SG1A The target is located in a dry warm climate foreign region. He is in the vicinity of a tall beige or sand colored building which is a hotel or "Holiday Inn" near a water front area which has dark rocky embankments. Dark circular objects are in the water at this location. There are elaborate ornate cultural objects around him which are middle eastern in origin. He is currently located in Greece or surrounding territories. He hangs around a younger man who wears a dark thin trimmed beard who is like a son or family to him, although I do not believe they are related.

The target individual is Middle Eastern and is considered middle aged although he looks older than his age. He lives a good life and is considered intelligent. He likes to think of himself as "powerful." He has had illegal business dealings in the past and only a part of it could be drug related. The target individual or his yacht can be located in Athens, Greece either now or in the near future. Also, Athen, Greece could be the place of his next illegal rendezvous.

E. SESSION SUMMARY:

The target individual is currently in an area where there are a series of small islands. This area is famous for metal and stone sculptures of humans rendered in Greek/Roman style. However, I do not sense that the target is currently in the Mediterranean. He is fond of French cooking; it feels as if his current location is a place where a lot of French culture has at some point been predominate here. I want to say the Caribbean but this location feels much more isolated and restricted than the Caribbean.

The main characteristic of this group of islands is that they are all fairly small and clustered very close together. The sands here are white but extremely powdery looking. Access is only by small boat (the water feels very shallow here). Each individual island has no more than two to five separate habitations or residences on them. These are not estates (the islands just aren't that big) but they do feel exotic: private beaches; fossilized coral blocks used for building stones (especially the sea walls and walls separating each residence); and a place where there is almost no difference in the water level between low and high tides.

The target will be traveling to a Middle Eastern country between now and 17 February 1995. He has lulled into a false sense of security. Something happened to him within the past 2-3 months which has caused him to relax and become "off-guard". I sense it may have to do with either his health, or that of someone (I sense it is a woman; maybe a close relative e.g. sister or cousin, etc.) whom he cares a great deal about.

He has also been preoccupied about an event about to take place in southeast Asia; possibly Indonesia or New Guinea. It has to do with the transfer of either a great deal of money or some commodity which is easily transferable into cash, particularly within this part of the world.
