Site is a group of buildings (structures) named in sizes and steps but generally large and impressive in ~~the~~ a ~~got~~ cold perhaps snowy place. This group of buildings is fenced off (secure) from what may be a nearby populated area. One of the buildings appears round or rounded, and ~~the~~ reminds me of a nuclear power plant. Steam or smoke and coal smells characterize the site. ~~Although water is present at the site~~ Construction of some form may be underway. If the site is a power plant ~~that~~ it may not be "on line" at present because there is no sense of energetics. ~~People~~ The site has a mechanical/technical/power control type function. People at the site are "workers" and ~~also~~ wear uniforms (NFI).

WANG Summary: a fenced group of structures characterized by smoke or steam reminiscent of a power plant.

Site end.
