

DATA SUMMARIES

(S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Following are the perceived highlights from each source.

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source A:

-- The target [REDACTED] is a small light vessel which has some of the color red with dark lettering. The people aboard are few in number and one may be female. Another crew member is a male who has been injured or is ill. The boat is disguised in purpose perhaps as a fishing vessel or for divers. There are scuba divers aboard who are on the receiving end of a drug drop from either another boat or likely from a plane. The scuba divers aboard the [REDACTED] pick up crates from the ocean floor near rocks or reefs off the coast and deliver the drugs to a major city port. The crates have contained therein a green flaky substance like marijuana although some cocaine may be involved. These individuals are small time drug receivers or dealers. The connection will be completed in April. SG1B

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source B:

-- The target is a large, sleek white colored vessel with bright blue trim. It is extremely fast. It's bow is steeply angled and it cuts through the water in a dramatic manner (Attachment 1, Sketch A).

-- There has been some recent repairs made to the target; to repair a large gash in the hull. There is an image of large, jagged, square-shaped damage as if a section of the boat had been sheared off. There is also a sense that the target has had some changes made to its original design; something associated with detection or sensing. The power of the target has been altered as well.

-- Contradictory sense of bellowing fabric with that of a high speed prop spinning through water.

-- The following concepts, objects and/or features were perceived to be associated with this target:

--- the numbers 741 or 417.

--- oblong wooden crates with unusually thick sides.

--- the image of individual fish packed in tubes; the tubes, in turn, are packed and supported by a white, foamy material on either end. These are then secured into blocks which are cubed-shaped.

--- the design or configuration of an on-board toilet is not typical of this vessel.

--- large cylinders with heavy rope wound around them.

--- a wooden gazebo-type structure located at the end of a long walkway which is suspended above the water.

--- old, leather bound books and an elaborately ornate wooden chest.

--- a man performing a cranking action; adjusting rope.

--- a circular, flat disc which slowly rotates; this feels foreign or out-of-place on the target.

--- the name [REDACTED] as both name and call sign. SG1B

--- a large, cone-shaped object reminiscent of a dip net or "collection" apparatus used for collecting small bait animals.

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source C:

-- The target consists of a vessel that has been suspected of carrying contraband in the form of illegal drugs in the past. This vessel is currently sailing in a northern direction from its destination and will reach its port of call within the next seven to ten days. The vessel can be considered medium to small.

-- The target vessel may run into difficulty (either mechanical or weather) in the near future that may delay it reaching its port of call on time.

-- The vessel may be carrying contraband now. If it is, the contraband is stored in square yellow or tan boxes that can be opened by a key. The boxes of contraband are stored near the front of the ship below deck.

-- The captain of the vessel is well aware that contraband is onboard.
