1. () TASKING: A post-session review of the data provided by Source during the previous session, (see reference above), indicated that Source had in fact acquired the general facilities area of the actual target site. Perhaps due to the relatively large ^{and} varied types of structures in the area Source had not specifically identified and described the actual target. This initial shortcoming may also be attributed, in part, to the undersigned, who like Source, is not knowledgeable of the actual target and may not have recognized Source's reporting on this facility before "moving" him to other structures. Still unaware of the actual target the Interviewer was told that certain references, e.g., cylindrical objects "like poles," "a curved building" and "a tunnel" were probably accurate descriptions of key facilities at this site. To permit a better overview of the site, during this reported session Source was instructed to, "move back to the same area as before where you observed an odd shaped building with a lighted fenceline. Upon arrival you are to "cruise around" the area for a while to positively find the area of special interest." Prior to the session, Source reported that the previously reported references of wood chips/dirt mounds and hanging cables were causing him to have some "AOL" (pre-conceived impressions) of heavy construction which he needed to state. Without confirming or denying the existence of construction at the site, the Interviewer stated only that this is in fact an AOL, valid or not, and that it will be given appropriate attention during the session. Source was provided the same encrypted coordinates as the previous session as per Extended Remote Viewing protocols. No other cueing or descriptive data except that quoted above was provided to the Source pertaining to this site.

2. () SESSION: Two inclemencies were made known to the Interviewer by Source; a nagging backache, (due to an old accident) and a slight stomach upset. Source's observed hypnagogic state did not display any significant adverse manifestations which would indicate to the Interviewer that a proper Remote Viewing altered state of consciousness was not being maintained.

3. () SUMMARY:

a. () The following narrative, contained within quotation marks, is an abridged copy of Source's post-session written summary. This summary has been editorialized, (as indicated), by the undersigned for clarity, grammar and structure. The actual unabridged summary is maintained in the mission field dossier at this location along with any other material produced during this session, e.g., sketches, notes, etc. ((I am) moving on the (the) compound. Towards the right rear (of the compound), there are a series of structures which are tall... narrow and shaped like a (rectangle). Moving right to left from the (rectangular) structures there isa structure (resembling) an igloo which is underground but which has an opening in the side of a hill. Further back to the right is a large open multi-storied structure which appears only partially constructed. (I am) going further left (where I see) a pond of water that has something to do with power generation. Further left is an ugly building which is (described) in two images; (one functional the other ugly). The building is entirely functional (and) has a very secure or secured feeling. There are no windows and I did not see a door. Inside it is well lit and the air (has) an (artificial) or sterile (smell) like all the impurities were removed. (Inside) there is a quarter-moon shaped desk which controls the (entry). Inside (I see) a bank of (electronic) devices in the middle (of a room). One of (these) devices, a screen, is (used) to analyse waves. People here are technicians. (They are) very practical and very "slick." (They remind) me of (senior US civil s[ci]entists) but they are much more practical and have a much more realistic picture of the world. They are accumulating a huge, stupendous data base (at this facility). Only with (such a large data base) can correct and proper decisions be made. Further left, (from this building) there are two very large metallic towers. There is also deep purple (colored) moving water nearby, with fingers of land (jutting out) into the water like fjords. I do not smell (salt water) so it is not the ocean. There is a feeling of vitality and growth at (this) site. Their (mission) which is (multi-purposed) has increased (and with this increase) they have more access to resources. They still however, encounter bureaucratic frustrations."

b. () During the actual session, Source reported other data which may impact on the final assessment of this target. That data is listed below in raw unevaluated form:

(1) () The area within and surrounding the site is dry and sandy but the area appears to have been landscaped revealing a profundance of hearty green shrubs and trees.

(2) () Within the rectangular building there were several types of machines noted including the "device for analysing waves." These devices included: a machine "like a piano keyboard but not a keyboard; (perhaps a data input device i.e., typewriter, computer terminal etc.); and "a specialized chair, large and machanical " like the type one would expect to find at the controls of an aircraft or similar complicated item of technology. The chair had a row of foot pedals whose purpose could not be determined. The chair is capable tilting in virtually all directions at all angles.

(3) () A long cylindrical object is seen within the fenced compound running parallel to the ground. It is believed this tubular object, (like a tunnel) is above ground and made of ribbed reinforced metal. Its purpose is unknown but it seems act as some sort of conduit.

4. () OPS FEEDBACK: Source continues to report on related items at the target but as yet he has failed to focus his attention on the actual target/mission. To facilitate better reporting by reducing confusion and preconceptions (AOL), Source will receive another totally unrelated mission prior to being re-targetted to this site. In the past this technique has proven to be successful in eliminating some psychic confusion at a target site by permitting the mind to subconsciously "sort out" the various observations made at a target. Source was not told of this intended course of action nor if/or when any subsequent sessions pertaining to this specific target would be conducted.
