(Tasking data sheet attached)

Summary:

Area composed of a long, straight coast, low mountains with vegetation inland; lots of cover and concealment available. Most activity takes place inland. (AOL-Central America/Thailand). The opposing forces, although not highly trained are professional and obedient--not a rag-tag outfit. They are not afraid to engage and will stand their ground if the tactical situation warrants. They "do what they must do" to support a "cause" but are not fanatically attached to it. They are in business "for the long term". Most, or all, of their time is spent in the field. They are well supplied (AOL-by Soviets) with food (AOL-manioc), small arms, ammo and clothing (brown boots). (AOL-Hind helicopters in support of the "cause"/Central America/Angola). The force, (what I perceive to be about 150 men), prefers to travel in file formation. They are an autonomous group, but may be connected with a native civilian who "negotiates" on behalf of them and their cause (AOL-Nabbi Berri). This OPFOR has the initiative in most engagements, and they always seem to attack from the high ground. Spies/informants are perceived passing target information to one of the "officers" (who is about 30 yrs old, white or brown skin).
