memorandum

DATE: 19 Sep 85

REPLY TO
ATTN OF: DT (SUN STREAK)

SUBJECT: SUN STREAK Ops/Tng Objectives, JAN 86 - JAN 88 (U)

TO: DT (Dr. Vorona)

1. (S/SK/WNINTEL) GRILL FLAME, the progenitor of SUN STREAK, established that remote viewing (RV) was a human behavior (real phenomenon) which could be enhanced through training and that RV had potential for US intelligence application. SUN STREAK's Prototype Operational Group (POG) will integrate RV into the intelligence community's repertoire of collection methodologies.

2. (S/SK/WNINTEL) Using GRILL FLAME as a research platform and Army's CENTER LANE as an experience base, the POG will provide:

a. (S/SK/WNINTEL) An RV Intelligence Utility Assessment:

done

Approximately 80% of the POG's operational effort will be devoted to the production of this RV Intelligence Utility Assessment. This effort has as its primary objective the identification of those categories of intelligence targets which would best be serviced by RV. To accomplish this, a systematic group of intelligence targets will be examined using RV (see Incl 2). The results of these sessions will be analyzed with the help of an office information system. The secondary objective of this effort is to provide a skill qualification internship for trained RV sources. It is anticipated that this phase of the effort will identify the strengths and weaknesses of individual RV sources in acquiring intelligence about different categories of targets.

b. (S/SK/WNINTEL) Response to collection requirements:

Approximately 20% of the POG's operational effort will be devoted to the conduct of RV in response to current intelligence collection requirements. Tasking of the POG's RV sources will be the exclusive responsibility of the office of the Assistant Deputy Director for Scientific and Technical Intelligence, DIA.
