SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

The target is an activity that has a mass of people gathered around, all looking up at something large and bright. They seem to be fascinated by it. Next to them is a bright, curved opening or entrance of some kind. There is an object, or two objects, above land, in the sky, in a criss-cross shape. They are long, narrow, pointed on one end and jagged. There is a strong smell associated with this target. It is a sweet smell, but it burns the nose. There is also an itchy feeling at this site, and a loud noise. The activity seems to be geographic, colorful, transcontinental, important, and it involves many people. It seems to come in flashes that are bright and intense. Colors evident are red, yellow and blue. There is something glowing, moving, and counting. There is something else that loops in a figure eight pattern. This target has something to do with the United States, near the middle of the country.

At another part of the site there are people putting up poles, establishing some type of temporary shelter. The people are talking with a southern U.S. accent.
