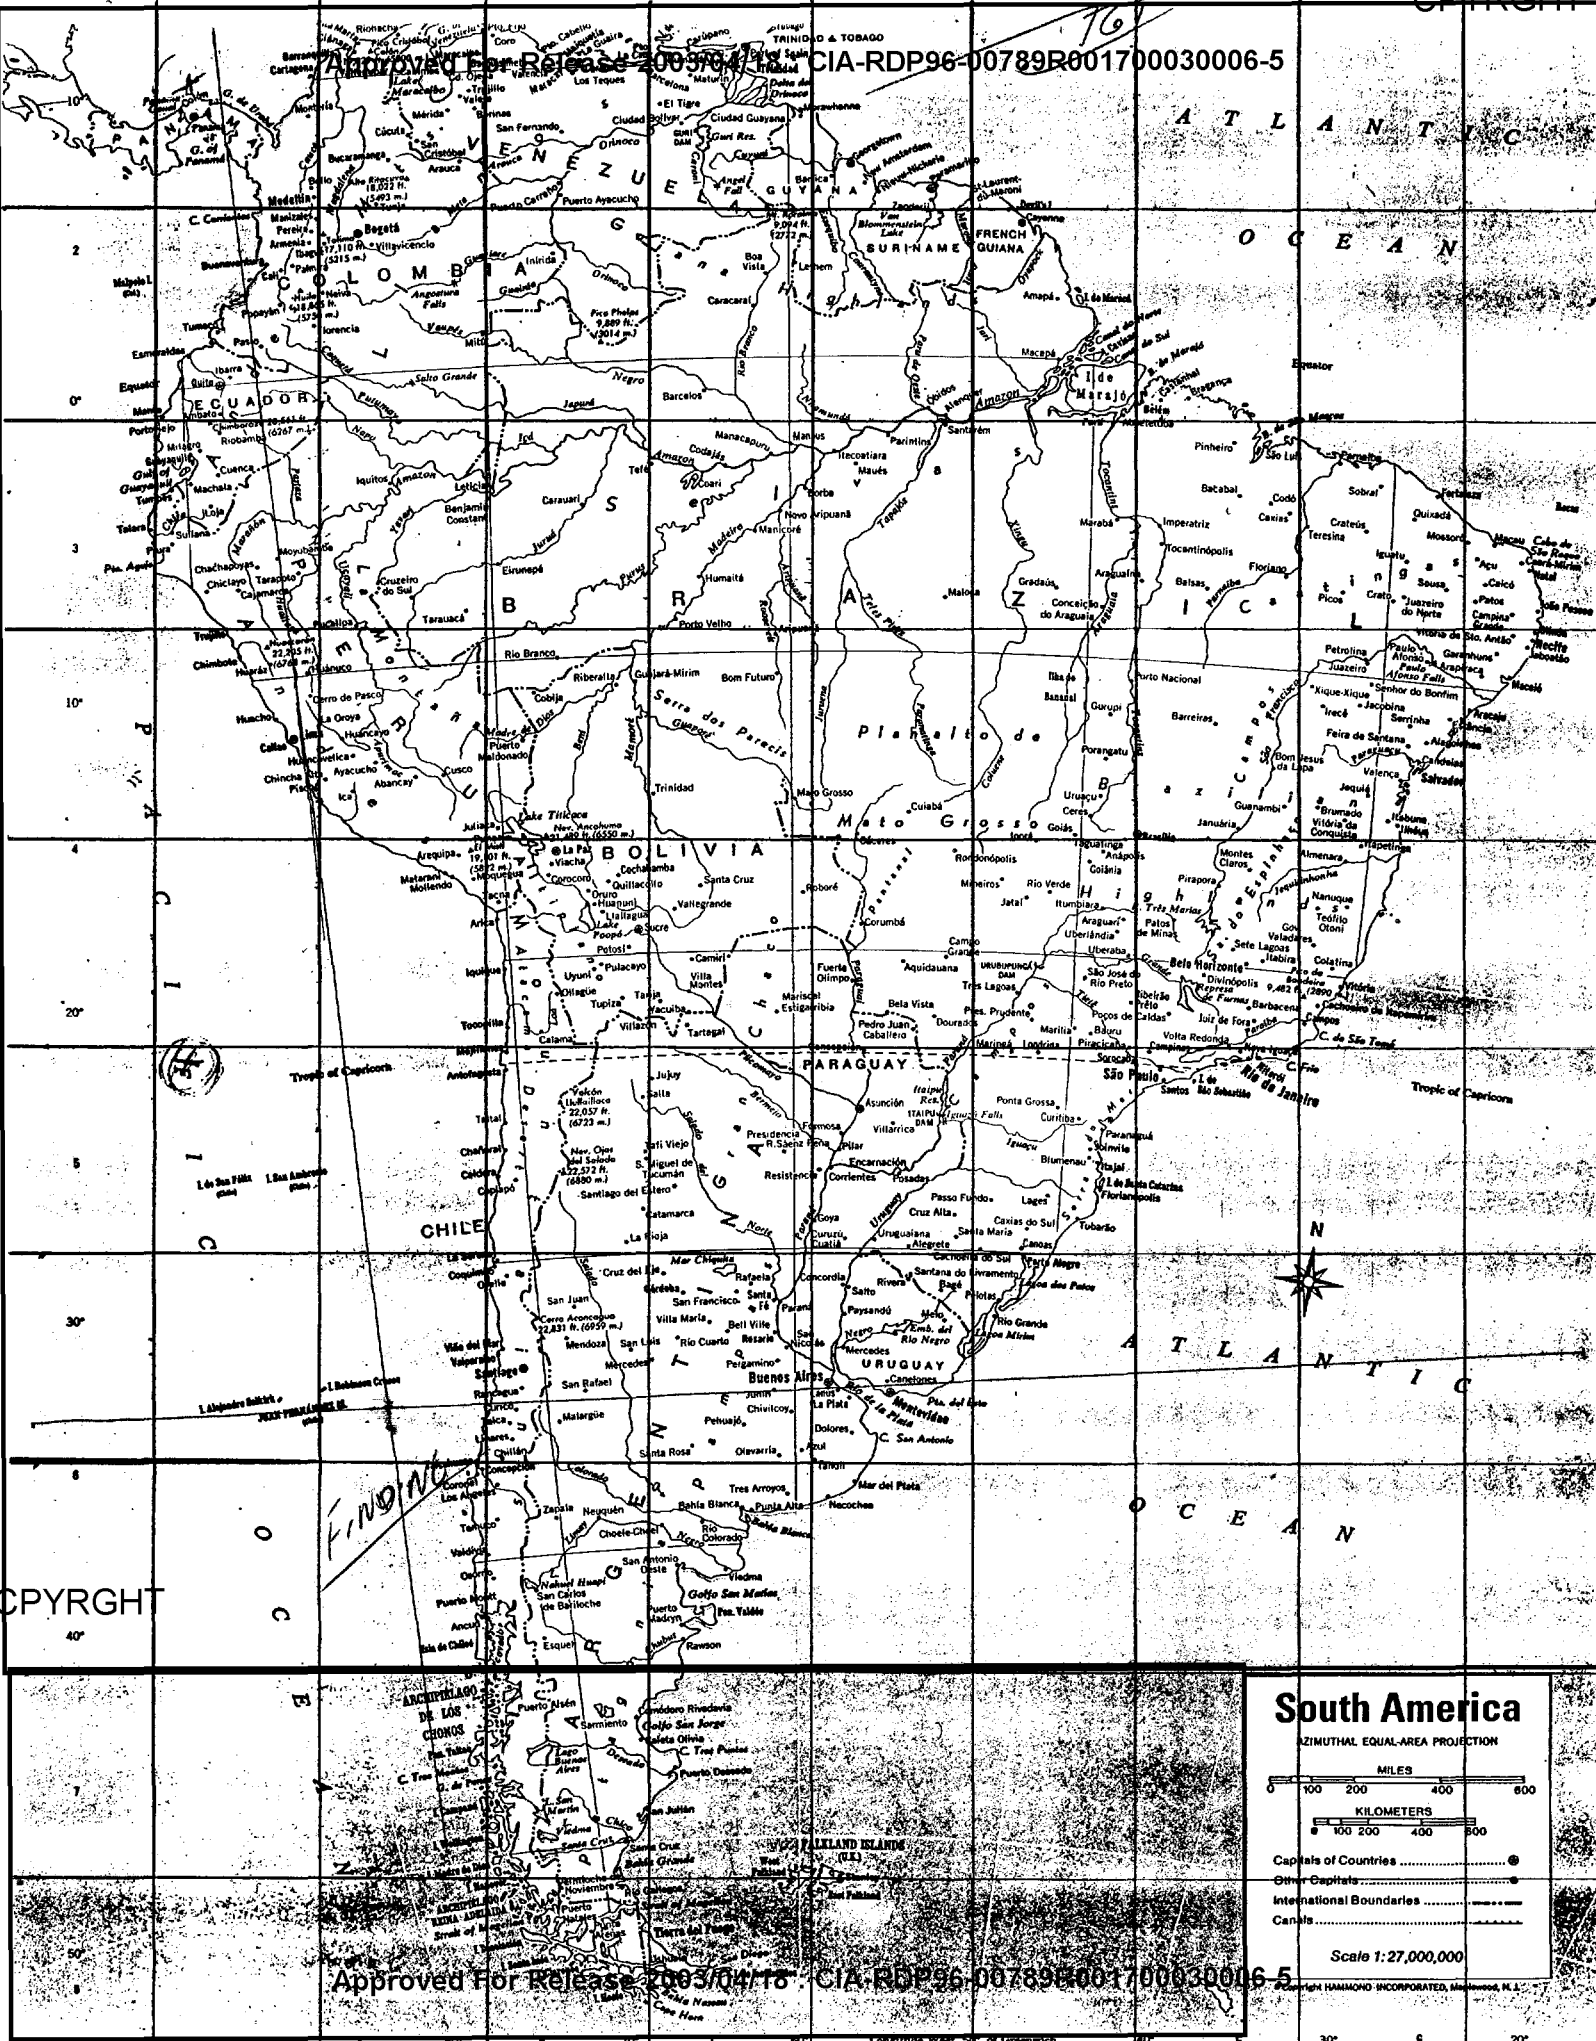

Individual is medium height, later middle-aged, has stern features, a severe expression on face, medium/light complected, fills some leadership function, and may be military-connected. There is a perception of a uniform of some sort associated with him. He is in a large, highly urbanized city--tall, multistory buildings, heavy traffic, but relatively prosperous, and also near a significant body of water, though (A/S) not apparently an ocean. It seems to be on the eastern side of the continent. A map search using "ruler" dowsing produced an east-west line that passed through Buenos Aires. The north-south line was not apparently accurate, as it intersected in open ocean west of the continent. Argentina/Buenos Aires is best estimate for location.

The target in this instance was Venezuela.
