E. SESSION SUMMARY:

The target consists of two predominate structures: one is very tall and slender with a disc-shaped feature at the top and the second appeared as a low, arch-shaped gabled structure with an elaborately decorated exterior. The former felt very hard and the latter had fabric or fiber associated with it. The concept of "bellowing" was also associated with the latter.

There was a sense of supported or suspended; a 4"-5" thick "heap" of some material and "a grain of corn". There was also a sense of age and "ruins" associated with a location nearby these two structures. All of these occur next to a bay or harbor of dark blue water.

The concept of "tourism" is associated with the target as well as "Old Town" and a "Gothic" flavor.
