E. SESSION SUMMARY:

The target consists of one adult, a woman, and two children. One child is much smaller than the other. There is a small animal reminiscent of a squirrel nearby. There is an object which resembles a half ball or half sphere. It is yellow or orange and is associated with a sense of calibration. The adult is considered an "enlightened" individual and is reaching out. There is a trap-like securing device also nearby.

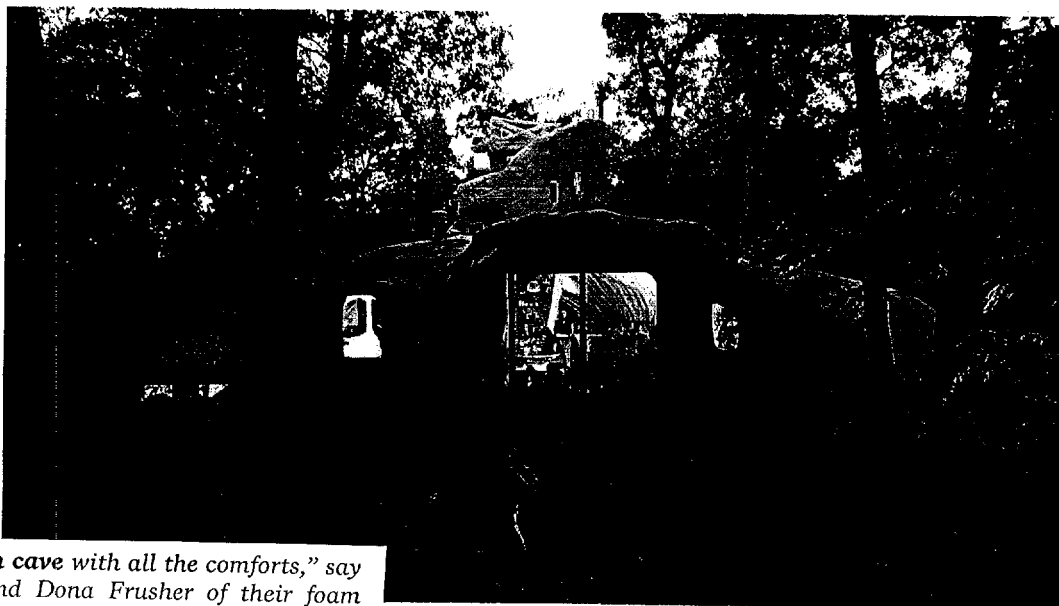

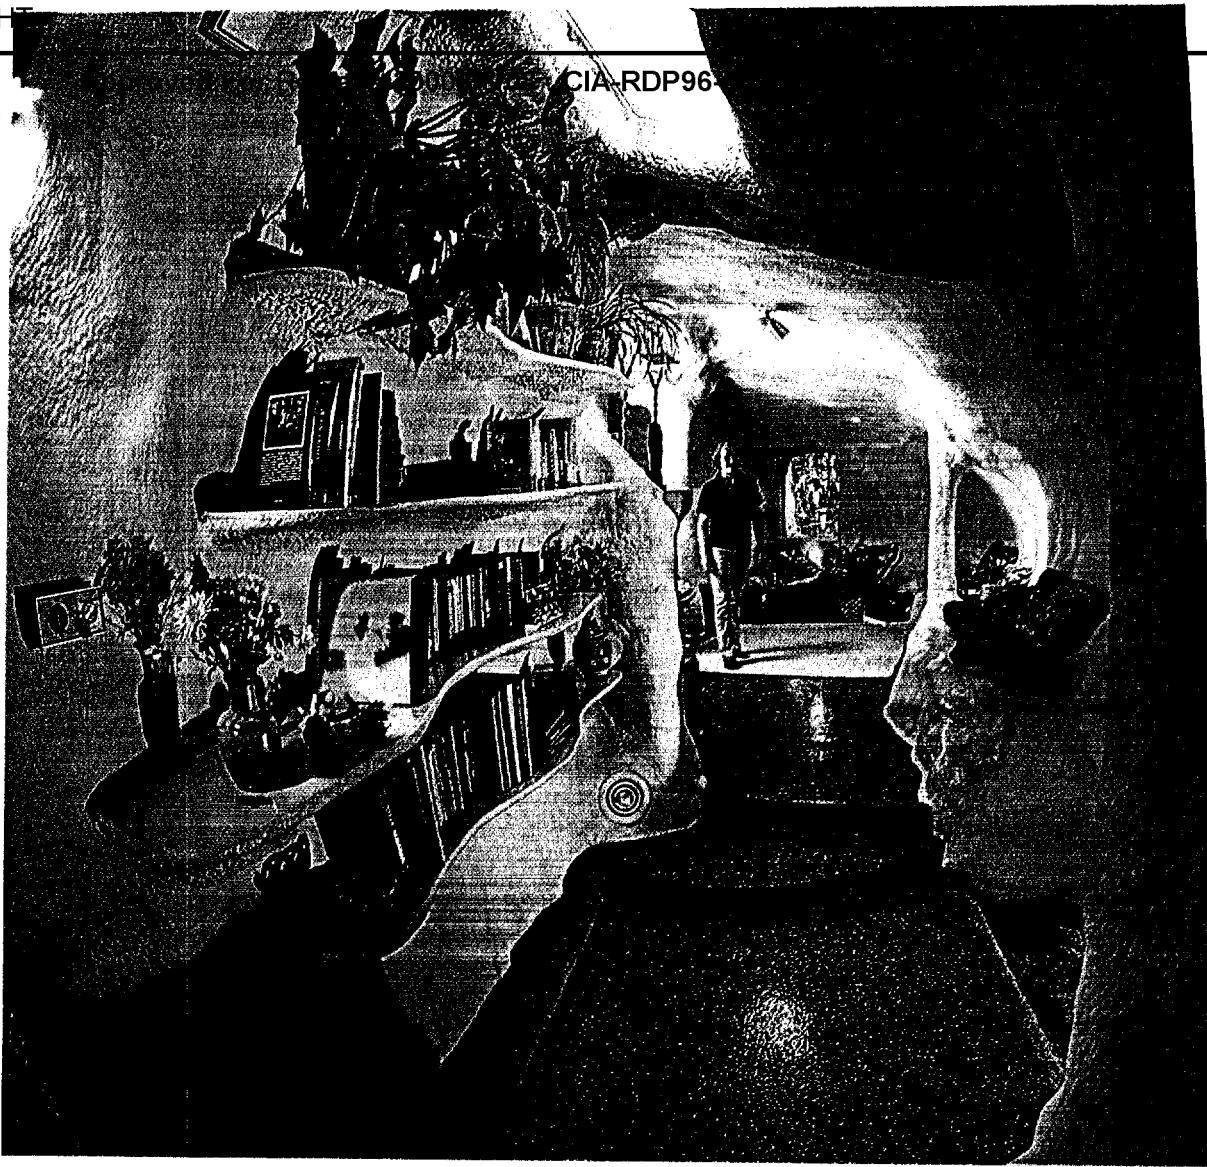

One of the people has on muddy boots. They are outside in a field; a farm or rural orientation. There is a flat, green agricultural flavor with the target. The composition and setting is reminiscent of an Amish family. One of the children is petting an animal; maybe a pet. There is an overpowering stinking smell at the target. It smells as if an animal has died and is decomposing.

"A warm cave with all the comforts," say Fritz and Dona Frusher of their foam home (above). The couple fashioned the structure by inflating plastic sheets and spraying them, 6 to 8 inches thick, with polyurethane, a material used as insulation. A small forced-air furnace heats the house at a fraction of the cost for a conventional dwelling. The free-form structure seems to blend into the rocky bluff (left) near Barneveld, Wisconsin.
