STAT

NOTE: During the viewing of task b., there was a strong perception that there was someone else in the same room with him who was in the same condition/situation as he, and who recognizes him. The feeling of recognition doesn't seem to go both ways. The other person seems to be much more cheerful, and is friendly toward him, but he gives no response.

c. EVENTS OF SPECIAL IMPORTANCE: A Stage 6 time line was drawn (see page 5). The impressions found on it are labeled with numbers as follows:

- 1) Impression of Higgins watching two men argue. One man is yelling at the other, almost in a tone of disbelief, "You put 9 boxes in?!?"

3)

- 4) There was a sudden feeling of very great fear and nervousness. The feeling was so strong that it almost threw me away from the site. The feeling was very difficult to work past, but then tapered off slowly over what appeared to be the next few days.
